PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION

A DARKTOWN STAR.

She seemed to him before the stars in the L. of Fields.

"Mandy Matthews is a Darktown star," stated the officer when a Crooked Alley belle's name was called.

"Where is Mandy?" asked the recorder.

The court bailiff and clerk made a search, but Mandy was not found.

The turnkey was appealed to, and he stated that he had sent up all the prisoners.

The bailiff then made a sensational discovery. Mandy was in the male waiting room, attired in male clothes.

"I understood you to say," remarked the recorder to the policeman, "that Mandy was a star in Darktown. She seems to pose up here as the last piece."

"I hadn't no star nor sun nor moon, needer," said Mandy. "I 's' jest nuttin' but ole Mandy Matthews, an' dere hain't no use ter be callin' me outer my name, needer."

The officer swore that Mandy had got drunk on worn liquor, and when the people in Crooked Alley objected to her cursing she began a battle with rocks and munitions of war.

"What does the star say about the charges?" the recorder asked the woman.

"I sez dat hit am or hull lot of faber-keashun," replied Mandy, with great indignation, leading vehemence to her speech. "Hit's de work of er lyin' generation of vipers."

"Tell me, Mandy," urged the recorder, "why you are dressed in male attire?"

"I 's' jest practicin' for de Darktown dramatic club," was the reply, "and had on my rags and togs for de play when de perlice cummed."

"I'm going to fine you $10.75 for wearing those clothes on the streets," announced Recorder Broyles. "When a woman passes off for a male in Atlanta she will certainly get stamped as a crook or fraud. I tell you this much, so that you may be better posted in the future.—Atlanta Constitution."

Where the Golf Balls go.

"Blimmon," said the young man who delighted in golf, "was heart-broken when he lost the sixth golf ball the other day, when we were playing up in Dutchess county. He is a serious minded individual, and when he saw the last hard rubber sphere go into 'the drink' he sat down on a bunker and looked at me very solemnly and deliberately."

"This is inexcusable," said he, "when a man loses golf balls in such a way as this he either ought to find them or give up the game for good. It shows very weak character."

"That last ball had gone into a pond, and there seemed to be something so ridiculous about the idea of a man searching a place like that for a ball that all of us, the doctor, the student and I, began to laugh."

"The pond was near the end of the links, and it was a slimy bit of water. It was just about wide enough to get a ball over it. There might have been no trouble provided that were dry land for that distance, but the shine of the water always made you pause and wink and think, and as a result the ball generally made a gentle little splash, and you stood on the bank expressing your feelings as best you could."

"The caddies grinned behind their hands as Blimmon slowly took off his variegated stockings and rolled up his abbreviated trousers. He was a sight. The edge of the pool was lined with black slime, and as Blimmon went in he nearly fell into a pond. He caught himself just in time, and started at the exploration again. He had a sapling in one hand, and he looked for all the world like an Indian wading a stream to hide his trail."

"He stepped on a log and rolled and pitched like a Atlantic liner in heavy seas. The water was above his knees. He stooped down and plunged his arm down to the shoulder. The sleeve of his resplendent shirt had been ineffectually rolled. It slipped from its moorings and was dyed by the blackened water. He lifted up his clinched fist and brought up what looked like a bit of coal. He washed the black thing about in the water a little, and there sure enough, was a golf ball."

"Well," said I, "I hope that you are satisfied. Do you think that it paid for all the trouble?"

"He did not say a word. He went groping around the bottom of the pond and brought up another ball. He kept right at it, and when he was through he had rescued thirty-seven balls."

"Yes," said he, "I think it was worth while."

Had to get it done.

An intelligent looking boy walked into a grocer's shop the other day, and reading from a paper said:

"I want six pounds of sugar at 2 1/4 d. a pound."

"Yes," said the shopman, "that will be one and three halfpence."

"Eleven pounds of rice at 1 1/2 d. a pound."

"One and fourpence halfpenny," commented the grocer.

"Four pounds of tea at 1s. 8d. a pound."

"Six and eight."

And so he continued: "Five pounds of coffee at 1s. 10d.; seven tins of milk at 5 1/4 d.; four tins of tomatoes at 6 1/4 d.; eight tins of sardines at 1s. 1 1/4 d."

The shopman made out the bill and handed it to the lad, saying: "Did your mother send the money or does she want them sent?"

"My mother didn't send me at all," said the boy, seizing hold of the bill. "It's my arithmetic lesson, and I had to get it done somehow."

THEIR FAME SPREADING.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills a Wonderful Remedy.

Editor of the Morning Times.

Sir,—It is because I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be repaid that I ask you to publish some facts regarding Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills. I was for many years a sufferer from indigestion and stomach troubles. I could not digest my food, I was constipated, and it was only by injections that I could get relief. Physicians did me no good. I was reduced to a skeleton, and could hardly walk. Am a last resort I tried a box of these pills, and the improvement was so marked that I continued taking them. I have now taken twelve boxes, never remembering being so well in my life. I have gained 22 pounds, and am putting on more flesh daily. I am a living, walking advertisement and consider no trouble too great in order to spread the fame of Dr. Clarke's Pills. A. F. Jones, Lockport, N.Y. For sale by Ormond & Walsh.

A BOOM FOR NOVA SCOTIA.

Vanderbilt Seeks to Control the Trade of Nova Scotia.

He Heads a Big Syndicate to Open Up Steamship Line.

W. H. VANDERBILT, JR.

New York, June 16. Capitalists of this city are reaching out to control the commercial and industrial interests of Nova Scotia. The Vanderbilt millions are behind a financial scheme which has been incorporated under the name of the Dominion Securities Company with a capital of $1,500,000. This is the first step in the direction of the control of a large portion of the Nova Scotian transportation and industrial companies and the establishment of a splendid steamship service between this city and the seaport cities of Nova Scotia.

Dr. William Seward Webb has been made president of the company, and the directors are John Jacob Astor, S. B. Calhoun, president of the American Locomotive Company; Edgar Van Alen, second vice president of the New York Central and Perry Corporation, president of the Rutland railroad. Representatives of the company are already on the scene of the proposed preparation, and the first stretch of tracks of the Cape Breton Railroad Extension Company is being laid.

The company has secured the franchises, rights of way, concessions and subsidies which the Dominion of Canada and also the province of Nova Scotia will grant upon the fulfillment of its undertaking. The road now building runs from Yarmouth, at the southwestern end of Nova Scotia, northwesterly to Halifax, and from Port Hawkesbury, on the Straits of Canso, to Louisbourg and Sydney. The company will control the traffic through a section where the Dominion coal, iron and steel plants are located. It was learned on good authority today that this enterprise is a move made by the Vanderbilt railroad interests, which will have large results. Canadian and American interests are joined in an enterprise to control and operate this great steel, coal, railroad and steamship combination. Within a reasonable time a fleet of steamships will make semi-weekly trips to Nova Scotia ports.

The importance of the control which the Vanderbilt interests are contemplating over the coal mines and steel plants of Nova Scotia can be understood when it is known that from the coal mines operated last year 80,000 tons of coal per month were sent to Boston alone, and that the Dominion Iron and Steel Company has recently completed at a cost of $10,000,000 one of the largest steel manufacturing plants in the world, and that the directors have voted $5,000,000 extra for the erection of a rail and plate mill.

ROCKEFELLER PLAN LAUNCHED

Institute for Medical Research Incorporated at Albany.

Albany, New York, June 17.—The Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, of New York city, today filed with the secretary of state a certificate of incorporation. The institute will conduct medical research with special reference to the prevention of and treatment of disease. The directors are William H. Welch, of Baltimore, Md.; T. Mitchell Prudden, C. A. Hertes, L. Emmet Holt, and Hermann W. Biggs, New York city; Simon Flexner, Philadelphia, and Theobald Smith, Boston.

A GUESS STARTS HIM IN BUSINESS.

Cyril A. Pearson, Now Touring in America.

A REMARKABLE JOURNALIST.

New York, June 16.—Mr. Cyril Arthur Pearson, who arrived in this city on Thursday is English's most prominent periodical proprietor. Though but thirty-five years of age, he has written more than 100,000 words in his career, and controls more periodicals than any other English publisher.

His principal publications are the Daily Express, Pearson's Magazine, the Royal Magazine, Pearson's Weekly, Short Stories, Home Notes, Big Budget, Athletic Record, "M. A. P." (Mainly About People), Illustrated Weekly News and the Sunday Reader. These journals are all published in London. Besides these Mr. Pearson publishes many other papers which circulate widely throughout the British Islands.

Starting as an inconspicuous contributor to Tit-Bits in 1884, his salary at eighteen years of age was about $9.50 per week. To-day he manages and practically owns a company which bears his name and has a capital of $2,000,000. This company has declared since its inception regular annual dividends averaging $25,000.

A GUESS STARTED HIM. Mr. Pearson was born at Woking, near Wey, England, Feb. 23, 1866. His advent into the realm of newspaperdom was an attempt to guess correctly a few hundred questions propounded by Sir George Newman's paper Tit-Bits. The prize offered was a position as clerk at $500 per day. Pearson won the prize and took up his first position in the office of Newman.

Before he had been on Tit-Bits' staff one year the position of manager became vacant. Young Pearson, who was but nineteen, asked for the place. Attached to the position was a salary of $1,600 a year.

Sir George Newman was not surprised at the temerity of Pearson that he gave him the position, just to see what he would do. The new manager applied himself to his duties with the circulation of Tit-Bits soon began to grow.

In 1889, when Stead's Review of Reviews was founded, Pearson was sent to this country to establish the Review here.

On his return to England Mr. Pearson resolved to start a paper of his own, to be called Pearson's Weekly. He borrowed $15,000, and it was not long before he had established the weekly on a paying basis, with a circulation of 200,000.

SUCCESS IN MISSING WORD. Pearson's weekly might not have amounted to much had it not been that its proprietor adopted the idea of the missing word competition. This scheme had been tried in America, but without any special success. It seems, however, that Londoners took to it ravenously. A few weeks after Pearson started the competition, the circulation of his paper leaped from 200,000 to 800,000.

It had reached a million and a quarter copies, and Pearson had distributed more than $500,000 among his readers, when the law courts stepped in and decided the competition to be nothing more than a gamble.

The legal decision stopped the missing-word competition, but the effort the transatlantic advertisement continued. Pearson and his weekly were made. From that moment Pearson's mind evolved other schemes for attracting the public, and each week his publication gladdened with prizes of all kinds. He gave $2,000 insurance with each copy of the Weekly.

Last year Mr. Pearson founded The Daily Express. This newspaper has already taken a place among the London newspapers. As a news-gatherer, it seems to cover its ground more effectively than most of the other London papers, and it displays news in an attractive way, altogether new to the British public. The Daily Express might be said to be an English paper run on American lines.

THE CHINESE TROUBLES

Contradictory Dispatches Regarding the Indemnity.

IMPERIAL EDICTS ISSUED

It is Said That the Powers Concur on English Proposals.

The Whole Matter Hangs on the Action of Great Britain and the United States.

London, June 17.—The correspondent of the Inter Ocean learns from a most reliable source that there is a probability, almost amounting to a certainty, that the powers will unanimously renounce the idea of a Chinese indemnity loan with a joint or partial guaranty, and concur in the British and German proposals.

INDEMNITY UNSETTLED. Peking, June 17.—Everything points to a probable definite settlement of the indemnity question at the next meeting of Ministers, which is expected to take place Saturday. The Ministers believe it is absolutely necessary that a strong effort should be made to end the matter.

The British, German, and Italian contingents retaining a general each to command the foreign forces which will probably be stationed at Tien Tsin. The Italians are preparing to retain 1,200 men in the province of Chihli, which will be proportionately a larger force than of any other country. The British, French and Germans will retain about 3,000 men each, and the Americans 150. Tien Tsin being the center of a turbulent population, will require a specially strong guard. The provisional government there will not transfer its authority to the Chinese until the last. When this is done 12 Hung Chang proposes to establish the headquarters of his Viceroyalty there, leaving his Peking duties to others.

IMPERIAL EDICTS ISSUED. Shanghai, June 17.—An imperial edict, issued on June 3, which has not been circulated, recounts several persons who have not been punished. The edict orders to send these men to the board of punishment at Peking. Thence they are sent to places of banishment.

Another edict to-day indicated the places where military and civil examinations are to be suspended. The edict does not say whether the suspended examinations are the only local ones for the first degree or the provisional ones for the second degree. If it means the former the punishment is very light.

UNITED STATES UNCONCERNED. Washington, D.C., June 17.—The United States government has not protested and does not intend to protest under present conditions, against the maintenance of a large German garrison at Shanghai, which appears to be attracting attention in England. The German government has been very frank with the United States in responding to representations in the past, and the government is content to place implicit confidence in the maintenance of a German force in Shanghai is concerned.

Peterboro Lost to Port Hope.

BASKEBALL.

Peterborough goes under in their game with Port Hope on Saturday. The home team certainly went bad and practically lost the game in the first innings. The boys seemed to be lost to the game and only came to themselves when Port Hope had a run to the good in the first inning. Kehoe, Peterborough's new pitcher, pitched fairly good ball; he was hit freely, but his hits were not safe and the score is no evidence of the pitching as the score would have been even versus had it not been for wild throws and basemen's errors in the first.

Port Hope.

1st Innings—Edmunds went to bat hits an 4gts first, Marvin follows but is caught out by Scott at second, McManis gets a base on dead ball, McGill gets a hit and brings in McManis and Edmunds, Bert hits and brings in McGill, Henderson hits taking Bert to 3rd base, Fogarty hits and gets first and Tutton gets to first on dead ball, Pettie hits an 4gts in Henderson and Tutton Edmunds makes a big gets to first and Fogarty comes home, Marvin hits but is caught by Kehoe and gets out at first, McManis makes a hit and Edmunds scores, McGill makes a smash but is caught out and side retreats.—Runs, 3. Peterborough.

2nd Innings—Sheridan to bat making a 2 bagger, Earle hits and gets first, Graham hits and gets a fly and is caught by Edmunds at 2nd, Parnell fans and Connors makes a hit but fails to get to base.—Runs, 0. Peterborough.

3rd Innings—Scott comes to bat and shoots out a 2 bagger, Grady drives one to center field and brings in Scott, Kehoe strikes out and Grady stays 3rd, McCabe hits and brings in Grady, Stead and gets 3rd on error of 2nd base man, Sheridan makes a hit and brings in McCabe, Earle hits and brings in Sheridan, gets to 2nd but gets out stealing 3rd, Graham hits safe and Parnell follows and brings in Graham. Connors lands a 3 bagger and brings home Parnell, Scott hits and Connors scores but Scott fails to get to 2nd, side out.—Runs, 6. Peterborough.

4th Innings—Pettie to bat, makes a hit and gets second on a wild throw from Sheridan and pass ball gives him third, Edmunds hits and Pettie scores, Marvin makes a 2 bagger and lands Edmunds, McManis hits out a fly to Grady and gets out, McGill gets out on fly and tier is caught out on fly.—Runs, 2. Peterborough.

5th Innings—Grady makes hit and is blocked by 3rd baseman and put out at 1st, Kehoe fans and McCabe sends out a fly and is caught out at center field, Sheridan hits but fails to get to 1st, side out.—Runs, 0. Peterborough.

6th Innings—Fogarty fans, Henderson gets 1st steals 2nd, Tutton makes a safe hit and Henderson gets 3rd, Pettie fans and Edmunds is caught out by Earle.—Runs, 0. Peterborough.

7th Innings—Earle fans, Graham hits but fails to reach 1st and Parnell is caught out on fly at center field.—Runs, 0. Peterborough.

8th Innings—Marvin hits safe, McManis is caught out by Earle at center field, McGill fans, Bert hits to Parnell and gets out at 1st.—Runs, 0. Peterborough.

A USELESS RAID MADE BY CUNNING BOERS.

Details of a Desperate Attempt to Wreck a Delagoe Bay Train.

HINDON, A BOER LEADER, LED THE ATTACK.

He was Dressed as a British Officer and All His Men Wore Khaki—Boers Beat a Hasty Retreat.

Pretoria, June 15.—Details of the recent holding up of a supply train between Alkmaar and Blandstock have now been received. The dynamited train consisted of two engines and several trucks. A Boer leader, named Hindon, a notorious train-wrecker, stationed himself, with fifty men, close to the line, at a sharp curve on the top of a stiff gradient. He himself wore the uniform of a captain in the British army, and the majority of his band were dressed in khaki.

As the second engine, which was placed at about the middle of the train, reached the place of observation, Hindon exploded a mine composed of sixty dynamite cartridges. The engine and trucks were thrown over, and the train brought to a standstill.

Behind the trucks were a van and carriage containing some fever-stricken men of the Welsh Regiment and other details, behind that another van, and, lastly, an armored truck manned by a lieutenant and four men. The Boers, thinking the carriage contained officers, riddled it with bullets, killing two men and wounding another two.

The fireman on the first engine jumped off and escaped, but the driver stuck to his post, and was shot dead with his hand on the lever. The stoker of the second engine was wounded in the thigh.

OPENED FIRE. The instant the explosion occurred the small escort in the armored truck opened fire. The Boers for the most part kept carefully out of the way of the bullets, and Hindon sent a party of them up the hill to fire down the truck. The British, however, kept well under the shelter of its sides, and the Boers, seeing that this manoeuvre was a failure, climbed the dismantled trucks, got on top of the van, and attempted to put their enemy from that position.

This attempt was also fruitless, and the Boers, hearing the command given to fix bayonets, fell off the van on both sides, and ran back to cover. As a last resource Hindon sent a Boer, covered by a British prisoner, up the track to demand the surrender of the escort.

SLEEPING ON DUTY. London, Eng., June 14.—The British press have contained many letters to the effect that the convict prisons contain a number of soldiers who have been sentenced to long terms of imprisonment for sleeping while on sentry duty in South Africa. The Westminster Gazette contains the following authoritative statement on the subject:

"We are enabled to state on the highest possible authority that every sentence is carefully considered, with a view to its revision, when the man on whom it has been passed returns to England; that full allowance is made for the fact that sentries who have fallen asleep at their posts may have done so from sheer exhaustion; that, in any case, there is no desire to treat them as common criminals for such an offence, or to do anything that may do them any injury in after life; and that very probably, all of them—but more especially those who are not regulars—will have a very large portion of their sentences remitted altogether, as, although the offence is very rightly regarded as a most serious one, the exceptional circumstances in which, in most cases, it occurs is not, overlooked."

The authoritative statement does not say that men who have been found guilty of sleeping while acting as sentries are not now confined as ordinary criminals in various penal establishments at home.

NO PEACE PARLEYS WITH THE BOERS

Balfour Says Rumors of Negotiations are Baseless.

MONTHS OF HARD CHASING

English Estimate of the Burgher Army is 17,000 Mounted Men.

German Press Severely Condemns the Report of the British Transvaal Concession Committee.

London, June 17.—Replying to a question by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Liberal leader, in the House of Commons this afternoon, the Rt. Hon. A. J. A. Balfour, government leader, said the latest rumors in regard to peace negotiations with the Boers were without foundation. The Boer strength in the field was estimated to be 17,000 men.

The Mail says that there is many weary months of chasing the Boers, before peace is finally restored.

Pretoria, June 17.—Lord Kitchener is making preparations for a big sweep, with a view to corralling several other commandos. He reports the prospects very bright.

Johannesburg, June 17.—The proposal to tax the miners to help pay for the war expenses, is not being objected to as vigorously as was anticipated. It is thought that the proposed $250,000,000 tax will not hamper trade.

BRITISH REPORT CONDEMNED. Berlin, June 17.—The report of the British Transvaal concessions committee is severely condemned here by the whole press as being high-handed and denying private property rights in war, against the practice and theory of all civilized countries. It is said that the German government has instructed the German embassy in London to protest against the gross wrong meditated against a large number of German stockholders in the Netherlands-South-African railroad whenever it appears certain or even likely that the British government will adopt the committee's report.

Germany takes the ground that the German stockholders have an unbounded right to full compensation from Great Britain for the shares. Germany recalls her own proceedings after the war of 1870-71, when she purchased at a high price the French Eastern railroad in Alsace-Lorraine, although the road aided France in every possible manner during the war.

The society formed here for the protection of German stockholders of the Transvaal railroad says steps have been taken already to compel Great Britain to do the stockholders justice.

NEW RAILROADS FOR RHODESIA. Bulawayo, Rhodesia, June 17.—Contracts have been signed for 500 miles of new railroads radiating from here.

Ladies are invited. The ladies are specially invited to Mr. John King's big stock sale, to see the exhibition of Jamming which will be given by the cowboys, at Kennedy's stock yards, on Saturday, June 23. Thirty fine yearling steers will be disposed of.

IMPROVEMENTS WANTED.

Public Baths for Summer and Winter—A Public Library—A Gymnasium.

Now that we are emerging from the state of villagehood usually characteristic of small places, we ought also to leave behind many little civic foolishnesses such as grand spectacular bicycle meets (like the one held here three years ago), and those other displays intended more for the benefit of a few than for the edification of the many.

There was a time, too, when the pastoral cow was queen of the public streets and private lawns. But what she pleased and the idea of putting her in her own proper place was regarded as a heinous sin (by those who were looking for votes). By and by there were more votes to be had by beating than by voting in the cow and the time came when it was not penal to shut your gate in a cow's face.

What we want is public baths, not only at the river, but in a building with the tap on for winter use as well. If the money put aside for cliques in this town had been devoted to the public good in this way, we might have less religion and fewer taverns, but we should have more cleanliness.

Let Aid. Rush rush the both schemes through—for summer and winter: we will not be put off with pigpens for summer use. Then, too, let us have a civic club, large rooms, gymnasium, a free library, etc.

What are our good people doing? Get rid of useless dogs, cats, and other breeders of disease. If the women still want dogs and cats to play with and to kiss, let them know that to kiss a dog that probably has just had its head in a swill pail, is no passport to our favour.

Then clean up the Victoria Park where the children throw their waste paper. There are many things to do better than playing football.

TURKEY PROMISES TO PAY.

United States Believes the Armenian Claim Will be Settled.

Washington, D. C., June 17.—Mr. Leishman, the United States Minister at Constantinople, has informed the State Department that he has received another promise, the second from the Turkish government, that the indemnity of $80,000 demanded by the United States for the destruction of American property in Armenia in 1893 would be paid.

While similar promises had been made to four American diplomatic representatives at Constantinople before Mr. Leishman was transferred to that post, Mr. Leishman is confident that this time the Porte is in earnest. The tone of his advice is such that the officials here are encouraged to believe that the Sultan has at last found the means to satisfy his financial obligations. This hopeful feeling is not based entirely on Mr. Leishman's report, as the Sultan has recently satisfied the indemnity demand of France and made the first payment on a cruiser to be constructed by the Cramp.

Devotion Day. The different committees are busy with work arranging the details for the devotion ceremonies on Tuesday, June 25. It is expected that the attendance of Odellians this year will be unusually large. If the day is fine the general public will also, no doubt, be present in large numbers.

Young Women Saw Wood

Providence, R.I., June 15.—It was after the business had been transacted at the semi-annual meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Lakeside Baptist church the other night that announcement was made of the contest. It was a surprise to the contestants as well as to others that attended.

The president rose and briefly stated that the two young women members who last January debated the question whether a woman could do the work of man would prove it by sawing wood, when the law courts stepped in and decided the competition to be nothing more than a gamble.

The legal decision stopped the missing-word competition, but the effort the transatlantic advertisement continued. Pearson and his weekly were made. From that moment Pearson's mind evolved other schemes for attracting the public, and each week his publication gladdened with prizes of all kinds. He gave $2,000 insurance with each copy of the Weekly.

Last year Mr. Pearson founded The Daily Express. This newspaper has already taken a place among the London newspapers. As a news-gatherer, it seems to cover its ground more effectively than most of the other London papers, and it displays news in an attractive way, altogether new to the British public. The Daily Express might be said to be an English paper run on American lines.

Harry Connors who made a bluff to hang himself by his suspenders in a cell, at the police station, was on Saturday given ten days in jail on account of drunkenness. No other charge was pressed against him.

A Painful Accident. On Saturday morning, last, Mr. Walter Lacey, an employee of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, met with a painful accident. It appears that he was engaged in removing a quantity of iron when it fell on his hand, severely crushing one of the fingers. He will be laid up for some weeks.

FOR THE NORTH-WEST.

Mr. Percy Jamieson will Leave for Lethbridge This Morning.

This morning Mr. Percy Jamieson, son of Mr. F. J. Jamieson, of the Examiner, will leave for Lethbridge, N. W. T., where he will enter the service of the Bank of Montreal. Percy has been at the Collegiate Institute, and, judging from the end-of-his was given by his class mates, he must have been very popular. After four o'clock he was presented with a fountain pen and a souvenir pin, accompanied by an address, in which the boys expressed their regret at his leaving the class, and wished him every success in the west.

On the same evening (Thursday) at a business meeting of St. Luke's Young Men's Bible Class, Percy, who is treasurer of the same class, was the recipient of a hearty vote of thanks for the faithful manner in which he had discharged his duties, and all the men joined in expressing to him their best wishes for his success in the commercial life in which he is to embark.

THE BIG CELEBRATION.

Observance of Dominion Day in Peterboro is Expected to be a Record Breaker.

Three-sheet posters announcing the celebration of Dominion Day in Peterboro were seen from the Times press on Saturday. The various games, the band concert, the magnificent display of fireworks and the huge kiltsumph procession are all duly announced. Special stress is laid on the fact that everything is sure to go regardless of the weather, although the sun usually smiles on our own fair Dominion.

It is perhaps most fully understood that the postponement on the 24th was to a large extent unintended and unavoidable. The participants in the procession duly gathered in the morning, but an rain was pouring down at the time the start was delayed, and many took their departure and later in the day it was impossible to get all together again.

Although the preparations for the 24th were very thorough, the committee has since taken added pains and expense. There has been a much greater outlay of time and money for this celebration than any other before given here, and a great day may be expected.

Andrew Carnegie's Castle.

Chicago, June 15.—After giving uncounted millions broadcast for the erection of public libraries and for other philanthropic purposes, Andrew Carnegie has decided to spend a little money on himself, and will devote it to building a superb castle within easy reach of New York City.

Before departing on his present visit to his Scottish home at Skibo Castle, the millionaire philanthropist, while visiting the St. Andrews Golf Links, was struck by the beauty of an adjoining tract of land at Chalmers on the line of the New York and Putnam Railroad.

He purchased the tract which embraces more than a hundred acres of woodland and meadow, and recently gave orders for the erection of a mansion to cost $100,000.

The general design of the mansion, which will be constructed of massive rough boulders quarried from the neighboring hills, is that of a medieval castle. It stands on a bold eminence and commands a magnificent panoramic view of the hilly region of Westchester County for many miles.

Mr. Carnegie is a member of the St. Andrew's Golf Club, and it was his devotion to the ancient and royal game that induced him to build a summer home within easy distance of the links.

Mr. Carnegie's new home is within ten minutes walk off the tracks and not very far from John D. Rockefeller's country seat in the Foxcatcher Hills.

PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION, BUFFALO

and when but a few strokes from it, called back, laughing: "Will you swim for it, Tom? If you reach it first I'll be your prize, sir."

He was striking out after her as soon as the Tom had left her lips. She had nearly reached the dory, and confident of winning the race, put her hand up to catch the gunwale; missed it, and suddenly discovered she was out of depth and in the runway current.

"Tom!" she cried, and then all Tom saw was a pair of frightened upturned eyes and terror-stricken face, as she swept under the surface.

A fine predicament for a lover who was not a brave man, and who had barely learned to swim! Drawing a deep breath, Tom to all danger, and with no thought but to save her or die with her, Tom struck out into the current and under the surface.

His heart thumped wildly as he felt a mass of her sun-gold hair come into his grasp, and in a moment more he rose to the surface. Through his dazed eyes, he saw a bit of rope and grasped it. They had come up under the stern of the dory, which had swung into the current with them, and he was now firmly gripping a bit of painter which hung over the stern.

In a few minutes more he had lifted her over the side, clambered on after, and was chafing her hands briskly. Mrs. Hart's cries from the beach had brought the Cobbs to the scene, and Master Harry was running a dory down the beach to the rescue.

It had all happened in a very few minutes. Mary O'Brien, however, smiled and said: "You needn't rub all the skin off my hands, sir."

"Thank God! She is all right," said Tom, fervently.

"Tom, dear, you reached the dory first. KISS ME, SIR! You won!"

And then Master Harry's boat grated alongside.

Field of the Flag on the Heart.

How many people fully realize what the flag of their country means to them? How many know the place it actually holds in their affections? It may be safely said that the number is very small. One has to be away from home to get the full meaning of it. Here, where the flag is everywhere, it is treated more or less lightly; indeed, the average man gives it no thought at all. A traveler, Morgan Williams of Chicago recently discoursed entertainingly on this subject. It was just after the relief of the legations at Peking.

"I can at least partially appreciate the thrill that the first sight of the Stars and Stripes floating over the relieving force gave the Americans who had been waiting so long for succor," he said. "Of course, I never was hemmed in for weeks by a cruel horde as they were, and the flag could not have given the same significance for me, but I had been for a year without a sight of it and when my gaze first rested on it I had to gulp down something that rose in my throat. When I left home I had about the same reverence for it that the average American has and while I was travelling I really hadn't given it much thought. I had had no special longing to see it; at least no such idea had been formulated in my mind. Nor had I been especially homesick. Of course, a man who has been long away wants to get back to his native country, but I was used to traveling and took my enforced absence philosophically.

"On this occasion I had been in Africa, not in the wilds and unexplored, but still far enough away from the usual course of travel so that my eyes had at no time lighted on the flag that previously had been most familiar to me. It so happened that I did not see it until I reached Paris on my way home. I saw other flags, but not the Stars and Stripes, and, as I said before, I was not looking for it and was not conscious of any anxiety to see it. I knew that I wanted to get back to the United States. Then suddenly one day the old flag met my gaze. There was some sort of American celebration in Paris, and the flag, White and Blue was waving from a window. I stood stock still for a minute, while a lump rose in my throat; then I jumped into the street, threw my hat up in the air and gave a wild Western yell that must have made the natives think that I was excited. It was only a piece of hunting, of course, but since that so thrilled me, I simply couldn't help yelling, and it was immaterial to me how big a fool I seemed to make of myself so long as I gave that flag one good rousing cheer.

"That's why I say that the man who has never been away from the flag is unable to appreciate what it means to him or the affection that he really feels for it. One must see it in a foreign land to gain any conception of the hold it has on his heart. And if the mere sight of it so affected me under these circumstances what must a glimpse of it at the head of a relief column have meant to the Americans in Peking? It was more than the mere assurance of relief, and I venture to say that the men of their own army will be able to put it into words. They are some emotions that are beyond description, and principal among them are those inspired in the breast of a true patriot by the first glimpse of the flag of his country after he has been a long time without seeing it or when it comes as a banner of hope in time of danger and privation."

A man never feels as if he has had a good time unless it makes him feel bad for a longer time than it took him to have it.

THEIR FAME SPREADING.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills a Wonderful Remedy.

Editor of the Morning Times.

Sir,—It is because I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be repaid that I ask you to publish some facts regarding Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills. I was for many years a sufferer from indigestion and stomach troubles. I could not digest my food, I was constipated, and it was only by injections that I could get relief. Physicians did me no good. I was reduced to a skeleton, and could hardly walk.

As a last resort I tried a box of these pills, and the improvement was so marked that I continued taking them. I have now taken twelve boxes, never remembering being as well in my life. I have gained 22 pounds, and am putting on more flesh daily. I am now living, walking advertisement and consider no trouble too great in order to spread the fame of Dr. Clarke's Pills.

Shoemaker's Backache

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets a Positive Cure for this Complaint.

The constant bending over that of necessity a shoemaker must do when at work, causes hard on his back and hard on his kidneys. Backache and lame back are the great bane of a shoemaker's existence. That Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets can ease the aching back and cure the kidney trouble is simply proven in the following case:

Mr. J. O'Shea, corner Main and Market streets, Lucan, Ont., the well-known shoemaker of that village, says: "A shoemaker's work requires lots of sitting and leaning forward, and invariably as in my case, in time brings on at pains in the small of the back and kidney trouble. This has been my complaint for two or three years, and I was about tired of it. Some one told me about Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, and I got a bottle at John Farrell's drug store. The taking of the one bottle was followed by complete relief. This is naturally a big lift to me in my work, and I am correspondingly grateful. I can recommend the Tablets conscientiously to others."

If you are anxiously desirous of being cured insist on having Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. Prior 50 cents a box, at all druggists. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto.

Margaret in Shore's Make of Clothing.

The pre-eminent position which the high-class clothing made by Messrs. H. Shore & Co., of Montreal, holds with the people of Peterborough is the reason why so much of it is sold by Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co. The representative of the house made a special visit to Peterborough last week and closed out to H. LeBrun & Co. a very choice selection of Shore's high-class summer suits for men, young men, boys and children by drugs—reduction of about one-fourth off wholesale prices. Shore & Co. are preparing for their winter work and made Mr. LeBrun a tempting offer, which the people of Peterborough will get the benefit of. These suits will be sold at one-fourth less than regular prices. They consist of well tailored garments in fine black worsted serge and extra tweed. Every suit has a ticket in the pocket of the coat, guaranteeing that if anything goes wrong it will be made right. Messrs. LeBrun & Co. also secured a great many fine suits, which are to be sold at a similar reduction. H. LeBrun & Co.

May Fever May be Prevented.

Don't seek other cures at "Hay Fever Season," don't destroy your stomach with nervous drugs—prevent the disease. Hay Fever is caused by germs that float about in the air and finally find lodgement in your throat and lungs. Medicine won't reach them there, but Catarrhoxone will. Catarrhoxone is sure death to germs. Start now to use Catarrhoxone. Inhale it into the throat, lungs, nasal passages and bronchial tubes; it goes wherever you breathe the gas, and it will prevent and cure Hay Fever. Endorsed by not less than one thousand doctors in Canada and U. S. Sent to you, address for $1.00 forwarded to Volstead & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. or Kingston, Ont.

THEY DO IT.

People Quit Coffee and Get Well on Postum Food Coffee.

A man in Millford, Ind., says he could not quit drinking coffee because he thought it hurt him, but because he found a morning beverage he liked better in Postum Food Coffee, he quit coffee and was surprised to find in a few weeks all of the old symptoms of sickness had left him.

He had been greatly troubled with his stomach and heart, also with what is called "water brash," and dull headaches "which made me very irritable and quick tempered."

All of these symptoms disappeared and he discovered, in spite of all his previous theories, that coffee was really the cause of his troubles, and the leaving off of coffee and the taking on Postum Food Coffee brought about a perfect cure.

He speaks, also, of Mrs. Josephine Kelly, living at Elkhart, Ind. Says she was afflicted much as he was, but had become more emancipated than he. So she quit drinking coffee and took on Postum Food Coffee. She is now a healthy and robust lady and willing to make affidavit that Postum Food Coffee saved her.

The gentleman from Millford speaks also of Thomas McDonald as having recovered by using Postum. It can be had at all grocers. A good cup of Postum cannot be made unless it is boiled long enough to bring out the flavor and food value, then it is delicious.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

You may catch bias to-day.

—The County Orange Lodge meets on Tuesday evening at Lakeside.

—The annual Farmers' Picnic will be held at Jubilee Point on June 26.

—The regular meeting of St. John's Women's Auxiliary will be held on Monday at 3.30. A full attendance of members is requested.

—The Pepper Twins of Lindsay, have been engaged by the Street Hy. Co., of Toronto to entertain in the parks.

—They appear on the 17th in London for a week, Toronto for two weeks, Kingston, the following week, and other places.

—The Cadet Corps of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute will be inspected on Wednesday after school, by Lt. Col. E. B. Edwards, Commanding Officer of the 67th Regt.

—The inspection will take place on the school grounds, and the public is invited to attend.

—Mr. John Blewett of Lakefield, sustained a fatal accident recently.

He was engaged in dressing the top stone in the Trent Valley Flour Mills, when a piece of steel from the chisel flew into his eye.

Mr. Blewett after two or three days a fever, had the piece of steel removed by Dr. M. C. Cullough of town.

—Messrs. Melnick and Kruse of the Owen Sound Portland Cement Co., have been engaged for about ten days in preparing the foundations for the huge iron cylinders, mills, etc., at Lakeside, to be used in the manufacture of cement.

Four or five cars of this enormous machinery have arrived.

—The Trusts and Guarantee Company, Limited, 14 King street west, Toronto, have been appointed administrators of the estate of Catherine Knowles, who died recently at Lakeside, Ind., leaving a sum of money to deposit in this province.

The relatives of the deceased requested the company to act as administrators of the estate in order to facilitate the money.

—The Baptist church at Campbellford is again under the care of a settled pastor in the person of Rev. W. E. Orton, late of Springfield, Ont.

Mr. Orton has been in the ministry about 15 years. His first pastoral charge was at Norwood and Warsaw, but in consequence of failing health, he moved to Lakeside, where he remained eight years, and was very much benefited.

Rheumatic Pains Cured by Nerviline.

This is the testimony of Mr. Benjamin Dillon, of Leeds, Ont., who says: "I feel it my duty to proclaim the marvelous value of Nerviline as an infallible cure for rheumatic pains. It cures them every time. Nothing I know of equals it as a household liniment and mothers should have no necessary fear of its use. Nerviline has cured rheumatism of 30 years standing, and can cure you. Instant relief, absolute cure, large bottle 25c."

Mr. Major.

Will on Wednesday, June 19th, Thursday, June 20th and Saturday, June 22nd, leave Lakeside on arrival of the morning train.

Returning will reach Lakefield to connect with the evening train for Peterborough.

Thinner Than a Nail.

Spending every day as much energy as you make out of the balanced good a little further, well, you get thinner. Not wise to go that way longer. Better use Ferronox; you will digest more a little gain the first week, but the gain keeps growing. You will not keep right on only don't use Ferronox too long or you will get too fat. Then your blood will be rich, your heart strong, you won't puff so much, you won't get tired quickly. Fat, blood, strength, you have them all with Ferronox. Sold only by Ormond & Walsh.

MORE WEDDINGS.

The following two paragraphs from the Montreal Star will be read with interest in Peterborough.

"The marriage of Miss Annie Galt, daughter of the late Sir A. T. Galt and of Lady Galt, Mount-Ast, and of Lady Galt, Mount-Ast, took place very quietly this afternoon at two o'clock at the residence of the bride's mother, which was most effectively decorated with quantities of flowers. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Principal Hackett in the presence of relatives and intimate friends. The bride was charmingly dressed in white. Later, Dr. Galt, Mr. Smith left on a wedding trip, prior to leaving for Winnipeg, where they will reside. Mrs. Smith is the recipient of a large number of beautiful gifts."

"An interesting coincidence in connection with the marriage of Dr. Harvey Smith of Winnipeg to Miss Annie Galt, daughter of Lady Galt, 280 Mount-Ast, is that the late Sir A. T. Galt, their father, and the late Hon. Sidney Smith, the groom's grandfather, were personal friends and colleagues, the former Minister of Finance, and the latter Postmaster-General, in the cabinets of Sir George E. Cartier and of Sir John A. Macdonald, and to Confederation. No doubt had the lives of the two hon. gentlemen extended to this period of time the auspicious event of to-day would have been a source of great interest and gratification to both of them."

COLTER - GREEN.

A wedding was quietly solemnized on Wednesday at the residence of Mr. John W. Green, of Lindsay, Ontario, when his only daughter, Miss Minnie K., was united in marriage to Mr. J. E. Colter, also of Fairmount.

Rev. C. H. Coon performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by only the immediate friends of the contracting parties.

Midnight Excursion.

The Canadian General Electric Co. Glee Club will have a midnight excursion down the river on Monday night, June 24th, per steamer Water Lily and crew.

The programme will be given during the trip. Only a limited number of tickets will be sold, thus crowding will be avoided. The committee are determined to make this trip as pleasant to everyone. Tickets must be put on hand from members of the club, as no tickets will be sold on the boat. Tickets 25 cents. Wm. Hill, D. Holt, H. Allen, J. Legg, J. F. Paul, G. W. Mulligan, Committee.

JULY 2nd, 1901.

The Transfer books will be closed from the 17th to the 30th of June, both days inclusive.

"THE WOMAN TEMPTED ME."

The Club Came to the Conclusion That There are Separate Codes of Ethics.

It was properly speaking, the afternoon set aside by the women's club for the discussion of missions.

Before the members could be called to order, however, one of the number started an informal talk on a subject somewhat nearer home, and the matter of missions was allowed to go over to the next meeting.

The member waved aloft a newspaper and read an extract describing arrests made in a saloon which was violating the closing law by being open on Sunday. The men and women were all taken to the station house. In closing the account of the very ordinary occurrence the paper said:

"The proprietor was held for trial for violation of the liquor law. The magistrate committed the women to jail for a month each. He discharged the thirty-five men."

"This," said the member with the newspaper, "is such a common happening that it apparently doesn't rank very high as an item of news, because they were not both men and women held to account instead of just the women? If it was not an offence why were the women held at all?"

None of the other women was ready with an explanation. But many were anxious to corroborate the first speaker. Said one:

"You know the same thing on the stage. The custom of making the woman suffer solely for the transgressions of all has become so common that a dramatist never thinks of presenting her in a light other than the fear of the male sinner and opening it to the woman sinner? Hardly. It is always the reverse of the situation."

After some further discussion, the club came to the conclusion that there are separate codes of ethics for the sexes. They hadn't accomplished anything in the way of bettering the conditions, but they felt even so much happier for having freed their minds.

For the Sick Home.

Wash two ounces of pearl barley, and put into a saucepan with one and a half pints of water and the rind of a lemon. Boil slowly for an hour, strain and add the juice of a small lemon; sweeten to taste.

With one ounce of honey, mix it into a saucepan with one quart of cold water, some licorice, and one ounce of the best sugar candy. Simmer for half an hour, then strain and drink hot.

Toast a slice of bread evenly to a nice brown; it must not be allowed to burn. Put it into a jug and pour cold water over it, leaving it to stand some time, closely covered; strain and use. Some people use boiling water, but the toast water will not be so clear as if made with cold.

Beat a fresh egg with a pint of milk, lukewarm, and a tablespoonful of capillaries, which is made by boiling a sugar of lump sugar with one and a half pints of water until it thickens. Next add a tablespoonful of rosewater and a pinch of ground nutmeg. Drink night and morning until the cough is relieved.

Put a small bunch of sage two sprigs of balm, and a little sorrel into the jug, having first washed and dried them; peel a lemon very thinly; slice the lemon and put it with the pulp into the jug; pour on it three pints of boiling water. Sweeten to taste and cover closely. Take a wine glassful, cold, twice or three times a day.

What to Read in Fever Nails.

Long nails never indicate such great physical strength as short, broad ones. Very long finger nails persons are apt to have delicate chests and lungs.

Long nails, very wide at the top and bluish in appearance, denote bad circulation. Long-nailed men and women are less critical and more impressionable than those with short nails.

Long nails indicate idealism and an artistic temperament.

Long-nailed people are apt to be very visionary and hate to face disagreeable facts.

Short-nailed men never give up an argument.

A keen sense of humor accompanies short nails.

Short-nailed persons make good critics; they are sharper and more logical than long-nailed people, and usually more positive in assertion.

Short nails, very flat and sunken as it were into the flesh at the base, are a sign of diseased nerves.

Short nails, very flat and inclined to curve out or up at the edges, are the forerunners of paralysis.

HONORS FOR A LINDSAY BOY.

And a former Resident of Peterborough Who is Very Clever.

At the recent examinations at the University of Toronto, Mr. E. J. Kyle, son of Mr. Richard Kyle, of Lindsay, formerly of Peterborough, was successful in winning the degree of B.A., with double first-class honors, in classics and in England and History.

Throughout his course he has kept first place in both these departments. He has also won the Motilul Gold Medal for first place in proficiency. To cap the climax, Mr. Kyle has won the J. W. Flavell Travelling Scholarship, which means two years at Oxford, as the scholarship is worth $750 per year for two years. This is one of the most brilliant courses ever taken in Toronto University, and Mr. Kyle's many Peterborough friends and relatives will extend their hearty congratulations.

On Mr. Kyle's return to Lindsay, he was given a hearty reception at the station. Mayor Ingle, Warden J. Graham, Principal Harrison of the High School, and the Collegiate boys taking part, in addition to other well-wishers and friends.

A Mission at the Belmont Mines.

Rev. Mr. Cameron, superintendent of the Home Mission work on the Baptist church, visited the Belmont Mines, this week, and after conferring with the people there, decided to open a mission at that place. The work will be in charge of a student from McMaster University during the summer months.

THE BOERS SURPRISE THE AUSTRALIANS

Poured a Deadly Fire Into Their Camp, Killing Two Officers and 16 Men.

TWO POMPONS WERE TAKEN BY THE ENEMY.

Only Two Officers and Fifty Men Escaped Out of 250—A Heavy List of wounded—100 Boers Surrender at Pietersburg.

London, June 18. — Cablegram from Pretoria, under yesterday's date, Lord Kitchener says: "Near Wadmanst, 20 miles north of Middelburg, 250 Victorian Mounted Rifles from General Buller's column were surprised in camp at Middelburg, sprang by a superior force of Boers at 7.30 p.m., June 12. The enemy crept up to within short range and poured a deadly fire into the camp, killing two officers and 16 men, and wounded four officers and 25 men, of whom 28 were slightly wounded. Only two officers and 50 men escaped to General Buller's camp. The remainder were taken prisoners and released. Two pompons were captured by the enemy. Full details have not yet been received."

FOUGHT WITH DE WIT.
Under the date of June 15th Lord Kitchener also reports: "During the march from Vrede (Orange River Colony) Elliot's column engaged the enemy under de Wit on June 6, and after severe fighting captured a convoy of 71 loaded wagons, 45 prisoners, 58 rifles, 10,000 rounds of ammunition and 4,000 cattle.

"The Boers left 17 killed and 3 wounded on the field. Our casualties were 8 officers and 1 man killed and 1 officer and 21 men wounded."

MORE SURRENDERS.
Durban, Natal, June 17. — The surrender of Commandant Van Rensburg with 100 men at Pietersburg is said to be preliminary to the surrender of a thousand Boers in that district.

BALFOUR CENSURED.
New York, June 18. — I. N. Ford cablegram from London yesterday says that Mr. Balfour is strongly censured for repeating a grossly exaggerated estimate of the present strength of the Boer army in the field.

THE COUNTY COURT.
Judge Weller presiding at the County Court.

At County Court Saturday afternoon the appeal case Harrison vs. O'Brien was heard. Appellant O'Brien is a Collegiate Institute student, who was arraigned in Police Court at the instance of Mr. Robert Harrison, for grossly insulting that gentleman. Magistrate Dumble fined O'Brien, and the latter appealed on the ground that there was no evidence as to his guilt. His Honor Judge Weller, considering that there was, and sustained Magistrate Dumble's judgment.
The case Thos. Cunningham vs. David Hall, in which plaintiff, a barber, took action against defendant, also as a barber, for $100 damages for non-fulfillment of contract, and claiming, also, an injunction restraining defendant from engaging in the barbering business in town, was settled out of court by defendant, paying plaintiff $150 in full of claim and costs and entering into certain undertakings. D. O'Donnell for plaintiff; Dennistown, Peck & Stevenson for defendant.
The argument in the one non-jury case was heard to-day. Susanah R. Dundas, wife of Alf. Dundas, of town formerly wife of the late John Jackson was plaintiff and John Morton, of Owen Sound, defendant. Action was taken to secure an adjustment of rents on lands on which Morton was tenant, plaintiff claiming she was entitled to said rents according to the will of her late husband. Judgment reserved. Edmondson & Dixon for plaintiff; A. A. Smith, Millbrook, and St. B. Edwards, for defendant.
The above cases concluded the business of the court.

army in the field. It is not believed that more than five thousand Boers still remain under arms.
The Dutch districts of Cape Colony, where Gen. French is now in command, are weary of the depredations of Boer raiders when they have to feed and clothe them, and a decisive victory over the guerrilla bands is expected in that quarter. Important news from Gen. French is looked for in the next ten days, by which the pacification of the country south of the Orange River will be effected.
It is thought that all the leading Boer commanders headed by Botha and De Wet, would assume the responsibility of a complete surrender were it not for the strenuous opposition of Mr. Kruger.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.
New York, June 17. — The Herald's London correspondent says that Mr. Balfour's declaration in the House of Commons, denying the rumors of peace negotiations, was a great disappointment to members on both sides of the House. There are many Conservatives who would be glad to see peace now concluded on any reasonable terms. On the other hand, many think that as the enemy's supplies are nearing exhaustion if Kitchener continues to hammer away the Boers will soon surrender without conditions.

It is rather difficult to ascertain how far public opinion has changed about the war since the last general election. At a representative meeting of Northampton County, the other day, at which Messrs. Merriam and Bauer spoke, a resolution was passed favoring the total independence of the Boers. In Warwickshire the meeting of a Liberal candidate in a bye-election were forcibly broken up, owing to the opposition to the war manifested by that candidate.

MANY LIVES ARE LOST.
A Fire in St. Petersburg and an Explosion in France Claim Many Victims.

Frankfort-on-the-Main, June 17. — Considerable gratification exists throughout southern Germany on account of the announcement that King Edward of Great Britain and Kaiser William will jointly review the imperial troops at Mynce/August 14. This will be the first visit to Germany of the British sovereign in his Royal capacity since his accession to the British throne. While there are some anxious pro-Boers who are disgusted at the approaching honours to be paid to the British King, there are as many others who regard with satisfaction the coming visit of King Edward as a new pledge of Anglo-German friendship.

WORLD'S POPULATION
Standing Room Only for 55,073,000,000 People 340 Years from Now.

New York, June 17. — According to a careful computation by J. Holt Schooling, a statistician, when three hundred and fifty years shall have passed the density of the earth's population will be such that each person will have only two-thirds of an acre. That space, fifty-five and one half yards square, will have to suffice for all purposes—agriculture, roads, houses, parks, railways, and so on. Mr. Schooling will say in an article in the Cosmopolitan for July that when the globe's population reached this density, which is about one thousand persons to the mile the earth will in his opinion, be full.
Mr. Schooling reaches his conclusion by a careful analysis of the growth of population in the nineteenth century, and upon that basis computes the population of the earth in the year 2550. What will become of posterity in 2550 is a problem that he does not attempt to solve.
Present populations to the square mile are:—
Russia..... 15
United States..... 21
China..... 96
Spain..... 180
France..... 289
Germany..... 339
Italy..... 411
Holland..... 572
Belgium..... 672
Mr. Schooling estimates the population of the earth now at 1,600,000,000 and for 2250 at 55,073,000,000.

FORCES LEAVING CHINA.

Europeans Will Probably Have Evacuated Peking by First of July Next.

Washington, June 17. — The recent large reduction of the foreign forces in China caused surprise in official quarters, but this reduction is now accounted for on the terms by which the indemnity was made up. When each country put in the amount of its claim, it included an estimate of the military expenses running up to July 1 next. This was with the idea that it will take until July 1 to settle the indemnities. With the indemnity settled, each Government will pay its own expenses in China after July 1. There is a natural desire, therefore, to reduce the cost of the military expenses within the period covered by the indemnity, and this has led to the evacuation now going on. In case the indemnity remains unsettled on July 1, several of the Governments will submit additional claims covering their monthly expenses after that time. These amount to $2,000,000 a month, according to the estimates of one of the Governments, and in the aggregate they will reach $10,000,000 for each month after July 1. It is expected that this will have a strong influence on the Chinese in bringing about a complete agreement before the close of this month.

The recent exchanges between the Cabinet at Washington and other capitals has not resulted in any agreement on the question of indemnity and the matter is now committed back to the Ministers at Peking. Diplomatic officials who are taking part in the negotiations believe that July 1 marks the outside date when the settlement will be finally effected.

A SPLENDID INVESTMENT.

The Crowther-Cummins Company a Good Investment for Capitalists.

We have much pleasure in calling attention to the prospectus of the Crowther-Cummins Company, which we publish elsewhere in this issue. This Company was formed not only to manufacture the article under its letters patent, but also all small and handy things for the household that are being imported from the United States. The field is very large, and this is the only company in this country that is making them, and besides owning a number of very valuable patents on the handiest kinds of very quick selling utensils.

The Company is receiving orders daily from the largest jobbers, and they all speak very highly of their manufactures, and are unanimous in predicting a very prosperous future for the company. The stock is rapidly being taken, and will, it is believed, be over-subscribed.

Mr. Cummins, the President and General Manager, has had large experience in the manufacture and sale of this class of goods, and is well known to the trade in Canada, the United States, West Indies, Central and South America. For years Mr. Cummins represented the leading manufacturers in these countries.

The prospectus appeals alike to the patriotic spirit of Canadians, as well as to those who desire a safe and profitable investment.

DENOUNCED WOMEN CLERKS.

Member of Freight Agents' Association Says They Corrupt Others.

Denver, June 17. — Immorality in freight offices, owing to the employment of women clerks, stirred up a sensation that almost disrupted the National Freight Agents' Association at its meeting here. The president ruled against the topic which has been a standing menace to the good fellowship of the agents for years, but an executive session the trouble broke out afresh through a Chicago man demanding an open and frank discussion. He said that if the members were honest they would go on record against the employment of women, and boldly declared that one general freight office in Peoria was a hotbed of vice and immorality which prevented the employment of competent women clerks. The delegate appealed to the honorable sentiment of the members to exclude women from the office and secure better service. The women in question, he declared, were insolent and rebellious to an extent that prevented the employing railway from getting a fair return for the salaries paid.

ROYAL VISIT TO GERMANY.

King Edward will Jointly Review Troops at Mayence with Emperor William.

St. Petersburg, June 17. — The fire at the Galleys Island shipyard Thursday consumed the ships, the cruiser Witke and other vessels, the Government and other buildings there, and a large stock of timber. The flames also leaped the Neva-Fontanka canal, destroying several military warehouses filled with supplies. According to the Novoe Vremya twelve persons lost their lives in the flames. The damage done amounts to 10,000,000 rubles ($2,000,000).

Paris, June 17. — An explosion in a cartridge factory situated in the suburb of Les Moulins, has resulted in the loss of fifteen lives and the injuring of about twenty persons. The victims were horribly mutilated. A majority of those injured were women.

A MONASTICISM FIGHT.

Progress of Revolt Against the Clergy in Latin Countries.

THE SUPREMACY OF STATE.

London, June 17. — Newspapers have either ignored the simultaneous outbreak of anti-clericalism in the three great Latin nations altogether, or else, believing implicitly the accounts sent to them by correspondents, have not hesitated to approve of it by describing it in their leading articles as a spontaneous outbreak, the result of a justifiable indignation on the part of the population at the gradual encroachment of the friars, and especially of the Jesuits, upon the liberties of the country.

Some time ago August last a certain class of Spanish and Portuguese papers, controlled and inspired by the republican and secret societies which honeycomb the peninsula, began to publish a series of articles directed against the religious orders.

In Spain, the clerical question is one of the chief items in the program of the Liberal party. The religious orders must be deprived, they say, of their power; the institutions of the Church must be made subject to the ordinary civil law. The record, indeed, made with the Papacy, under which special privileges are given to three orders only was to be respected, the other orders (and their name is legion) were to be forced to conform to the laws of the land. The manufactures and factories conducted by the clergy (so the Liberals say), which have developed so enormously as to become serious competitors of the lay manufacturers, must pay the ordinary taxes; the Government inspectors of factories must inspect them like the ordinary factories, and the courts must take cognizance, without the waste of the obsequies, of the grave irregularities which are committed therein. The schools of the monks and nuns must be made subject to the ordinary state examinations, and thus "absolutism" will be checked.

In fact, just as the victory of the Church over science and livelihood seemed to be assured, the battle has turned against her. It is generally believed that the court would not welcome an anti-clerical policy. And color is given to this belief by the fact that Senor Pidal, an enthusiastic Catholic, remains the Spanish Ambassador at the Vatican. No revision of the concordat or increase of the burdens of the clergy are likely to be undertaken through such a channel, and therefore it is presumably the intention of the Government not to move further.

IN PORTUGAL.

In Portugal, the state of affairs is very different, and the essence of the difference lies in the fact that in Portugal there is a King who has his hand on the pulse of public opinion, and who knows that he will be supported in his efforts to apply the law of the land to the monastic orders. Actually, it is said, that for the Jesuits receive a little protection from the constitution in Portugal as in Spain, in that their secret influence extend into all ranks of life, and all grades of society, while the result that they are feared by the whole people. When, then, at the beginning of the anti-clerical agitation the King put himself at the head of the movement and solemnly promised to fulfill his duty, his position was clear.

It would be a mistake to suppose, however, that the Jesuits and the other orders are beaten. They do not resist openly — at the present moment that would be impossible — but there are already the methods of intrigue, and it is whispered that the higher clergy are busy weaving plots with the party of the Pretender to the Portuguese throne, Don Miguel. It is even said that the monarch is being filled with weapons, and that all in readiness for a rising. But the King is understood to be the protector of the higher clergy, even a personal letter from the Pope, have been unavailing, and a last effort has been made, giving only six months of suffering before the dissolution of all monasteries. The only danger is — and this applies also to Spain, that though the law is excellent at present, the temper of the country and the temper of the Government may allow it to remain a dead letter.

NOVETRY AND INTEREST.

The visitors were soon busily at work taking in the situation, which was full of novelty and interest. The island is a singular formation, the large part consisting of bluff and white sand, rising in height from twenty-five to one hundred feet, much of which is partly held together by the roots of a sand binding grass (Amphipogon repens), while the admirable sea is covered with low sand, which is blown about by the strong winds which prevail there, and hence the configuration of the surface is ever changing. Large flocks of sea birds were seen in all directions, and numbers of seals bobbing their heads above water on every hand.

As soon as the forest trees were unpacked and heeled in, after were selected for the planting, and this work was begun. One of the sites chosen was apparently a pure sand, partly covered with the sand binding grass already referred to. This was the top of a prominent cliff, where the trees would be partially protected from winds, and readily seen from many different points. At this place several thousand trees were planted.

Three other sites for tree planting were selected near the house of the superintendent. A large garden belonging to the central station was partly filled with over two thousand specimens, among which were included a number of rare and small fruits sent from the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa.

INROADS OF THE SEA.

The sea has made great inroads on the west end of the island, and, within the memory of the present residents, washed away several miles of that end, which has made necessary the removal of the lighthouse twice within fifteen years. Early surveys gave the length of the island as about forty miles. Now it is but little more than half that length. Dangerous shoals extend on all sides, and the strong ocean currents which run about the island often carry vessels out of their course. Add to this the prevalence of fogs, which obscure the land, and there is a combination of dangerous surroundings which have resulted in the destruction of many good ships and the loss of hundreds of lives.

NEW SET OF STAMPS.

The Postmaster-General at Ottawa is to Go Out a New Line of Stamps.

When the Postmaster-General returns to Ottawa one of the first matters to engage his attention will be the issue of a new set of postage stamps to replace those which bear the head of our late sovereign, Queen Victoria. The government of the United Kingdom will probably get out its new issue before any set are taken by the colonies, but there, as here, there is probably a very large stock of stamps on hand, which it is well to use up before the new ones are prepared. There is no precedent to go by in the matter, as the accession of Queen Victoria there was no such thing as a postage stamp, as we understood the term, in use. Inquiry of the Postoffice Department here elicits the information that the Dominion will await the action of the Imperial authorities. There are about 15 stamps in use in Canada, on which the head of Queen Victoria appears. When the new issue is being prepared it is practically certain that the present eighteen stamp, which was designed principally for use in registering letters, will be replaced by one of seven cents to correspond with the rate for registered letters since the reduction to two cents of the letter rate.

JUST AS ADVERTISED.

No False Pretences Were Made in the Equine Transaction.

An indignant farmer from Ottonabee returned to a Peterborough horse dealer's about an hour after purchasing a horse.

"Look here, sir," he exclaimed, "I don't want this horse you sold me for $100. I can't get him across the bridge."

"That's the reason I sold him," said the dealer calmly. "Why did you come back for the horse?"

"I saw your advertisement in the paper."

"Yes," he said, "you stated, for no other reason (that is, the owner wants to get out of town.)"

"Well, if you can get out of town with him," said the dealer, "it will be more than I can do."

RODE THE BREAKERS.

Surf Boat is the only Means of Landing on Sable Island.

Halifax, June 17. — Additional particulars respecting the planting of trees on Sable Island to preserve the island from further washing away, state that of the 15,000 trees in all 8,000 were evergreens consisting of pines, spruces, and Junipers and the remaining 7,000 were made up of different hardy deciduous ones, Sable Island lies about ninety miles off the coast of Nova Scotia, nearly opposite Liscomb Harbor, is 13 miles from Halifax, and is about twenty-one miles long, in the form of a slender open crescent, with the crescent side facing the mainland.

The party reached Halifax on Tuesday night, and left for the island at 2 p.m. the following day, Wednesday, May 18, on the Government steamer Miram. As soon as the Miram was seen from the island a flag was run up by one of the watchers on an eminence near the central station, known as the Lookout, and a short time a large launch was launched, and was on its way to the steamer to bring the passengers ashore.

There is no harbor or sheltered landing place on any part of the island, and the only way of reaching the shore is to ride in on the crest of the breakers. In this way the visitors reached within a few yards of the shore, when they were carried to dry land on the shoulders of the waves, and were taken to the superintendent, R. J. Boutilier. An additional boat was brought into requisition, and repeated trips were made to the shore for the trees and other freight, and before dark all work landed, where the steamer left with the understanding that, weather permitting, it was to return on the following Thursday to take the party away.

FILIPINO MURDERERS WILL BE HANGED.

Horrible Butchery of Men and Women Taken by Filipinos to a Secret Rendezvous.

ASSASSINS WERE BOUND TOGETHER BY AN OATH

General McArthur Says There is No Hope of Peace in Philippines Until the People Unite Against all Murderous Bands.

Washington, June 17. — A Philippine mail brings to the War Department the records of eleven cases wherein Filipinos were tried by military commissions, including murder, kidnapping, assault and battery, burglary and violation of rules of war.

Especially notable cases arose out of the operations of a famous oath-bound band of Filipinos, called the Society of the "Candathans." The principal officers of this society next to a triumvirate of chiefs are a chief executioner, and assistants, and a requisite number of grave diggers, who participate in the self-appointed work of the band. The leaders select their victim, capture and carry him away in the night to a secret rendezvous on a sandy beach covered with very tall grass, where the diggers already have prepared the grave. Here, in the presence of the assembled band, helpless men and women from time to time have been strangled and thrown into the graves. The members of the band then disperse and trust to the rise and fall of the nearby waters to hide the evidence of their ghastly work. Ten members of the band, including two of the chiefs, were tried before the military commission, and eight of them were sentenced to be hanged. In approving the sentences, Gen. MacArthur says: —

"To the reviewing authority, it is evident that there can be no hope of peace for the Filipino people, nor security for the lives and property until they shall learn to unite against all bands of murderers and assassins under whatever name they shall assume, and come to the assistance of the officers of the law in their determination to bring them all to justice."

SENTENCES PASSED.

Four native policemen who had been sent to gather wood for a detachment of American troops, were set upon, one of their number was killed and another lost his arm. A number of the band which attacked them was sentenced to twenty years imprisonment.

Jose Baligod, the President-elect of the Pueblo of Tuso, under the system established by the American Government, while exercising the functions of his office, became cognizant of the organization of a band in a neighboring barrio for the purpose of attacking the small garrison of 19 American soldiers stationed at Tuso. He traitorously cooperated with the leader of the band, advised him as to the most auspicious time to make an attack, intercepted a messenger sent to warn the Americans and otherwise treacherously abused the trust of his office. He was sentenced to 20 years at hard labor.

Severino De Guis, Vice-President of Isocor, while returning in a carromata (a native vehicle), from San Nicolas, Cavite Province, was set upon by a native band. They struck the coachman senseless, and carried off the Vice-President and his two young sons, who were with him at the time. Some assistance off they shot him dead before the eyes of his children, and flung his body on a pile of rocks. A member of the band who was captured was sentenced to be hanged.

THREE PRISONERS BREAK FROM JAIL.

Daring Act of Three Desperadoes Imprisoned in Chatham Jail

CUT THROUGH THE IRON BARS.

Chatham, June 17. — Andrew Eggen, Frank Abrams and John Siddell broke out of jail here yesterday afternoon, and are still at large. The escape was the result of a well laid scheme, in which there is evidence that some outside party gave assistance. Five prisoners were in the day ward. The two prisoners in this ward, beside the men who escaped are quite old. One of these men slept soundly during the time the desperadoes were at work, the other was prevented from giving the alarm by the threats of Eggen and Abrams, who said they would kill him if he made any sound. There were three rows of steel bars between the prisoners and liberty. There are marks to lead to the theory that two of these rows were cut from the outside. Each bar is one and a half inches thick. It is supposed that these bars were cut during the night by some accomplice, who left them on the wall for the men inside to finish the job when the chance presented itself. The only chance of getting away was during the day, as all the prisoners were locked in separate cells at night. From the jail the men entered the jail yard and scaled an eighteen-foot stone wall. The men are all desperate characters, and will, without doubt, put up a big fight for liberty. Eggen is the man who attempted murder in the court room on Thursday. Saturday he was sentenced to five years in Kingston. Abrams was awaiting trial for stealing, having been found guilty of burglary. Siddell also was awaiting removal to the Central Prison to serve a term for highway robbery.

LIFE-SAVING STATIONS.

The appalling loss of life and property which has occurred in this dangerous spot led to the establishment there of life saving stations. There were organized by the government of Nova Scotia in 1801, and maintained by that province until confederation, when this service was undertaken by the Dominion. The British Government contributed £500 a year toward the cost of carrying on this good work. There are excellent lifeboats and other modern life saving apparatus at the central and two other stations on the island, as well as two substantial lighthouses. The men are distributed among the six stations referred to, and with the aid of ponies, bands of which run wild on different parts of the island, they patrol, twice a day, the whole length of the island on both sides, reporting by telephone to the superintendent as soon as they have completed their rounds. When the weather is clear, and the ocean and shore can be scanned with a field glass, the actual patrol is omitted, being unnecessary, and a report is made accordingly. When a vessel with signals of distress is sighted, it is reported at once to the superintendent, who promptly gives instructions by telephone to the men at the different stations, as to the measures they are to adopt, and he then proceeds with all haste to the nearest point to the vessel in order to direct and assist in the life saving work. Most of the men can be assembled at any of the life saving stations in half an hour to an hour.

SHELTERS FOR SHIP-WRECKED.

Wooden buildings have been erected by the Government to serve as shelters for ship-wrecked people, these being fitted up with sleeping berths, which are supplied with bedding. Sufficient stores are kept to feed a considerable number of people, so that there may be enough for the crew and passengers of any ship which may be so unfortunate as to meet with disaster at this point.

On Thursday morning, May 23, the Miram arrived to take the visitors back to the mainland. The trip was very interesting, and was experienced in passing the boat out through the heavy breakers. This, however, was finally accomplished and, after a stormy passage, all were landed safely at Halifax at 6.30 a.m. on May 24.

A MATCH TRICK.

Good Many People in England Are Puzzled Over It.

HERE is a match trick which just now is puzzling a good many people in England. "A" says to "B": Here are twenty-five matches. Now let each of us take away, in rotation, not more than three at a time. You may begin. Whoever gets the last match loses. "All right," says "B," "I'll begin." And now they take them away as follows:

"A" 1 3 2 3 3 2
"B" 2 1 2 1 1 2

This makes twenty-four, and "B" loses. "A" simply operates so that as soon as possible the number of matches from which "B" has to take shows in addition to a multiple of four, and from then on again takes away a number, which, added to those taken by "B," makes four. Of course, the total number of matches is not restricted to twenty-five. It may be 29, 37, 73, 101, etc., but must always be one in excess of a multiple of four.

Birds Intelligence.

During the early part of the summer of 1893, a pair of water-hens built their nest by the margin of the ornamental pond at Bell's Hill, a piece of water of considerable extent, and ordinarily fed by a spring from the height above, but into which the contents of another large pond can occasionally be admitted.

This was done while the female was sitting, and as the nest had been built when the water level stood low, the sudden influx of this large body of water from the second pond caused a rise of several inches, so as to threaten the speedy immersion and consequent destruction of the eggs. This the birds seem to have been aware of, and they immediately took precautions against so imminent a danger; for when the gardener, seeing the sudden rise of the water, went to look after the nest, expecting to find it covered and the eggs destroyed, or at least forsaken by the hen, he observed, while at a distance, both birds busily engaged about the brink where the nest was placed; and when near enough he clearly perceived that they were adding, with all possible dispatch, fresh materials to raise the fabric beyond the level of the increased contents of the pond; and that the eggs had by some means been removed from the nest by the birds, and were then lying upon the grass about a foot or more from the margin of the water.

He watched them for some time, and saw the nest rapidly increase in height; but I regret to add that he did not remain long enough, fearing he might create alarm, to witness the interesting act of replacing the eggs, which must have been effected shortly after; for, upon his return in less than an hour, he found the hen quietly sitting upon them in the newly raised nest.

In a few days the young were hatched, and soon quitted the nest and took to the water. The nest was shown to me shortly afterwards, and I could then plainly discern the formation of the new with the older part of the fabric.

Tea Party That Was Tipt.

Two little girls sat together under a big tree, with their dollies beside them, writes Lys Lovett in Brooklyn Eagle.

"Ruthie," said one little girl, "let's have a tea party and invite Rover and the dolly."

"Goody," cried the other girl; and then they both jumped up and ran to ask mamma what they might have for their party.

Mamma said: "White tea and slices of bread and jelly and some little sponge cake."

So Ruthie carried out her table and set it under the tree, and Mabel brought her new tea set and spread the table. Then they sat the dollies around on chairs and told Rover that he must be good, and not bark, or he could not come to the party.

At last, when everything was ready, the party began. Mabel poured the tea out of the fat little tea pot and Ruthie put in the sugar very carefully. Each dolly had her cup and saucer and the little mother made believe that their children were eating. Rover would not sit on a chair, so he lay down beside Ruthie and watched for his share of the party.

And oh, how good the bread and jelly tasted under the big tree and the sponge cake! But what was the matter with the tea?

First Mabel took a sip and made a face, and then Ruthie took a sip and made a face, and they all looked at each other. Then Mabel took a big drink and choked and coughed and dropped her cup, and Ruthie jumped up in a hurry to pound her on the back and she tripped over Rover and fell and upset table and dollies and all! And there was a big squirming heap of girls and dollies and dog and table and dishes.

Then the two little girls picked themselves up and looked at each other and both said: "Salt!"

"Mamma made a mistake and gave us salt 'stead of sugar," said Mabel, and Ruthie looked at the upset "party" and was ready to cry.

But mamma had seen it all and she came running to pick up the table and felt Ruthie and Mabel all over and asked if any bones were broken. Then everybody laughed and mamma brought some more tea and cake and jelly and the party began again, and this time there was really sugar in the tea!

OFFICERS PUNISHED FOR ACTS OF TREACHERY

Five British Officers Confined in Convict Prisons for Assisting the Boers.

LORD KITCHENER PROMPTLY SHOTS TRAITORS

Real Instigators Are Said to be Englishmen Who Desire to See Independence of the Republics Preserved.

London, Eng., June 18.—The Daily Chronicle publishes further particulars concerning the report that certain British officers were prisoners at Portland for assisting the enemy. "Our correspondents," says the Chronicle, "have made careful enquiries, and in a position to place the whole of the main facts before the public. Though in some ways worse, the case is in others less bad than was at first supposed. According to our correspondent the three ex-officers at Portland, and two others at Lewis, do not belong to the regular forces. They belong to some of the many auxiliary forces that have been employed, and appear to have gone to the front duly accredited to perform the acts of treachery for which they are now undergoing punishment.

It is a well known fact that given enough money there are always people to sell their services. The French and Germans both found that in the war of 1871; we have found it now. In the case under notice there is not, so far as our correspondent can ascertain, any instance of information being sent to the enemy by the traitors. They were paid by the Boers to deliver direct or via Cape Colony to England certain packages to pass through to the Boers, and these packages were arms and ammunition. The apparently in exhaustive supply of Boer ammunition is thus accounted for. The risk of detection is small, and probably not more than two or three per cent, have been laid by the Boers till quite recently.

THE REAL OFFENDERS.

Those caught were very properly sentenced to be shot. Lord Roberts, however, partly on the chance that some of the offenders might have been dupes, partly with a sense that the real offenders in England would go free, commuted the sentences to penal servitude for life. The names of the offenders mostly appeared in "deaths from enteric," but some of the minor offenders—privates and like, against whom the evidence was less overwhelming—having been incarcerated for "sleeping at their posts, and such like offences." Some of these short-term prisoners, too, have very possibly secured lesser punishments by turning King's evidence, in which case the Government must be in possession of some unpleasant information concerning two or three people in this country.

Since Lord Roberts left Africa no prisoners have been sent home for assisting the enemy. Lord Kitchener has said that any traitors caught under his regime, such folk, to avoid scandal, when not otherwise stated. It is under stood, however, that since everyone who offers his services is no longer blindly accepted for duty on the lines of communication, a good deal less ammunition now gets through, while the certainty of no money from Kitchener also acts as a deterrent.

TRAITORS WERE SHOT.

A short time ago a most violent campaign against Lord Kitchener was started in certain quarters in this country. His nominal crime was increased severity against the enemy, but there is little if any evidence to show that there was at the time any change worth mentioning. Two things, however, did happen. In the first place it was ordered that every surrender was to be carefully inquired into, as the second, various traitors were quietly shot out of hand. This shooting promised very badly for those who, for reasons of their own desire to see the South African Republics reconstituted, and who believe that that end will be attained if only De Wet, Botha, and the rest can prolong resistance sufficiently.

There have of late been various carrying utterances about the war entering on a "new phase." The real meaning of the "new phase" is that the commandos in the field are no longer the British field force on one side trying to keep out ammunition, and various interested persons on the other trying to smuggle it through. The last but in this direction was made not in South Africa, but in the English Channel. We do not imply that the names of the pro-Boers in this country are thus deliberately waging war against their own country, but there are certainly a few who are. Jitters, however, they have mostly been too clever to get caught, or else the Government is afraid to probe a sore that might be worse than the Dreyfus case.

There is no evidence that Dr. Leyds, Mr. Kruger, and the rest are directly or indirectly concerned; the instigators are Englishmen who desire to see the independence of the Republics preserved and who take these means to try and bring about their desire.

AGE OF GLASS AT HAND

Predictions Made by Jules Henrievaux, A French Manufacturer.

London, June 18.—Jules Henrievaux, until lately director of the great glass manufactory at St. Gobain, predicts that the new age is to be the age of glass. He says that glass is the best substance known for every kind of structure and especially for dwelling houses. The point of the idea is found in the inexhaustible supply of the materials from which glass is made, and its adaptability to all forms and shapes, its uniformity, and its cleanliness. With regard to the second point it is obvious that glass can be shaped, colored, and decorated to an extent of which no other material is capable, and it upon this aspect of the idea that Henrievaux lavishes his imagination. There are six ways in which glass can be manipulated. It can be cast into window panes, paving stones, pencils, and so forth. It can be molded into cornices, slates, wall decorations, and even statues. It can be blown into bottles, tumblers, vases, and all the utensils comprised under the name of glassware. It can be blown and ground into crystals, lenses, prisms, and other subjects of art and utility. It can be drawn into the finest threads and made into pipes, baskets and dress materials. It can be turned into mosaics and enamel, and could be brought into the closest imitation of most of the precious stones.

These are Henrievaux's plans for the construction of a glass house. The foundations and the walls would be constructed of a variety of glass, recently invented; called stone glass, which has already successfully withstood the severest tests. When crushed it gives a resistance three times as great as granite. When subjected to heat or cold, it is found less sensitive than steel. When subjected to friction it shows less wear than porphyry. Shock such as a hammer blow it gives to a degree twenty times as severe as that which would fracture marble. The test of tension has practically no effect on it whatever.

The walls then would be built of glass held together by angle-iron, so as to permit of a hollow space through which pipes could pass (the pipes themselves being glass work), conveying hot air, hot and cold water, gas, electric wires, drains, and everything needed for the health and comfort of the inhabitants. Stairs and balconies, ceilings and wall decorations, mantle-pieces and fire-places would all be constructed of glass. Chairs and tables, in the new glass age, will be made of vitrified material toughened to the strength of oak and mahogany. Cooking utensils, plates, and cups and saucers will be made of the same substance, given knives and forks will have glass handles, if not glass blades.

The new glass house will be absolutely clean and practically indestructible. The whole of its surface can be washed from the top story to the basement, without a trace of humidity being left. Dust cannot collect on its polished face, and the spider will find no place on which to hang its cobweb. Such, at least, is Henrievaux's fancy.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

June Session Opened Yesterday Afternoon at Court House.

Warden Fitzgerald Delivers a Carefully Prepared Address. A Period of Prosperity for the County.

The June sessions of the County Council opened yesterday afternoon in the Council Chamber at the County Buildings. There were present Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald, Warden; Councilors W. H. Casement, J. B. Pearce, Wm. Anderson, T. G. Eastland, John Shaw, Dr. Jerfa, P. Costello, R. Crow, E. A. Peck.

The minutes of last meeting of previous sessions were read, and confirmed. Warden Fitzgerald then addressed the Council, with whom he stated he was again pleased to meet, as follows:

To the members of the County Council of the town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen, it gives me great pleasure to have the opportunity of addressing you on this occasion. I am sure you will agree with me when I say that we have every reason to believe that this will be one of the most profitable sessions for the farthest in this district that we have had in many years. It is true that there was too much wet weather for the farmers to be able to do very much with their lands, but in the sections of the country where the rain did not interfere with the work there promises to be an abundant harvest.

You will remember that in January the matter of the repairs to the Douglas bridge on the boundary between the townships of Cavan and North Monaghan was referred to me. With the County Engineer I visited and inspected this bridge, and we found it in a very dangerous condition, and decided to communicate with the council of Northumberland and Durham, in reference to building a new bridge. The County Engineer prepared plans and specifications for a new bridge, and forwarded a copy to Northumberland and Durham. No reply has yet been received. The matter of repairing the Locks and Ashburnham bridges were referred to the Joint Committee. At a meeting of the Committee it was decided to reject and replank the Locks bridge, and that work is now being completed. It was also decided to build a crib work approach to the east end of the Ashburnham bridge, and the timber has been secured and the work will soon be under construction.

The Joint Committee visited the old Mud Lake bridge in the spring and found it in a very bad state of repair. Mr. Kelly made an agreement with the Committee to furnish all material and keep the bridge in a fair condition for traffic until the new bridge is completed for the sum of $150. The work on the new bridge is progressing very favorably and, no doubt, will be finished within the time specified in the contract. The Boardman approach is nearing completion under the supervision of the chairman of the Road and Bridge Committee. I think it would be advisable for the whole council to inspect the new Mud Lake bridge, and would suggest that we make the inspection some day this week.

The debtors bound under by-law No. 800 have been sold at a good figure and the purchase money has been placed in the bank to our credit.

At our January meeting a resolution was passed instructing me to personally present memorials to the Dominion and Provincial Governments, asking that the usual subsidies be granted to the Northwood and Appleby Railway Company, to aid in the construction of a railway from Northwood to Appleby. I decided that it would be better to send a deputation to interview the Minister of Railways and Canals at Ottawa and the Minister of Public Works at Toronto. The whole council went as a deputation and were successful in obtaining subsidies from both Governments. The Dominion granted the sum of $50,000 and the Ontario Government granted $75,000 to aid in completing the railway.

There are several communications which have been sent to me in reference to other matters, which will come before their respective committees, and, I am sure, will receive your careful consideration.

G. W. FITZGERALD, Warden.

NEW TELEGRAPHIC INVENTION

Twenty Four Messages Can be Sent Over a Wire at Once.

London, June 18.—Some important experiments in connection with a new telegraph system, which is said to cheapen considerably the cost of telegrams, have recently been conducted by the postal engineers between London and Glasgow. The new apparatus is the invention of a French engineer of the name of Mercadier, and by its means it is possible to send twelve separate messages over one wire at the same time. The system is also capable of being duplexed, by which twenty-four separate messages can be sent at one time over a single wire.

The details of the apparatus are comparatively simple. The wire is attached at either end to twelve sending wires, and in another case to twelve receivers. At the sending end the currents are interrupted by twelve rapidly vibrating metal reeds, each reed vibrating at a different speed. At the receiving end there are twelve telephone receivers, with membranes of different thicknesses, capable of vibrating at a certain rate, but at no other. The different rates of these receivers are identical with the rates of the reeds at the sending station.

When a message is sent, or when twelve separate messages are sent, what happens is this: The twelve currents enter the wire, each impressed with a different vibration rate. At the receiving station they pass through a microphone receiver, which gives them added strength. They are then discharged through the twelve receivers. As each of these receivers only responds to vibrations of a certain rate, they select each the currents belonging to its particular message, but are impervious to all the others. By this means the messages are accurately sorted out and kept distinct.

THE BRITISH GUNNERS DIED TO SAVE GUNS.

They Added a Laurel to their Crown in the Fight at Viakfontein.

MANY INSTANCES OF INDIVIDUAL BRAVERY

Officer Sacrificed His Life for the Guns—Many Officers Killed while Rallying Their Men.

London, June 18.—The late engagement at Viakfontein is considered here one of the most severe that has happened in the Transvaal. The London papers publish many instances of individual bravery during the fight. It is said that most of the officers of the Yeomanry were killed while trying to rally their men after the first sudden shock.

The Boers charged the guns with cheer, and the British gunners fought splendidly. An artillery corporal at the front dragged himself erect and continued to serve the gun. An officer sacrificed his life to save the guns and many men were killed at their places.

A youthful Yeoman, though wounded in both legs, continued firing until his hands were smashed by a bullet.

The Boers wore khaki clothes and used expanding bullets.

PATROL SURROUNDED.

Cape Town, June 18.—Commandant Martin, with 150 men, recently surrounded a small British patrol of 29 men. The British had two killed and two wounded; about twenty were captured. The Boers are being closely pursued.

Several small commandos are reported as operating in the northern part of Cape Colony. Kritzinger is causing much trouble.

KITCHENER'S LITTLE LIST.

London, June 18.—The following report of Boer casualties since the last weekly telegram has been received from Lord Kitchener, dated Bloemfontein:

Killed.....	24
Wounded.....	14
Prisoners.....	256
Surrendered.....	137
Rifles captured.....	103
Small arm ammunition rounds.....	8,200
Wagons.....	198
Horses.....	1,500
Cattle.....	3,000

Among the latest prisoners captured are Landroos Teugbergen and Von Brandis, the former being chief agent and representative of the wife of the Commandant-General Botha, who is at present in Europe.

CECIL RHODES' BID.

Cape Town, June 18.—Speaking at Bulawayo, Rhodes, a few days ago, Cecil Rhodes predicted a federation of the South African colonies in three or four years. The tenor of his speech regarded by some as a bid for the Premiership of Cape Colony.

Mr. Rhodes eulogized the action of the Rhodesians and Natalians, but he said he pitied the Mother State, Cape Colony, whose political and religious leaders had incited rebellion, and whose people now are running about like sheep without a shepherd.

WHY WAR IS NOT ENDED.

Montreal, June 18.—Sergeant M. B. Wherry, of Pretoria, in writing his father, B. Wherry, Knowlton, Que., says: "If the people at home realized that there are some 20,000 Boer guerrillas (the best in the world) living as only a frontiersman can live, and scattered over an area of 120,000 square miles, and, moreover, at least one-half of the British troops are eaten up in garrisoning important towns and protecting railways and lines of communication, they would better understand the difficulty of finishing a war, where a determined enemy (under such circumstances) always runs away. But rest assured that there is plenty of virile power left in the British yet. In our recent trek, we Canadians, without blowing, licked the Boers to a standstill, without anywhere near even numbers, in spite of the fact that they had the choice of ground. We are wearing them down a thousand killed. They are bound to go under."

Bergand Wherry, it is understood, is on his way home, and is expected, after a visit to England, in July. Speaking of the future prospects, financially, of South Africa, he says: "For the next five or ten years this country is bound to be the greatest money-making place in the world." And, after paying a visit to Canada he intends to return to South Africa to take advantage of some of the many openings that are certain to follow the close of the war.

SHOULD BE PUNISHED.

The Men Who Deal from Mantrillities to be Made an Example of.

The tax collector of Belleville has departed leaving a vacuum in the civil cash, and the Intelligence of that city says: "We understand that a letter has been received from Mr. J. B. Laing, municipal auditor of the Ontario government, demanding that he be at once furnished with all the facts in connection with the causes which led to the departure of Tax Collector Butterfield from this city. The letter, it is said, intimates pretty strongly that whatever investigation is held should be supervised by an official appointed by the government. The document, we are informed, is distinguished more by its conciseness than politeness, in fact it was more of a demand than a request."

We are glad to hear that the government is taking a live interest in the investigation and punishment of this class of crime. The number of felonies of this description that have been compounded through the connivance of municipal corporations throughout Canada in years past has been a blot on the administration of justice. The accomplices (he often does not even take the trouble to abscond) is usually a man of influence in municipal circles and succeeds in preventing any action being taken in the courts, the local authorities being satisfied as long as the sureties are put up. A few impressive examples made under government supervision of these official defaulters would have a beneficial effect.

In Peterborough we have had considerable experience in municipal crookedness of another kind. Men who have agreed to grind have been in charge of our greatest spending department.

THE SPILLSBURY CASE.

Trial of Wm. Spillsbury on a Very Serious Charge.

Yesterday morning, William Spillsbury, of North Monaghan, was arraigned before County Magistrate Edmondson on a charge of having attempted to poison Andrew Dobbin's cattle. Spillsbury refused to elect as to how he would be tried, and an investigation of his case proceeded. The evidence of Andrew Dobbin went to show that he had seen Spillsbury throw stuff that resembled Paris green mixed with other substance into the field where his cattle were feeding. Dobbin brought some of the mixture to town, and said information against Spillsbury, who was arrested by County Constable Cook.

Spillsbury is somewhat advanced in years. Last year he had been arraigned on a similar charge, but proved his innocence.

The examination of Andrew Dobbin took up in the morning. After further evidence in the afternoon, the case was adjourned till Thursday.

Mr. D. O'Connell is defending the prisoner, while County Crown Attorney Wood is prosecuting.

VIES WITH HOLLAND BOATS.

Simon Lake Builds a New Company at Bridgeport, Conn.

New York, June 18.—Submarine torpedo-boats have become theoretically such a factor in sea wars that a company has been started at Bridgeport, Conn., with a capital of $1,000,000 to build them. It is called the Lake Torpedo-Boat Company. Simon Lake, inventor of the Argonaut, is the president, and Lieut. B. Miller, superintendent of the Singer Manufacturing Company at Elizabethport, N. J., is heavily interested in the concern.

The corporation intends to compete with the Holland boat and try to secure government contracts. Plans have been finished for a trial submarine boat and the contract for building it is to be let this week. Holland boats, it is said, cost $170,000 each. Mr. Lake believes he can construct his boats for half that.

The Argonaut is the only vessel that can travel at the bottom of the ocean," he said. "She can run there as readily as an automobile runs down Broadway. The boat which we intend to build will be sixty feet over all and will carry five Whitehead torpedoes. She will steam ten knots on the surface and seven knots when submerged."

THE MAD MULLAH

He was Hurling Back From British Zariba Three Times With Loss.

London, June 18.—The Foreign Office has received the following reports as to the progress of the British expedition which is co-operating with Negus Menelik of Abyssinia against the rebellious Mad Mullah: Col. Swaine, with the main body advanced on June 3 against the Mullah's camp at Yabel, and nothing has been heard from him since. He left Capt. MacNeil with a guard of 30 men at Zarabi, Somali. The Mullah's cavalry and infantry attacked Zarabi three times, but were repulsed. On the last occasion they lost nearly 400 men, 14 of whom were left dead on the field. The British casualties were ten native levies killed and nine wounded.

The joint expedition of British and Abyssinians consisted originally of three days, and 1,500 Somali levies, including Maxim guns, fifteen Punjabs, Mohammedan camel corps of 40 mounted infantry, together with Menelik's forces of uncertain number. Lieut. Col. Swaine, who headed the expedition found that fever was his most serious foe, as the Mad Mullah's forces rapidly melted away. Other parts also of Somaliland are in the hands of the war god, and in the operations against the Ogaden Somalis, Colonel Maitland has been killed.

The expedition had heavy fighting on May 25. The flying column of mounted infantry, under Capt. Morcwether, struck the Mullah's supply camp, during a night march, and captured 2,000 head of cattle, killed one important chief, and captured another, covered 100 miles, fought a sharp action, and returned to its base, all in 24 hours.

London, June 18.—The Foreign Office has received the following reports as to the progress of the British expedition which is co-operating with Negus Menelik of Abyssinia against the rebellious Mad Mullah: Col. Swaine, with the main body advanced on June 3 against the Mullah's camp at Yabel, and nothing has been heard from him since. He left Capt. MacNeil with a guard of 30 men at Zarabi, Somali. The Mullah's cavalry and infantry attacked Zarabi three times, but were repulsed. On the last occasion they lost nearly 400 men, 14 of whom were left dead on the field. The British casualties were ten native levies killed and nine wounded. GREAT BRITAIN ACCUSED.

French Deputy Charges English Missionaries with Bad Faith.

Paris, June 18.—During the debate in the Senate yesterday on clause 16 of the associations bill, which nullifies and voids every association whose aims are against the integrity of national territory or a republican form of government, M. Rambaud moved to include the Algeria colonies in the scope of the clause. He asserted that the English missionaries in Algeria had endeavored to detach the Arabs by representing the French as idolatrous, godless, and penurious, and stating that the British rule was milder than French domination. M. Rambaud accused the British also of endeavoring to arouse the hostility of the Kabyles against the French. He dwelt upon their illegal practice of medicine and distribution of gunpowder to the natives, and said there was no reason why they should not be expelled. He said the English had not hesitated to expel missionaries from their territories who annoyed them. They had not even scrupled to kidnap themselves of some by masquerading as missionaries, and stating amendment on receiving assurances that the words "national territory" included the Algeria colonies.

Mysterious Case of a Woman Passing as Man

New York, June 18.—Ellis Glenn, the mysterious man-woman, is to be placed on trial for forgery to-day at Parkersburg, W. Va., a World dispatch announces. The case is remarkable. Glenn is a woman, although for many years she was supposed to be a man, and was sentenced to Illinois penitentiary as a man.

In this instance she had been sentenced to an indeterminate term, of from one to fourteen years, and for forgery committed in exactly the way as was the forgery of which she is accused at Parkersburg.

HAS A TWIN BROTHER.

Ellis Glenn declares that the forgery committed at Hillsboro, Ill., in 1899 for which she was sent to prison, was committed by her twin brother, R. B. Glenn, of whom she is the counterpart; that as her brother was on his way to prison she herself stepped on the train by agreement with him, and that they exchanged clothing. The brother made his escape, and she went on to prison, where her sex was discovered.

As there was no woman's department in the penitentiary at Chester she was returned to the sheriff at Hillsboro. The authorities surmised that she was B. B. Glenn, wanted at Parkersburg for forgery. An officer from Parkersburg identified her as the supposed man known as R. B. Glenn, and the Illinois authorities surrendered her to West Virginia. Ellis Glenn declares that she was never before in the region of Parkersburg, and that she did not know that her brother, R. B. Glenn, was wanted there, or she would not have undertaken to go to prison in Illinois.

ENGAGED TO ANOTHER WOMAN.

B. B. Glenn, presumably this very woman, was known in half a dozen Ohio river towns, where, as a man, she did all kinds of rough work, and finally at Butler, Ill., built up a good business as a sewing machine and real estate agent. She or he became engaged to a Miss Duke, daughter of a prominent family, and even after her arrest for forgery, the Duke stood by her, the father going on her bond. She went to St. Louis ostensibly to purchase her trousseau, and caused a report to be sent to Butler that she had been drowned. This report aroused suspicion, and she was traced, caught, and sent back, with never a thought by anyone that she was not the man she pretended to be.

THE STRIKING TRACKMEN.

The C. P. R. Authorities Have Instituted a Patrol System.

The strike of the C. P. R. trackmen has not affected the running of the trains. The Company has instituted a system of patrol which will insure the protection of the track from end to end. Mr. McNicholl, the General Manager, says that the strike should be maintained, and will speedily end.

Yesterday the Times received a statement for publication, purporting to come from one authorized to speak for the trackmen, but the party would not disclose his name, and hence we cannot publish it.

DIED FROM STROKE

A Had Kest in the Family of Mr. P. P. Young

News was received last night of the sudden and totally unexpected death of Robert Young, the second son of Mr. P. P. Young of Young's Point. The lad, who was only 19 years of age, was overcome by the heat on Thursday, but his condition was not regarded as serious until yesterday, when he took a bad turn and suddenly passed away at 9 a.m., at Young's Point. Many friends in Peterborough will sympathize with the family of Mr. Young in their bereavement.

Shoemaker's Backache

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets a Positive Cure for this Complaint.

The constant bending over that of necessity a shoemaker must do when at work, causes hard on his back and hard on his kidneys. Backache and kidney trouble are the great blemishes of a shoemaker's existence. That Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets cure the aching back and cure the kidney trouble is amply proven in the following case:

Mr. J. O'Shea, corner Main and Market streets, Lucan, Ont., the well-known shoemaker of that village, says: "A shoemaker's work requires lots of sitting and leaning forward, and invariably as in my case, it brings on a pain in the small of the back and kidney trouble. This has been my complaint for two or three years, and I was about tired of it. Some one told me about Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, and I got a bottle at John Furze's drug store. The taking of this one bottle was followed by complete relief. This is naturally a big lift to me in my work, and I am correspondingly grateful. I can recommend the Tablets conscientiously to others."

If you are anxiously desirous of being cured insist on having Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. Price 50 cents a box, at all druggists. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto.

A Lindsay View.

—Lindsay Post.—At a meeting of Peterborough Town Council, held on Thursday evening, the application made by our Council to rent that municipality's steam roller for the improvement of Kent street, was turned down, the reason given being that the roller was in use every day. There is a lesson in this for our town fathers—if Peterborough, with its superior streets, finds it profitable to keep the roller steadily at work, it would pay Lindsay to buy one and use it night and day.

OFF TO CAMP.

Several Corps Leave for Military Camp Yesterday Morning

The left and centre sections of the Durham Field Battery, under command of Lieut. Bradburn and Ackerman, left yesterday morning for the special G.T.R. for the headquarters of the Battery at Fort Hope, from whence they will proceed with other sections of the camp at Deseronto. The Peterborough sections comprise, besides officers and men, the guns, ammunition wagons and all horses necessary.

C Squadron of the 3rd Dragoons, under Lieut. W. H. Bradburn, left about 9.30 for Kingston.

No. 6 (Springville Company) of the 46th Battalion, also gathered at their quarters in Ashburnham and late in the morning took train for Fort Hope, there to join the remainder of the battalion and proceed to camp at Kingston. The Springville Company is under command of Captain G. J. Johnston, Lieut. R. O. Johnston and Clarke.

After Twenty Five Years.

About 25 years ago the Scott estate of Peterborough, was taxed by the Ontario Government to the extent of $25,000 on some timber lands north of Peterborough. Since then, however, an effort has been made to recover the amount, which, with interest added, is fixed at a little more than $50,000. A year ago Judges Lister and Osler were appointed commissioners to investigate the matter. The commissioners held a preliminary hearing at the Parliament building in Toronto, and an adjournment was made until Friday morning. Mr. G. H. Watson, K. C., appeared for the Scott estate, and Mr. Amelius Irving for the Crown.

WEDDING BELLS.

Marriage of Mr. John Webster and Miss I. E. Egan

A large party of guests assembled Wednesday evening last at the residence of Mr. John Rear, Melbourne street, Lindsay, to witness the marriage of his second daughter, Annie M., and Mr. Geo. Webster, of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Macmillan, of St. Andrew's church.

The bride was attired in white silk organdie, with white and white lace trimming. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Chrysler, of town, who wore white organdie trimmed with lace and chiffon. Mr. Joseph Rear, of Belleville, brother of the bride was groomsmen.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster left on the 8 o'clock train for Ottawa, and on their return will take up residence in Peterborough. Many presents bore witness to the bride's popularity.

Why Catarrhoea Cures Catarrh.

Because it is carried by the air you breathe to diseased parts, because it destroys the germ life that maintains the diseased condition, because it powerfully stimulates the mucous membrane to its normal action, because through its oxidizing power it burns up rapidly the old tissue and stimulates the formation of new healthy tissue. Catarrhoea is an absolute specific for Catarrh of every form, and never fails to cure. Catarrhoea is the only remedy sold with a guarantee. At all dealers, 25c. and $1.00.

CANAL INVESTIGATION RESUMED

Commissioner Thompson Returns from Ottawa With Instructions to Continue the Enquiry.

The investigation in connection with the contract at the lift lock, which was abruptly terminated a few days ago, is to be resumed at once. Mr. Thompson, the commissioner, has returned from Ottawa with instructions to probe the matter to the bottom. It is said that the contractors will be forced to produce their books before the court, in which case some interesting, and maybe startling, information will be elicited.

As explained in our issue of yesterday, the trouble appears to be over rates claimed by the contractors, but not allowed by the engineers.

KNOWS HOW

Seen Over the Road Himself.

When a doctor, who has been the victim of the coffee habit, cures himself by leaving off coffee and taking Postum Food Coffee, he knows something about what he is advising in that line.

A good old doctor in Columbus, Ohio, who has at one time been the victim of the coffee habit, advised Mrs. Carrie Moran, 162 N. 6th St., Columbus, O., to leave off coffee and take on Postum Food Coffee.

She suffered from indigestion and a weak and irregular heart and general nervous condition. She thought that it would be difficult to stop coffee abruptly. She says: "I had considerable hesitancy about making the change, one reason being that a friend of mine tried Postum and did not like it. The doctor, however, gave explicit directions that Postum must be boiled long enough to bring out the flavor and food value."

His suggestions were carried out and the delicious beverage fascinated me, so that I hastened to inform my friend, who had rejected Postum. By the way, she is now using it regularly, after she found that it could be made to taste as nice as it does."

For a short time after using Postum, a decided change in my nervous system. I could sleep soundly, and my brain was more active. My complexion became clear and rosy, whereas, it had been maddly and spotted before, in fact all of the abnormal symptoms disappeared (and I am now feeling perfectly well.)

Mrs. David McDonald, a friend, was troubled much as I, and she has recovered from her heart and stomach trouble by leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee.

I know of several others who have had much the same experience. It is only necessary that the Postum be well boiled and it was its own way."

Coming Here as Chairman

Says the Lindsay Post:—"Mr. Richard Iwamley, baggage checker at the station, has been notified of his temporary transfer to Peterborough to perform the duties of gatekeeper at a railway crossing in that town. Mr. Iwamley is one of the oldest G.T.R. employees on this division, and his many friends hope to soon see him issuing checks again."

Devout and Sleepless.

Two horrors crowded into one life, the product of poor digestion, and the poison that is thereby formed within the body. There's just one method of cure for this terrible condition—plenty of food, but mind, food properly digested. That's the difficulty—the digestive power of the stomach must be improved. Rich, red blood formed strength given to the organs to drive out poisons, and come strength, vigor and endurance. Ferrozone does all this and more, it makes sick people well, weak people strong. Soft Ferrozone and you reap health. Sold only by Ormond & Walsh.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—Mrs. (Gen.) Grant and her daughter, Mrs. Sartoria, are now in Cobourg, comfortably domiciled at "Shetticoke," which they have rented from Mr. W. F. Ladd, Galveston, Texas, for the season.

—Mr. Burton, of the Bank of Montreal staff, has received notice of his transfer to the Peterborough branch, says the Lindsay Post. He will likely leave town to-morrow, and his departure will be regretted by a large circle of friends.

Lindsay Post.—Mr. Geo. A. Little returned this morning from Peterborough, where he and Mrs. Little had been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. McLean since Thursday. Mrs. Little remains a few days longer, and left this morning with Mr. and Mrs. McLean to enjoy a few days yachting on Stony Lake.

A Dip in the Snogel

Lindsay Post.—After the street service by the Christian Alliance adherents Sunday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Zimmerman and party, from Peterborough, gathered on the river, near the Club boathouse for the purpose of administering baptism to three followers—two men and one woman. The ceremony was witnessed by a large assemblage of spectators on both sides of the river.

Sir Harry Banno

It is reported here that when the Duke of York visits Canada knight-hood will be conferred on the mayors of cities he visits, and that Sir Wilfred Laurier will be elevated to the peerage as a recognition of his services to the Empire. Another report says that Sir Wilfred will receive only a life peerage. He has no children. As Peterborough is on the list, we naturally expect to see our popular mayor elevated to knight-hood. Sir Harry would sound well.

You Feel All I and Up.

You're discouraged and disgusted—no enough energy to think, less to go to work upon. The reason? You are run down, your blood is poor, your nerves are like India Rubber, not like steel as they ought to be. Use Ferrozone and the tired feeling will go, for it makes plenty of rich, red blood that feeds the brain and nerves. The desire to labor comes back and you enjoy it. You don't get tired, because you have used Ferrozone. Neglect not a day longer. Ferrozone will cure you. Sold only by Ormond & Walsh.

AUCTION SALE OF THREE GOOD

100 ACRE FARMS

Near Fraserville, at 2 p.m.

THURSDAY, the 27th INST.

AT THAT VILLAGE

No. 1 is the farm at present occupied by Robert Lusk, 1/2 mile east of Bothwell's school. Good loam land, 70 acres fit for machinery, small frame house, large barn with fine stone stabling and root cellar, nice orchard and beautiful situation.

No. 2 is near Needlers' mill, west 1/2 lot 22 in 6th con., Cavan. 50 acres choice land in a high state of cultivation; the other 50 acres is well timbered with mixed wood; valuable creek crosses this farm; brick house, 7 rooms; large frame barn, log stable, 2 acres orchard; only 1 1/2 miles from R. R. depot and village.

No. 3, 100 acres, east 1/2 lot 20, con 7, Cavan. No particulars of this farm at hand, but believe it is a good medium-class farm. See it.

Any man wanting a good medium class farm in a good section of country, convenient for all purposes and sufficiently near our very superior Peterborough market, should inspect these three farms without delay. Select your choice and decide how much you are willing to offer for it rather than let it go to anyone else. If you want to arrange any special terms, you should call at our office and do so before day of sale.

Terms—Ten per cent. cash or satisfactorily endorsed note for that amount on day of sale and 25 per cent. more on or before 1st Nov. next; balance may remain on mortgage at 5 per cent. There will be a reserved bid on each farm, down low, as we want to sell. Suitable terms for possession.

Call or write for our printed list of farms and town property for private sale.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Peel and core two and a half pounds of apples, chop one pound of onions very finely, and one pound of stewed raisins. Boil all together with two quarts of best vinegar for two hours, then add a quarter of a pound of powdered ginger, one pound of coarse sugar, two teaspoonsful of cayenne pepper, quarter of a pound of salt, one pound and a half of mustard seed. Mix the ingredients well together, and the chutney is fit for use at once.

Take the smallest onions that can be got. They must be quite ripe and dry. Be careful not to use a steel knife in peeling them, or their color will be spoiled. Take off the top outer skins with a silver knife. Put the onions as fast as they are ready into perfectly dry jars, and cover them with cold vinegar and two spoonfuls of all-spice and two spoonfuls of pepper to each quart of vinegar. Tie them down closely. In a few weeks they will be ready.

Prick three pounds of small tomatoes with a silver fork and lay in a deep preserving pan, sprinkling salt over each layer, cover closely and allow them to stand for three days. Then strain the juice and add one quart of vinegar and a quarter of an ounce each of powdered sugar, mustard seed, cloves and white pepper and half a teaspoonful of ground mace. Boil all these ingredients together in an enameled vessel, pour over the tomatoes, and when cold put in wide-mouthed jars. In about ten days the pickle will be ready for use.

Mushroom Sauce

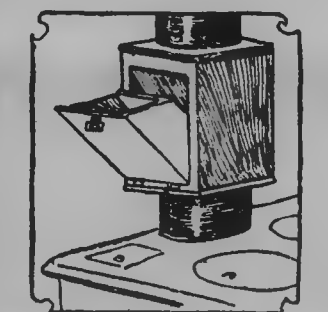

Place one tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan and when it is brown add one tablespoonful of flour. Add salt, pepper and one and one-half cups of stock. Cook five minutes, stirring constantly, then add one-half cup of fresh mushrooms, but in small pieces. Allow the mushrooms to cook until well heated, take them from the fire and stir in the yolk of one egg and a teaspoonful of butter. When the egg is set add a sprig of chopped parsley and serve.

The Bride's Sofa Pillow.

The latest idea in the sofa-pillow craze is intended for a bride, and will be sure to occupy a prominent position on the hall seat of her new home.

It is made of bits of ribbons and silk left from the trousseau. The smallest pieces may be used and a very rich effect produced. It should be made on the old-fashioned patchwork pattern of our grandmother's.

Dispose of Your Garbage at Home. No more gathered garbage standing round, no more flies, no more waiting the janitor's pleasure. Charles R. Harris, of Williamsport, Pa., has invented a clever device for disposing of refuse at once and without odor. It takes the place of a link of pipe, and while it does not obstruct the passage of the smoke, yet there is sufficient heat passing up the pipe to carbonize the solid garbage placed therein. The hopper is readily opened to deposit the waste, and when closed the odors pass up the chimney with the smoke. Whatever remains after the carbonizing process is readily emptied into the firebox, the hopper tilting downward for that purpose.

Ventilating the Hair.

A woman who will make a habit of brushing and combing the hair at night and vigorously rubbing the scalp, rubbing till the blood tingles, may be sure, if she inaugurates this habit before her hair has begun to fall, that her hair will keep its color and useful quality. Even falling hair will often be brought back to vigor by such treatment.

A good deal is said in favor of brushing the hair. Brushing cleans the hair itself, but it does not invigorate the scalp as does combing, and neither is half so good as vigorous rubbing. When one begins she will find it takes a lot of rubbing to make the head tingle, but in a few weeks the first rub will start the blood. That tells its own story, for where the circulation is sluggish there deterioration of vitality has begun. Where the blood runs freely, there life renews itself.

It is good to let the hair hang loosely at night, especially if one sleeps in a room in which outside air circulates freely. The roots need air. Twice a week braid the hair into little braids all over the head. Hair thus treated will keep a glossy look, yet not hang together, and it will turn back prettily in a pompadour with better effect than as if the curling irons are used. Besides, curling irons are ruinous to the health of the hair.

Sauce Hollandaise.

Mix one tablespoonful each of butter and flour in a saucepan, add gradually half a pint of boiling water. Stir until it just reaches the boiling point; take from the fire, add the yolk of two eggs. In another saucepan put a slice of onion, a bay leaf and a clove of garlic; add four tablespoonfuls of vinegar and stand over the fire until the vinegar is reduced one-half. Turn this into the sauce, stir for five minutes; strain through a fine sieve.

The Immense Agency.

Wakeful nights, suffocating sensations, difficult breathing. Who can describe it? This disease, partly nervous, partly congestive, partly the result of microbial irritation, is no longer treated by nauseous doses of cathartics, but by Catarrhine, which destroys the microbes, relieves congestion and relieves the nervous irritability that renders breathing so difficult. The medication is carried by the air you breathe in the very seat of the disease, and removes at once the cause. The great discovery is known as Catarrhine. Its influence upon Asthma is simply marvellous. Catarrhine prevents as well as cures, and is the only remedy guaranteed to cure. Your money back if it fails. Two boxes at all dealers, 25c and $1.00.

THE ONTARIO BANK.

Results of the Year's Business in Most Parts of the Province

The many friends in Peterborough and surrounding country of the Ontario Bank will be pleased to learn that another year of great prosperity has been added to the history of this popular and progressive institution.

The net profits for the year were $160,638, which, with the premium on the new stock $74,393, and the balance of $17,639, brought forward from profit and loss last year, made a total profit of $252,719. This permitted the payment of $50,723 in two half-yearly dividends, and the addition of $150,000 to the reserve fund. A balance of $16,399 has been carried forward to profit and loss.

Last year the bank obtained authority to increase its capital stock from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000, and a large part of the new issue of 5,000 shares has been taken up and paid for, the total paid-up capital being $1,372,914. The rest is now $250,000, the notes in circulation $1,274,732, the deposits not bearing interest $1,228,475, and the interest-bearing deposits, $5,399,376. The total current loans and discounts are $1,048,740. Among the assets are $289,744 due from banks in the United States, and $20,880 call loans on stocks.

The statement reflects the general buoyancy of trade and industry, and shows a most successful year in every department of the bank's business.

Through the death of Mr. John Hallam and the ill-health of Mr. Dalton Gifford, two vacancies occurred on the Board of Directors, during the year, which were filled by the election of Messrs. H. Grass and Hon. Richard Harecourt, both very strong men. The latter, as everybody knows, is Provincial Treasurer.

In the retirement of Mr. Gifford the bank loses a trusted officer. During the years in which he served as a Director, no one was more esteemed or was there any one who had greater influence with the conduct of the bank's affairs. He was always ready to serve the interests of the bank, regardless of every other consideration. Not only will Mr. Gifford be greatly missed by the President and General Manager, but his retirement will be regretted by friends of the bank everywhere.

We cannot conclude without heartily congratulating General Manager McGill on the result of the year's operations. In Peterborough the bank has long enjoyed the confidence of the people, and shown by the very large business done. No little praise is due Mr. W. D. Parker, the local manager, and Mr. John Crape, his assistant, for the very high standing which the bank has attained.

COULD NOT WOO.

A Goddess That Would Not Be Won.

The Creator, in making so many kinds of people naturally made some that have immense ambition and desire for work, physical and mental. Authors, writers, and brain-workers are generally hard working people, frequently they exhaust vitality so fast that they cannot rebuild.

Food experts have perfected a special food called Grape-Nuts for brain workers. The makers selected from field grains the proper elements which naturally enter into rebuilding brain and nerve centers.

A famous woman of West Haven, Conn., whom perhaps you will recognize because of the location, but who requests that her name be kept from print in this connection, writes:

"Perhaps you would like to know of my experience with the restoring power of your wonderful Grape-Nuts Food. I have been a tireless worker, a writer, and a mother. I had a constitution of iron and why not work. I lived to the fullest limit of my power, following every pursuit with ardor, painting, poetry, writing of books, journalism and lecturing.

The days were passed in literary work, and the nights at concerts, theaters and receptions. I suddenly dropped dead a mental and physical wreck. Religion died and hope went with it. Religion became a mockery. The world grew dark. It became a 'Charnel House' full of uncertain bones, not God-like and not Father's.

I had no desire for food. I could not eat the 'Goddess Sleep' that knits up the ravaged alleys of care. I contemplated a weak solution, a leap into the unknown, when one day a friend in Yale, who knew my deplorable condition, said, 'Do you know that Grape-Nuts Food has done a great deal for me,' and told the details. I finally followed his suggestion and began using it. That was one year ago. I wish you could see me now. The neighbors say I do the work of ten women. I go to bed with the hens and sleep like a top.

I hear 'the breeze call of incense breathing morn,' my muscles are like iron, and my back of steel. I am as alert as the sparrow with whom I converse every morning as he seeks his matutinal worm.

I ascribe all of this change, and justly, to Grape-Nuts Food and wisdom in the economy of food.

There is a good sound reason for such a change as described above. Grape-Nuts Food is made of the selected elements of wheat and barley that are intended by nature to rebuild the soft gray matter in the brain and nerve cells throughout the body. This food is so prepared that it presents these elements in perfect condition for immediate use. The food is thoroughly cooked at the factory, and should always be served just as it comes from the package with a little cream. Do not attempt to stew it, but serve it without cooking except when combined with certain puddings and desserts, and even then the cooking is not necessary except to prepare the other ingredients aside from the Grape-Nuts.

Send a one-cent stamp to the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich. for a free receipt book.

WEDDED IN ROCHESTER.

A Former Peterborough Lady Married in Rochester, N. Y.

A very pretty wedding took place at Lady Chapel, in Rochester, on the afternoon of June 15th, in which Miss Susie M. Bolin, formerly of Peterborough, sister of Mrs. Patrick Heffernan, Rochester, was united in marriage to Mr. John Garthland, of Brooklyn. Rev. Father Hickey, rector of the Cathedral, performed the ceremony.

The bride was a costume of belted tulle, trimmed with ribbons, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by her two bridesmaids, Margaret Ryan, who was dressed in blue silk and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The groom was attended by Mr. Richard Bolin, brother of the bride. After the ceremony a reception was held and supper served at their new residence, 17 Fulton-ave., Rochester. Mr. and Mrs. Garthland have gone on a short western trip.

THE DURO PICNIC.

The Annual Event to take Place in Duro Today

The annual picnic under the auspices of St. Joseph's Church, Duro, will take place today in O'Brien's grove, one mile and a half from the church, commencing at 9 o'clock.

A splendid programme of athletic sports has been arranged, for which valuable prizes will be offered. Addresses will be given by Hon. J. R. Stratton, Hon. F. R. Latchford and others.

The picnic should be attended by a large number of people from town, as it is a pleasant drive to the grove.

The Rev. Father Kietly, the esteemed priest of St. Joseph's, on behalf of the committee, extends a hearty invitation to our citizens to attend.

THE APSLEY RAILWAY.

The Line to be Surveyed at Once and Work Begun.

The Times has pleasure in informing its readers that the prospect is exceedingly bright for the early commencement of the Norwood and Apsley Railway.

A surveying party is to be put on at once and the line staked out, after which the right of way will be purchased and grading begun. It is expected the road will be in operation in a year or a little more.

Too much credit cannot be given to the gentlemen who took the initiative proceedings. People of this town regarded the project as a foolish hope, and now that there is every prospect of its success, there is a sort of half-hearted apathy.

Had the town been alive to its own interests, it might easily have had the road instead of Norwood.

WEDDING BELLS.

Marriage of Miss Jennie Rork and Rev. G. W. Rose.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated yesterday afternoon at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. R. S. Davidson, when his youngest daughter, Miss Jennie, was united in marriage to Rev. G. W. Rose, of Mono Centre, Dufferin County. Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's church, tied the nuptial knot, in the presence of a number of relatives only. The bride was escorted and given away by her father.

The drawing room was tastefully decorated with beautiful flowers. After a wedding breakfast had been partaken of, the happy couple left for Mono Centre, where Mr. Rose is pastor of the Presbyterian church, taking with them the hearty good wishes of a large number of friends, in which the Times cordially joins.

The bride was the recipient of many very handsome presents, evidencing her regard by a large circle of friends.

A Queer Catch.

Yesterday morning Mr. George Lee, well known local superintendent of the London Life Assurance Company, arose at the break of day and took his rod and line and started for the river for bass. Although Mr. Lee is a successful angler, on this occasion his luck deserted him. The fish would not bite, and after an hour's vain effort, he started home. On his way he heard rustling in the bushes on the side of the road, and was surprised to see a huge owl sitting within reach. Quickly taking off his coat, he threw it over the head of the owl, and triumphantly carried it home, where the bird is now to be seen.

RICE TO STAND TRIAL; FOR MURDER OF BOYD

Last of the Rutledge Gang Committed to Stand Trial for Murder Yesterday Morning.

WITNESSES GIVE EVIDENCE AT THE COURT.

Doctor's Tell of the Finding of the Bullet in Boyd's Brain—It Came From Rice or Rutledge.

Fred Lee Rice, looking as neat as ever, but wearing a worried look, appeared on the charge of murdering County Constable Boyd. Before the first witness was called Mr. Robinson held a short conversation with the prisoner, and Magistrate Denison gave him time to finish the talk before going on with the case. The court room was crowded with many of Toronto's idle ones, attracted no doubt by the notoriety gained by the burglar, of whom only Rice is left to stand his trial on the charge of murdering a peace officer.

Dr. Bingham, who with Dr. John Cavan, examined the body of the dead constable, testified that death was caused by a gunshot wound in the head. The bullet entered on the right side, the line of direction being upwards and upwards, and was found imbedded in the brain. The witness stated that there was no other cause for death, noticed during the examination.

DRIVER OF THE CAB.
Robert Higley, the driver of the cab in which Constable Boyd was shot, described in what positions the prisoners and constables were seated in the rig at the time of the attempted escape. Three or four shots were fired before he got down from the box. The man with his right hand free fired at him, but he was not afraid. He did not notice Rice do any shooting. He did not see Stewart from whom he left the court house until he was board the front end of a car.

Druggist Crutenden gave evidence similar to that at the coroner's inquest. Crutenden was the young man who picked up the Brown christy hat in which it was claimed the revolver were thrown into the cab. After placing the hat back in the back, Crutenden was on the south side and could see Constable Boyd sitting in the north east corner. He was the man on the south side shooting a few minutes afterwards. This shooting took place while the men were still in the cab.

THE GUARD'S STORY.
Dick Dodds, the guard at the Jail, who came to the assistance of Constable Stewart in the scuffle on the street car, stated that he had just left Seymour's Hotel when he heard a cry for assistance from Constable Stewart. He immediately ran to the car and saw Rutledge and Rice each with a revolver. Stewart was wrestling with the men for the revolver and finally was able to get the weapon away from Rice, upon whose head he used it freely. With the aid of Guard Spanton and others the three men were overpowered. Jones was in the centre of the two with Rutledge and Rice handcuffed to him. Rice's left hand was free and Rutledge's right.

Guard Spanton also told of taking the revolver away from Rutledge and taking it to the jail. One of the revolvers produced by Mr. Curry was shown to Mr. Spanton, but he could not recognize it as the one he had taken from Rutledge. Constable Stewart claimed a revolver when he came to the jail. The gun that Mr. Stewart had, he thought, had a larger barrel than the one produced.

SAW THE PARCEL THROWN.
Robert Ennis testified that he saw a young man run after the back and throw a parcel into it through the window. Shortly afterwards the cab stopped, and three men alighted and ran towards a street car.

Thomas Greer, of Sumner street, also testified that he heard two shots fired from the back and shortly afterwards three or four more shots were fired. The man who threw the parcel into the back ran down a line alongside of Mr. Greer's house. Both Mr. Ennis and Mr. Greer saw Mr. Boyd in the back with a bullet wound in his head.

W. G. Callow and William Hyde also gave evidence as to the scuffle on the car and the position that Rice occupied, having his left hand free.

MONTROSE KOHLMAYER.
Motorman Seidon Luther Kohlmeyer stated that the three men got out of the back on the South side and ran on corroborated the evidence of Mr. Kohlmeyer in certain details.

THE BULLETS PRODUCED.
Dr. Powell produced the bullets, 38 calibre, taken out of Jones' left forearm. When the doctor handed these over to the Magistrate the prisoner eagerly watched the proceedings.

Mr. Curry—Did you see any revolver?
Mr. Kohlmeyer—Yes. Rice had one and Rutledge had one.

Mr. Curry—What did you say when they asked you to move the car?
Mr. Kohlmeyer—I didn't say anything. I refused to turn on the power. Rice then attempted to grasp the controller, and some one of the three called: "If you don't move this car along, I'll shoot you." Then some one else cried "Shoot!" At this instant a revolver was thrust close to my side by Rice. This I grasped by the barrel and had a tussle with Rice. The latter then jumped over the gate and we managed to take the revolver away.

Motorman Malone and Robert Wil-
Dr. Cavan produced the portion of the bullet taken from Constable Boyd's skull. It weighed 181 grains. A 46 calibre bullet, according to the Winchester catalogue, weighed 266 grains. The portion of the bullet produced weighed considerably more than the whole of a 38 calibre bullet. A bullet taken from one of the revolvers which the prisoners held weighed exactly 266 grains.

P. C. Steel identified the revolver taken from the prisoners, and testified to having handed one of the guns to Sergeant Archer at No. 4 Station.

Detective Forrest obtained one of the revolvers at the inquest and found one chamber with an unexploded shell. The witness, Mr. Warrant, the Crown Attorney said enough evidence had been taken to warrant a commitment, and Rice will be tried at the assizes in September next.

THE WITNESSES WERE THEN BOUND OVER to appear at the next court.

Mr. Warrant, the Crown Attorney was not yet notified the prisoner's counsel, whether Rice will be removed to Kingston until the trial.

The Trader's Bank of Canada

Proceedings of the Sixteenth Annual General Meeting of Shareholders—Held at the Banking House in Toronto, on Tuesday, June 19th.

The chair was taken by the President, Mr. C. D. Warren, and the General Manager was requested to act as Secretary when the following statement was read: The net profits for the year, after making provision for bad and doubtful debts, and reserving accrued interest, amounted to $145,537.83. Premium on new stock issued, $4,710.00. Balance at credit of profit and loss last year, 14,511.57.

Appropriated as follows, viz.: Dividend No. 30, 3 per cent., payable 1st December, 1900, $3,368.04. Dividend No. 31, 3 per cent., payable 1st June, 1901, 39,460.33. Written off bank premises, 10,000.00. Transferred to rent account, 100,000.00. Balance at credit of profit and loss new account, 13,391.11.

The average paid up capital for the year was $1,281,300, the net profits on which, exclusive of premium on new stocks issued, were 12.11 per cent.

The deposits, now $7,672,591, show a healthy increase of $1,144,517 during the year, a considerable portion of the increase, viz.: $446,722, being non-interest bearing deposits.

During the year, through the lamented death of Mr. W. J. Thomas, a vacancy occurred on the board, of which he had been a valued member for some years. The different officers of the bank have all been inspected during the year.

Rich And Heavy Food

VERSUS

Malt Breakfast Food

It is unwise to fill the stomach with rich and heavy food which takes all the energy of the body for its proper digestion. Malt Breakfast Food furnishes the greatest amount of nutriment and energy for each day's work, and does not exhaust existing energy. For summer breakfast, there is nothing equal to Malt Breakfast Food. Your Grocer sells it.

FORESTER'S EXCURSION

Sports on P. P. A. Grounds Yesterday Afternoon.

PETERBORO LOSE TO PARK NINE

About 250 or 300 people accompanied the Foresters on their excursion to Toronto yesterday morning. Owing to the rain which lasted all morning about 200 people were at the Union station, Toronto, and decided not to come as the rain was coming down in torrents when the train pulled out and prospects looked very unfavorable for clearing up, but, however, the afternoon turned out fine and those that came had a very enjoyable time. Sports were carried on at the P. P. A. grounds and the Park Nine and Peterborough baseball team played ball.

Following is the programme for the afternoon:

Open Race, 100 yards.

1st, Gowland, pair of pants, valued at $3.00; donated by Gough Bros. 2nd, Hefernan, umbrella, valued at $1.50; donated by Gough Bros.

Stop, Step and Jump, open.

1st, Williams, Toronto, material for fancy vest, valued at $3.00; donated by Smith & Co. 2nd, Grady, Peterborough, pair cuff links, valued at $1.50; donated by A. C. Stannard.

100 Yards Race, 100 yards, under 14.

1st, Kane, bat, valued at $1.00; donated by Kane & Co. 2nd, Hicks, ball, valued at 60 cents; donated by Kane & Co. 3rd, Jones, bat, valued at 50 cents; donated by R. Hagley.

1-4 Mile Open Race.

1st, Gowland, hat, valued at $2.50; donated by Fairweather & Co. 2nd, Williams, umbrella, valued at $2.00; donated by M. J. Crotie, 3rd, Cameron, pair running boots, valued at $1.50; donated by S. Higgins.

Smoking Race, Foresters only.

1st, Thompson, case pipe, valued at $2.00; donated by Mr. J. Delory. 2nd, Colho-m, case pipe, valued at $1.50; donated by W. G. Bentley.

Pat Man's Race, 100 yards.

1st, Hegley, 1 dozen photos, valued at $3.00; donated by V. D. McVey. 2nd, Husk, produce, valued at $1.00; donated by Devine & Co. 3rd, McPherson, 100 visiting cards; donated by James & Williams.

The tug of war between East and West Toronto was won by the former.

The Peterborough baseball team lost to the Park Nine of Toronto, yesterday afternoon. The Peterborough people were somewhat disappointed at the result of the game as the boys were looking forward to put it over the Park Nine. The home team put up a decided better game than they played against Port Hope on Saturday, and for last two innings played good ball, but seemed to get lost in the 3rd, and errors bunched up one after another. Dan McCabe was in the box until the last part of the 6th and Kehoe went into the box. O'Brien, of the St. Mary's, of Toronto, was behind the bat, Chris Graham being away in Chicago. Andy Scott one of Peterborough's best men was unable to take 2nd base, being away on business, and Kehoe took 2nd base until the last of the 6th, Fred Davidson, taking Kehoe's position at right field, and made a good impression, this is Fred's first home game of the season, Fred being young at the game.

The Park Nine are a speedy nine and play a good clean game. Stevens pitched the nine innings throughout for the visitors and handled himself well, he has good support both behind the bat and in the field.

Following is the game by innings; Park Nine to bat:

Park Nine, 1st innings.

Winchester hits but fails to reach 1st; Hamilton follows and is caught out on fly by Sheridan at 3rd; Poulter fans—Runs, 0.

Peterborough, 1st innings.

Sheridan hits safe and Earle gets out on sacrifice hit; O'Brien is caught out on foul ball; Sheridan out at 1st—Runs, 0.

Park Nine, 2nd innings.

Lalley hits and gets first on error off Sheridan; Taylor caught out on fly by Earle at center field; Williams hits and gets first on error off short stop and Taylor gets 3rd; Cretler hits to right field and brings in Lalley and Williams; North gets out on sacrifice hit and Stevens hits and fails to reach 1st—Runs, 2.

The following gentlemen were duly elected to act as directors for the ensuing year, viz.: Messrs. C. D. Warren, John Drynan, C. Klepper, Hon. J. R. Stratton, James H. Beatty and W. J. Sheppard.

All a subsequent meeting of the newly-elected board Mr. C. D. Warren was re-elected President and Mr. John Drynan, Vice-President, by a unanimous vote.

The growth of the deposits, capital and reserve is shown in the following:

EX-GOVERNOR PINGREE

DIES IN LONDON.

Was Returning from a Visit to South Africa.

ONCE GOVERNOR OF MICHIGAN.

London, June 19.—Former-Governor H. S. Pingree of Michigan died here last night at 11.35 o'clock. His son was the only one present at the time of his death.

The attending doctor left Mr. Pingree's bedside at about 11.15 o'clock, promising to return shortly. H. S. Pingree, Jr., who has been watching at his father's side for four days and who has not removed his clothes during that time, noticed a sudden change in his father's condition. He had hardly reached the patient's bedside when his father died peacefully, without warning and without speaking one word.

Young Mr. Pingree has wired to his mother and his uncle in the United States not to come to London.

The body of the late Mr. Pingree will be embalmed and taken to his home.

The diagnosis made by London specialists of the cancerous affection of the intestines from which Mr. Pingree suffered left practically no hope for the patient's recovery.

Toward the end of his illness Mr. Pingree suffered great pain and weakened rapidly. He was unable to retain nourishment. His mind, however, remained fairly clear. During the whole of Tuesday he was practically kept alive by injections of strychnine and drugs administered.

Peterborough, 2nd innings.

tered to lessen his pain.

Hazen S. Pingree was born at Dan-mark, Me., on August 30, 1840. He lived on his father's farm until he was fourteen years old, and then went to work in a cotton factory at Saco. Afterwards he worked in a shoe factory at Hopkinton, Mass., where he learned the trade of a shoe cutter.

When the civil war broke out young Pingree enlisted as a private in the First Massachusetts Heavy Artillery and served from August 1, 1862, to August, 1865. For five months during 1864 he was a prisoner of war.

After the war Pingree went to Detroit, where he worked at his trade in a shoe factory until 1866, when with C. H. Smith he established a very small shoe factory, the growth of which kept pace with that of the city until the Pingree & Smith establishment became the largest shoe manufacturing business in the West.

Mr. Pingree first became interested in politics in 1887. He had never taken any active part in the affairs of the city or State save to answer each appeal for money with a good-sized check. He had spent all the best years of his life in the shoe business, and it was one of his pet expressions and a by-word among his friends that "there is nothing like leather." He had joined the Michigan Club, the stalwart Republican organization of Detroit, and because of his financial standing was made President. This entitled him to a membership in the Big Four—a series of former presidents who directed about all the movements of the party. This combination was composed of James L. Edson, William H. Elliott, C. A. Black and Mr. Pingree, and in 1888 it headed the company which went to the national convention and struggled for the nomination of General Alger. Mr. Pingree was assessed the expense of the trip, despite the fact that he was in Europe at the time and did not share in the fun or the glory.

It was the next year—1889—that he flashed across the scene and started the career which has made him one of the most discussed men in the country. Detroit had always been democratic and the Republicans were looking for a new man for the slaughter. There had been called a little meeting of desperation by the leaders and on the way to the station Mr. Pingree stopped for a minute to see how matters were getting on. He was going to Boston to buy leather, but as he came in some one suggested him for the mayoralty. The name at that time met with the earnest approval of those who were present—of such men as Col. H. M. Duffield, the "Big Four," Elder Blades, Col. Farnsworth, Harry Tillman and many others of the same influence—and it was unanimously voted to present his name to the convention.

The suggestion was such a surprise to him that Mr. Pingree sat like a stone during the talk and at the decision seized his hat and bolted for the door. He found it locked, and was thus compelled to sit still and was not allowed to continue his leather mission until he had made a promise to accept the nomination in case his partners also gave assent.

Mr. Pingree came home from the east and his determination was at fever heat. It dawned upon him that he had been selected because no one else wanted to make the run, and fit made him angry. He announced that he would be elected and he put aside leather for politics. He went into the campaign with the vehemence of a mad bull and swore both literally and metaphorically that he would wipe out

PLANTS FOR INDOOR GROWTH

Preparing Potted Flowers for Home Decorations.

It is useless to think of having house plants unless you are prepared to place them in a sunny room; flowering plants especially must have the sun. Select a room if possible, with an eastern or southern outlook. To keep the atmosphere moist enough for rapid growth, place a pan of water on the radiator or stove and see that it is never empty.

George W. Perkins, an authority on the hygiene of house plants, says that to grow flowers in a house purifies the air about them, and that to a certain extent plants test the air we breathe. The injurious gases often found in dwellings affect plants as readily as they do people, and it is generally conceded that where a plant dies from chandelle or furnace gas the room is unfit for human occupation as well.

The first thing, then, to bear in mind is that it is necessary to have a great abundance of fresh air and sunshine. Pull up the shades and open the windows wide. In thus catering to the needs of the plants the home is made more cheery, attractive and healthful.

It is stated by some authorities that heliotrope, mignonette and mint in some way increase the quantity of ozone in the air. If this is true, then these plants should be, by all means, among the winter plants of every home.

The latter part of September or the beginning of October is the best time for propagating plants. The weather then is neither too warm nor too cold to hinder the cuttings from taking root.

Select a good healthy plant from which to take the cutting. If the branch snaps off clean, without bending, then you have made a good choice. When the wood of a plant has become hardened it is always difficult to get a cutting from it that will take root quickly. Except in the case of roses, cuttings should always be taken from the young wood.

Fill a box that is three inches deep with ordinary sand, firmly packed. Plant the cuttings and keep the sand quite wet until every cutting has rooted. Place the box for two days in the shade, then move it into the sun. The temperature of the sand should be kept to about 65 degrees. As the cuttings become rooted, put them in pots, water freely, place in the shade for a few days, then set them in the sun, and they ought to grow and thrive well.

Another way to propagate plants is called the "saucer system," and is so simple that any housekeeper can successfully root as many cuttings as she may wish to pot. The use of a saucer plate is even better than a saucer, for it is deeper and will accommodate more cuttings. Put the cuttings in close together and cover with sand. Keep watered well and fully exposed to the sun. The window sill is a good place on which to place the dish. A close watch must be kept on the sand. Allowing it to get dry even once may cause the roots to bake and die.

Now for the soil for the pots. It should consist of one-third leaf mould, one-third garden loam, one-sixth sand and one-sixth well rotted manure. Have a large box of this soil well mixed and kept in the cellar. Oftentimes you will want to repot or add more earth to a plant already potted, and sometimes it is difficult to get the proper earth just when you need it.

Suppose that last May or June you buried out in the garden some of your potted plants, sinking the rim of the earth up to the rim. You picked off the buds to prevent their blooming before you were ready to bring them in. Now you are ready to shift the plants to larger pots. Dig up the pot, turn it upside down, supporting the plant and earth with the left hand. With the right knock the rim of the pot on the edge of a chair or table and the plant, with the clinging earth, will fall out into the hand, leaving the pot empty.

Now into the larger pot put a layer of charcoal or a wad of "excelsior." Cover this with a little fresh earth. Shake out the matted roots of the plant that one finds generally spread out as if having tried in vain to get out of the small pot, and settle them gently in the fresh earth. Fill it with fresh soil—don't pack it—then water well, and set one aside in the shade for a day or two.

Much water at first will rot the roots. But after the plant has shown signs of new life it should be watered regularly.

There are many beautiful foliage plants that grow easily in the window and brighten the room almost as much as plants that flower. It is difficult to make a plant bloom profusely by window treatment, but chrysanthemums make a very pretty showing, so do fuchsias, carnations and geraniums.

These coverings are used only for the common clay pots, but one can get jardiniere to almost any kind of ware. Some jardiniere come with a saucer. In these the plant is potted, and there is therefore no use for the common clay vessel. In using the jardiniere that has no saucer the clay pot is placed inside them.

Hyacinths, begonias, tulips, crocuses, jonquils, geraniums, heliotropes and even roses make beautiful winter plants. A cheerful array can be had by sowing annual seeds, such as mignonette, phlox, sweet alyssum and portulaca. These pots should be kept in a window with a southern exposure. For the edging a drooping plant should be selected, such as lobelia, petunia and pansies.

Chrysanthemums make particularly pleasing house decorations. If very large blossoms are wanted, the plant should not be allowed to have many branches, and but one or two flowers. Such a plant needs much nourishment, and nothing is better than barnyard compost.

The secret of success with potted plants is to keep them scrupulously clean.

PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO.

A HARDER TASK THAN THAT OF NELSON'S.

Vice-Admiral Fisher at Valetta Greatly Strengthens the Mediterranean Fleet.

MALTA IS THE VITAL SPOT OF THE EMPIRE.

Any Power Who Attempts to Cripple England's Power, Would Strike First at Valetta—Strength of Other Fleets.

Grand Harbour, Valetta, June 21.—During the past eighteen months two sovereigns whose coasts are washed by the same blue waters that break in foam on the rocks of St. Elmo, have said:

"The peace of the world depends on the strength of the Mediterranean fleet." The first was the Emperor Francis Joseph the second was King George of Greece.

Last year, after having visited Toulon, and spent some time in studying the conditions of affairs here, there is no ground for pessimism if England wakes up and faces facts. On the contrary, in one short year the efficiency of the Mediterranean fleet has been raised. In June, 1900, it was an 11-knot fleet with constant breakdowns. Today it is a 14 and even 15-knot fleet with no breakdowns. This is equivalent to a reinforcement.

"Uncle Jack"—Vice-Admiral Fisher—simply won't have breakdowns. His plan is to make efficiency compulsory. To secure it, he maintains in peace the conditions of war. This is hard on officers and men, but the result is curious. They are what Nelson called a band of brothers; act together like a crack football team. Fisher and Boscawen trust their men. It cannot be merely by chance that I have not seen a single drunken sailor or marine among all the thousands of liberty men that crowd Valetta streets. Respected by their admirals and officers, the men respect themselves.

HEART OF THE EMPIRE.

This, not the narrow seas, is the vital spot of the Empire. The authorities here have the wolf by the ears. In wartime the foe will strike, not where England is strong and where her resources are handy, but where she is weak and where her resources are distant.

Here, in the Latin Lake the British fleet manoeuvres are real in a sense totally wanting to the fleet mobilized each August at home; Here there are no sham, for all kinds know that the task thrown on the Admiral is harder even than the task thrown on Nelson a hundred years ago. To-day more Mediterranean powers are unfriendly. In 1801 the coast of North Africa was not trimmed with hostile torpedo stations. The Dardanelles were not potentially in the hands of a hostile fleet.

EXCURSION OF CIVIC FATHERS.

County Council and Town Council Visit Chemung Lake.

Cheerless weather did not prevent the party of County Councillors and their retainers who visited Chemung Lake on Thursday from being a jolly party. It was the County Council's annual tour of inspection through the North Country. The excursionists were Warden Fitzgibbon and Commissioners Peck, Costello, Crowe, Casement, Shaw, MacLennan, and Dr. Jeffs, the County Engineer. Mr. J. R. Belcher, the County Clerk, Mr. George Stewart, Mr. H. Newblitt, the gaoler, Mayor Demme, and Aldermen Rush, Elzencome, Batten, Clinkscale, and Bell, and representatives of the newspapers. The party went to Chemung by "bus" in the morning and there took the steamer Manilla. Mr. A. Crough, Reeve of Pannismore, joined them at Chemung. Dinner was taken at Buckhorn and the new cheese factory there was inspected. This factory called the Buckhorn, is one of the best in the district.

From Buckhorn the steamer was headed for Gannon's Narrows, in order that the ferry might be inspected and a valuation placed on a lodge for caretaker Nicholas. Everything was found satisfactory at this point, and then a start was made for Bridgforth, where, upon arrival, the approach to the new bridge on both the Ennismore and Smith shores were examined, as well as the piers which are under construction.

After concluding the inspection the party repaired to the Chemung Park Hotel. Where supper was served before departure for home.

It was a very agreeable outing.

SCHOOL BOARD IN SPECIAL SESSION

The Sanitary Improvements at South Central School Will be Proceeded with at Once.

The board of Education met in special session last night, when there were present Chairman W. H. Hill, and Messrs. L. M. Hayes, V. Eastwood, Wm. Ferguson, W. B. Bamford, R. Fair, Wm. Langford and Dr. Caldwell.

The chairman explained that the meeting had been called to consider the proposed improvements (sanitary and otherwise) at the South Central school, REPORT OF FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Mr. W. B. Bamford submitted the following:

Gentlemen,—Your Finance Committee beg leave to report that, according to your instructions at the last meeting of this board, we waited on the Finance Committee of the Town Council on two occasions, and discussed with them the matter of providing funds for the purchase of land for a system of closets and connecting the same with the sewer at the South Central School. As the rate for the present year has been already struck, it would be impossible to provide the money, this year, unless a money bill was submitted to the people, which would cost $700, and would delay the work until after the summer holidays. The Committee of the Council were all in favor of the board undertaking the work, and passed the following resolution: "That this Committee recommend the School Board to take any steps which may be found practicable necessary to place the South Central School in a satisfactory sanitary condition, and to temporarily finance the same, and to add the cost thus necessarily entailed to their next year's demand, and thus obviate the legal questions, and cost involved in a second assessment this year. Your Committee would therefore recommend that your Property Committee be instructed to go ahead with the work and let the contracts, and that whatever shortage there may arise be carried over until next year."

All of which is respectfully submitted. Mr. Bamford moved, seconded by Mr. Fair, that the report be adopted as read.—Carried.

The Property Committee are in accordance with above report clothed with full power to go ahead with the work at the South West School at once.

Mr. A. W. McPherson's request for leave of absence till the end of September was granted.

ZIONISTS MEET.

An Important Gathering Held at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, June 21.—The annual convention of the Federation of the United States Zionists Societies, held in this city, has just concluded its labors, the session having occupied two days. It was one of the largest and probably most representative gatherings of Jews ever held in America. One hundred and fifty-seven Zionists Societies, with a membership running into tens of thousands, were represented. Professor Richard Gottlieb, of Columbia University, occupied the presidential chair. His report showed the enormous strides made during the year, and a sense of indescribable excitement he read a cable statement that when one and a half million pounds sterling more were received by the Jewish Colonial Trust, their charter to colonize Palestine would be secured. The report of Secretary F. D. Morrison showed that eighteen thousand shares in the trust had been subscribed for in the United States during the past year and a half. A resolution was passed to adopt measures to largely augment this during the present year. During the first afternoon session the principal speakers were Dr. Marcus Jastrow, of Philadelphia; Mr. Clarence I. de Sola, President of the Federation of Zionists Societies of Canada; Dr. Stephen Wise, of Portland, Oregon; and Mr. Gabriel Meyer, of Philadelphia.

Dr. Jastrow's address was an able and exhaustive review of the movement. Mr. Clarence I. de Sola, in the course of a stirring address, made a spirited appeal to them to take steps to combat the unfriendly attitude of certain anti-Zionist journals. This idea was also strongly advocated by Dr. Stephen Wise, whose powerful address was followed by the adoption of a resolution which provides for the immediate founding of a monthly magazine, which will be the official organ of Zionists in America. Ample funds have been subscribed for this purpose. A huge mass meeting was held at Musical Fund Hall, under the chairmanship of Mr. David W. Amram. The platform was occupied by numbers of the best known leaders of Jewish thought in America, gathered from far and wide.

Dr. Jastrow, Dr. Abrenreich, Dr. Wise, Rabbi Maslansky and Dr. Joseph Zeif were the orators. Between each address the audience, led by a choir and accompanied by a band of music, sang Zionist hymns. The second day's session was occupied with various plans of propaganda and improved organization, and the election of delegates to the forthcoming International Zionists' Congress, to be held in the autumn in London. Among the speakers were Dr. Bernhard Drachman and Rev. Henry Morris. Prof. Gottlieb was re-elected president.

HOWARD'S SCOUTS SAIL FOR ENGLAND

They Left Cape Town for Southampton on the 6th of June.

A BOER COMMANDANT TAKEN

Montreal, June 21.—The Star has received a despatch from London stating that Howard's Canadian Scouts sailed from Cape Town for Southampton on the 6th inst., on the steamer Roslyn Castle. The officers returning with the Scouts are Lieuts. Ryan, Thompson, and Callaghan, Surgeon-Major Ross and Surgeon-Lieut. Frank McDonald, of Toronto.

THE BOER NOT A SOLDIER.

Washington, June 21.—The War Department has received a long and interesting report on the operations in South Africa, from Capt. Carl Reichmann. He praises the Boer character, fighting qualities and daring, but criticizes his soldierly qualifications. The aggressive feature of the Boer army, he declares, were the foreigners who served in it.

The report continued:—"Volunteers generally have played a considerable part in this war; they were mostly foreigners, adventurers, amateurs, active, stirred, and ex-officers of foreign armies. The Boers are hunters rather than soldiers, they are not much given to holding a position to the last. The foreigners, on the contrary, once posted would hold their ground."

"Whenever offensive operations were undertaken the foreigners had to bear the brunt of the fighting. In the assault on Spion Kop, January 25, 1900, the leading detachment consisted mostly of foreigners. In the abortive attempt on Mafeking a detachment of foreigners led, which was sent for that purpose from Pretoria, and Gen. Snyman, the worst of all the Boer Generals, failed to send the reinforcements agreed upon."

"Among the organized foreign corps in the Boer army," the continuing Captain Reichmann, "were the following: The Hollanders corps numbering 350 men, the Italian corps numbering about 175 men, representing 11 different nationalities, under the command of Capt. Ricciardi, who had been with Aguinaldo in the Philippines. The Scandinavian corps numbered 40 men. The Irish Brigade was commanded by Capt. Blake formerly an officer in the Sixth United States Cavalry, and numbered about 150 men, and there was also a French corps of 25 men, and an American scout company of about 50 men. Another was that of the Irish-Americans, who had reached Pretoria under the guise of ambulance personnel, they being members of the ambulance organized in Chicago."

DIES FOR LACK OF FARM HELP.

Kansas Man commits Suicide Because He Cannot Get Harvest Hands.

Atchison, Kan., June 21.—Christopher Butt, a farmer, discouraged because of a drought and because he could not secure hands to help him harvest his wheat crop, committed suicide this morning by blowing out his brain with a shotgun. Butt owned a quarter section of the most valuable farm land in Atchison county. He had a wife and three children, a modern country residence, and a bank account. Little rain has fallen in this locality since April 15, and Butt's corn, oats, and other crops were practically ruined. His only hope seemed to lie in his wheat crop, and for some days he had been trying to get hands to assist him in harvesting it, but without avail. There was no idle help to be found. Butt then decided to attempt to harvest his wheat with the assistance of his boy and a neighbor. Beginning this morning, he got up at daylight and began overhauling his binder, but in a short time got his shotgun and went to the barn, put the muzzle to his head, and discharged it by touching the trigger with a sick death was instantaneous.

AUCTION SALE OF HORSES.

Five Lot of Western Animals to be Offered at Kennedy's Stock Yards This Afternoon.

Under instructions from John King, Esq., of the State of Kansas, Mr. C. Stapleton, auctioneer, will sell 30 western horses at the Kennedy stock yards this afternoon (Saturday) at 1 o'clock. The King stock farm in Kansas has been raising horses 27 years, and has never raised a horse with a spavin, ring bone or curb. This is because the founder of the farm, Mr. Wm. King, was a track man, and his experience with race horses taught him to be careful about bone diseases. The horses are from Kentucky, trotting series. Some of them have been halter broken, some have never been handled. Ladies are especially invited to be present and see how the unbroken steeds are brought under control.

Lively Time Amongst the Troops of the Colony.

AUSTRALIANS RAISED A ROW.

Melbourne, June 21.—The Australian troops returning on board the Morayshire, refused to hoist the decks, and several were arrested for insubordination. Their comrades rescued them, but the officers finally triumphed, and had the rescuers arrested also.

Lord Hlobetou has pardoned the men in view of their splendid services in the field and their good conduct while under arrest. One of the men died from enteric fever before the pardon was announced.

KILLED IN A TRAIN COLLISION.

Pretoria, June 21.—A serious railway accident occurred yesterday morning in the vicinity of Pretoria, on the Petersburg line. A train full of troops was run into by a train coming from the opposite direction. The latter, travelling at some speed, was rounding a curve at the time, and it dashed into the troop train with great force. A number of trucks were smashed and nine soldiers were killed and several others injured.

HANDS UP, INSTANTLY!

Cape Town, June 21.—A brilliant little action is reported from the neighborhood of Ladysmith. Colonel Buller's column, on reaching camp late at night by moonlight, was presently sniped at by a body of Boers, who occupied a position on a neighbouring kopje. A detachment of Cape Mounted Rifles eventually rode straight for the kopje, whence the sniping proceeded, and taking the enemy completely by surprise, commanded a peremptory "Hands up, instantly!"

Within a quarter of an hour the Rifles returned to camp, bringing with them twenty prisoners and 13,000 rounds of ammunition.

WANT TO SURRENDER.

Standerton, June 21.—Dr. Everard, a Boer doctor, states that the burghers are heartily tired of fighting, and would surrender to a man if their leaders would permit them to do so.

Two Colonial troops aver that they found in the pockets of two dead Boers' pockets copies of a proclamation signed by Louis Botha stating that he would not be responsible for any burghers who had not surrendered by the 10th inst.

PRO-BOERS' APPEAL.

New York, June 21.—An appeal has been issued for money to buy supplies for the women and children of the Transvaal, who have been gathered in camps as part of the effort to end the Boer war. Among the signers of the appeal are the Rev. Dr. David J. Barrill, William Van Rensselaer, Edward Van Ness, Andrew D. Parker and the Rev. Herman D. Van Brockhuizen, of Pretoria. The appeal says that there are 22,000 women and children in the camps, and that 318 children died in May.

To Attend Church.

The members of Christ Church 630 I.O.F. and any visiting brethren, are specially requested to meet at the Hall 422 George street (to-morrow) Sunday 23rd inst., at 6.15 p.m., for the purpose of attending Divine Worship at the Mark street Methodist Church.

IMPERIAL BANK OF CANADA.

A Most Satisfactory Statement Presented at the Annual Meeting.

Once more we are in a position to congratulate the management of the Imperial Bank in the results of the years operations. The handsome sum of $403,771.16 represents the profits of the past year. The premiums paid on new stock amounted to $25,901.65. In dividends the sum of $236,429.41 was paid, which is 9 1/2 per cent. on paid-up capital of $2,500,000. The sum carried to reserve was $150,000, bringing that fund up to $1,850,000. The note circulation of the Imperial Bank is $1,950,283, and the deposits amount to $16,515,760.86.

I. He the Burglar.

It is said that a fellow, answering the description given by Mrs. Con. Wall of the burglar who brutally assaulted her on Wednesday, terrorized the people on Smith street on Thursday night, by rousing them from their sleep and demanding food. The police were notified and the fellow decamped.

O'GRADY-HALEY RECALLED.

Major General Commanding Canadian Militia for Such Short Time to Return to England.

Ottawa, June 21.—General O'Grady-Haley has been recalled. The general is out of the city inspecting the military camps, and so is the Minister of Militia, and consequently they could not be seen regarding the matter; but, nevertheless, it is understood to be correct that the major-general commanding the militia, who has only been a short time here, has been recalled.

A BREACH OF FAITH CHARGED BY BOERS

Mrs. Botha Makes Grave Accusations in Connection with Peace Negotiations.

NEGOTIATIONS WERE NEARLY CONCLUDED

The Boers Claim an Entirely Altered Tone in the Despatches—Kitchener was Overruled—Mrs. Botha Interviewed.

London, June 21.—Mrs. Botha, wife of the noted Boer commander, was interviewed by The Chronicle during her visit in this city. "Unhappily, perhaps, for both Boer and Briton," says the representative of that paper, "the peace mission with which his remarkable and courageous woman was connected as an intermediary came to naught. The collapse of the Kitchener-Botha negotiations—at the very moment when success seemed assured—the Boers, I now learn, attribute to what they describe as the fatuous policy of a higher authority than Lord Kitchener."

TO FIGHT IT OUT.

"But peace was not to be. Much to Botha's own surprise (I am now quoting the Boer version of what followed) he is said to have received an official communication from Lord Kitchener, which was so utterly foreign to and so much at variance with the tenor of the all but concluded negotiations that the Boer leader felt (and his view was endorsed by the whole of his force in the field) that the new phase of the negotiations sought to impose terms so harsh and irrational that the most honorable and many course to adopt would be to fight it out to the bitter end."

"For this reason Botha's reply to Kitchener was coldly disdainful, the Boer General expressing surprise at the altered tone of the British General's despatch. To the abrupt termination of the negotiations, and to the feeling of resentment engendered by what is termed attempted treachery by a higher authority than Lord Kitchener is due, I was informed, the recrudescence of Boer activity in the field. The Boers now fighting, it was told, desired peace with honor. If the British Government was not prepared to concede terms which Lord Kitchener had tacitly approved and performed a feat of extermination, then the Boer answer was 'So let them come.'"

A NEW SEED WAREHOUSE.

Gentlemen of France who Are to Build at the Old Bridge Works.

Messrs. Louis Houdery, sr. and Louis Houdery, jr., of France, are in town. The Messrs. Houdery have purchased the old Bridge Works, and will commence in a few days to turn the old structure into a modern seed warehouse. This will be of great benefit to farmers and others.

Before returning to France, the Messrs. Houdery will visit Winnipeg and the west, and spend a few days at Buffalo. As a reliable firm they are one of the largest in the world in seed peas, etc.

ALASKAN BOUNDARY.

A Report to the Effect That Such May Arbitrate.

Ottawa, June 21.—The announcement in the Boston Herald to the effect that the United States would offer to submit the Alaska boundary claims to Russia's arbitration was intimated to Sir Wilfrid Laurier yesterday by your correspondent who asked the Premier if he would be willing to concur in such a proposition.

"No such proposal has reached me as yet," replied Sir Wilfrid. "When a proposition is made, my Government will be prepared to consider it."

"You were willing to submit the claims to arbitration when the Joint High Commission was sitting, were you not?" asked the correspondent.

"Oh, yes," was the Prime Minister's reply. "Look at the late protocol laid before the House. Proto col 63 of the Joint High Commission contains the offer of the British Commissioners, as follows: 'The question of the boundary between Alaska and Canada was again taken up for discussion.' The British Commissioners represented that the Commission having been unable to agree on that question, it should be referred to arbitration. They therefore made the following proposition as a basis to be proceeded upon in framing a treaty: The articles are very lengthy but the proposal was 'that the tribunal consist of three, one on the part of Great Britain, one on the part of the United States, and a third to be selected by these two. Article III, provided that the tribunal shall determine and delineate on suitable maps, the boundary line between the territory of Alaska and the Dominion of Canada from the southernmost point of Prince of Wales Island to Mount St. Elias in accordance with the treaty of February 23, 1825. Article IV, defines the proposed rules: (A) Adverse holding or prescription during a period of 50 years shall make a good title. Exclusive political control may be construed as adverse holding. (B) The arbitrators may recognize and give effect to rights and claims resting on any other ground whatever valid according to International law, and on any principles of International law, which the arbitration may deem to be applicable to the case and which are not in contravention of the above rule. (C) In determining the boundary line of territory of one party shall be found by the tribunal to have been at the date of this treaty in the occupation of the subjects or citizens of the other party, such effect shall be given to such occupation as reason, justice, the principles of International law and the equities of the case shall, in the opinion of the tribunal, require. The remainder of the clauses merely refer to routine matters."

Ras Botha Surrendered?

London, June 21.—The Sun this afternoon again prints the sensational announcement which it made June 19, that General Botha, the Boer commander, after the receipt of President Kruger's decision not to concede anything, decided to ignore the former President of the Transvaal, and surrender. The paper also says it is believed at the British Foreign Office that the formal act of surrender has already occurred.

AFTER 15 YEARS.

Escapes Cured After Many Years of Terrible Torture.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—At the request of the makers I gladly write a line to tell what Dr. Charles Little Red Pills did for me. For over 15 years I was a sufferer from eczema and although treated by the best doctors in the country, I got no relief. After taking 9 boxes of the pills, I am, thank God, entirely well. They cured me when every known remedy failed. Jan. Britain, G. T.R. Montreal.

UNION BANK OF CANADA

The thirty-sixth annual general meeting of the shareholders of this institution was held at the Banking House in Quebec on Saturday, June 15th, 1901.

There were present: Messrs. Andrew Thomson, Edmund Groulx, William Price, D. C. Thompson, Hon. John Sharpley, Messrs. William Shaw, Geo. H. Thompson, C. P. Champion, John Shaw, R. C. Perreval, Robt. Brodie, H. B. Budden, William Brodie, W. S. Thompson, P. B. Caugrain, Lieut.-Col. J. F. Turnbull, A. J. McEwen, Capt. Wm. H. Carter, Thos. H. Norris, Arthur E. Scott, and Sir Adolphe P. Caron.

The President, Andrew Thomson, 1884, took the chair, and requested Mr. J. G. Lavelle to act as secretary, and Messrs. John Shaw and C. P. Champion as auditors, which was agreed to. The Chairman read the report of the Directors, which was as follows:

The Directors beg to submit a statement of the Assets and Liabilities of the Bank at the close of the financial year ending 31st May last; also the following statement of the result of the business for the past year:

PROFIT AND LOSS ACCOUNT.

May 31st, 1901.

Balance at credit of Profit and Loss Account on May 31st, 1900 $25,040.50

The Net Profit for the year, after deducting expenses of management, reserving for interest and exchange, and making up provisions for bad and doubtful debts, have amounted to $168,594.65

Balance at credit of Profit and Loss Account on May 31st, 1901 $193,635.15

Which has been appropriated as follows:

Dividend No. 46, 3 per cent $60,000.00

Dividend No. 47, 3 per cent $60,000.00

Transferred to Reserve Fund $50,000.00

Balance carried forward $23,635.15

$193,635.15

The net profits are fully equal to those of the previous year. An addition of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) has been made to the Reserve Fund, which now amounts to five hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($550,000).

The Directors have to record, with much regret, the death during the year of Mr. James King, for many years an esteemed and valuable member of the Board.

The usual business of the Head Office and Branches of the Bank has been made during the year.

ANDREW THOMSON, President.

GAMES AND SPORT

Quintus is a country of athletics. The young men are fond of it and apply themselves to it eagerly. The true sporting spirit is the flower of civility. It includes all that is noble and pure. The healthy mind and body gravitates naturally towards athletic sports. Why is it that a healthy mind does not gravitate naturally towards religious aspirations? This is the problem of the age. Is it because there is nothing of nature in it? There are so many elements of the incongruous in religious worship that it does not appeal to the logical faculty; for instance, why should people delight in vaucluse in aid of missions when a mail who plays a game in the presence of ladies in an improper costume (a collarless shirt and braces) is viewed as a scandal? The great aim of the scientists of the 20th century is to be the introduction of the scientific manner of thought into everyday life. What a lot of nonsense will be done away with then!

TOO MUCH

Exercise is as bad as too little for the growing girl. It is especially dangerous at that critical period of a young girl's life when she crosses the line of womanhood. It is not an uncommon thing to lay the foundation for years of after misery by neglect of necessary precautions at the first "change of life."

The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription not only establishes regularity, but it gives health to the entire womanly organism.

It is the best medicine for diseases peculiar to women because it cures the causes of disease completely and permanently.

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor any other narcotic. It cannot disagree with the most delicate constitution.

For a further story of months I suffered with female trouble," writes Miss Agnes McGowan, of 121 Bank Street, Washington, D. C. "I tried various remedies, but none seemed to do me any permanent good. The doctors said it was the worst case of internal cure ever had. I decided to write to you for help. I received a very encouraging reply and ordered the medicine at once. I had not used your 'Favorite Prescription' a week before I began to feel better, and, as I continued, my health gradually improved, and is improving every day."

AN ADOPTED CHICKEN

"Lucky" Was Accidentally Hatched With a Hatch of Little Chickens

When I was a little girl I lived on a farm where there were a great many chickens, turkeys, ducks and geese, and among them was a brown hen named Yellow Foot who wanted very much to have a nice family of little yellow chickens, and she knew if she laid one egg every day until there were twelve eggs, and then sat on them patiently for three weeks, she would have twelve dear little chicks. So she laid a nice white egg every day, but she could never get twelve as the cock took the egg away every morning, so Yellow Foot felt very sad.

Now, another hen named Tufty thought it would be nice to have little chickens, too; but she was very smart and found a place away off that she didn't know about, and there she laid her eggs, and one day she surprised all the other hens by walking into the chicken yard with twelve little chicks toddling after her. Now I had learned how sorry Mrs. Yellow Foot felt because she had no little chickens, when I saw Mrs. Tufty walking about so proudly, I felt very sorry indeed for Mrs. Yellow Foot.

Well that afternoon something very funny happened. I was walking about the farm, and I found in the corner of a rail fence, a turkey sitting on some eggs, and running around her was a lonely little chicken, just out of its shell, making such a pitiful "peep, peep." I took it up in my apron and ran and asked one of the men what it could mean. He said that a hen's egg had by mistake been put with the turkey's eggs, and it takes just a week longer for turkeys to hatch than it does for the hen's eggs. The poor little chick had come out of its shell a week before there was any one to take care of it.

When I heard that I thought, "Poor little chicken, what will you do, for I don't know how to take care of you at all, and it will be a week before that ugly turkey gets ready to do it, and you can not wait until then?" And then suddenly I thought, "Why, this little chicken is just as old as the twelve that were hatched this morning. I'll take it to the chicken-yard and set it down among them, and Tufty will take care of it. So I ran to the chicken-yard and put it with the other little chicks, and it ran after Tufty like the others. But you can't believe how bad Tufty acted. The minute she heard the strange little "peep" she turned around and stood still a moment, and then all her feathers stuck out, and she bobbed her head, and then pounced on my poor little chicken and gave it an awful pick. Wasn't it cruel?

I didn't know what to do, I was afraid to go near Tufty, because she would think that I was going to catch her little chicks, and I knew she would try to pick me just as she did my poor little chicken. While I was thinking she flew at it again and gave it another pick. This time I didn't stop to think, but I jumped and caught it, and ran before Tufty could catch me. I ran till I felt quite safe, and then sat down on the kitchen doorstep with my poor little chicken in my apron and cried, I think I must have cried pretty loud, because mother heard me and came out. When I told her all about it, she said: "Why didn't you try old Yellow Foot?"

At that I jumped up and clapped my hands with delight, and my poor little chicken dropped on the grass, but it didn't hurt it, and I put it carefully in my apron and went to the chicken yard again to try mother's plan. I had a hard time finding Mrs. Yellow Foot, but finally I came upon her, looking doleful in the bottom of a barrel. I poked her out with a stick, but she would not come out. At last I turned the barrel over and she had to come out. She looked very angry and made a great deal of noise about it. I waited until she got out, and then put my little chicken down by her, and oh, you should have seen her then; she looked at it a minute, and when it "peeped" she gave a quiet little cluck, just as if she was trying to see how it sounded, and then the little chicken "peeped" again, and Yellow Foot clucked again, and walked around, and the chicken followed her.

So my little chicken had some one to take care of her, and I named her Lucky, right away, and oh, how proud Yellow Foot was! She strutted everywhere with her odd chick, and all the love and care she was going to give the twelve she gave to this one. She scratched for it, and clucked for it, and fought for it, and gave it all the warm cover of her wings at night. Little Lucky seemed to know that she had all the care that was meant for twelve, for she was the happiest chick that ever lived.—Kindergarten Gems, St. Louis.

At a concert party on Clinton Ave. a few nights ago, I am told, the following familiar question was put: "What is the difference between a white baby and a black baby?" After all the young folk had given it up one of the grandfathers present, who had been a slave owner in the South, remarked: "I don't know what it is now, but I can tell you what it used to be." All appealed for the answer in chorus, and as he marched triumphantly out of the room, hands deep in trousers pockets, he chuckled: "Nine hundred dollars!"

No one loves the man who he fears. No great genius was ever without some mixture of madness, nor can any thing grand or superior to the voice of common mortals be spoken except by the afflicted soul.

For one swallow does not make a spring, nor yet one fine day. A king rules as he ought, a tyrant as he lists: a king—the profit of all, a tyrant only to a few.—Aristotle.

THEIR FAME SPREADING.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills a Wonderful Remedy.

Sir,—It is because I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be repaid that I ask you to publish some facts regarding Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills. I was for many years a sufferer from indigestion and stomach troubles, I could not digest my food, I was constipated, and it was only by injections that I could get relief. Physicians did me no good. I was reduced to a skeleton, and could hardly walk. As a last resort I tried a box of these pills, and the improvement was so marked that I continued taking them. I have now taken twelve boxes, never remembering being so well in my life. I have gained 22 pounds, and am putting on more flesh daily. I am a living, walking advertisement and consider no trouble too great in order to spread the fame of Dr. Clarke's Pills. A. F. Jones, Lockport, N.Y. For sale by Ormond & Walsh.

MILLIONS STARVING IN CHINA CHILDREN BEING SOLD FOR BREAD

Black Shadow of Hunger, and Death Hangs Over the Country.

Li Hung Chang Appeals to Canada
For Relief—Let It Be Prompt.

$20,000 Cabled to China—Twin-ty Millions of People Starving.

New York, June 25.

Twenty millions of men, women and children starving; a universal hunger that causes thousands of deaths daily; parched fields and a drought of three years' duration; whole villages abandoned to the dead, and the population subsisting on roots and herbs; mothers selling their children for bread, and the horrors of cannibalism.

Such is the awful picture that has recently been brought to the attention of the world from beyond the mountains which enclose the provinces of Shensi and Shensi, in China.

The first break in the silence of despair, the first signal of distress from the millions of starving in their isolation came in the form of a cablegram to America from Li Hung Chang, China's "Grand Old Man," the Baron of Asia.

The cablegram in itself was a strange thing. For the first time in the long history which began in the dawn of time, China was appealing for aid to the newer world beyond the Great Wall and the great sea. Never before had the life occurred. Calamities and wars and pestilences there have been in China during the long, monotonous dynasties, but none that she considered impossible of relief from resources within her own borders. All the traditions of her past, all precedent and religion, were opposed to a plea for aid from a foreign power. And, indeed, must be the plight of the twenty millions, when Li Hung Chang says to China's America: "Help, or we perish."

"Very serious famine," Earl Li cabled; "spreads over whole province Shensi. Over eleven million population affected. Urgent relief necessary. Condition warrant immediate appeal."

Wu Ting Fang, Chinese Minister to the United States, supplemented the Viceroy's words with an urgent message of his own, and towards a translation of the following touching appeal from the Governor and native relief committee of Shensi:

TO OUR OWN PEOPLE AND FOREIGNERS.

"This time the famine is more serious than ever, because in the north are the Allied troops, and in the south we have several places in rebellion. China is very poor now, and the people are in such a straitened position that no very big assistance can be expected from them. Since more than several months now, the famine has been beginning in places in this province. In some villages they are eating human flesh.

"All our brothers in the world should be very sorry for us, and should know how unfortunate we are. We wish all our people to share some of your money which you spend among yourselves, and for traveling, and for dressing, and for all kinds of necessities, to rescue these poor people. It is much better to save the starving and dying men, women and children here, than to build a pagoda or temple, or even a church—because ten to twenty million people are suffering to death."

The two provinces of Shensi and Shensi are side by side in the Northern part of the Chinese Empire, six hundred miles from the river—two combined areas of 157,000 square miles, about that of the New England States, yet crowded into this small territory are 20,000,000 human beings, more than one-quarter the entire population of the United States.

Shensi and Shensi were once beautiful and fruitful. They are mountainous and furrowed by numerous valleys. In fact, a literal translation of Shensi would mean "Mountains of the East." For centuries before Western history began, the dense population cultivated rice on the terraces on the hillsides. Shensi is old even for China. Its principal city, Tai-yuen, was the capital of the Empire when Peking was new. Its people were simple, contented and peaceable.

During the last decade, European and American civilization has driven an entering wedge into the prejudices and superstitions of the mountain provinces. Especially was this true of Shensi, the nearer of the two to the sea coast. Until recently it was the scene of the labors of more than 180 missionaries. Agents of foreign firms in Hong Kong and Shanghai have crossed the mountain passes, and have made a beginning in what will some day be undoubtedly a large import trade with the farmers of the terraced valleys.

There are comparatively few streams in the two provinces, and water for the rice fields is supplied by irrigating ditches and wells. These dry up when rain fails, and the result is a failure of crops and famine. Such is the condition now. For two years scarcely any rain has fallen in Shensi and Shensi.

Before the last of the missionaries left Shensi, the black shadow of hunger hung so low over the land as to make even the famine horrors of India small by comparison. And the shadow has continued to deepen. No one will probably ever know the exact number of victims, but recent accounts give some idea of the death harvest that is being gleaned in the parched fields. Rice, the one important staple of food, is worth its weight in gold. As a substitute the people, in sheer despair, eat grass and the leaves of trees.

Deaths are too numerous to make funerals any longer possible. Outside of every village a deep pit is dug, and every morning are laid the bodies of those who have died during the night, covered only by a thin layer of earth. In the day another ghastly layer is placed upon them and the process continued until the pit is filled, which seldom takes longer than a few days. Large towns are depopulated. The inhabitants wander like wild beasts through the fields searching vainly for food.

Leathern straps and sacks are boiled and eaten to satisfy the cravings of hunger. Some idea of the horror of it all can be gathered from the following letter received in this city from a Chinaman in Shensi:

"A man just came from a village outside of this city, and described the condition of the starving people, which made me feel as though I was among a bag of rice. The poor have no rice; they killed everything in sight, if eatable, and cooked even leather boxes or bags, and stewed tree-bark and grass. Some of them were so famished that they were even eating earth. On the first day, he saw a number of poor people selling their children for rice. On the second, he saw the same party lying starving on the road, and on the third day about half of them were dead, and their miserable bodies were lying at the mercy of hungry dogs and wolves.

"Nearly every city, town or village he passed through was described as being in the same condition. It seemed that in one town the people have opened a human flesh market."

"Another friend told me of a family of nine. The mother could not bear to hear the cry of the famished children, so she hung herself. The father became insane and killed all seven children and finally committed suicide."

THE CHRISTIAN HERALD caught up Li Hung Chang's appeal and spread it broadcast throughout the United States. The response has been most quick and generous than to any previous calls on the generosity of Americans. One of the first contributions was from President McKinley, who, from his special car on his journey across the continent, telegraphed his contribution along with that of Mr. John Hay, Secretary of State.

Already $20,000 have been cabled to the Relief Committee of five missionaries in Tientsin. The obstacles which had kept some persons in this country from contributing to the relief of famine in China would be a difficult task have melted away.

Speaking of the lacrosse feature of the Pan-American athletic programme, carried for the first week in July, Director James K. Sullivan says:

"We're going to have a great lacrosse session at the fair. The game will be played July 4th in the afternoon. The best teams in this country will open the eyes of the Buffalo people who thought that they had seen all the exciting games on the calendar."

By the way, a well known lacrosse man has been confronted with a novel proposition, no doubt emanating from the Sports Committee at Buffalo, N.Y. It is to organize a team which could remain at the Stadium all summer and fill in at intervals with the general attractions in the Arena. The Viewers

The events will include in Canadian championship singles, open to all, the winner of which will be called upon to play M. D. Whitman; the ladies' championship, men's doubles and the handicap singles.

YACHTING.

The Beaver gave Commodore Gooderham a sailing challenge for the Canada Cup, the invader, a sound thrasher in a boat to windward Saturday afternoon. On the return home the invader considerably reduced the distance between them but failed to catch Dr. Garraff's little huller before the starting point was reached.

The race was unofficial, but it afforded a splendid test of the powers of the two boats. It consisted of a boat to windward of two and a half miles, round a buoy a couple of hundred feet out in the lake, and return.

Commodore Gooderham announced Friday that an unofficial measurement of the invader had satisfied him regarding her eligibility under the conditions of measurement. She is about four inches short of the indicated water line of 28 feet and draws only six feet six inches of water instead of six feet six, showing that her designer has made ample allowance for the difference in buoyancy between salt and fresh water. The invader will be out a little water, but not much to get perfectly.

London, June 25.—George Towns does not fall into line with all the articles of agreement sent over for him to sign by Jacob G. Gaudaur, of Hat Portage, Canada, the present champion oarsman of the world. In fact, he absolutely declines to place his signature to the agreement unless Gaudaur, the man he has challenged, consents to allow certain changes to be made.

The alterations he seeks in the agreement are:

(1) The referee not to be chosen until Towns' arrival in Canada from England. Gaudaur had named a referee in the person of George F. Galt.

(2) The final stakeholder to be the Toronto Evening Telegram. Mr. Gaudaur had named D. C. Cameron, of Hat Portage.

(3) All monies on both sides, including expenses, to be paid before Towns leaves England.

(4) Towns wants the words "perfectly smooth water" erased from the articles of agreement sent by Gaudaur. He declares that the decision as to the state of water for the race should be left to the judgment of the referee.

GENERAL CALLES HAS SURRENDERED

Entered Santa Cruz to the Music of Native Bands.

RECEIPTS FOR THE RIFLES.

General said Rifles Belonged To The Revolutionary Government.

Santa Cruz, Philippines Islands, June 24.—When General Calles surrendered here today with 600 men and 600 rifles he entered Santa Cruz to the music of native bands which were drawn up in front of the churchyard. Calles and his staff entered the church and mass was celebrated by Chaplain Hart of the 8th United States Infantry. The colonel, with arms at port, passed in review before the United States army band, quarters and then returned to the convent enclosure and surrendered their rifles and received receipts entitling them to thirty pesos each.

ARMS WERE NOT SOLD.

All the receipts were deposited in the hands of Calles and his officers, Calles insisting that the arms were not sold but belonged to the revolutionary Government, and that the proceeds must go to the widows and orphans. During the surrender of the arms Calles and his staff, who were outside the enclosure, kept the rifles.

The former officers afterwards walked to headquarters, where Calles tendered his sword to General Summer, who gallantly handed it back. General Summer also handed back the revolutionary flag which Calles personally will present to General MacArthur.

Frank Meek, the deserter of the 5th Infantry, who had been acting as a lieutenant with the insurgents under Calles and who surrendered today, was placed in prison. The former officers and the rank and file of the Philippine army took the oath of allegiance publicly on the plaza.

Of The High End Order

The Annot Bros, fruit growers of North Monaghan, are to be congratulated on the way in which they conduct their fruit farm. The Times is in receipt of a box of the most luscious, and largest strawberries that we have ever seen. They have at present two patches of this fine fruit, of 3 acres each, and the way in which they are kept means volumes for the growers. Their sales are very large, and judging from the size of the water and the long stretches of luxuriant vegetation.

THE SIEGE BEGAN ONE YEAR AGO.

Anniversary of Attack on the Lega-tions of Peking.

NOTHING IS ACCOMPLISHED

Empress Dowager Still Has Control—
Prince Tuan Not Punished.

Peking, June 24.—Thursday last was the anniversary of the beginning of the siege of the legations at Peking. The events that have happened during the year still leave the Empress Dowager with a firm grasp on affairs; her former Generalissimo, Jung Lu, is in favor at the court; Gen. Tung Fu Hsiang, who commanded the Chinese troops, and ordered them to attack the foreigners, is still free; Prince Tuan, the chief criminal in the Boxer uprising, has received comparatively light punishment, and his son is still heir apparent to the throne.

The period of last year, the plotting of the coup, the outrages, the edicts ordering the extermination of foreigners, and the pandemonium caused by the Boxer uprising have been largely forgotten. The savage attacks on the various missions and the massacres of innocent missionaries are ignored, while commercial schemes are given preeminence.

Still the Legation quarter shows signs of transformation. The land on which the houses destroyed by the Boxers and Imperial troops were situated, is now the site of the international barracks. The land where the leading Chinese bureaus were located has now become the property of England and Russia, and the Imperial Arsenal and the residence of the Marquis Raggi, the Italian Minister. The fortifications have been extended and the Chinese are restricted so far as entering the legation quarters is concerned, but no arrangement has been made as yet restricting the legation guard of foreign troops to that particular section pending the transfer of the administration of affairs to the Chinese.

The Chinese officials are afraid that when the Chinese regulars arrive here before the foreign troops withdraw from the various sections of the city there will be collisions and trouble between the home and foreign soldiers. Since the French soldiers ceased to guard their section of the city there have been robberies even in broad daylight. The people are anxious about their future, as they see no plan yet by which the Chinese propose to control the bands of ruffians who are ready to rob and plunder when the foreign guards are withdrawn before the Chinese are reestablished in control.

HEAVENS OPENED AND FLOOD CAME

Dreadful Ravages of the Elements in Virginia Coal Fields Attended With Alarming Loss of Life.

PERHAPS AS SERIOUS AS THE JOHNSTOWN FLOOD

Towns and Villages Along Elkhorn Creek, With Many of Their Inhabitants Swept Out of Existence.

Reno, Va., June 24.—The passenger train from the west over the Norfolk and Western Railroad, which was due here at 11:55 last night, did not reach Reno until 5:30 o'clock this morning. When the train came in there were many people at the station, who had waited anxiously all night for the belated news carrier from the devastated coal fields of West Virginia. Among those who came in on this train and who had been in the storm were a prominent business man of Reno, several railroad men, and a woman and two children. They came direct to Reno from Vivian, having been compelled to walk a distance of 11 miles from that place to the small town of Ennis to get the train for this city.

These passengers declared that the number of deaths has been exaggerated in their opinion, and feel confident that not more than 100 people have lost their lives, though they cannot say with any certainty as to the number. The mountain districts lying back from the railroad probably have suffered heavily, and the exact loss of life will not be known for several days.

THE HEAVENS OPENED.

The rain started last Friday night, and continued to some time in moderation, but shortly after midnight the heavens seemed to open and pour forth great volumes of water. When the cloud burst over the town of Vivian there was a passenger train standing in the railroad yards. About 40 passengers, of whom three were women, were in the cars. The water rose rapidly, and soon was over the wheels. Houses and cars were being washed about before the eyes of the frightened passengers. Ropes were thrown to the cars, and the male passengers caught them and waded through the water, which was now waist deep, to places of safety around the coke ovens on the adjoining hills. The ladies were too much frightened to get into the water, and were placed on the tender of the engine, where they were safe. Other portions of the railroad yards were washed out, and a hundred box cars were wrecked. The house in which the section master at Vivian lived was washed away, carrying a colored man with it. A young son of the section master rode on driftwood for four miles, and was then lodged in a tree, from which he was rescued.

WASHED BUILDINGS AWAY.

The rain ceased falling about 9 o'clock Saturday morning. There has been no rain since that hour, and the streams are gradually falling. A big furniture store and a large clothing house were washed away at Vivian, as also were about a dozen small dwellings in the lower portion of the village. Two dead bodies, both colored men, were seen at Ekman, and three colored and one white corpse at Empire. Two iron bridges were washed away at Vivian, and another at North Fork Junction, and three persons are reported to have been drowned near the latter place. All the bridges and the trestle-work were washed away at the Simmons River branch of the Norfolk and Western system. All telegraph lines are down, and the tracks are badly washed out on this division.

The people who came from Vivian did not come through the town of Keystone but around it. They state, however, that the damage done there is nothing like what was at first reported. They think that not more than a dozen houses were washed away. They cannot say how many, if any, lives were lost at Keystone. Of the ten miles of railroad between the towns of Vivian and Ennis, it is stated there is not one hundred yards of track in one place, and it is thought this division will not be repaired for a fortnight. Fifty people walked over this washed-out territory to get from Vivian to Ennis.

DAMAGE TO COAL FIELDS.

The damage done all over the coal fields is very great, but everyone seems to have been too much excited and too anxious to get away to take time to enquire into the affairs of their neighbors. It is certain, however, that much valuable machinery was washed away. Many of the wrecked cars along the Elkhorn valley have been washed down the river, and probably will be a total loss. East of Ennis the train had little trouble getting through to Bluefields. A report from Keystone says that a mob of negroes there refuse to work from 8 o'clock on, but are loafing around and watching their chance to steal from the debris. Another report says that the number of dead there is 17, and that of this number ten have been buried. Newspaper men have gone to the coal fields to get reliable information, and it is expected that something definite will be known within the next 24 hours.

TWO HUNDRED DROWNED.

New York, June 24.—Mayor Land of Bluefield, W. Va., wires as follows:

"It is estimated that 200 lives were lost in the Elkhorn flood. The damage to the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company is estimated at half a million dollars, and to the coal companies and individuals at two million dollars."

"There is no communication with any point further down the valley than Elkhorn. I am unable to tell whether outside assistance will be needed until further information comes in."

KRUGER'S HOPE IS RE-KINDLED.

Recent News From the Front Brightens Boer Ex-President.

A VISIT TO HIS QUARTERS

Oon Paul Occupies an Extra Ground Floor at Casa Clara, Amsterdam.

Lorain Eng. June 24.—A correspondent of Black and White has been paying a visit to Mr. Kruger in his retirement at Casa Clara, Hilversum, near Amsterdam. It is an ideal health resort, the air being dry and bracing, and the surrounding country sandy and dotted in many places with small forests of pine and fir. Villa Casa Clara is situated on the Trompenberg, so named after the famous Dutch admiral of the seventeenth century. It is a three-story, white-plastered country house, with protective verandahs on three sides, and a large garden in the rear. Mr. Kruger and his wife occupy the entire ground floor of the building and several rooms above. The apartments of the ex-President are on the right of the main entrance, and consist of a reception room, a bedroom, and a closed-in verandah, in which Mr. Kruger passes 50 percent of the day in reading the old "Sateenbibi." When the weather is particularly fine the old man steps out into the garden and crosses over to the summer-house at its extreme end, and here he often remains in solitary meditation for hours at a time, or as long as the requirements of his regime permits. For Dr. A. W. Heymans, the President's physician, has placed his patient on a very decided regime, with which nothing is allowed to interfere. Thus Mr. Kruger is not allowed to sleep more than six hours at a time. He turns in at eight in the evening, to be awakened by his valet at one in the morning, then, after an hour's reading of the Bible, the old man throws off his dressing gown and turns in again to sleep until five, when he rises once more and partakes of breakfast. He is subjected to two more "naps" in the course of the day, one in the forenoon, the other between two and three, during his waking hours he has his Bible, his meditation, and also some State business to keep his mind busy.

The State business comes in the form of a voluminous correspondence received daily by the "Cabinet" or political bureau, also on the ground floor of Casa Clara. This bureau is conducted by Mynheer C. van Dorsschoten, Mynheer E. J. Bok, and Mynheer P. A. van Veen.

As regards Mr. Kruger's present frame of mind, the correspondent says: "He improves one as being in good health and spirits, and although he speaks little to outsiders, it is evident, from the remarks dropped by his entourage, that the news he has lately been receiving from the front is of a nature to rekindle the embers of hope in his heart."

An Anniversary Wedding.

A very quick wedding was solemnized on Saturday, 8th instant, when Miss Jean Grace, fourth daughter of the late John Trotter, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles W. Simmons, eldest son of Mr. W. C. Simmons of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Symonds, of St. Luke's church, in the presence of a select number of invited guests. Mr. and Mrs. Simmons have taken up their residence in Peterborough.

The Sighting of Chinese Cities by the Washington, June 25.—The report of Major General Chaffee on the campaign in China is being prepared for publication at the war department. Among other matters it contains some startling reports upon the Chinese, Japanese, French and British troops; also reports on equipment, supplies, etc., of foreign troops and reports on different expeditions. These reports were made by United States officers, and from a military point of view are of considerable interest, but nearly all the main facts have heretofore been published. Some of General Chaffee's comments are interesting. At one point he says:

"For about three weeks following the arrival of the relief columns at Peking

SIGNALING TO MARS.

British Scientist Declares That It Would be an Impossibility.

London, June 25.—In a London newspaper Sir Robert S. Ball writes of the futility of human endeavor to attract the attention of the presiding inhabitants of Mars. He says: "The whole extent of Lake Superior was covered with petroleum, and if that petroleum was set on fire then I think we may admit that an inhabitant of Mars who was furnished with a telescope as good as that which Mr. Percival Lowell used at Flagstaff might be able to see that something had happened. But why not suppose that the nightly conflagration would appear to the Martian as a very conspicuous object. It would rather be a very small feature, but still I think it would not be beyond the reach of a practical observer in that planet."

On the other hand, if an area the size of Lake Superior on Mars was to be flooded with petroleum and that petroleum was to be kindled, we should expect to witness the event from here as a great and striking conflagration, but as a tiny little point of just discernible light. The disk of Mars is not a large object, and the conflagration would not extend over the three-hundredth part of that disk.

It is sufficient to state these facts to show that the possibility of signaling to Mars is entirely beyond the power of human resources."

From a Big Thank

A writer in the Lindsay Post says: "In a visit to Peterborough recently I noticed in what a tidy and clean condition the streets there were kept. The names and words by the wayside are cut and raked up and the citizens are not compelled to search for the sidewalk amid the long stretches of luxuriant vegetation."

WHEN BABY IS SICK.

Crying the most index to it. Physical condition.

A baby's cry should be the intelligent mother's best index to its physical condition. The healthy baby cries very loudly and in a lusty, explosive, angry manner, and the tears flow freely. The sick baby, or the one on the verge of sickness, cries piteously or whines in a low tone. Watch the manner in which the baby takes its food. If it is perfectly well it will attack the bottle greedily, and will express its satisfaction much in the same manner as any other young suckling animal—that is, by soft and inarticulate noises or grunts. If, on the other hand, the baby contemplates its food before touching it, or, after tasting, turns from it, be sure there is something wrong.

Watch the baby closely while it sleeps. If it is in perfect health the skin will be moist, the lips damp and scarlet, the palms of the hands and the soles of the feet pink. The eyelids will be completely closed and there will be no twitching of the muscles about the mouth or nose or eyes. Save for a faint rhythmic sound of breathing the healthy baby when asleep will be as still as a piece of carved marble.

If the baby smiles in its sleep, if it throws out its little hands and feet with swift, spasmodic motions; if the eyes are only half closed, the corners of the mouth drawn down, the breathing irregular or labored, the face flushed and the head hot, then lose no time in calling in the family physician.

THE VALLEY SHADOWS.

The Shadows in the valley,
They gather grim and grey;
We needs must pass their darkness through,
It waits on every way;
But from the heights descending,
O soul, be brave and strong,
And make the valley shadows ring.
Unto the hilltop song!
The shadows in the valley,
They gather grey and grim,
But all the darkened roads go straight
From mountain brim to brim;
And now the heights ascending,
The way behind you long,
How steadfast sounds your faithful chant,
The valley's hilltop song!
—Ripley D. Saunders.

A Word About the Bathroom.

The bath if it must, of course, always be kept spotlessly clean and the taps brilliantly polished, and the linoleum covering the floor always carefully swept and washed, but even more than this is needed to make a really comfortable bathroom. A cork or rubber mat should be kept in every bathroom.

Woolen mats are useless; they absorb the moisture and become unhygienic. A place should be found on the wall for a mirror—a plain one with a black frame will answer the purpose admirably; the longer it is the better, and it should be placed where there is a good light. Two wire trays should also be fastened to the wall beside the bath, and low enough to be within easy reach of the person using it.

These are to hold the sponge and flannel and soap when not in use during the bath. Also shelves should be made and placed upon the walls of every bathroom. These may be of plain deal, enamelled any color that is liked. Plenty of soap should always be provided and towels in abundance, and with all these little comforts the daily bath will be indeed an unmitigated pleasure.

Proper Manners at the Table.

There is no place where a person's good breeding and early training, says a writer in The Delineator, are more clearly shown than at the table. Peculiarities of manner which might elsewhere pass without criticism are not there allowable. Conduct must be marked by serenity, and there must be no uncertainty of manner, but an easy knowledge of the use of all the belongings of the table. Customs which may seem insignificant are in reality of sufficient importance to show the difference between refinement and the lack of it, between a familiarity with social conventionalities or the reverse.

Whether a dinner is ceremonious or informal, certain customs remain the same. We will suppose that a lady is taking her seat at a dinner party. She immediately removes her gloves, places them in her lap, unfolds the napkin, takes the roll or bread from within it and places it at the left hand, on the table, and lays the napkin across her lap.

At each place there may be on the right two large knives, a small silver fish knife and a table-spoon, and on the left three or four silver forks, one of them a fish fork and one an oyster fork.

The oyster fork is used on the shell and must be eaten whole, and cut in half.

Supper is taken with a table-spoon and from the side of the spoon; one must never turn the spoon upside down to secure the last spoonful, and must never be served twice to a spoon.

For the fish course, the silver fish fork and knife are used. Butter is not served at dinner. It is not good form to eat bread between the courses, as if one were hungry.

Some eaters, such as cutlets or sweetbreads, may require the knife and fork; for others, such as paties, tarts or croquettes, a fork only is used. Meat is cut as required, a small piece at a time. When eating vegetables the knife is laid on the plate, the blue resting near the center. The knife must not be placed across the edge of the plate, nor with the handle resting on the table. The fork is then taken up into the right hand, the handle of the fork resting on the hand between the first finger and the thumb.

Small fish, such as trout and eel, are served whole, one for each person, and one cuts the meat from the breast and eats each piece at the time of eating it.

THEIR FAME SPREADING.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills a Wonderful Remedy.

Editor of the Morning Times.
Sir—It is because I owe a debt of gratitude that I can never be repaid that I ask you to publish some facts regarding Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills. I was for many years a sufferer from indigestion and stomach troubles. I could not digest my food, I was constipated, and it was only by injections that I could get relief. Physicians did me no good. I was reduced to a skeleton, and could hardly walk. As a last resort I tried a box of these pills, and the improvement was so marked that I continued taking them. I have now taken twelve boxes, never remembering being so well in my life. I have gained 22 pounds, and am putting on more flesh daily. I am a living, walking advertisement, and consider no trouble too great in order to spread the fame of Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills. A. F. Jones, Lockport, N.Y.

CANCER GERMS COMPLETELY DESTROYED

The new treatment kills the cancer and cures the disease. For every disease germ, there ought to be a specific antidote. That is the principle on which scientists are working at the present day. For the germ of Malaria, the antidote is Quinine. For the germ of Diphtheria, there is the anti-diphtheria serum. For the germs that cause Small Pox, Typhoid Fever, Scarlet Fever and the like, there has not yet been found a specific antidote.

For the germ causing Cancer, an efficient antidotal treatment has been in vogue for some time, and numbers of people who have availed themselves of it, have been cured without the necessity of a painful and dangerous operation.

So thorough going is this treatment that it destroys the Cancer germ completely, removes the Cancer, root and branch, and not a vestige remains to again come back and cause trouble.

Stott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont., send full particulars of this treatment to anyone on receipt of two stamps. All correspondence strictly confidential.

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 25, 1901

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

—Everybody reads The Times.
—Lindsey is to have a gymnasium for ladies.
—The fishing at Rice Lake never was better.
—The 67th Highland will run an excursion to Sturgeon Point on Chic Lake today.
—The scholars of All Saints Sunday school will give an entertainment this evening.
—Preparations for the big celebration on Dominion Day are going on splendidly.
—For the finest quality of photographs go to Mr. G. E. Whiten. You will be pleased with the work.
—Complaints reached the Times that the water cart was not out on Water street yesterday. How is that? Mr. Hay?

—The Presbyterian Sunday School of Cold Springs, Northumberland County, will run an excursion to Peterborough per North Star today.
—Mr. Cumplin, of the Bank of Commerce, drove out to Young's Point on Saturday, and caught about 20 bass.
—The boiler in the City of Peterborough have arrived.

—The lawn social last night, under the auspices of St. Luke's church, in Mr. H. T. Strickland's grounds, was largely attended. A very pleasant evening was spent.

—The Sanitary Inspectors started out on their second tour yesterday, and the authorities are looking to prosecute those who do not comply with the law in regard to clearing up their premises.

A Good Catch.
On Saturday afternoon last, a jolly party consisting of Messrs. R. D. McHarris, W. D. Parker, E. C. Cumplin, A. St. A. Smith, A. E. Johnston and Grainger, drove out to Young's Point on a fishing expedition. They returned in the evening, bringing with them 48 bass, a number which weighed from 3.2 to four pounds. It was suggested to The Times that the miracle must have struck a school of the bass recently put into the Great Lake waters by the Ontario Government. We have heard of fishing parties at Young's Point making a bigger catch than this in an evening without leaving the hotel, but this was the first and only occasion that has ever come to the knowledge of this great family journal where so many bass have been secured by actual fishing.

A Presentation.
Mr. John King, the well known stock man, on Saturday night presented Mr. Tooley, of the Union House, with a diminutive donkey. The animal was raised on the King's stock farm, Kentucky, and used to be sold on sight to vote. Doubtless he will be that his friend Mr. Tooley is properly carried to the poll when the time comes. Mr. King has taken this means of getting even for the many acts of kindness at Mr. Tooley's hands during his visits to Peterborough in connection with his periodical sales of western horses.

The Late Mrs. Morrison.

The funeral of the late Mrs. James Morrison took place Sunday afternoon from the family residence, Antimstreet, and was largely attended. Interment took place in the Little Lake Cemetery. Mrs. Morrison had been in poor health for some time, but was bedridden a few days. On Friday she became suddenly worse, and passed away surrounded by her husband and friends. The deceased lady was highly esteemed and greatly beloved by all who knew her. She was only 51 years of age.

Beautiful Roses.

Yesterday the Times received from Mrs. Dover, Amherst, a lovely bouquet of the most beautiful red and white roses we ever saw. The bushes from which these flowers were grown were imported from England two years ago, and are known as the Ivory Perpetual. They bud and bloom twice each year, and are known as the Ivory Perpetual, has upwards of 500 now in bloom. We tender her our thanks for the exquisitely choice flowers.

Trains Wanted.

Twenty-five teams to work on wagon on Canal. Apply on Works to Perry & Laverdure, Contractors.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Crane returned from a trip to Boston and other American cities.

—His Lordship Bishop O'Connor administered the sacrament of confirmation in Port Hope Sunday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Cox have returned from their European trip, and are expected home today from New York.

—Mrs. Tyrill, who has been the guest of her son in town, left yesterday.

—Mrs. Andrew Johnston, Toronto, is visiting friends here.

—Mrs. Wm. Neill and daughter, Edna, of Revelstoke, Man., are the guests of Mrs. Emerson, Stewart street.

—Mrs. W. Wilgar, of Toronto, is visiting at the home of her parents, Homewood avenue. Mr. Wilgar is also here.

—Mr. and Mrs. Michael Reilly left yesterday on a visit to New York, where it is hoped a visit to the seaside will be beneficial to Mr. Reilly's health.

—Mr. Dennis Maloney, the popular Reeve of Duro, was in town yesterday, settling up bills connected with the Duro picnic. The picnic, we are pleased to say, was a financial success.

THE BANK OF COMMERCE

Wonderful Results Made by This Great Financial Institution During the Year Just Closed.

The address of Mr. E. B. Walker, the General Manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, delivered at the annual general meeting of the shareholders of that institution, is anticipated by a large number of bankers and business men in all parts of the continent.

The management of the Bank of Commerce has just reason to feel proud of its record. That Mr. Walker and his associates have confidence in the future of the country is shown by the purchase of the assets of the Bank of British Columbia, an undertaking that gives the institution a splendid foothold on the Pacific Coast and in the West.

The net profits of the year were $55,325, and the balance from last year $33,321. If the above three amounts are added together they make $143,971 as the sum available for distribution. The net profit of $55,325 was paid out to individuals at rate of 5 per cent. per annum, $750,000 was transferred to Reserve Account, $55,710 was written off Bank Premises, $10,000 was placed in Pension Fund. After these four appropriations there was $117,976 left out of $143,971 as balance at credit of Profit and Loss to be carried forward to next year. All of which must be considered a very satisfactory exhibit and would please in calling attention to the report and statement which give more details of the business operations of last year.

The topics treated by Mr. Walker are evidence of the advance made by the Bank of Commerce since 1880; the percentage of its business to that of all Canadian banks; the position of Manitoba and our agricultural interests generally, the bearing upon Canada's iron and steel industries of the great combinations in the United States; the mineral output and prospects; the manufacturing and lumber output, and various phases of the transportation problem in Canada. Needless to say, Mr. Walker's views are broad, patriotic, hopeful, but tinged with caution, and many will think, much ahead of the ideas of the day prevalent in some mercantile and manufacturing circles.

In Peterborough the Bank is especially popular, on account of its President, Hon. George A. Cox, and Mr. J. W. Flavelle, one of the directors, being former citizens of this place.

The local branch, since Mr. McHarris, the present manager assumed control, has enormously increased its business. The staff have a well-earned reputation for courtesy, and in their dealings with the public have acquired the esteem and hearty good-will of everybody.

INVESTIGATION CLOSED.

The Whole Matter Began and Ended as a Fiasco by the Public.

The investigation into certain matters connected with the contract for the construction of the lower section of the Trent Canal has been concluded, and Mr. Thompson, the commissioner, has gone back to Ottawa.

The object of the investigation was to settle a dispute between the contractors and the Superintendent Engineer in regard to extra claims by the contractors for work done on the lift lock.

The "investigation" practically collapsed some ten days ago, when the contractors refused to produce their books before the commissioner, Mr. Thompson, the commissioner, went to Ottawa for instructions, and on his return proceeded with the investigation.

The contractors were not represented at the latter sittings of the court, and no evidence was offered to show that they were entitled to extra.

Died in Rochester.

Word was received in town yesterday of the death in Rochester of Mr. John Linn, who was at one time a resident of this town in the employ of the Dickson Company. Mrs. Woodcock, of Tweed, daughter of the deceased, arrived in town yesterday and took charge of the remains, which arrived on the 3:30 G.T.T. train last night.

Was He Drowned?

It was learned of a late hour last night that an accident occurred on the moonlight excursion down the river. It appears that George Hewson, a young man employed on the G. T. R., and living on Reid street, fell off the boat just after it had turned to come back up the river, and although the lifeboat was launched and every effort made to find him, he could not be seen, the only trace of him being his hat, which was picked up a few feet from the boat. There is a supposition that he might have swum to shore, but this is hardly likely, as with all his clothes on, and the strong current flowing, he would not have much chance to save himself.

The event created great excitement on board the boat and cast a gloom over all the excursionists.

GOD SAVE THE KING.

Sung by Convention in Boston. Cheers for King Edward in April British City.

At the recent Y.M.C.A. convention at Boston the following cable was received from King Edward VII:

His Majesty Edward VII, King of Great Britain and Ireland, Emperor of India, desires to express his hearty sympathy with and encouragement to the young men's Christian Association assembled in conference at Boston, June, 1901.

Lightning Probyn, Secretary, commenting on the message and the way in which it was received when presented by Mr. Howard Williams, the Boston Journal says:

"Everybody shouted, and those who had not climbed upon their chairs stamped and jumped up and down in a kind of frenzy, and the less demonstrative, whose hands were not busy waving something, applauded in a most conventional way. The vast audience, larger than at any previous session of the convention, and more brilliant, perhaps, for it was a sort of college night, had sprung to its feet at the mention of King Edward's name. A moment of roaring enthusiasm, and some quivering voice started 'God Save the King.' The unfamiliar words to the familiar air rolled out toward the platform, and back against the walls and through the doors and across the avenue. But that was not enough. Somebody cheered and then everybody cheered with him. Judge Spencer, who was presiding, stepped to Mr. Williams, and said, 'Let's rise and give for his Majesty King Edward VII three Yankee cheers.' And they rose and the cheers were given as only Yankees can give."

A Barbarous Method Voted Down.

Denver, Col. June 24.—The Colorado State Medical Association disappointed a large audience by passing over the paper which Dr. Denison, a Denver physician, was to have read, in which he was to argue for the extermination of imbecile children. Dr. Denison's suggestion, which has aroused great indignation, is that on the application of the parents, imbecile children be painlessly put to death. The delegates passed over the paper because they wanted to think the matter over before discussing it. If the suggestion is adopted, a petition will be presented to the legislature. It is predicted that it will be killed there. The delegates are about evenly divided.

KIDNEY TROUBLE FOR YEARS.

A Peterboro Lady Tells How Dr. Pitzer's Backache Kidney Tablets Relieved her of her Suffering and Cured Her.

There are many women here in Peterboro suffering from backache and wrong action of the kidneys who are attributing their ill health and misery to some form of "female complaint." Kidney trouble is undermining the health, and sapping the strength, making the back ache and the head ache, bringing the feelings of tiredness and listlessness, dragging pains in the loins and all these other conditions of weakness, that are undoubtedly produced by poisons circulating in the blood instead of being carried off by the natural channels.

Dr. Pitzer's Backache Kidney Tablets are the modern specific for all forms of kidney trouble and all conditions of ill health arising therefrom. Just read what Mrs. Armstrong, of Burlington, says, this city, has to say about them.

"For many years I have had trouble with my kidneys, and pain across my back. I have used all kinds of medicines in the past without any good results. I heard of the many cures that Dr. Pitzer's Backache Kidney Tablets were making, and got a bottle, and the use of the Tablets has made it possible for me to again attend to my household duties. I am glad to recommend them to others as certain to do good."

Dr. Pitzer's Backache Kidney Tablets are 60 cents a box at all druggists. The Dr. Zina Pitzer Co., Toronto, Ont.

HE FINDS HISTORIC RELICS.

Over at Work on Sunk Ship Ore Commanded by Benedict Arnold.

Burlington, Vt., June 24.—J. G. Falcon, a Chicago diver, made the greatest find of relics to date known on Lake Champlain. He visited the spot where the schooner Royal Savage, commanded by General Benedict Arnold, was sunk in 1776 by the British, and the secured three gun carriages and thirty cannon balls and shot. Two of the gun carriages will be sent to the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, D. C., and the other has been given to the city of Burlington.

The relics were discovered in thirty feet of water. The carriages are made of oak and iron, the wood portion being petrified. The ironwork is covered with bunches of rust.

Mr. Falcon intends to make further investigations and hopes to discover some of the cannon and treasure that was supposed to have been on the ship. At the time the schooner was sunk the private papers of Benedict Arnold were lost.

The Horse Killed.
One of the lot of western horses sold auction on Saturday was being fed up from the stockyards yesterday. The animal had fever been haltered and was to be led in front of the Hotel House. It became excited, and in trying to break away threw itself, striking its head on the road, and fracturing its skull. The horse belonged to Mr. Wm. Duncan and was one of the best in the lot. At the auction on Saturday the horses sold well, averaging about $50 apiece and some going as high as $70 to $80.

HAS LIEUT. PEARYPERISHED?

Natives of Greenland Believes That the Explorers Are Dead.

NEWS FROM THE FAR NORTH NOT VERY BRIGHT

Three Years Ago Lieut. Peary Set Out on His Arctic Explorations and Was Not Heard From Until Fourteen Months Ago.

Philadelphia, June 26.—The first news of the season from the far north was brought to this port by the Greenland bark Fluorine from Ivigtut. There were fears among the natives when the Fluorine left that Lieutenant Peary and his party of explorers had perished, as the winter in north Greenland had been one of the severest ever known. For three months the mercury stood 20 degrees below zero and hundreds of Eskimos perished from hunger and cold.

The Fluorine also brings news that the Eskimo hunters report the death of a number of white men at or near Cape Sabine. This is probably the Peary family.

It was about three years since Lieut. Peary set out on his voyage of Arctic exploration, and it is something like fourteen months since he was heard from. In a remarkable degree Lieut. Peary combines pluck and caution, and by his manner he has won the confidence and affection of a multitude of men. He deserves success, but what would success in discovering the pole be worth?

SAYS BOER CAUSE IS CERTAINLY LOST

American Engineer from South Africa on the War.

IN THEIR LAST DITCH.

Prominent American from Johannesburg Says the War is Practically Ended.

The Boers Losing Heavily Losing—The Boers are without Any Resources and Cannot Continue the Hopeless Struggle.

Chicago, June 26.—"The Boers are fighting in their last ditch," is the way Francis Drake, consulting engineer for the French land mines at Johannesburg, summed up his opinion of the South African war. Mr. Drake is an American by birth, but has been in South Africa for five years.

"I left Johannesburg and went to Cape Town, taking my family with me, when the war broke out," he said yesterday at the Auditorium. "Last fall I returned to Johannesburg, and remained there until late this spring, when I determined to come for a visit and to remain until the situation became settled sufficiently to permit of a resumption of work. I am on the way to Johannesburg with my wife."

"The Boers are losing steadily. These trifling victories gained in skirmishes mean nothing. The burghers are without any resources save what they secure from the British and they have no base of supplies. When they capture any English soldiers they are compelled to turn them loose again after stripping them of their arms, while whenever the British take any of the Boer prisoners they are kept under guard. It is a pity that the hopeless struggle is prolonged."

"The refugee camps, about which so much agitation has been raised, are not badly administered. The women and children receive much better treatment than is accorded to British soldiers and there is absolutely no basis for the sensational charges of inhuman cruelty and lack of sanitation in these camps. The concentration of women and children, aside from the humane aspect, is really a military necessity. They have acted as informers for the burghers ever since the war started, and the British maneuvers were known almost before they were put into execution. Then, it is the only way to feed the noncombatants."

"Business in Johannesburg is paralyzed and the mines are practically at a standstill."

FEAR EUROPEAN INFLUENCE.

Bolivians Think England and Germany May Be Against Them

La Paz, Bolivia, June 25.—Bolivians have been alarmed owing to the assertions of the official Chilean press that England and Germany will espouse the interests of Chile in the event of international trouble over the Atacama question. Many English journalists are quoted as being favorable to Chile in the dispute.

Colonel Montes, minister of war, ridicules the action of Chile in seeking support from nations ignorant of the dispute, but even if the pretensions of Chile may be ill founded it does not justify the attitude of Colonel Montes in view of the fact that General Kornel, commander in chief of the Chilean army, who returned from Germany six months ago, at a banquet recently given in his honor declared that the sympathies of Germany were with Chile and the millions of Germans all over South America supported those sympathies.

Minister of Foreign Affairs Diego Medina has issued all the necessary orders to the Bolivian diplomats in England and Germany applying to this case.

PLANS FAST OCEAN LINE.

Canadian Minister of Marine to Push the Scheme in London.

London, June 25.—In an interview Sir H. L. Davies, the Canadian minister of marine to-day and he proposes to return to Canada by the Allan line steamer Lunenburg, which leaves Liverpool July 11. Mr. Davies and the other Canadian ministers are now here on a holiday and have no special mission. He said he would avail himself of this opportunity to discuss with the British minister the general question of the establishment of a line of fast steamers between Great Britain and Canada. The visit of the Canadian minister of marine is in no way connected with the Alaskan question.

AMERICANS INVADE THE RAND

Buy Up Half Shares and Plan Operations at Mines.

London, June 25.—The Johannesburg correspondent of the Daily Mail contributes a long letter to his paper in which he describes the American trade invasion of the Rand, aided, he alleges, by British apathy. The correspondent asserts that Americans are quietly buying up half shares and pushing their efforts in every direction. He says that practically all mining machinery is already American and refers to a rumor to the effect that there is an American movement to capture and effect a pool of all the poorer Rand mines.

ROYAL TWINS.

More Great Grandchildren of the Late Queen Victoria

London, June 26.—The birth of twin sons to Princess Frederick Charles of Hesse was an event of much interest to the house of Hohenzollern. The Princess had previously given birth to twins, and as she has two other sons, she is now like the Emperor, the parent of six Princes. The other remarkable feature of the happy event is that it raises the number of the Emperor Frederick's grandchildren to twenty, who are divided between the sexes in the astonishing proportion of seventeen boys to three girls. The newly born Princes are great-grandchildren of the late Queen Victoria, and they make the number of her living descendants seventy-seven.

MRS. MCKINLEY'S PERIL PAST.

Physicians Announce Conditions of the President's Wife is Gratifying.

Washington, June 25.—Dr. Johnson was called to the white house this morning by Dr. Rixey and the two physicians spent half an hour in a careful study of Mrs. McKinley's case. Dr. Johnson had not been at the white house before for several days and Dr. Rixey believed that he would be better able to note any change that may be taking place in Mrs. McKinley's condition than one who, like himself, had been almost constantly with her. The result of the examination was gratifying, for a distinct gain in condition was noted. Indeed, the physicians now hope to be able to permit their patient to take a few short carriage rides this week if the weather is favorable. Dr. Rixey also is satisfied that nothing will prevent the execution of the plans already formed for the removal of Mrs. McKinley from Washington to Canton next week.

Mrs. McKinley's recovery is so complete that the president has decided to leave Washington for Canton one week from next Tuesday. He will probably remain for the cabinet meeting on that day and take the Pennsylvania train that leaves at 3.30 in the afternoon. Mrs. McKinley's physicians have given their consent to this traveling programme and assured the president that she will bear up under it without suffering the slightest inconvenience. The president will remain in Canton during the months of July and August and if the weather should continue hot after that time perhaps for a week during September.

FEES TOTALED 71,874.

Nearly 500 Companies Chartered, and Licenses Issued in 1900.

Toronto, June 25.—The Provincial Secretary and Registrar has just issued his report for 1900. It is noteworthy among other things in showing a decided decline in the number of mining company charters granted, only 44 such companies being incorporated in 1900.

During the year 1899, 426 letters patent, supplementary letters patent, and licenses were granted. During 1900 the number of charters, supplementary charters, and licenses issued was 467. The fees derived from the sources of revenue during 1899 were $12,062, and during 1900, $71,874. The entire revenue of the office for the year 1899 was $28,520; for the year 1900, $27,851; and for the year 1901, $76,997.

The following sets forth the services rendered by the office, and the fees received for such services, respectively, during 1900: 467 letters patent, supplementary letters patent, and licenses, $71,874; 33,470 Marriage Act forms, $3,367; 767 commissions for notaries public, $652.45; 3,430,225 36 commissions under Great Seal, $144; Orders-in-Council, 150; 118 notarial certificates, $118; 7 Superior Court certificates, $228; 13 Sarragotte Court certificates, $26; 3 County Court certificates, $750; Total, $76,997.21.

THE HOLY LAND FOR THE JEWS

"God's Chosen People" To Return to Palestine

A SIGN OF MELLENIUM

De Hezli, Zionist Leader, Interviews the Sultan of Turkey.

Returns to London Greatly Encouraged in Work—Says in an Interview He is Now Assured of Success.

London, June 25.—Dr. Theodore Herzl, the leader of the Zionist movement, which aims at the ultimate purchase of Palestine for the Jews, has arrived here from Constantinople where he was received by the Sultan. Dr. Herzl is anxious of his propaganda. In an interview today at Hotel Cecil he said:

"I am more than satisfied at being received by the Sultan. He spoke to me with the greatest kindness. I found him a courteous, charming gentleman—one almost forgets he is a mighty potentate. He has kept himself in touch with all the latest developments of modern life and evidently is far from having those medieval notions which one somehow associates with the ottoman empire."

"I was supported by the strongest recommendations from Kaiser Wilhelm and I had letters to him from men of great influence in both hemispheres. I am sure it is not from the Sultan that any opposition to modern industrial developments of his empire would proceed. On the contrary, he would. I am convinced, foster them to the utmost in his power. This, I need scarcely say, is important for our movement. As to the progress of our cause," he continued, in reply to a question upon the point, "is not the fact that the Sultan received me progress enough? That the reception was accorded me—an ordinary Jew—is, however, a further proof of his kindness to our people. I am now sure of success. As you are perhaps aware, the Sultan has consistently been a friend of the Jews and has more than once shown his personal interest in them by making large gifts to the Jewish poor in his dominions. I am convinced the Jews have no better friend than the Sultan, and I can say that our movement is in a good way."

"Yes, the fulfillment of our ideal means money," Dr. Herzl asserted, "but I have the Jewish people with me, and in the long run we must conquer the rich and prosper among us."

"At least we can claim that our plan—Zionism—holds the field for the solution of the Jewish question and that question is day by day growing more urgent."

Dr. Herzl will address no public meeting during his present visit except the gathering of the Maccabees who will entertain him at a banquet. After a short absence, however, he expects to return and address a meeting, probably in the east end.

LOOT THE FORBIDDEN CITY.

Articles of Great Value Found Over the Walls by Chinese.

Peking, June 25.—Many Chinese cuniches have been selling valuables which without question came from the forbidden city. The valuables thus sold June 6, show that the British surprise of the city to Confederate troops. One beautifully carved table which was seen in the forbidden city only two weeks ago has been sold by a cunich for 600 taels. No valuables of any kind have been taken out of the city through the gates. These are guarded by American and Japanese troops.

Members of the staff of Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching say that great anxiety is felt regarding the whereabouts and safety of a large quantity of gold that was buried in the forbidden city. Certain cuniches who knew the secret of the location of this treasure have disappeared.

There has been no meetings of the ministers of the foreign powers at Peking since last Tuesday, but the ministers themselves all profess satisfaction with the present course of events. The Chinese have not yet been destroyed. It has been determined that each nation will destroy those forts now occupied by its troops, but the ministers find that the respective military commanders object to destroying Chinese forts not occupied by their troops. Consequently the ministers will probably have to employ Chinese labor to effect the destruction of the unoccupied forts and at the joint expense of the different powers.

LOSS OF LIFE SAID TO BE 60

Latest Information as to Storm in Pocahontas Coalfield.

MANY STORIES OF HAVOC.

Damaged Property and Loss of Life Was Greatly Exaggerated.

New York, June 26.—The Norfolk and Western offices in the city have received the following telegram from the general passenger agent at Roanoke, Va.:

"Latest information as to the storm at Pocahontas coal field, damage to property $300,000; loss of life about 60. No loss of passengers or trains. We expect to resume running trains on Wednesday."

STORIES OF HAVOC.

Montgomery, W. Va., June 25.—For 48 hours there has been no communication with the outside world. Telephone and telegraph wires are down, and no mail trains or express had passed for 36 hours until last night. The loss here and in the immediate vicinity will be close to $100,000. Houses, barns, railway cars, bridges and bridges were swept away by the uncontrollable water, and such a scene of panic never before had been witnessed here.

At Smith's Creek, a train of cars belonging to the Kanawha and Michigan Railroad was washed off the track, and tied around the Smith's Bridge. The Chesapeake and Ohio was covered with slides. Blue Hole Tunnel fell in, and tied up everything on the line. A slide crashed out on the mountain at Crescent and swept a main away. The track of the Kanawha Traction Company is washed away for miles. Trains have commenced now to go through and are running frequently. Telegraph and telephone lines cannot be operated for some time to come.

HOUSES WASHED AWAY.

Richmond, Va., June 25.—A special from Tazewell, Va., says that at Cedar Bluff, west of there, nine houses were washed away, but no lives were lost as far as known. Many mill dams are gone.

The town of Liberty, nine miles west of Tazewell, is badly damaged. The flood seems to have embraced the whole country, extending into the eastern part of the Russell Road.

TROUBLE THREATENED.

Reading Pa., June 25.—The striking shopmen of the Philadelphia and Reading Company did not return to work to-day as they had been urged to do by President Baer in his letter of Saturday. On the other hand, there were some accusations to the rank of the strikers, and if President Baer's threat that all men who failed to report for work this morning would be discharged, is carried into effect, there is likely to be trouble before the shops are again in operation.

The company's clerks worked until a late hour last night preparatory to paying off those who disregarded the president's order. The car shops are equipped and the boiler-making and the blacksmith departments are idle. Moulders and machinists are waiting for orders to strike. To-day the officers of the strikers admonished the men to keep away from the saloons and company property.

The situation is becoming grave, and a general strike over the greater portion of the company's system, if the grievances of the men are not heard, is predicted. The impression is current that in order to win the strike not only the shop employees will at work but the trainmen also must be called out.

So far as day is learned, it is intended to follow the route of the Erie and the Ontario & Western, and to penetrate the north country via the head of Stony Lake.

BRITON AND BOER

AT CLOSE QUARTERS

Desperate Fighting Took Place Near Reitz, Between Elliott's and De Wet's Forces.

BRITISH CHARGED AND USED BAYONETS FREELY.

General Delarey Present and Personally Used a Rifle—Boers Were Eventually Driven Off.

Cape Town, June 25.—D-tail of the engagement between Gen. Elliott's column and De Wet's force near Reitz, June 6, show that the British surprised the Boer convoy. The burghers fled, but seeing that their captors were not in strong force, returned and charged with great determination and after desperate fighting recaptured the convoy. Meanwhile Col. De Laere arrived with reinforcements and the fighting was renewed. The Boers lay beneath their wagons and unflinchingly fired volleys between the wheels while their comrades were engaged in in-spinning and driving off that portion of the convoy further from the British. The latter pushed in among the wagons, using the bayonet freely. General Delarey was present and personally used a rifle. His right hand neighbor was killed and the comrade on his left was wounded. The affair ended in a series of hand-to-hand encounters, and fierce noises, the Boers eventually being driven off. One of Gen. De Wet's staff officers was wounded and taken prisoner.

A DARING DEED.

Cape Town, June 25.—The Cape Argus tells a story of how Captain Lukin of the Cape Mounted Rifles, with one man, surprised and captured a Boer laager at Dordrecht. The laager was situated in a deep valley, and early in the morning, while the moon was still shining, Captain Lukin dashed into the laager calling, "Troop, Gallop!" The enemy had already saddled and were immediately thrown into confusion. Before our men arrived they had bolted, leaving their wagons behind them. Later fourteen Boers were captured. The Boers belonged to Kruger's and Letten's commands, and had participated in the laager fight.

MANOEUVRES NO USE.

London, June 25.—Commenting on the operations of the South African war, Jean de Bloek, Russian Councilor of State, says that recent events have shown that the theatrical spectacle called manoeuvres is in no way related to real warfare. Military service as practised today was absurd, and the sacrifice made on the continent to support conscription was entirely unnecessary.

KITCHENER'S LATEST LIST.

London, June 25.—Lord Kitchener's report of operations for the past month shows 41 Boers to have been killed, 27 wounded and 180 taken prisoner. Seventy surrendered and the British captured 41,000 rounds of small arm ammunition and 264 wagons, besides horses and stock.

MILLIONS FOR THE GRAIN GROWERS

Excellent Prospects for Crops Throughout Northern and Western States.

THE STOCKS OF OLD WHEAT ARE VERY LOW

Visible Supply Is Only 35,000,000 Bushels—Wheat Crop of 1901 Is Estimated at 425,000,000 Bushels.

Chicago, Ill., June 25.—Millions of eyes are watching the granary of the world—the great West and Northwest—for signs by which to tell whether the harvest of 1901 is to be great or small. Hundreds of experts inspecting the ripened fields of winter wheat and the areas of growing spring wheat, corn, oats and rye, are forecasting the task of the sickle and the reaper.

Payment conditions, according to experts, point to one of the largest wheat crops in recent years. Taken all in all, winter and spring wheat conditions are excellent and by many the total crop for 1901 is placed at 425,000,000 or 700,000,000 bushels. In 1900 the total yield was 322,000,000 bushels; in 1899, 577,000,000 bushels; and in 1898, 675,000,000 bushels. Thus it will be seen that the prospective yield is more than the average.

Judging by prices in the west, it is estimated that the crop of 1901, should it reach the figures given, would sell for value in round numbers, of $125,000,000 to $150,000,000.

Stocks of old wheat that are being carried over are very low—much lower than in former years—and to-day the visible supply is only 35,000,000 bushels, against 41,000,000 a year ago. The average of wheat this year is believed by the statisticians to be considerably in excess of that of last year.

Harvesting of spring wheat is now in progress in Kansas, Tennessee, Kentucky and Missouri, and every day sees the harvest line moving further north. The new crop is of splendid quality, and in Kansas the total yield will be about 55,000,000 bushels against 32,000,000 bushels last year. While the Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas wheat yield will not be as large as last year, the shortage will be made up in increased acreage by Illinois, Missouri, Ohio, Michigan and Indiana.

On the Pacific coast the wheat acreage shows a twelve per cent. increase over last year, and the conditions are perfect for a larger yield than last year, which is the great wheat producing States of Washington, Oregon, California and Idaho amounted in round numbers to 73,000,000 bushels.

While the price of wheat on the basis of a 100,000,000 bushel crop is placed at sixty-five cents, foreign conditions may move the price higher. The French wheat crop is said to be below the average, and the Board of Trade advises that Germany will import 100,000,000 bushels while her usual imports are about 40,000,000 bushels.

The total amount of rye under present conditions for 1901 is about 25,000,000 bushels. At forty-eight cents a bushel, which is estimated to be the price it will sell at, the total value will be $12,000,000. The quality of winter rye, which will be harvested in July, is extremely good, and the spring rye is in the finest possible shape.

In accepting the estimated total valuation of the different grains it should be borne in mind that these estimates are based on probably Chicago prices.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

The entire object of true education is to make people not do the right things, but enjoy the right things.—Ruskin.

There is a transcendent power in example. We reform others unconsciously when we walk uprightly.—Mme. Swetchine.

I fell into the habit years ago of talking with God, and it becomes as natural that in all my open spaces I do it without thought.—Horace Bushnell.

If you want to be miserable think about yourself, about what you want, what you like, what respect people ought to pay you and what you ought to think of you.—Charles Kingsley.

Life strikes many an unheeded, prophetic little note. A word, a trivial happening, gives hint, like a theme in music, of something that is to be more or less recurrent all the way along.—A. D. T. Whitney.

A psalm which cultivates the spirit of gratitude is a psalm which we ought often to read. If we were more grateful both our joy and our strength would be increased. Gratitude is born in the hearts while the time to count up past mercies.—Charles E. Jefferson.

Man is no better than a leaf driven by the winds until he has conquered his lonely duties. This makes a man—the habit of confronting great things in solitude, and chiefly the habit of conversing with God alone, and of filling the soul with his strength.—John Pullford.

There is no music in a "rest" that I know of, but there's the making of music in it. And people are always missing that part of the life melody, always talking of perseverance and courage and fortitude; but patience is the finest and worthiest part of fortitude, and the rarest, too.—Ruskin.

Be cheerful; do not brood over fond hopes unrealized until a chain link after link, is fastened on each thought and wound around the heart. Nature intended you to be the fountain spring of cheerfulness and social life, and not the travelling monument of despair and melancholy.—Arthur Helps.

Foolish and faulty as we are, but our follies and our faults are not the main facts. This is the "good news of God," that in every man he sees something a great deal more important than the man's sinfulness. Sin clouds our view of ourselves; it does not obscure the Father's sight of his child. When a sense of his changeless goodness reaches us it is like a sunbeam; the cloud vanishes before it; sin is slain by love. "If God so loves us we ought also to love one another."—Charles G. Ames.

FROM THE BEST THINKERS.

Let a man learn as early as possible to confess his ignorance, and he will be a gainer by it in the long run; otherwise the trick by which he veils his ignorance from others may become a habit by which he conceals it from himself, and learns to spend his whole life in an element of delusive show, to which no reality corresponds.—John Stuart Blackie.

What are the hopes of man? Old Egypt's king.

Cheops, erected the first pyramid. And largest, thinking it was just the thing.

To keep his memory whole and mummy hid.

But somebody or other, rummaging, Burglariously broke his coffin's lid. Let not a monument give you or my hopes.

Since not a pinch of dust remains of Cheops.—Byron.

Every man in his lifetime needs to thank his faults. As no man thoroughly understands a truth until he has contended against it, so no man has a thorough acquaintance with the hindrances or talents of men, until he has suffered from the one, and seen the triumph of the other.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Man dwells apart but not alone. He walks among his peers unmet; The best of thoughts which he hath known.

For lack of listeners are not said.—Jean Ingelow.

CURIOUS FACTS

There is no good in praying for anything unless you will also try for it.—Henry Van Dyke.

The Russian form of salutation is brief, consisting of the single word "prache," said to sound like a snore. The Otahite Islander will twist the end of the departing guest's robe and then solemnly shake his own hand three times.

Very young lambs are as like as pens in a pod to everything, except the noses of their mothers. A hundred ewes at pasture, with lambs of the same size, will make no mistake about their children—that is, if the children have once been with their own. Sometimes it happens that for no visible reason a ewe rejects her lamb, and cannot be induced to own it. If she has twins she may own one and reject the other.

The Queen of England was hardly twenty-one when she wedded Prince Albert. Her eldest son, the Prince of Wales, was not twenty-two when he married Princess Alexandra. The late Czar of Russia was only twenty-two when he married Princess Dagmar, the sister of the Princess of Wales, who was twenty. King Humbert of Italy was twenty-four when he wedded his queen, Marguerite, and the Emperor of Austria at the age of twenty-three married Princess Elizabeth, who was at the time only sixteen. The Belgian king was married at eighteen, the last King of Sicily at the age of nineteen the first to be married his second wife when he was only twenty-two. The German Emperor was only twenty-two when he married Princess Augusta Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein-Augustenburg.

THEIR FAME SPREADING.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills a Wonderful Remedy.

Editor of the Morning Times. Sir,—It is because I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be repaid that I ask you to publish some facts regarding Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills. I was for many years a sufferer from indigestion and stomach troubles. I could not digest my food, I was constipated, and it was only by injections that I could get relief. Physicians did me no good. I was reduced to a skeleton, and could hardly walk. As a last resort I tried a box of these pills, and the improvement was so marked that I continued taking them. I have now taken twelve boxes, never remembering being so well in my life. I have gained 22 pounds, and am putting on more flesh daily. I am a living, walking advertisement and consider no trouble too great in order to spread the fame of Dr. Clarke's Pills. A. F. Jones, Lockport, N.Y. For sale by Ormond & Walsh.

Perfect Manhood

Is rightly yours; but if you are not the man you should be, if you are losing your energy, your vital force, memory, annoyed by nervousness, shrinked parts, and feeling if you don't care what happens, you are suffering from Loss of Vitality; it creeps upon you unawares; it doesn't decide yourself or remain in ignorance while you are being dragged down by this disease; by matter what the cause may be, whether early abuse, excess, overwork and business cares, the result are the same; premature loss of strength and vitality, emaciation, nervousness, shrinked parts. OF LATEST MEDICAL TREATMENT WILL CURE YOU. We guarantee it as a positive cure for those conditions; it is the outcome of years of experience; it equalizes the circulation, stops all drains, thereby vitalizes the parts, restoring them to their normal condition and makes them of you as nature has intended. Do not be misled by so-called specialists and institutes. Read the following facts:

1. We do not accept an incurable case for treatment.
2. Each time you call you see Dr. Goldberg personally. He has 18 Diplomas, etc., which should be sufficient guarantee to his abilities. All other chronic, private and Blood Poison Specialists either have some doctor in charge of their office or have an assistant to doctor you.
3. We are doing business on our own reputation, not of our predecessors.
4. Our records show more actual cures than all the other Specialists combined.
5. You need pay nothing until you are convinced that you are thoroughly cured.

MorningTimes

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 28 1901

A CROSSROADS PURPOSE.

It had been a marriage—the news announcement of which had added to the gaiety of the nation. It was considered amusing in the first place, that Harve Preston, who had seemed to grow to five feet, should have set his heart upon the widow Anders, who had gone on growing to five-foot-eight, and moreover Harve had gone through one matrimonial experience which had given him a hunted look and a tendency to "sing small" in the presence of women, and it was a well-known fact that the late Mr. Anders had been afraid to say his last or even, much less, to say his own.

"Beats me how people that's made that kind of mistake are always dead set on tryin' it over again," said the Cross-roads story teller, Mr. Teakwood, at the Cross-roads story. "I've saw Bill Anders set in the corner the whole evening when they was comin' without sayin' a single word. Some times he'd open his mouth like he was 'bout to say 'sumthin', but he'd always shut it again, like as if it wouldn't do no good now. And there's Harve Preston fixin' for the same fate."

And in this commendable spirit of resignation he went to the altar and stood by the side of the tallest lady of the land and promised to comfort and protect her and endow her with all his worldly goods, while she vowed on her part to obey him. The chuckle at the back of the church was a wholly gratuitous one. No one could be blamed after that world would acknowledge the authorship of it, but it was noticeable that Mr. Teakwood had been sitting at the back of the church.

"It's me about the two farms joinin'," said Mrs. Preston as the two drove home. They were going to Mrs. Preston's home for the present, but when they would live permanently was a subject that admitted of discussion. Harve had said when it was mentioned the day before that they would "talk it over."

"Yes, it's mighty nice," he said gently. "It's a good thing, too, that I had my house fixed up the summer before Maggie died. It's comfortable now, and—can't the best orchard in the county?"

"Mine's the best farm," said Mrs. Preston sweetly. "We'll live there, of course. There ain't a paster in the country that's equal to that south side farm. We'll live on my place."

"I'm going to run a lane from my lot down to that paster," said Harve, thoughtfully tapping the dashboard with the buggy whip. "An' your orchard and your place, and most of the trees can be took up an' transplanted. I guess I'll begin on that nex' week."

"I tell ye, we're goin' to live on my place!" said the lady, a dead wave coming over her face. "I wonder if you think I'll leave my house for any little whippersnapper that ever was?"

"I'm sorry we can't move the well, too," said Harve gently. "The new house, well, but it'll be good for stock. Puttin' your cows with mine we'll have considerable of a herd. I should wonder if we was to build up considerable of a dairy business—an' my place is just suited to dryin'."

Mrs. Preston glared at him, almost speechless, but not quite.

"You don't know what your own dear, Harve Preston," she said, breathing hard. "Don't you want to get me mad right here on our wedding day? I'm apt to be impatient when I'm mad."

"I heard Bill say that once," said Harve, regarding the horses calmly. "He said it was a very thing—that you was impatient when you got mad."

"I'd like to know what business he had talkin' about it?" Harve retorted the lady hotly.

"That's just what I tell him," said Harve, still stood up right then. "An' there, an' says to him, I says, Bill looks to me like you oughter have more pride than go in public an' shoot off your mouth about your wife's temper."

"I'm glad you stood up to him," said Mrs. Preston, looking pleased. "If Bill had let me go my own road, like what you're goin' to do, there wouldn't have been any trouble, but there he was, forever tryin' to interfere in the things I'd made up my mind about, an' I couldn't manage anything for reglatin' him eternally."

And filled with reminiscences, she looked at him at the yard and the clean little house where she had reigned over Bill for some years, and forgot that there might be other troubles brewing.

It was the beginning of the next weeks before the new Mrs. Preston remembered that troubles ever came.

"Where you goin'?" she asked abruptly of Harve, who was passing out at the gate with a shade on his shoulder.

"Goin' to transplant them fruit trees," he said. "Sawp'd down now, and I don't reckon I'll lose one of 'em."

"Harve!" called the lady grimly, taking a step toward him. "Don't you dare to touch them fruit trees. If you take them trees up I'll cut the last one of 'em down to the ground!"

If you think I'm goin' to live at that old rookery o' yours you're mighty much mistaken, that's all I can say. I'll cut 'em down, now I tell ye!"

Harve paused and looked at her questioningly.

"What does that mean that now, Melchior, as you're seeking information, 'I'll show you whether I mean it.'" she retorted indignantly. "You jest touch my trees! This is my house an' right here I stay."

And she went into the house with a founce, of her skirts that Bill would have known as a portent of war.

Harve stood still a moment reconciling himself to the inevitable. Then he slowly set the shade down against the fence and went around to the back yard. When he came out again he was carrying an ax instead of the shade.

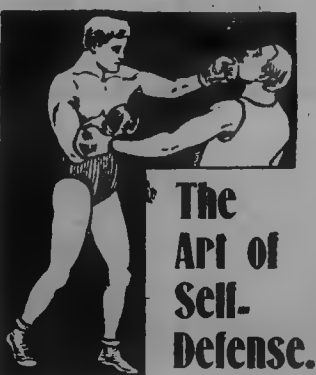

Mrs. Preston happened to be standing in the door when he came back an hour or two later. She had noticed that the shade was left behind and knew that she had conquered in the first passage at arms and that all the rest was plain sailing. She smiled at Harve, red-faced and perspiring in spite of the cold weather.

"Where you been?" she asked peacefully.

"Cuttin' down the fruit trees for ye," he said, throwing down the ax and wiping his heated brow. "Where but it was a job—cuttin' 'em so low down, ye know."

The lady in the door screamed and ran.

The Art of Self-Defense.

The popular idea expressed in the phrase, "the art of self-defense," shows the opinion that the chief enemies a man has to defend himself from are visible and external. But the real danger of every man is from minute and often invisible foes. In the air we breathe and the water we drink are countless minute organisms leagued against the health of the body.

The one defense against these enemies is to keep the blood pure. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery thoroughly purifies the blood, removing poisonous substances and accretions. When the blood is pure there is no harbor for the germs of disease which find a lodging only when the blood is impure and corrupt.

"I consider your 'Golden Medical Discovery' one of the best medicines on the face of the earth," writes Mr. Wm. Fletcher, of Red Oak, Montgomery Co., Iowa. "While in the south-west, three years ago, I got poisoned with poison ivy. The poison settled in my blood and the horror I suffered cannot be told to you. I thought I would go crazy. I tried different kinds of medicine, tried different doctors, but all the relief they could give me was to make my pocket-book lighter. I then began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Look for bottles without relief. Kept taking it. I took in all ten bottles and got entirely cured."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation.

WISDOM ABOUT WOMEN.

A naughty woman stumbles on she cannot see what may be in her way.

Trust not the woman that thinketh more of herself than another; for may will not dwell in her heart.

The gods are ever her who thinketh long before opening her lips.

A woman that is not loved is a kite from which the string has been broken; she driveth with the wind and cometh to a long fall.

A woman that respects herself is more beautiful than a single star; more beautiful than many stars at night.

Woman is the one for that which pains the father; she is balm for his troubles.

A woman who mistakes her place can never return to where she first was; the path has been covered up from her eyes.

A woman desirous of being seen by men is not trustworthy; fear her glance.

Give heed to her to whom children have come; she walks in the sacred ways and lacks not love.

A mother not spoken well of by her children is an enemy of the state; she should not live within the kingdom's wall.

A woman without children has not yet the most precious of her jewels.

Give heed to the voice of an old woman; sorrow has given her wisdom.

A beautiful woman knows not her charms; therefore is she beautiful more so than the colors of the sea.

Like sheep that be leaderless are many women come together for much talk.

The happiest mother of daughters is she who has only sons.

The smiles of women are quickly given and then as quickly of wax.

ATTACK OF ROYAL CANADIANS AT HARBORBERG.

The present is a time when our pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the admiration of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures, size 20x24, in heavy, superior, uncolored paper. A picture in this will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian. It is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Harborberg. There are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the uniforms or jerseys stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prominent figure speaks out too well of the loyal riflemen. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of these gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering broke in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian here to every soldier on the home, the deeds of their brave soldier-brothers speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Reims, charging the Boer Guns at Elandsburg, and the charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will take the time to look at them. They are $10.00 each. Agents can money. Big profits. Enormous success. The agent sold in one day 100 copies and made money. Home North, 1111 G. St., Box 518 (Dept. 280) Chicago, Ill.

DEED OF DARING ON THE OCEAN.

Two Officers of a British Transport Hang Over the Side of the Vessel to Put Out a Fire.

MONTEREY'S TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE WITH FIRE.

Crew Were About to Abandon the Ship When the Gallant Officers Planned and Executed Their Salvation.

New Orleans, La., June 27.—The British mule transport Monterey from Cape Town, has arrived at port after a terrible experience with fire at sea. Twelve days out from St. Vincent flames were discovered in the after hold, and such headway that the heat prevented the usual means of extinguishing fire on shipboard.

Flames and clouds of smoke poured out from the hold, and when the officers and crew were about to abandon the ship First Officer Field and Fourth Officer Reid and Fourth officer Harrison volunteered a daring plan. They proposed to the wire cable around their bodies and have their companions lower them down the side of the ship until they were abreast the port opening into the burning section. It was a desperate exploit, but after a short consultation was adopted.

As the fire was near the water line, Field and Harrison were lowered Joan until they were submerged in the sea nearly up to their waists. Hanging thus half buried in the waves with the ship under headway the men battled in the waves with the ship under headway the men battled in the part, a how was then lowered to them, and for several hours they hung swinging outward and inward pouring a stream into the blazing hold. In this way they finally succeeded in checking the flames. The vessel was badly damaged.

LABOR STRIFE QUITE INTENSE

Italian Peasants Strike in all Directions For Better Treatment

FANATIC FANS THE FLAME

Inflammatory Preaching in Foggia Keeps up the Revolt.

Rome, June 27.—Italy is now subject to a workingman's agitation that is becoming more and more intense. It is spreading especially in the country districts. In the provinces of Mantua, Verona, and Brescia the communes can be counted by the dozens where the peasants have struck, demanding an improvement of their condition. The strikers ask for a tariff of wages, the fixing of a commission of supervision whose business shall be to see that the clauses of the contract are observed.

The Socialists have formed leagues for the betterment of the peasants' lot; the Catholics have formed other leagues having the same object but using methods in accordance with the papal precepts. The two sects of leagues compete bitterly with each other. In a commune in the Province of Rovigo the small landed proprietors belonging to the socialist league have determined to raise a loan on mortgages on their land in order to support the peasant proletariat in its resistance to the farmers and the owners of large estates.

INEQUALITY OF WAGES

Formerly the system of farming on shares was general in this district, which means that laborers not very intense in it. The labor system, however, is becoming prevalent, and as the farmers compete sharply with one another, it thus comes about that in order to diminish expenses they have adopted the method of intensive culture, and have arranged the wages of rural workmen according to the season and the nature of the work. In the rice field the wage earner must, moreover, have learned his business by long experience, and he is paid accordingly.

WILL SEARCH FOR PEARY.

Steamer Erik Has Arrived at St. John's and Will Sail From Sydney, July 18th.

St. John's Nfld., June 28.—The Peary Arctic club's steamer Erik has arrived here from London "all well." The captain, officers and crew for the north, will be shipped here and the steamer will proceed to Sydney, N.S., to take on coal and stores for her final departure for the north, which will be about July 15.

The fate of Lieut. Peary's wife and daughter may be solved by the despatch of the Erik, the steamer chartered by the Peary Arctic club, to send word for news of the pole hunter. The members of the club are not anxious as to the dauntless lieutenant, but are anxious regarding Mrs. Peary and their daughter, who were to have returned to Godhavn, Greenland, in Peary's vessel, the Whitward, last autumn. It was with the distinct understanding that the

ing. It is against the inequality of wages consequent upon the new system of agriculture that the strikers complain. They want to go back to the equality of the old scale of wages. The women are the most excited and some of them were arrested by the police last week.

LED BY A FANATIC.

If the evil is great in certain districts of Lombardy, it extends all measure in Apulia. Misery is extreme there among all classes of the population, both tenants and laborers, on account of the continued drought. The Province of Foggia is, moreover, troubled by mystical, socialistic agitation which worries the authorities. It is led by a fanatic, a sort of derivate, a shoemaker by trade.

The agitator passes through country districts and towns, mounted on a white mare and followed by three or four comrades. He announces a new division of land, and a return of justice and equality as being near at hand. Everywhere he and his escort are received with respect and honor, they are believed in and are entertained hospitably. They leave traces of their passage in the formation of groups of persons, devoted to this agrarian jacquerie, whose business it is to spread it.

The instigator of the movement pretends to wander about the Province of Foggia, he declares that he is sent by God to teach the good tiding and to announce the end of all misery and justice for all. Woe to all who do not believe in his words and to the landowners who resist the will of God when the hour of justice shall have sounded!

His inflammatory preaching keeps up the agitation. Up to the present this creature's undertaking has not assumed alarming proportions, but the present economic condition of the districts he has traversed might bring on complications in view of the moral disturbance caused by the general misery.

A DESERTER FROM QUEBEC.

He Was Captured at London and Sent to Prison in Town.

On the C. P. R. midnight express, Wednesday, a military escort, composed of Lance-Sergeant Vane LeBar, formerly of town, and Private McKenna, followed a deserter from the Citadel, Quebec, and were on their way from London, Ontario, with a deserter, Pte. L. Harding, who was found by No. 1 Company, R.C.M.P., about a week ago attached to a military battalion camping at that city. He had been at liberty about nineteen months. While in town Private Harding was taken ill, and a doctor was summoned. He went east last night.

Windward would return in the fall with Mrs. and Miss Peary that the vessel, Godhavn on Aug. 30, 1900. A syllable has been heard since that time as to the fate of the steamer or of those on board. The Peary Arctic club members hope that Mrs. Peary and her daughter were detained by Lieut. Peary for reasons satisfactory to him. This relief expedition forms the fourth of a series since the departure of Lieut. Peary three years ago on his great effort to reach the pole.

THE CAT DROPPED DEAD

A True Story of a Boy, a Cat and Other Things.

A little boy about two years old was playing with a black cat. If he had been older he would have been wiser. But being but a kid, he didn't know any better than to play with a black cat. If the cat had been any other color he would have played with it just the same. And besides, the color of the cat has nothing to do with this story. It gives it no color whatever. Suddenly the cat took fence at something the boy did. Cats frequently take offense at things boys and dogs do. The cat scratched the little fellow and that was too bad. One could not help feeling sorry for the boy, but it was in the flesh, and when the women began throwing things at the cat. The first woman picked up a copy of the great family journal, and threw it at the cat, but it didn't care to read newspapers. This never do. The other woman threw a handful of grass, but the cat only laughed. It had been to grass. The cat ran across the street and sat down on the sidewalk to laugh at the women who were throwing things. They would have been the fortune of a base ball pitcher, but as they weren't in ball business their fancy throwing was all lost.

At last, in sheer desperation, one of the ladies picked up a copy of one of our little local paper contemporaries, containing a record of one of the fishing expeditions of the McFarlane, and threw it at the cat. The cat, however, when the cat dropped dead.

DIED FROM HER INJURIES

The Death of Mrs. Post, Who Was Injured at Her Lake, Is Announced.

The shocking calamity at Oak Lake, Peterborough, Ontario, on the night of the 27th of May, when Mr. Jas. W. Post and the little boy Keith were burned to death in the family residence has been made still more lamentable consequent upon the death of Mrs. Post's mother, which occurred last week.

The aged woman, if it will be remembered, was badly burned on several parts of her body while attempting to rescue from the flames her little grandson, and it was feared by the physician who visited her, as well as some friends, that her recovery was next to an impossibility.

The deceased was the wife of the late Edward Post who died four years ago. She was 79 years of age, and always a hale, hearty, vigorous woman. Those who knew her along with her husband, her son and grandson, and her little grandchild, who was killed in the fire, were many friends assembled to pay a last tribute of respect to one whose kindness will be treasured in the memory of those who knew her. No one in that settlement will be more deplored.

A funeral service was held at the residence of Mrs. Keith, daughter of the deceased, which was attended by Rev. J. Carson, pastor of St. John's church, Hawke, who delivered a sermon from the words, "Be ye also ready."

PAY HOMAGE TO MRS. EDDY.

Thousands of Christian Scientists Take Pledge to Concord.

Concord, N. H., June 28.—The annual pilgrimage of the followers of the Christian Science faith to Pleasant Newbury, Mass., to pay homage to Mrs. Eddy, took place today. The visitors numbered from 2,000 to 35,000, a large crowd as would be assembled in the beautiful grounds that surround the home of Rev. Mary Baker Eddy, founder of the faith at Bow, three miles from Concord, N. H. In the expedition were many distinguished guests from foreign lands as well as visitors from all over the country.

PLAGUE BREAKS OUT.

A Number of Deaths From Bubonic Plague.

Washington, June 28.—According to dispatches received from the department today, bubonic plague has broken out again in Honolulu, and up to June 9 four deaths had resulted from the disease. General Shafter notified the United States military authorities that the disease had broken out in Honolulu, and that it was necessary to isolate those who have been exposed to the disease and the disinfection of premises where it has been found. General Shafter has consulted with General Connelley, who sailed for Manila today on the transport Hancock, about the advisability of changing the ship's schedule so that it will not stop at Honolulu. Besides General Shafter, there are several senators and representatives, and other distinguished guests on the transport whose lives might be imperiled if they were allowed to land at Honolulu.

FIX SITE FOR WORLD'S FAIR

Large Part of Forest Park Will Be Laid Out at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., June 28.—Forest park was today selected as the site on which to hold the world's fair in this city in 1903 to commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of the Louisiana purchase. The site selected contains 668 acres in the west, or unimproved, portion of Forest park and 460 acres adjoining on the west and southwest. This is a third more space than was used by the Columbian exposition in Jackson park, Chicago. Forest park, which contains between 1,300 and 1,400 acres, and is the second largest park in the country, lies in the western part of the city, surrounded on three sides by magnificent residences and the buildings of Washington university. It is easily accessible from all parts of the city by both street and electric railroads and topographically is an ideal site for a world's fair.

WITH COL. PLUMER IN SOUTH AFRICA

Exciting Scenes in the Advance on Mafeking.

A THRILLING NARRATIVE

Story of Events Connected With War by One of Plumer's Men.

Four Lancers Swarming With Men and Guns. The War Is Not Ended Yet by Any Means.

Montreal, June 27.—A well set up, solid-looking man was at the Russell today, and told a tale full of incident and stern fighting in South Africa under Colonel Plumer. Trooper Williams is an Irish-American, and formerly worked as a gang boss at Johannesburg, in the City and Suburban Gold Mine. "For a month previous to the outbreak of the war," said he, "the British people in the Transvaal had a pretty rough time. Personally I was with Colonel Plumer from October, 1899, until the 17th of May, when Plumer made a junction with Col. Mahon for the relief of Mafeking. "Efforts were made," continued the Trooper, "at the time to get the women and children out of the town, and there were some extremely touching scenes at the Park railway station, where wives were parted from their husbands and children from their parents, in many cases for the last time. On the 2nd of October I went down to East London and joined the Rhodesia Regiment under Col. Plumer. This regiment formed half of Baden-Powell's troops, and their work was to hold the country from Bulawayo to Mafeking. I joined Plumer between the two places. We had several very hard fights, the toughest of which was in the marsh when we attempted to get into Mafeking, and got cut up on the railway line near Ramothlabana. We had got on the eastern heights of Mafeking and reconnoitered the town. The Boer lancers, swarming at about 100 yards, and about a mile beyond the town, were of Boer artillery and Long Tom were at the time bombarding the town, and Baden-Powell was weakly replying with one gun. After a while the Boers discovered our scouts on the rise against the sky line. They suddenly up with marvellous rapidity in overwhelming numbers, and pursued up to the railway line, where we had to fight the Battle of the Trenches. We were outnumbered by the Boers, and the engagement ended in the Boer favour. We had a number of killed and wounded, among the latter of whom were Lieut. Crooks, who won his Victoria Cross in the Matabele War of 1896, and Captain MacLennan, who was a senior captain in the British Imperial Cavalry Service. Both of these gentlemen were captured by the enemy and taken back to the Boer lines.

"After the relief of Mafeking, the Rhodesia Regiment was disbanded. I went with a few of Baden-Powell's men, who were still fit to serve, and on the 17th of May we were surrounded by the enemy for four days although we were outnumbered ten to one. We managed to hold the Boers back for several days, but we were besieged at Mafeking, and when we got out of the town we were surrounded by the Boers. We were on guard at the cottage of the Boer President, on Church street. Mrs. Kruger was much impressed with the civility shown to her, by all the British officers and men, and frequently supplied the guards with hot coffee and even lemonade.

"At the hall door of the old Presidency I noticed the two marble lions presented by Cecil Rhodes to Kruger. Pretoria, to my mind, is the prettiest of our four towns. There was a great deal of fighting in the whole of South Africa. It is well watered and streams course through all the streets. "After leaving Pretoria, I was for a time stationed at Robertson. The object of our force there was to guard the lines between the Portuguese possessions and the Transvaal. There was not the slightest doubt in the minds of the military authorities that very large numbers of recruits, Europeans and others, went through the Portuguese territories and joined the Boer headquarters in the bush country in the north of the Transvaal. From there they were moving in January, to the border of Namaqualand, on the west of Cape Colony, to keep an eye on the warms of European mercenaries sent down by Kruger and Leyds. At least 12,000 men arrived in the German territory by way of Walvisch bay. Some of these got over the border and joined the Boers, the remainder are still in German South-West Africa awaiting a favourable chance.

"Having got my discharge as an invalid, and having my field pay, I thought I should like to come over and inspect the western districts of Canada, with the object of taking up a great deal of land should I find that country satisfactory. "Trooper Williams, who left for the West today, was clad in his khaki uniform, which he said, in the hot weather, he found to be a very good thing. "Yesterday was a very hot day," said he. "It was quite as hot as anything I have experienced in South Africa."

"When I left Cape Town," replied the ex-trooper, "there were some fear of the Colonial Dutch adding to our troubles. There is little probability of this, however, as the Dutch are known to be joining the various commands in the Colony. The war is by no means ended, although it will gradually peter out."

IN FULL SWING.

The Preparations for the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall's Reception.

Ottawa, June 26.—(Special)—The preparation for the coming visit of T. R. H. the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York are beginning in earnest. Government House is being redecorated and the dining room is already done and is most effective. The tastefulness of the decorations is largely due to Her Excellency, who is taking a great interest in the matter. The military preparations will keep Hon. Dr. Borden here during the bulk of the summer. The present plan is to have a demonstration by the Quebec garrison on the landing of the royal visitors, to have a demonstration by the whole garrison of Montreal, when that city is visited, and then to have the grand review and marching of troops at Toronto.

Montreal, June 26.—A proposition has been made to the Citizens' Committee for the entertainment of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall, that one of the features should be a Lancers' night, between a local and an Indian team. The idea was well received and will likely be acted upon. The City Council Committee has decided to leave the building of arches to the Citizens' Committee, and the city will spread itself on a reception in the City Hall.

Mr. S. B. Best, who is popular with the patriots of the company, has been retained as manager. This will be good news to the printers of Canada generally, who have a strong personal regard for him.

THE SPANISH INDIES.

The United States Propose to Purchase the Islands.

Washington, June 28.—Minister Ewenhouse, who has just returned from Copenhagen, had a long interview with President McKinley today. Mr. Ewenhouse has conducted the negotiations on behalf of the United States for the purchase of the Danish West Indies, and his trip home was undertaken for the purpose of consulting with the state department about the final details of the transaction. Denmark has agreed to sell the islands, and the state department has agreed to buy, subject, of course, to the ratification of the treaty by the United States Senate. The terms are said to be extremely liberal to the United States, and Minister Ewenhouse will urge their acceptance.

THE PACIFIC FISHERIES.

The British Columbia Government Accepts the Modus Vivendi Proposed by Sir Louis D'Abo.

Ottawa, June 28.—The British Columbia Government has agreed to the conditions set forth in Sir Louis D'Abo's telegram of some two or three weeks ago relative to the fisheries. The question of the salmon fisheries will be allowed to remain in abeyance, as to the Fraser River, the Dominion and the province can both issue licenses if they like, but the former will collect the revenue and account to the province for its share. With respect to the fisheries question generally, the British Columbia Government will introduce an amended act, from which the regulations and other provisions will be ultra vires of the province will be expunged.

MARRIED AT BRIDGENORTH.

Supt. of Miss Mary Nichols and Mr. Fred H. Stabler.

On Wednesday evening, June 19th, a very pleasant event took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nichols, when their niece, Miss Mary Nichols, was married to Mr. Frederick H. Stabler, of Smith. The parlor and adjoining rooms were beautifully decorated with evergreens and roses, which formed an arch at the entrance to the dining room, near which the bride couple stood. As the bridegroom was played by Miss Edith Garbutt, the bride entered the room with her uncle, Mr. Wm. Nichols, wearing a handsome gown of white tulle and carried a bouquet of white carnations. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Eva Nichols, who was the bridesmaid and wore a grey cashmere suit trimmed with white satin ribbon and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groomsmen were Mr. Nathan Stabler, brother of the bridegroom, and Rev. G. Nickel, of Smith. The bride's travelling suit was of pearl grey satin and cream trim with white satin and cream trim. Among the many magnificent gifts was a gold watch and chain from the bridegroom. After the ceremony the dejeuner was served, about fifty guests being present. The dining room was beautifully decorated with evergreens and ribbon. The evening was then spent in a social manner. Mr. and Mrs. Stabler will reside in Peterborough. They have the best wishes of a numerous circle of friends, in which the Times cordially joins.

FEUD OF THIRTY- FOUR YEARS ENDED

Mexico and Austro-Hungary Have Again Become Friends and Resumed Diplomatic Relations.

ONE OF THE MOST TRAGIC STORIES IN HISTORY

Death of Emperor Maximilian at Hands of Rebels so Incensed Austria That She Refused to Recognize Mexico.

Vienna, June 27.—The announcement that Count Gilbert Hohenwart von Gerlachstein has been appointed Austro-Hungarian Minister to Mexico closes the last act in one of the most saddest and romantic dramas known in history. Diplomatic relations between the two countries have been broken off for thirty-four years, the rupture taking place in 1867, the year in which the ill-fated Emperor Maximilian was shot and his short-lived empire in Mexico came to a close. A long quarrel between the two nations arising from the episode is now after this protracted interval brought to a close by the resumption of friendly intercourse.

STORY OF MAXIMILIAN.

Mexico was, prior to the treaty of Aquila, signed in 1821, a Spanish possession, and in common with her sister colonies was subjected to petty despotism, which was not calculated to prepare a people for organization of self-rule. Consequently upon assuming their independence the Mexican people knew not what use to make of their liberty, and exhibited a lamentable tendency towards despotism. After sixty years of an extraordinary and unparalled career of misrule, to the number of two hundred and sixty, the reins of power, in the absence of an active, continuous legal authority passed into the hands of the army, from the church had been at work for three centuries, and had succeeded in acquiring one-third of the national wealth. It was an easy matter to convince the army of the advantages of serving God and receiving pay for it over the alternative of fighting for glory and with empty pockets. Army and church combined obtained absolute power, and Mexico rose again.

MADE EMPEROR.

The return of the leaders of the army and the church parties at this time, together with the arrival of more French troops, created an unfavorable impression, particularly because these proclaimed Maximilian Emperor. The English and Spanish Governments withdrew their troops, refusing to countenance such procedure. Napoleon decided upon hostilities, and after a struggle Maximilian was apparently established on the throne. This position he maintained until the withdrawal of the French troops in 1866. This was the result of representations on the part of the United States for an impartial alternative of war. Finally, Maximilian was left to struggle as best he could against the Republican party under Juarez, the Mexican Washington. The Emperor, in desperation, repaired to Europe in the hope of securing aid, but to no purpose. Then occurred the fatal mistake, for Maximilian issued a decree, declaring that all those who remained in arms should be shot. In June, 1867, he was taken prisoner by Juarez, and in consequence of his own decree was shot as a traitor, together with his two generals, Miramon and Mejia, on June 19, 1867. There was a great outpour in Europe and America, but no retaliatory steps were taken. Austria, however, refused to recognize the new republic under President Juarez, and has persisted for 34 years in her refusal to recognize Mexico.

THOUGHT OF MONARCHY.

Upon the overthrow of these parties it was proposed to establish a monarchy, and the President was eventually commissioned to negotiate with the Cabinets of London, Paris, Vienna and Madrid for the establishment of an European prince on the throne of Mexico. Napoleon III. of France recommended the Archduke Ferdinand Maximilian of Austria. By so doing he was observing to the letter a clause in the treaty of Aquila which required that in such an event the crown should be offered to the House of Austria. But, he was also furthering his own ends, for he saw the

DECEIVER KILLED BY A WIFE.

Wronged Husband in a Withered the Tragic Ending of a Klondike Romance.

Seattle, Wash., June 28.—The story of the tragic ending of a Klondike romance is told in Dawson papers that reached here today. Mrs. Thomas Henderson shot to death her husband, who, after telling her that her husband was dead, had persuaded her to marry him. Her prayer, that her aim might not fail, stood Henderson, who after three years' search for his wife, had come upon her deserted and suffering, a few days before the tragedy. After confessing his duplicity to the woman, he had, it is alleged, had shot and robbed his partner, Jeff Alexander, and taking possession of a dog team loaded with provisions had started off, followed by Henderson and his wife, who overtook him near McKinnon's cabin on the Anvil, where the killing was done.

THE BIGGEST FISH.

The Times Offers a Prize For The Biggest Fish.

We believe the Otonabee River and connecting lakes afford the best bass and muskellunge fishing on the continent, and in order to have some record of the size of fish from these waters, the Times offers a prize for the largest muskellunge and the largest bass caught in the waters between Haldenburgh and Haldenburgh. For the largest muskellunge we will give a $50.00 prize, and for the largest bass, a $100.00 prize will be awarded. The fish to be brought to town and weighed at Kennedy's meat market. Competition closes Sept. 1st. P. S.—This offer is open to the members of the Mellarie-Parker-Competition Fishing Club, who no doubt will produce some fine specimens.

SUICIDE AT MILLBROOKE.

John Whitfield a Well Known Resident Took His Life.

Dr. Gray, coroner, received a telephone message requesting him to proceed to Millbrook to hold an inquest on the body of John Whitfield, who had committed suicide by hanging. The unfortunate man was not discovered until Thursday evening in an unoccupied cheese factory convenient to his residence. The body was in an advanced state of decomposition when found. On learning the facts of the case, the coroner decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

The deceased, who was 48 years of age, was a well-known resident of the village, and leaves behind him a family of eight children, the youngest being three months old.

BRITAIN'S BIG ORDER.

An Expensive In Canada of Over Two Millions of War Supplies.

Ottawa, June 27.—Including the August shipment, $2,000,000 of war supplies will be sent from Canada to South Africa. Since the outbreak of the war the Home Government has expended in Canada over $2,000,000 for food, fuel, medicine, and other supplies.

This paper is the only Morning Daily published between Toronto and Ottawa, and is largely read through out Ontario.

Managers visiting Peterborough are cordially invited to make their headquarters at the Times Office, where they will be provided with writing materials.

The Times is a member of the Associated Press, and receives telegraphic news from all parts of the world.

The Times will be sent to subscribers in the district at 10 per month, and to outside points at 15 per month, strictly in advance.

THE BRITISH VICTORIES MANY BOERS KILLED

The Boers Attacked Two Blockhouses on the Delagoa Line, Near Brugspruit

FIELD CORNET DE PRIEZ HAS SURRENDERED

Correspondence Between Enemy and Lord Roberts Published, Showing That Latter Held Farm-Burning was Necessary.

TWO BRITISH VICTORIES.
London, June 29.—The Boers attacked two blockhouses on the Delagoa line near Brugspruit, and the Boers were killed.

ROBERTS AND BOERS.
London, June 29.—A blue book was issued this morning giving the correspondence between Lord Roberts and the Boer authorities on the subject of the destruction of property. Its contents are generally known.

The Boers attacked two blockhouses on the Delagoa line near Brugspruit, and the Boers were killed.

NORWOOD-APLEY RAILWAY.
The Chief Engineer of the C.P.R. here this week looking over the route.

The British did not encourage the barbarians, but that the burning of farm buildings was necessary to prevent the Boers from attacking the British.

BOERS IN HERMUDA.
Hamilton, Bermuda, June 29.—The British transport, Armenia, which arrived in these waters yesterday, brought 930 Boer prisoners.

A GIGANTIC FINANCIAL SUCCESS.
The Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., of Battle Creek, Mich., on June 22nd increased its capital stock from $37,000,000 to $50,000,000.

IS IT HYPNOTISM?

Professor Ladd Thinks That's What Christian Science Is.

New York, July 1.—Prof. Ladd publishes the following:—In all ages and countries, cures of the religious kind are a frequent affair. And repeatedly in history, whole nations, and even continents, have been astonished by men who, like Mesmer, in Paris, and Dr. Grestakes, in England, have gone about performing the most marvelous cures.

But I have said that other forms of mental healing, or "suggestive therapy," especially those employed by skillful hypnotists, have far better evidence in their behalf than have the Christian scientists. Such evidence, where it is collected and sifted by trained physiologists or psychologists, is entitled to credence. whereas, the crude, unscientific mixture of "testimonies" which Christian Science has to show is no more reasonably convincing to the same and cautious inquirer than are the advertisements of quack medicines.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR HALIFAX FORT

Imperial Defenses of Canada on a Big Scale

LARGEST ON THE ATLANTIC

Modern Guns of the Latest and Most Improved Patterns.

It Will Be the Largest Fort on This Side of the Atlantic Ocean Britain Ever Built.

Halifax, N. S., July 1.—The plans for the fort were completed yesterday by the Imperial authorities, and the work will commence at once. The fort will be much larger than that at the New York Redoubt, and will be armed with the most powerful of weapons. It was the intention of the authorities to erect a fort out of the water, on the principle adopted in ports in England, but after consideration it was decided to have it constructed out of the solid rock. The site selected is three miles south of Herring Cove entrance to the harbor, immediately facing the water. The Imperial authorities selected a large granite cliff, which has a hollow in the center. The main part of the fort will be located in this hollow, and the work to be constructed of cement, giving the appearance when completed, of a solid cliff.

The Earldom of Arundel.

London, July 1.—The Duke of Norfolk has acknowledged the truth of the singular story that has recently been told about the chief of this young race, the famous Arundel castle, in Sussex. It seems that the owner of the castle is by right of such ownership, entitled to the "title and honors" of the Earldom of Arundel, the most ancient title in the peerage. It is not at all likely that the house of Howard, of which the Duke of Norfolk is the head, will get into financial hard luck, and be forced to part with the castle as a valuable asset, but if it is the course of human events such a climax comes in the family fortunes of the Howards, there is said to be no legal obstacle to prevent the purchaser of Arundel castle, even if he is the lowest of the new among the untitled millionaires, from taking his seat in the House of Lords as the Earl of Arundel.

Your own, or a wig, if you want to keep your own hair into old age use Dr. White's Electric Comb. It cures dandruff and hair falling when everything else fails, yet costs no more than an ordinary comb sold on a written guarantee.

Lindsay Talent.
Few towns have more talent among the rising population than has Lindsay. The annual closing of the Lindsay Collegiate Institute demonstrated the fact very clearly, the other evening, when congratulatory addresses were presented to Mr. E. J. Kyrie and Mr. G. B. Hughes.

PROMOTION EXAMINATIONS

The Names of Pupils Who Will Advance a Grade in Their Studies.

THE WORK OF THE TERM INTERRUPTED.

On Account of Prevalent Epidemics the Pass List is not Quite as Large as is Ordinary the Case—Report of Ashburnham School.

Appendix will be found the names of the Public School pupils who have passed the yearly Promotion Examinations. The names are given in order of merit. NO POSSIBLE CHANCE FOR BOER REPUBLICS

John Bull Mad All the Way Through and Will Thoroughly Conquer

FURTHER ARGUMENTS ENTIRELY USELESS.

Britain has Decided to Settle South Africa Once for All—Disgusting Attitude of Pro-Boers in England.

London, July 1.—The London Daily Mail publishes the following:—"The pro-boers are sorrowfully awakening to the fact that, despite all their talk and all their cleverness, they are in a position to see that the war is just as determined as it ever was to put the thing through. Northampton pro-boers have resolutions urging the immediate recognition of the independence of the two republics. Professor Bryce may tearfully exhort British women to give back not only independence, but a handsome pecuniary reward to the enemy for attacking so devoted an institution as the British Empire; the anti-boer press may concoct preposterous stories to convict the horrible Mr. Chamberlain and the odious Lord Milner of atrocities to women and children; but no more attention is paid by the mass of Englishmen to this stuff than was shown by the Northerners in the United States during the Civil War, to the asilly ravings of the "Copperheads," as the disloyal were called. It is the Boers' feeling and does no one any particular harm in England."

THE WAR COSTS.
The people of Britain are beginning to realize that war costs money, but are not afraid of the expense. It is a fact, sometimes overlooked, that it costs a little more to keep the army employed, than to have the force of the country simply doing patrol duty in various parts of the Empire.

New York, July 1.—Mr. J. N. Ford, editor of the Tribune, writes the following:—"The war news remains meager. Lord Kitchener and the London Journalists acting on the principle 'show no more news.' Public sympathy respecting the war is illustrated by the indifference with which Sir Henry Campbell-Bell's clearing operations in South Africa by British troops and those in Africa by the Spanish generals is regarded. Nobly finds it necessary to point out that, while the Cubans were driven from their homes into encampments, where they starved and perished from pestilence, the Boers have been sheltered in a duff in laager under the protection of British guns."

CONVERSATION WITH LORD MILNER.
Lord Milner tells me that Boer refugees have received medical attention when they required it, regular rations have been served out to them, good, and in many instances the best; their children are sent regularly to school. There have been some exceptional instances, but the process by which the districts have been cleared have been essentially different from those employed by Spanish generals in extirpating the Cuban population. If London journals had more enterprise, they would send out special correspondents to let the people at home know how the country is settling down, and what is really going on. Considerable progress has been made toward the pacification of the Dutch colonies. Many mines at Johannesburg are in operation, and farmers around the leading railway towns are resuming their usual occupations and made toward the pacification of the Dutch colonies. Many mines at Johannesburg are in operation, and farmers around the leading railway towns are resuming their usual occupations and made toward the pacification of the Dutch colonies.

NAVIGATION NOTES

Items of Interest to Steamboat and Marine Men

The City of Peterborough will soon be ready for war. She is by all odds the finest vessel on the inland waters. There is some talk of a regatta being held at Sturgeon Point this season under the auspices of the Lindsay canoe club.

The new Idyl-Wild Hotel is doing a splendid business. It will add very much to the attractions of Rice Lake.

The steamers Water Lily, Star and Beaver, were up Saturday.

Penton Falls is doing booming as a summer resort. We often wonder why this was not done long since.

Dan Foley, at Justice Point Hotel, reports a splendid season's business so far.

Capt. Fee, of Lindsay, is in command of the City of Peterborough this season.

Ironwood, Mich., June 29.—Mr. William Conley and her daughter, Mrs. William Hobbs, were drowned at Rice Lake, near Mercer, Wis., yesterday. Both are residents of Ironwood. They were fishing in the excitement the boat was overturned.

A young son of Mr. Conley was on shore when the accident occurred. He jumped into a boat and went to the rescue. He caught his mother by the hair and dragged her to shore, but she was dead.

Mrs. Conley was to leave this week for South Africa, where her husband is a member of the mounted police.

STAY IN TOWN TO-DAY

The Duty of the Citizen is to Stay in Town

Local pride, to say nothing of patriotic sentiment, demands that Peterborough make a success of the Dominion Day celebration.

Every year complaint is made that there is nothing to see or do in the city. Every year the thing is said—that our people desert the town on the National holiday. The one is the natural sequence of the other.

The Citizens' Committee which proposes to provide our citizens with a home celebration is doing a laudable work, a work which should be heartily supported by citizens. The rural Canada has been a poor, indeed, in patriotic sentiment, but now a national holiday has been set on foot, and it is a day that should be lived to the fullest extent of patriotic duty. Our citizens should not be behind.

Peterborough should stay at home to-day and give the celebration the Citizens' Committee has arranged for a start that will set it on a permanent basis. There are plenty of other holidays, but this is a day when the duty for a change of scene may be fulfilled. The Canadian's first duty is to his own country on its birthday.

TO-DAY'S DEMONSTRATION.

The Arrangements Completed for the Celebration.

The demonstration today gives promise of eclipsing anything ever attempted in this line in town before. On Saturday night the different owners of floats put the finishing touches, and this morning at nine o'clock the procession will take the following route:—From the Bridge Works building west on Dalhousie Street to Aylmer street, north to Hunter street, south to Robinson street, west to Lake street, north to Elizabeth street, returning to Peterborough and proceeding north on Water street to Murray street, west to George street, and south to the Bridge Works building.

THE TOWN COUNCIL IN REGULAR SESSION

The Third Thursday in August Will be Civic Holiday.

Reports of Finance Committee, Board of Works and Court of Revision—Accounts—Communications—By-law Granting Aid to the Shovel Co. Passes its Third Reading.

The Town Council met in regular session last night, when there were present Mayor T. H. G. Dene, and Aldermen Edgewood, Rogers, Bush, Clinkscale, Batten, Shortley and Best. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.
From Martha J. Hall, asking for remission of dog tax, referred to Court of Revision.

From A. J. Young, Reeve of Oak Bay, dated July 1st, saying that the houses were destroyed there by fire on June 30th, whereby two hundred people are destitute, and asking for relief—Received.

From property owners praying that a granite sidewalk be constructed outside the trees on the west side of Water street, from Water street to Homewood Avenue—referred to Board of Works.

From the force asking for summer holidays—The usual two weeks holiday for each member was granted.

From W. Manzie, secretary, Foresters' Excursion Committee, asking that date of civic holiday be fixed for the third Thursday in August as heretofore granted.

From Mr. W. H. Moore, endorsing a statement of the various acts of parliament relating to the Town of Peterborough, and suggesting that they be printed in pamphlet form—referred to Finance Committee with power to act.

From R. H. Nesbitt, calling attention to the fact that the bridge over the creek on Smith street has not been rebuilt, and that the street is closed—Received.

From E. E. Lord, Bathurst street, asked permission to make sewer connection—referred to Board of Works with power to act.

From property owners, asking that a pipe sewer be constructed on Rutledge street, from the centre of the intersection of Rutledge and Dublin streets northward—referred to Board of Works.

CIVIC HOLIDAY.
On motion of Ald. Shortley, seconded by Ald. Rogers, the third Tuesday in August was fixed as the date for civic holiday this year as has been customary, and further the Town Clerk was instructed to prepare a By-law, permanently fixing the above date as civic holiday.

ACCOUNTS.
The following accounts were referred to the Finance Committee for certification thereto:

BOARD OF WORKS REPORT.
Ald. Shortley submitted the following report to the Board of Works:

1. Your Board gave the Town Solicitor authority to extend the time for making the award in the arbitration Morrow v. Peterborough if he approved of that course, and recommend that this action be approved.

2. We recommended that the Chairman of this Board be authorized to grade the part of the south half of the boundary between the Town and Douro that needs grading and to expend $25 in conjunction with Douro to gravel it.

3. We authorized the Town Engineer to purchase 2,000 to 3,000 feet of 2 inch plank and 100 feet of 4 inch plank, and let the matter of the purchase of a fall for the crusher with the Chairman to deal with.

USE THESE POLES.
The town would in this way absolutely control the situation. In case the companies should enter into a combination to put up the price of poles, the town would be in a position to prevent it. This would ensure cheap power, which is the great attraction to industries to locate here. The streets, instead of being cluttered with the poles of so many power companies, would have but one set of poles, and these of a superior kind. The town would lose nothing, but could charge the various companies sufficient to keep the poles in good shape, and well painted.

Now that two additional companies are seeking pole rights on the streets, something must be done at once. The above is not a new idea. It was suggested by the Times when the Auburn Power Company claimed pole franchise.

We are sure that Mayor Dene, who is always progressive, will bring the matter before the Council at an early date.

Visitors to Buffalo.
We call the attention of visitors to Buffalo during the Pan-American, to the advertisement of "The Dixon" home, at 353 Dearborn street, which appears in this issue. Several people have put up at "The Dixon," and are delighted with the accommodation afforded and treatment received. It is not a hotel, but a private home, with accommodation for forty guests. The rooms are large, airy and comfortable, and the home is in a splendid locality.

THE TIMES MAKES A SUGGESTION.

In Regard to the Power Pole Nuisance on The Streets.

TOWN TO OWN THE POLES

And Lease the Right to String Wires to Power Companies.

The beauty of many of the streets of the town has been marred by the erection of unsightly poles, and just how to overcome the difficulty and prevent further pollution is now a live question.

In this connection, the Times has a suggestion to offer. We propose that the town should take over the poles of the Peterborough Light and Power Company, and the Auburn Power Company, having therefor a reasonable price. If this cannot be done satisfactorily, then we would have the town erect new poles which need to be strong and free from blemishes and unsightly crooks and knots. Then we would compel all power companies requiring the use of our streets, to

COL. SLOAN KILLED.

Prominent New Yorker Well Known in Town Killed.

The news of the death of Col. Sloan, well known in Stony Lake circles, will come with a shock to his many friends in Peterborough and vicinity. The following are the particulars of the accident.

Colonel Thomas H. Sloan, well known in military circles in New York and in the world of finance, was drowned this afternoon through the capsizing of a catboat in Long Island Sound. His daughter and three companions barely escaped with their lives through the timely help of some pilots who went to their rescue.

In a catboat, Colonel Sloan, his daughter, W. L. Edwards, Missie Kilduff and Captain Charles Rowland, of South Norwalk, started for a sail in this sound this afternoon about 1 o'clock. They party were the guests of Captain Rowland.

All went well until late in the afternoon when indications of a storm prompted the party to seek shelter near Key-Island, where the Jesuit Fathers have a summer home. The anchor was dropped, the sail lowered and everything set in readiness to meet the oncoming storm.

Black clouds cut by flashes of lightning soon covered the sky, and waves of unusual height dashed against the sides of the little boat. Water soon began to pour into the little craft, whose bow was buried deeper and deeper in the water with every lunge. Finally, unable longer to right herself, the boat tilted and capsized.

Wild scrambling followed, all the party succeeding in getting out from under the boat.

The Jesuit Fathers seeing the yacht party's terrible danger quickly manned a boat and went to the rescue. Three men, who came from their shelter to note the damage done by the lightning, heard the cries of the victims in the water and also started to their help. The pilots, however, were the first to arrive on the scene.

Mr. Edwards was holding Colonel Sloan's daughter by the hair, while Captain Rowland, a man of small stature, was trying to keep Colonel Sloan's head above water. The party was drowned into the pirate boat, and, bending to their oars, the pilots raced to the shore.

Victims were immediately summoned, Colonel Sloan, though every possible means was resorted to was found to be dead. The rest of the party was brought around, through Colonel Sloan's daughter is still suffering from the shock.

Colonel Sloan lived at the Hotel Metropolitan in New York city. He was a veteran of the civil war, and was for many years commander of the old Guard.

He was treasurer and director of the National Express Company, president and director of the New York and Commercial Steam Laundry, president and a director of the Trades and Travelers' Accident Company, and editor of the Kootenai-Cambria Mining and Investment Company.

Colonel Sloan's wife was granted an absolute divorce last November. His daughter's petition for a divorce was asked on statutory grounds. The Colonel offered no defense and was not present when the decree was granted.

A later account than the above stated that Col. Sloan was killed by a bolt of lightning which struck the boat, and that he was dead before he went into the water. It was not his daughter who was on the yacht with the party, but another young lady friend.

The funeral took place in New York with military honors.

PETERBOROUGH'S GREAT BOOM.

In Immense Amount of Building for the Exporting.

That Peterborough is on the eve of a great advance, there is no doubt whatever. The great Commercial Union, it is said, not less than a million and a half in the erection of their buildings. This will give employment to hundreds of men during the period of construction, and hundreds more after the works are completed.

The Hydraulic Power Company, in connection with the Commercial Union, propose to spend large sums in erecting power house, etc.

In addition to this, the Cordage Company will spend $100,000 in the erection of buildings in the south end of the city, when completed, will also employ a large number of mechanics.

The Peterborough Shovel Company is also active. This company has secured the lot adjoining Kennedy's stock yards, and will employ a considerable number of skilled workmen.

The Canadian General Electric Company is also extending its works, which will mean the addition of a large force of employees.

Nor is this all. The Cordage Company has secured all the power at one of the government dams, where they will erect a large power house.

A Milling Company has been formed, which is to use the surplus power generated by the Cordage Company. The mills are to be modern in structure and equipment, and will cost a large sum of money.

From the above it is easy to calculate that Peterborough will double its population in a few years. We are pleased to see the spirit of enterprise that exists, and we may reasonably hope that we are on the eve of a great advance that will place us in the front rank of Canadian cities.

Married in Toronto.

The marriage took place on Wednesday, June 28th, at Toronto, of Miss Elizabeth McKenzie, eldest daughter of Mr. James McKenzie, 23 Bank street, Toronto, to Mr. J. H. Bullen, formerly of town.

The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. F. C. Heathcote. Mr. Bullen was formerly in the employ of the Canadian General Electric Co.

A BIG TRUST IN COAL

J. P. Morgan is to Head Another Huge Monopoly.

TO FORCE THE PRICE UP

Plan is to Place the Vast Bituminous Fields Under One Head.

Cleveland, O., July 4.—Plans are about perfected for placing all the great bituminous coal interests of the country in one organization. The prime mover in the scheme is J. P. Morgan, and the capitalization required will be almost equal to the enormous sum represented by the big steel trust. As an auxiliary to this movement being carried on by the promoters of one of the constituent companies of the greater organization a complete pool of all of the retail soft coal interests in Cleveland will be effected within the next ten days, for which preliminary steps have about been taken.

J. P. Morgan first started in with his coal combinations three years ago, making the first movements along the line of controlling the products of the Ohio and West Virginia fields. At that time he obtained complete control of the property in the Cuyahoga and Erie valleys. In order to give an outlet for this coal he purchased certain railroad properties and this started the combination mania along the line of railroad ownership, which has gone to extraordinary lengths.

BIG INTERESTS MERGED.

The proceedings in the present combination are similar to those displayed in the formation of the steel trust. One year ago all of the coal properties in the Pittsburgh district which ship coal to the lakes were collected into one organization known as the Pittsburgh Coal Company. About that same time the same interests which ship coal from that territory down the river formed what has since been known as the Monongahela Coal Company, each being a combination of smaller companies, making an organization of considerable importance.

The desire to control other coal territory in the same fashion that the larger companies might be easier handled by Mr. Morgan, has led to the selection in certain sections, of confidential agents.

As an outgrowth of this policy, an organization was completed in Chicago ten days ago, known as the Illinois Coal Company, which owns two-thirds of all the coal land in Illinois and Western Indiana. About the same time it became generally known that M. A. Hanna, and others in this territory had about completed the absorption of most of the coal properties in the Maxwell district. This is expected to be completed in the next ten days. The West Virginia coal production is virtually owned by one concern, the Fairmont Coal Company, which in turn is the property of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Other interests in the territory are all owned by the Norfolk and Western Railroad, the Chesapeake and Ohio or the Pennsylvania Railroad, all of which with the Baltimore and Ohio now form practically one big railroad organization, being owned by one company.

PLAN A MONOPOLY.

Now the Illinois Coal Company, the Pittsburgh Coal Company, the Monongahela Coal Company, the Fairmont Coal Company, the Norfolk and Western Railroad, the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, the Pennsylvania Railroad, all of which with the Baltimore and Ohio now form practically one big railroad organization, being owned by one company.

Along with this organization will go also the coal docks and fast loading plants that are now owned by the various coal companies, which shall hereafter make a part of the big organization. This will include those which are located along Lake Erie and also on the upper lake ports.

The aim of all of this is to effect a complete monopoly of the bituminous coal production in the territory east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac. To the accomplishment of this end, Mr. Morgan is said to have given himself without reserve, and will take it up as soon as he returns from Europe.

COREA IS REACHING OUT.

Establishes Diplomatic Agencies in London Berlin and Washington.

Berlin, July 3.—Hitherto Korea has had little to do with the outside world. A change in the international policy of the hermit kingdom is foreshadowed by the announcement to-day of the establishment of diplomatic agencies in Berlin, London and Washington. Chel Houm Min, the new envoy to Germany, who arrived in this city recently, said this morning: "His diplomatic agencies in Washington and Paris heretofore have been the only ones which Korea has maintained. Since the departure of Chin Pom Ye from Washington, he has been stationed in France as the accredited plenipotentiary for the whole of Europe. Min Yung Tun, who has been appointed to the court of St. James, will be received by Lord Salisbury to-morrow, I presume that simultaneously Sin Teh Moo, charge d'affaires in the United States, will be raised to the rank of minister. Koreans are very desirous of cultivating warm relations with progressive nations of the west."

Society Funeral.

The funeral of the late George Houston, who met his death by drowning in the Otanabee River a few days ago, and whose body was recovered at Camp Welltown on Monday, took place, at ten o'clock yesterday morning from his late residence, corner of Reid and Smith streets. The funeral was largely attended, the service being conducted by the Orange Order, in which deceased was a member, being connected with L.O.L. No. 41, Emily. The services at the house were conducted by Rev. J. G. Foster and at the grave by Messrs. Yallier Meier and Magistig on behalf of the Orange Order. The pall bearers were Messrs. Wm. Head, H. Finley, J. Mahood, A. McCall, J. Fowler and W. J. Finley.

OUT ON BAIL.

Arrested Charge Against a Fontaine Man.

A rather extraordinary case came up before County Magistrate Edmonson Tuesday night at which several prominent Toronto lawyers were in attendance.

John Hayes, of Arden, in the County of Frontenac, was charged with committing four rather serious offenses, the complainants being the Canadian Pacific Railway Company of Canada.

The charges were in effect that the accused unlawfully and without any authority, interfered with the free use of the railway, and endeavored to prevent the men of the road from doing their work.

Hayes is a rather prominent man in his own neighbourhood. He is a county constable, sheriff's officer, and a mail carrier between the station and the village of Arden. He was arrested and brought to town on Sunday last by a constable of the C.P.R., and was lodged for safe keeping in the town cells. According to the Railway Law it is justifiable to bring an action partly before a magistrate of any municipality along the line, provided only that the said accused party has been arrested by a constable of the railway company.

This, then, accounts for the apparently extraordinary procedure of Hayes being arrested in Fontaine, and being brought before the local County Magistrate.

Police Magistrate Dumble allowed the prisoner to go on Monday on his own undertaking to appear at five o'clock on Tuesday, but the railway constable, who appears to have considerable authority vested in him, inasmuch as he has the privilege of saying by whom his prisoner shall be tried, had the case come on before County Magistrate Edmonson, as previously stated, last night.

ARE SIZZLING IN THE UNITED STATES

Many Cities Still Suffering From the Heat and Hundrede of People are Dying--Still no sign of Relief.

Philadelphia, July 3.—A cool breeze from the south tempered the heat slightly this morning, but a jump of eight degrees in one hour to 99 indicated degrees scorching day. The minimum temperature during the night was 81 degrees. Up to 9 o'clock eleven deaths had occurred, and the hospitals reported about 35 prostrations.

Boston, July 3.—This city entered upon its seventh day of oppressive heat, with the thermometer at about 9 o'clock.

New York, July 3.—It was not so hot in this city as it was yesterday, but the percentage of humidity was much greater, being 78, as compared with 59 yesterday. From 3 to 9 a.m. eleven deaths due to heat were reported in New York and Brooklyn.

Pittsburg, July 3.—Eighty-six deaths directly attributable to the excessive heat have occurred in Pittsburg since last Wednesday. Of this number, 61 were reported since Sunday night.

Kansas City, Mo., July 3, 8 a.m.—The mercury registered 89, or five degrees more than at the same time yesterday, without a breath of air stirring. Last night the suffering was great. Four prostrations, one fatal, were reported.

Chicago, July 3.—Although the temperature at 8:30 a.m. to-day was down to 73, the humidity showed 85 per cent.

Philadelphia, July 3.—The total number of deaths from heat in this city since the beginning of the present hot spell is 91.

Washington, July 3.—The mercury is again climbing upward, and at 9:45 a.m. the official thermometer registered 86, a rise of six degrees since 6 o'clock. The Weather Bureau reiterated today its announcement that there is no permanent break in the hot spell in sight. Sixteen deaths in the past six days have been either directly or indirectly attributable to the heat.

Boston, July 3.—During the six days of excessive heat in New England nearly 100 deaths have occurred which have been attributable to the weather conditions.

London, July 4.—Lord Roberts testified today before the Royal Commission which is considering the claims of foreigners deported from South Africa. The Commander-in-Chief dealt with the plea against his life and the deportation of the ringleaders. He said the officers and employees of the Netherlands railway were no hostile to the British that many of them had to be deported. Every consideration was shown them. He personally investigated the great majority of cases and sanctioned none unless on adequate grounds. No difference was made on account of nationality.

The court room was crowded with interested spectators. Mr. McMurich, of Toronto, appeared on behalf of the railway company, and Mr. E. B. Johnston was present on behalf of the Crown. Mr. W. A. Stratton represented the prisoner, who did not plead. The time of the court was taken up until after eleven o'clock, the greater portion of which was spent in discussing points of law. The evidence on the first charge was gone into, and the case was adjourned for one week. Hayes was released from custody on $2,000 bail of two sureties. Hayes will appear at the specified time before the Kingston police magistrate, it will be equivalent to his appearing before County Magistrate Edmonson, who will forward the case to Kingston officials.

EMPRESS WILL NOT RETURN TO PEKIN

Expresses the Fear That She Will be Made a Prisoner.

A NEW CAPITAL CHOSEN

Seat of Government to be Kai-Feng-Fu, in Ho-Nan Province.

Shanghai, July 3.—Marquis Tseng has received a dispatch from Singan-Fu to the effect that the Dowager Empress, fearing a trap to capture her, declines to return to Peking, and has notified the grand council that the future capital will be Kai-Feng-Fu, in the province of Ho-Nan.

Prince Chun is expected to arrive here July 18, and to sail on board the North German Lloyd steamship Bayern for Bremen July 20.

Tien Tsin, July 3.—This city of Tien Tsin is now more crowded than ever. Officers of all nations are here en route for their homes, and the hotels placing cots in every available place.

Apartment have been prepared at the University of Tien Tsin for Prince Chun, and his suite of forty, who will remain there for three days before leaving for Germany to make formal apologies for the murder of Baron von Ketteler.

Mr. Denby, who, when the foreign troops arrived, was appointed by the China Merchants Company to protect its property, says that company in its claim against the United States government, does not use the word "loot" against the marines, but merely holds them responsible. The greater part of the company's property consisted of rice, which was afterwards distributed under orders from the British and American Generals, to assist those in need.

Mr. Denby thinks the company's claim should have been added to the indemnity as legitimate expenditure. Other Tien Tsin merchants say the company never had 300,000 taels' worth of property here.

Capt. Everfield asserts that the signals along the coast are insufficient; if indeed there are any at all. From what he could learn of the situation, he believes that between Cape Haze and St. John's Nfld., there is not one sounding foghorn, a condition of affairs to be deeply deplored.

Montreal, July 4.—In all my experience as a navigator I never saw such discipline maintained under such trying circumstances as that of the crew of the Lusitania, headed by Capt. McNay, on the night the vessel struck the rock off Cape Ballard," said Capt. G. A. Everfield, late of the Lagoon, to a reporter this morning. Capt. Everfield was a passenger on the ill-fated vessel.

When the vessel struck the signal to lower the lifeboats was at once given, and the crew, as if on cue, jumped to their posts, ready and willing to do their duty. Immediately all the passengers scrambled on deck to ascertain the cause of the trouble, but were calmly met by Capt. McNay and told that all that was necessary to save everybody on board was to maintain order. This the passengers did, not without the excitement of the moment, and the danger of the situation, until a little later a few of the male stowaway passengers made an effort in their flight to escape by way of the lifeboats, which by this time were being filled with women and children.

The prompt action of Capt. McNay and his efficient crew kept the disturbance in subjection without much difficulty, until the women and children had

LACK OF DANGER SIGNALS ON NEWFOUNDLANDS COAST

Wreck of the Lusitania Attributed to This::That Story About Immigrants Using Knives on Lusitania Was a Fake.

Montreal, July 4.—In all my experience as a navigator I never saw such discipline maintained under such trying circumstances as that of the crew of the Lusitania, headed by Capt. McNay, on the night the vessel struck the rock off Cape Ballard," said Capt. G. A. Everfield, late of the Lagoon, to a reporter this morning. Capt. Everfield was a passenger on the ill-fated vessel.

When the vessel struck the signal to lower the lifeboats was at once given, and the crew, as if on cue, jumped to their posts, ready and willing to do their duty. Immediately all the passengers scrambled on deck to ascertain the cause of the trouble, but were calmly met by Capt. McNay and told that all that was necessary to save everybody on board was to maintain order. This the passengers did, not without the excitement of the moment, and the danger of the situation, until a little later a few of the male stowaway passengers made an effort in their flight to escape by way of the lifeboats, which by this time were being filled with women and children.

The prompt action of Capt. McNay and his efficient crew kept the disturbance in subjection without much difficulty, until the women and children had been safely landed on the beach some quarter of a mile away. Then the men and boys were taken ashore, much to the satisfaction of all concerned.

As to the report at the time of the accident, that the seerage passengers had resorted to knives in their attempts to beat their way into the lifeboats, regardless of the women and children, Capt. Everfield states that it is a wholesale fabrication.

Capt. Everfield states that the accident to the Lusitania was the means of averting a similar disaster to a large steamer. About three hours after the vessel struck, this unknown boat was making straight for the rocks, which held the Lusitania fast. The whistle of the wrecked steamer was sounded, with what steam remained, with the result that the lookout of the approaching steamer must have signalled danger ahead, as she suddenly turned astern and made off through the fog at full speed.

Capt. Everfield asserts that the signals along the coast are insufficient; if indeed there are any at all. From what he could learn of the situation, he believes that between Cape Haze and St. John's Nfld., there is not one sounding foghorn, a condition of affairs to be deeply deplored.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 4 1901

ECHOES OF LONG AGO.

I haven't seen a katydid

Since I was one and twenty
 Like those that in the meadows hid
 When I had time to plenty
 To see them strutting like a daw,
 Their dress coat tails a-drawing;
 Girls said they were; they only saw
 Them when they weren't a-sawing.

Six weeks before the first they come

At least, that is the custom;
 But things are different some
 To suit the disposition
 Of Madame Katy and her law
 This tries to rule the weather
 And they don't regularly draw
 Like things that draw together.

I used to lie upon my bed

When quite a little fellow,
 And wonder who the chorus led
 That made the moon look yellow
 For, over her and over there,
 "Twas earth and Little Dipper,
 This one would use a cross-cut where
 That one would use a ripper.

Close to my window there was one

Whom others seemed to revile,
 Whose saw, it seemed to me, had run
 Too long without a fling,
 But pluckily he kept at work,
 At intervals erratic,
 And when he gave his saw a jerk
 Its tone was quite asthmatic.

At length came gentle, dreamy sleep

Her curtains round me drawing
 And all the constant sawing;
 And when, at early morn, I woke,
 So solemn was the stillness,
 I thought a paralytic stroke
 Was the prevailing illness.

But youth departed with the years,

And boyhood left behind it
 Like something missed that disappeared
 And Echo leaves to find it;
 But memory kindly comes when bled
 To me in dreams a-plenty;
 But comes no more the katydid
 I knew at one and twenty!

The Mystery Explained.

It was the day before quarter-day
 When my cousin Peter Post came into the house, dressed in a shabby suit, with the nap worn off his hat, his garments threadbare with much wear and excessive brushing, and a pair of fingerless gloves upon his hands.

I cannot say that I was glad to see him. My cousin Peter Post was one of those luckless fellows who are always losing property, making unfortunate investments, and borrowing small sums of money which are to be repaid without fail at the expiration of precisely one week from the date of the loan. But he was a good sort of fellow, too, in his way. He had made a love match with a pretty blue-eyed girl without a penny, and had half-a-dozen children, and how they lived nobody knew.

"Going to move next quarter, Jacobi," said he, hesitatingly.

 "I suppose so," said I.
 "So I am," said Peter. "Rent's getting too high—landlady has raised it all that sort of thing. So we're going to No. 11 Smith street."

I looked hard at Peter Post and made no remark. Was he going to ask me to lend him five pounds, or to demand that I should become security for his rent? I resolved in my innermost mind to say "No" to either proposition at once.

"And, as we're pretty low for furniture," said Peter, "it occurred to my mind that perhaps you'd send us any old odds and ends that you've no particular use for. Children's cribs, chairs, wash-tubs—anything, in fact,"

 with a comprehensive wave of the hand which seemed to embrace the whole subject.

"Peter Post," said I wrathfully, "do you think I've nothing to do but to buy furniture to give away?"

"Any old thing, you know," interposed my cousin, with imperturbable good humor. "We aren't particular."

 "I have no old things," my future-in-law said substantially and excellently. "Wish mine was!" interjected Peter, rubbing the palms of his fingerless gloves together briskly.

"And I do not propose to part with it. So I wish you a very good morning."

"You aren't angry, I hope," said Peter. "Good morning," I repeated frostily;

 and just then my clerk came in to tell me that the van driver was waiting outside for orders as to the moving of the furniture.

I went home after business hours and told my wife about it.

 "I'm sorry, Jacob," said she, a slight shadow coming over her face.
 "Sorry?" I echoed.

"Because, dear, there are plenty of little odds and ends we could have spared just as well as not," said my wife. "Furniture does accumulate so when one has been keeping house so long time, and I do feel so sorry for that poor little Nelly Post, with her flock of children."

"I don't," I resolutely asserted. "As people make their fate, so they must put up with the results. We ought not to be hard upon each other in this world, Jacob."

"That's all nonsense," said I stoutly.

But I won't deny that my conscience did prick and sting me when I looked round at my own abundance of stuffed easy chairs, Brussels carpets and sprightly chintz lounges, ready packed for transportation, and thought of poor Post and his six little Posts, with their bare floors for a few sticks of cast-off furniture.

The morning came—the cruel quarter-day, with its raw wind and the inevitable showers which come down as if by magic—preparing just as the mattress and the alken sofas are being carried into the huge vans. I was compelled to be at my office, but my wife

Fire! Fire!!

When that cry sounds how people rush to help and sympathize! And when some fireman rescues a woman from the flames, the streets echo with applauding shouts.

And yet, if a woman is rescued from the flames it is possible that she would have suffered less than she suffers almost daily from the inflammation which disease has lighted in the delicate womanly organism.

A TORONTO LADY'S STORY

Suffered From Backache So Severe She Could Hardly Raise Herself in Bed.

SHE THANKS DR. PITCHER'S BACKACHE KIDNEY TABLETS FOR COMPLETELY CURING HER AND GIVING HER NEW LIFE AND ENERGY.

There are hundreds of women in Toronto and thousands in Canada to whom life is an absolute burden on account of the unceasing ache in the back, the dragging pains in the loins, the headaches and aches.

Many, too, are suffering from kidney irritability, bladder and urinary troubles, who are reticent about mentioning their ailments to anyone.

To all these kidney and backache sufferers Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets come as a veritable boon and blessing. They clear out the clogged-up kidneys, cure the backache and urinary troubles, roll away the burden of pain, and give health, strength and energy.

Miss Anna Defoe, a young lady whose address is 355 King Street West, Toronto, recently wrote as follows: "For a number of years I have had kidney trouble and backache, so bad that in the morning I could hardly raise myself. A severe dragging pain would catch me in the small of my back, and I had no appetite, and often suffered from severe headaches, and a general breaking down of the entire system. But, thanks to Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, they put new life and energy in me, relieving me of that awful pain and soreness gently and easily, so much so, that I continued to get better, until I was entirely cured. I am in condition now to make known to the world what Dr. Pitcher's Tablets have done for me and for whose future welfare I have the best wishes."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50 cents a box at all druggists. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

was to be at the new house to receive the furniture, while Bridget, our ancient and reliable housekeeper, dispatched to the deserted domicile.

At one o'clock I contrived to escape from clogs and parchment, and hurried in 111 Downing Square—a fine, airy, light room, with a green lawn and a public garden in its midst, and a general air of genteel seclusion about it which suited my idea of a location exactly.

Mrs. Jacob Goldfeld sat alone on a cushion in the middle of the large, empty dining room, a shawl wrapped round her shoulders, and a mingled expression of weariness and anticipation on her face.

I looked round in surprise. "Where's all the furniture, my dear?" I said.

"That is the question," said Mrs. Goldfeld. "Where is it?"

"Of course it hasn't," said Mrs. Goldfeld, a little impatiently. "I should think you could see that for yourself."

"There's some arrow loom in the arrangements," said I. "I'll hurry back to the house and find out what it all means."

I did so at once. Bridget, with an old handkerchief tied round her head, and a red shawl enveloping her, a la London, Queen of the Britons, was waiting up the house.

"Sally, I was going round to me, could you get a bit of something to eat," said she. "The second van has gone, and the man won't be back for an hour or so."

"Bridget," said I reproachfully, "where is the man?"

"To the new house, sure," said Bridget. "Where should it go?"

"Did you tell him where to drive?" I asked.

"Sure, he had a bit of a card that you wrote yourself," said Bridget.

I tore my hair. Who ever heard of a load of furniture getting lost in the streets of a metropolis, like a black-and-tan terrier, a barbed-wire dog?

"What on earth does this mean?" I demanded, apostrophizing the dismantled windows, the fireless grate, rather than any actual personality.

At that moment Mrs. Goldfeld came hurriedly in.

"I couldn't rest quietly without coming to see what all this could mean," said she. "Oh, Jacob, shall we be left without a pillow to lay our heads on this night?"

"If the worst comes to the worst, we can go to an hotel," suggested I. "But it's the most mysterious example of an unaccountable disappearance that I ever heard of."

Just then there came a loud ringing at the door bell, and in tripped cousin Peter Post's blue-eyed little wife.

"Dear, dear cousin Jacob," she cried, running up to me in tears. "I must thank you with my own lips."

"Thank me? For what?" I demanded, wondering if trouble and impudently had driven the little creature mad.

"I could hardly believe my own eyes," said she breathlessly. "And I'm so sorry I called you a 'hard-hearted flint' last night when Peter came home and told me how coldly you had repulsed him. How was I to know that you were all the time meditating this delightful surprise?"

I turned to my wife.

"Speak to her, Alice," said I, in a whisper. "Do contrive somehow to soothe her. I'm very much afraid she's going home."

Mrs. Goldfeld, who has always been partial to my cousin Peter's wife, went up to her with outstretched hands.

"Tell me about it, dear," said she.

"Don't you know?" said she. "Ah, he's so good! He never lets his left hand know what his right one does. It's the way with all real philanthropists. It's the beautiful furniture, Mrs. Goldfeld—chairs, sofas, tables, mattresses, a lovely set of china—all packed in barrels, carpets, engravings—oh, everything that you could possibly think of! Our little house is furnished completely. And oh, we did so need it!"

"Stop!" said I huskily. "How did you know all these things came from me?"

I asked the van driver," she said; "and he said Mr. Jacob Goldfeld had sent him; and he showed me a card with 'No. 11 Smith Street' written on it in your own handwriting."

This then explained the mystery. In my angry preoccupation of the day before I had written the address of the house which my cousin Peter Post had told me he was about to move into, instead of my own!

My wife looked at me with sparkling eyes of love and admiration.

"Dear Jacob," said she, "I knew—I knew you could be noble and magnanimous when you chose!"

"Oh, how—how can I ever thank you sufficiently?" sobbed Nolly, her pretty blue eyes overflowing with grateful tears.

I said nothing. What could I say? To this day the Posts believe that I had a spontaneous burst of generosity on that day before quarter-day. But I had to explain matters to my wife, and I checked the career of the van driver at once.

"Never mind, dear," said Mrs. Goldfeld. "We can buy new furniture. Your cousin Peter Post needs it so much, and Nolly was so grateful."

And that was all the consolation I had.

Gain Strength

The new Constitutional treatment not only eradicates the disease, but renews the exhausted strength.

A great many people suffering from Cancer and Tumors, find their strength rapidly slipping away. These horrible diseases undermine the health and sap the vitality.

To operate or use plasters, simply means further exhaustion. The new Constitutional treatment, instead of weakening, actually builds up the strength and invigorates the entire system, not only this, but it arrests the progress of the disease and entirely eliminates every particle of the Cancer poison from the system. It is a pleasant treatment, an ointment is taken at home, without pain or inconvenience.

For full particulars write Messrs Scott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont., enclosing 3 stamps. All correspondence entirely confidential.

THE LOCAL PRINTING.

A Great Deal of the Local Printing Being Done in Toronto.

The attention of the Times has been called to the fact that considerable quantities of local printing is being done in Toronto. This is not as it should be. If our merchants and others send their orders for printing and stationery out of town, they are not doing what is right.

We have been informed of one case where a church society, after getting free local and write-ups without number, have for some time been getting printing done in Toronto, and paying therefor higher prices than they could get the work done at home for.

The local printing establishments afford employment to a large number of persons, and are the means of putting into circulation considerable sums of money. The Times, for instance, has upwards of 50 employees, who spend their wages with the merchants of the town, and it is only fair that the merchants should reciprocate, instead of helping outside printers.

For the Postponed.

The annual picnic under the auspices of the George street Sunday school, which was to have taken place yesterday in Jackson Park, was postponed until today. If the weather should again be unfavorable, a further postponement will be made until Tuesday next.

Girls Wanted.

—Campbellford Herald: "Mr. G. W. Ranney of Belleville is here this week on a visit to friends. He was one of the first settlers in Campbellford, having come here in 1834, when the only church was a small Scotch one of the old crick grounds. Ranney's Falls took their name from him. Mr. Ranney is now aged and grey, and nearly all his old associates of former days have passed over the great borderland."

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD.

Business Transacted at the Regular July Meeting.

The Separate School Board met Wednesday evening, there being present: Messrs. Murray (Chairman), McRath, Henry, Kyle, Clancy, Gieslin and Hickley. The Ven. Archbishop Casey, superintendent of schools, was also present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

ATTENDANCE.

Reports of attendance of schools for June were received as follows:

On roll, Ave. The Convent (St. Joseph's), 244 224

Lake St. school (St. Mary's), 224 194

Murray St. school (St. Peter's) - No report received.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Communications were received from the Deputy Minister of Education stating that the separate school kindergarten had been placed upon the official list—Received.

From the Education Department enclosing Inspector White's report of his visit to the schools during May—Received.

Accounts were received from H. Hicks & Co., $6.25; F. F. Gordon, $10.

The accounts were ordered to be paid when certified.

A special committee to consider the report of Inspector White was appointed, consisting of the Ven. Archbishop Casey, the chairman of the Board, and the School Management committee, to report at a special meeting to be called by the chairman.

The Property Committee reported repairs requiring the attention of the Board, which should be done during the present vacation. The matter was referred back to the committee to get an idea of the probable cost of work needed to be done, to report at the special meeting.

The Board then adjourned.

A Big Drive.

The alligator, McIntosh, owned by the Refractory Co., Toronto, went through here from that place, on Wednesday, and will be launched in the river at Lindsay. The McIntosh will be detached to Cobocok, from which point she will lose the company's drive, which is now in Big Mud Turtle Lake, to Trenton. The drive comprises about 50,000, logs with about 40 men in charge, and is one of the largest that has gone through these waters for a couple of years.

Communications.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—That this is the faith of the future, it is difficult to doubt. Theologically, Christian Science furnishes perfect data for argument. It comprehends all that is spiritual in other cults, Christian and pagan. Practically it furnishes equal spiritual consolation, and equal physical results with other cults also. A failure on the part of Christian Science to mend a broken leg is no worse than the failure of the ordinary Christian miracle worker to do the same. Churches also continue to rely on lightning rods. Why then is it that Christian Science is making such headway? The answer is "Simply because it assumes that to know God is really to dwell in Him, and that dwelling in Him is really perfect peace. It is this peace, and, moreover, its ability to mend old-time cults assume perfection but have a working basis of imperfection and contending. Then, discommoded by a bound in time to dawn upon even a less credulous public. It is dwelling at the present time rapidly. The ancients had a motto meaning, 'Believe and thou art.' In this new cult, a fanatic fancying himself a king, if one really believes a thing, then one really believes it—that is all; and if astray is adjudged a mental degeneration, that is a fiction; for it is to the one most concerned, all the same. I once knew a man who thought himself handsome. Not that his most candid friends could say could after the delusion. That man had the state of mind of a Christian Scientist or of any other Christian who judges by the undemonstrable half fact and half fiction, will not do in these latter days. It must be all one or the other.

ANTI-HUMAN.

The Police Balance.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Your wide-awake and up-to-date suggestion in re the police balance, must find a response in the mind of every sensible person who has at heart the welfare of the town. If we could transform our fossilized council into a commission of three men like yourself we would have a corporation conducted on business methods. The unsightly poles are a reflection upon the intelligence of our people, and until the time comes when all these wires shall have to be placed underground, your suggestion is the only feasible one. As far as our unsightly poles, what will the time when our electric power becomes fully developed, as we hope to see it some day? Let our Council take action at the earliest possible period, if it does not want to be considered as useless as the poles are unsightly.

COMMON SENSE.

Peterborough, July 4.

A Narrow View.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—A writer in one of your local contemporaries, who writes with the celebration on Dominion Day. Why did not attend the meetings and help to make the affair more of a success than it was? The Committee did not expect the day, which every loyal and patriotic citizen should regard as a national day.

The writer, in his carping, forgets that everything that is done is done for the pleasure afforded by the fireworks display, was above words the effort, from a monetary standpoint.

It makes me weary to hear men, who are either too lazy or are lacking in patriotism to assist, let others do all the work, and then find fault.

A WORKMAN.

Mr. John Carnegie, President of the Auburn Power Company in favor of the Town owning the Poles.

Mr. John Carnegie, President of the Auburn Power Company, is in favor of the town taking over the street poles belonging to the light and power companies of the town. He told The Times yesterday that the idea was a good one, and would relieve the situation.

As The Times explained yesterday, there will be three additional companies seeking pole rights in the course of a short time—the Peterborough Hydraulic Power Company, the Cordage Company and the Canadian General Electric Co. It would be impossible to give all pole rights to the streets, and the only way to solve the difficulty is for the town to erect poles, and rent the right to string wires to the different companies.

Mr. Carnegie's Company intends to go into lighting in addition to its power business, when they expect pole rights on most of the streets of the town.

We hope the council will take the matter up in time.

THE ELECTRIC POWER HOUSE.

Work Progressing on the Electric Company's Buildings.

Under the able and energetic supervision of Mr. Moss, the power house which is being constructed by the Canadian General Electric Company at Nassau, is progressing satisfactorily.

The excavation is about completed. The dimensions will be 60x75, and the wheel pits, 6x8x8. The lower work will be of concrete, and the building of brick, with iron roof.

A stone crusher has been put to work and active building will start at once.

Some difficulty is being experienced in getting a gutter dam constructed, but it is expected that the building completed by November.

A MYSTERY IN WHICH THE AMERICAN PROPOSAL WERE ONCE DEEPLY CONCERNED.

It was that which shadowed the life of one of the most remarkable characters of the country," writes William Perrine, in the Ladies' Home Journal. "In 1829 Samuel Houston, or, as he called and signed himself, 'Sam' Houston, was Governor of Tennessee. It was in the midst of a campaign for re-election to the gubernatorial chair that Tennessee was startled by a report that he had resigned his office. He had been married to the daughter of an influential family; three months afterward she returned to her father's house, and her husband resolved to pass the rest of his life in the wilderness.

"Houston betook himself to the tribe of Cherokees in the Indian Territory; he adopted their costume, appearing in all the trappings of an Indian brave, and his hair grew down his back, and visiting Washington with a buckskin hunting-shirt, yellow leggings, a huge blanket, and turkey feathers around his head. No one could induce him to reveal the secret of his metamorphosis and his abandonment of the ways and habits of civilization. He married again after he emerged from his Indian life, and he lived to be an old man, dying in the midst of the Civil War, but no one was ever able to persuade him to unlock the mystery of his life. Nor would his first wife, who also married again, throw any light on the mystery."

Solomon Shinn's Advice to Education.

Mr. Editor:—

If I were boss

We would have less clay modelling and more arithmetic in the public schools.

Grammar and typewriting would take the place of music and color study.

If a boy or a girl is well up in arithmetic and grammar he stands less risk of starving to death than if his specialty is color schemes or clay figures.

That's what the most of us here on this earth are trying to do—keep from starving.

Multiplication tables and good English can be taught successfully to every pupil, if time and pains are taken. Color study and clay modelling can't.

In the first place, the teachers are ordinarily just about as unfit to teach art as the pupils are to learn it.

In the second place, the vast majority of pupils in the public schools will soon have to earn their own living, and even if they do become expert clay modellers and colorists, they never can make any use of their knowledge.

Give the children bread and butter, and those who have a taste for cake that's worth cultivating will get it.

And that's the way it would be if I were boss—Solomon Sloan.

England Boy Choir.

Julian Ralph, writing of "The Choir Boys of England," in the Ladies' Home Journal, says "Small boys are much preferred for the reason that they develop into manhood later than big, stalwart children, for it is at the coming of manhood that their voices break and they are obliged to stop singing until their adult tones are reached—a matter of great boyish trouble in a delicate as the bloom on a peach, and its possessor must lead an orderly and innocent life, which is why so many choirs are made up of boys taken from their homes and boarded and taught in choral institutions. Times, sometimes are able to sing until they are seventeen or eighteen years of age, though between fourteen and fifteen is the usual period when their voices

BOERS NOW IN BERMUDA.

One Thousand Boers Now Living in Bermuda.

They Long for Cessation of Hostilities.

Hamilton, Bermuda, July 6. The Boer prisoners are now somewhat settled after their long sea voyage from St. Helena. They seem to feel quite at home, and are settling down to life on Darrell's Island with equanimity. They number about 1,000, and are a fairly intelligent lot. To a newspaper representative, Commandant Kilner said that the Boers were hardly deceived by Kruger and Steyn. They were led to believe that the Lord was on their side, and they were sure of victory. The object was to drive the British out of South Africa, and unite the two Dutch republics. Kruger made no secret of his intention, and for years—ever since Majuba Hill—he was preparing for war. Vast quantities of ammunition, rifles and provisions were accumulated and stored in many places. The Boers are anxious for the conclusion of peace. They are disgusted with the conduct of De Wet and Botha. They speak in the highest terms of their treatment by the British.

The officers of this crack regiment regarded their banishment as the worst misfortune that could befall them, but they became so enamored with the little colony, so fascinated with its beauty and climate, so fascinated with its gay and cosmopolitan winter life, that they expressed deep regret when they were recalled home.

WILL MAKE BOERS COMFORTABLE.

PLEASANT QUARTERS FOR PRISONERS.

The future home of the burghers is situated within the Great Sound, in which the yacht race—one of the features of Bermuda life—was sailed. These events, with possibly a little fishing, will be the recreation to vary the monotonous lives of the prisoners. Owing to the difficulty of transportation, they will probably not be allowed to go to liberty on parole, as do their countrymen in St. Helena, in order to dispose of their wares, even should they spend their time in manufacturing the many beautiful articles often made from the native cedar and palmetto.

The coming of the prisoners is a source of pleasure to the islanders, who hope to keep a rich harvest therefrom, as the cost of maintaining the Boers will be great and all contracts for provisions and supplies have been awarded to local contractors. Another reason for rejoicing is the presence of a white regiment, which will go far toward removing the apprehension felt at the attitude of the black soldiers at the outbreak of the South African war, and who have given the authorities much trouble.

Never since the arrival here of the Grenadier Guards, some years ago, has Bermuda been so completely aroused from the apathy which settles here during the summer season. The Guards were sent here in disgrace, after they had mutinied in Wellington Barracks.

Numbering All Of The Boers.

Original Force Placed at 65,000 by The Intelligence Officers.

14,000 ARE STILL IN THE FIELD

London, July 6.—A correspondent of The Express, writing from Cape Town, says that our intelligence department, after searching Boer archives at the two former capitals and at other points, has at last got at the number of men who from first to last, fought for Kruger in this war. The papers have been sent to the War Office, says the correspondent, and will doubtless soon be available for the first inquisitive M.P. It is certain he adds, that not even the Boer leaders themselves know within 10,000 men how many they actually had in the field. The number is now placed at 65,000. If anything, this total is above the mark, and the intelligence officers are said to have added a footnote to the effect that they represent the maximum of the force which the war broke out on Feb. 23, 1901.

The figures given in the letter are as follows:—
Transvaal, 20,000
Free State, 22,000
Foreigners (including those killed), 7,000
Boers prior to or just after the outbreak of hostilities, 7,000
Cape and Natal rebels, 8,000
At the end of February it was estimated that 11,000 of this force had been slain or had died of disease, 16,000 were prisoners, 4,000 rebels were awaiting trial, 5,400 men were on parole or had taken the oath of allegiance (mostly in the Free State), 2,500 foreigners had been sent out of the country at the expense of the British Government, 500 foreigners escaped, and certainly 5,000 were in hiding as unincorporated or wounded or unfit for fighting.

This left at the end of February 20,400 as the total Boer force. The correspondent accounts for 3,000 more up to June last, leaving the Boer force on that date at 17,400. For as more Cape rebels have joined them since February, the final figures are placed at 14,000 on June last.

The correspondent adds:—
It must not be forgotten in considering the foregoing figures that during the war the Boers have had the services of certainly 100,000 aborigines, who have performed the laborious work, such as the digging of trenches, the handling of transport, and care of horses and cattle.

"While not 25 per cent. of the British Army were actual combatants, it can safely be said that 40 per cent. of the Boer forces have always been available for the firing line. They have no lines of communication to guard, no garrisons, no Army Service Corps, and as they are now living by plundering their own countrymen the task of killing or capturing the 14,000 still at large is no light one.
"It will surprise most people to know that the names of some 1,700 men and 300 women are in the possession of our intelligence Department who, at one time or other, formed the Boer Field Force. The number largely exceeded this there is no room for doubt."

SPOILED IT ALL.

Kirkton People Held Memorial For Their "Dead Soldier, and Then Got a Letter From Him.

London, July 6.—A sad congregation assembled at the church at Kirkton. A memorial service was being held for W. J. C. Brown, a popular young man, who had lived near there with his father, Mr. Samuel Brown, until he went to South Africa to fight in the war with the Boers. A day or so before, his father received a telegram telling of his boy's death on May 28, and because of the sympathy for him and kindly thoughts for the young soldier, his neighbors decided to hold the memorial service. The whole congregation attended it, an eleven Mr. B. H. preached a stirring patriotic sermon. Everything possible was done to honor the young soldier's memory.

Now the people around Kirkton know that the man they mourned is dead. His father got a letter from him on Dominion Day. This in itself would not prove that he is alive, because in several instances letters have come to Canada that were posted before the writers died in Africa, but the circumstances of this case are peculiar.
When W. J. C. Brown left Kirkton, he went with his cousin, also W. J. C. Brown, called Caleb, while his father, William, called Caleb, was in London, and as his father objected to his going to the war, he came down to Kirkton, and went as William's brother. When the telegram announcing the latter's death was received at Kirkton, it was noticed that it mentioned Caleb's army list number, not William's, but little was thought of this, and the memorial service was held.
The letter received Monday attests the matter, however, because in it William J. C. Brown tells of the death of W. J. C. Brown.

Big Wages On American Boats.

British Sailors Are Astonished at Their Treatment.

COMRADSHIP OF THE CAPTAIN.

Liverpool, July 6.—The appearance of the Northampton, the pioneer freighter on the Chicago-Liverpool route, has caused a good deal of comment here. The point that is dwelt upon with greatest emphasis is the difference in the treatment accorded, and the wages paid, between the American lake sailors and those from British ports. The Journal of Commerce, the particular organ of the shipping interests here, discusses this question as follows:
"A close inquiry, made on board, is convincing of the fact that everyone of the hands is perfectly happy and contented, that each and all do their work in a whole-hearted and efficient manner, and that comparing the system adopted in her with that obtaining in vessels of her class under the British flag, the American method of dealing with ship crews is far away ahead of the course adopted in ships of our own nationality."

"First in importance, we consider, is the matter of food. On the Northampton American sailors live well, but deep water ships under the Stars and Stripes do not live just as they do on the steamer now in Liverpool from the great lakes. On board of her, captain, mates, lookout men, 'wheel' men, engineers, stokers, greasers, and cook, all men at one table, while the deck hands and the firemen are supplied with the same food exactly, but they partake of it in a very comfortable mess-room—not their sleeping apartment—by themselves.

"The arrangement is, according to the unanimous testimony of all on board, excellent. Nothing better is asked, and as for growing, such as is the commonest form of insubordination on board an English ship, it is unheard of. In fact, such a contingency is so planned against the hands of possibility, for the only one qualified to complain of the food is the captain, and he is doubtless well to be made to make his wishes known on the matter if the food is cooked or served up in anything but the best form."

AMAZED BY THE WAGES.

"The pay on board the ship now referred to is of a standard to make Englishmen stand aghast. The chief officer gets as much as the junior captain in our lines; the second mate gets a good mate's pay, whilst the quartermasters and lookouts get the wages of the senior officers in many British ships, namely, $45.
"It is the cook, however, who fares well, for he draws $50 a month, but he gives satisfaction, keeps the crew pleased with themselves and everybody else, for it is a fact that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach."

"And here lies the secret of the better service on American vessels. The men are expected to work and get almost alive at times, but they are well fed, and we believe the cook if a valid complaint gets at respecting the menu. British ships lack in this essential and so 'thoroly.'"
THE GREAT DIAMOND KING.
Cecil Rhodes was going home to England by the Cape Town ship. Cecil Rhodes is to leave Cape Town for England July 9, going home for a visit, he says, but friends are saying that he is really going home to die.
The once-cruel figure of the diamond king, who has dominated the wilderness, cut paths through it for the march of civilization, and who has made and unmade maps in South Africa, is no wiser and decrepit.
It is believed that Rhodes is threatened with paralysis, and will not long survive.
An Oxford undergraduate Rhodes went to South Africa to prolong his life a few years. Africa agreed with him in more ways than physically. He became its master, and in the vast expanse of possibility ambition made of the weak school boy a man of iron. When the British South African Charter came into being one of the great country five times the size of Great Britain, the richest, the most fertile, most healthy and best watered in all Africa, was added to the British Empire by the will of one man, without authority, and in the very teeth of that empire's opposition.
Then came the Jameson raid. It was a fiasco. It was Rhodes' only mistake. Yet it succeeded. South Africa is practically British today. This raid struck Rhodes off all his official positions.

MR. WHITNEY HAS DOUBTS.

Does Not Look For an Election This Year.

Toronto, July 5.—Mr. J. P. Whitney, M.P., is not down for a few days in connection with a reporter he disclaimed any plans for the future in the direction of holding meetings in respect to a question whether his visit had any political significance, he said. "All my views have" asked as to his plans as to when the Provincial elections would be held, the Conservative leader replied:—
"I have nothing to do with the date of the elections, but I may say I do not look for an election this fall. The Government have promised and properly so—to further representations to the north-western districts, and that cannot be given without holding another session. They have also declared against a winter campaign. Therefore, for my part, I cannot see how, in view of the Premier's absence in Europe, to be followed on his return by the visit of the Duke of Cornwall and York, a session can be held in time to have the elections this fall."

States' Surplus Of $75,000,000

Secretary Gage Issues a Statement From Treasury Books.

THE HEAVY COST OF THE ARMY

Washington, July 6.—Secretary Gage has issued a statement from the treasury books, showing that after all payments have been made there remains a surplus of $75,000,000, as a result of the year's transactions. While this is about $1,000,000 short of the prediction made by Secretary Gage for the year now ending, his estimate was made at a time when there was no way of knowing that the Chinese campaign would cost this country so dearly.

Subtracting the cost of the military operations in China, the surplus would be about $74,000,000, against the prediction of $75,000,000. As it is the surplus is greater than during any year except one in the past 10 years. There were some heavy payments made during the past week that served to cut down somewhat the Government's profit, several million dollars being withdrawn for payment of the returning volunteer corps and on account of other military expenses.

The total expenses for the year amount to $79,947,560, against the prediction of $78,947,560. The army was the greatest single item of expense, the cost of the War Department being $14,000,000. Payments came next in line, with a bill of $18,000,000. The navy was maintained at a cost of $7,000,000, while an additional $12,000,000 was paid out for civil and miscellaneous expenses.

There has been a big increase in the cost of maintaining the Government, in a very comfortable new room—not their sleeping apartment—by themselves.

LITTLE SHOW OF AUTHORITY.

"The arrangement is, according to the unanimous testimony of all on board, excellent. Nothing better is asked, and as for growing, such as is the commonest form of insubordination on board an English ship, it is unheard of. A FINE SERVICE.

An American Tourist Opinion of the Grand Trunk Railway and Its Fine Service.

The travel from the New England States to Buffalo and the Pan-American Exposition is increasing, and the majority of the tourists are taking advantage of the low rates to make their trip via Canada, where they are allowed stopover privileges at Montreal and other Canadian stations.
This route gives the tourist an opportunity to view some of our Canadian cities, and to judge from correspondence that is appearing in the New England papers, the experience is much appreciated. In one of the leading papers in Massachusetts a description of the trip taken by a party is written up, and of which the following is an extract:
"A feature of the trip not to be overlooked was the ride on the Grand Trunk Railway system's new express, known as the International Limited. This train has an average speed of 44 miles per hour, and is a marvel of the Empire State Express. Its fastest speed is near Brockville, Canada, flying through towns at the rate of 60 miles an hour. An example of the fine service furnished by the Grand Trunk is between Buffalo and Montreal, the distance being over 400 miles, and this is covered in 11 hours, including 20 or more stops."

It is very gratifying to know that we have in Canada one of the finest railways in the world, the Grand Trunk, and rolling stock being second to none.

REBEL CHIEFS WAGE WAR.

Philippine Leaders Were in Battle and Lamented.

Manila, July 6.—An engagement lasting two days has occurred at a point thirty miles east of Zamboanga, a island of Mindanao, between Datto Tjim and Datto Subyman is independent. The losses on both sides were heavy and the result of the engagement indecisive. The Sultan of Mindanao, who is friendly toward the Americans, professes ignorance as to the cause of the outbreak between the two Dattos.

Fewer Deaths Among Slums.

Death Rate in New York Greatest Among the Aristocracy.

WHAT STATISTICS PLAINLY SHOW

New York, July 6.—The National Prisoner, studying the health statistics of New York City, with the view of ascertaining whether the rich or the poor sections of this metropolis are the most conducive to good health and long life, takes first young children—that is, those under five years of age—as a basis of comment. The figures are for the second quarter of 1901.

The Twelfth Ward, where a fair sprinkling of rich of New York have their palaces and where their prosperous neighbors have more abiding homes, afford the following statistics with regard to the death rate of young children. The ward has a population of 34,413; has only 6.4 people to the acre, but its death rate for children under 5 years of age was 78, while the public Thirtieth Ward downtown, in the vicinity of Grand Division and Irvington streets, and the East River, with a population of 56,902 people and 25.6 to the acre, and a death rate of 105 children under 5 years of age. The relative percentages are in favor of the slums.

Other comparisons drawn between districts in which plutocrats live and those inhabited by the so-called lower classes bring to light a similar state of affairs. The total death of those of all ages in proportion to population is then dealt with, and reveals truths equally as suggestive. The Twelfth Ward in Harlem shows a total death rate of 2.27 for its 35,112 people, living 6.4 to the acre, while the Thirtieth Ward, down town, with 56,902 people, living 25.6 to the acre, had a death rate of only 1.9.

Young Children Lured To Drink.

King Edward Wants Law Passed That Will Save Youngsters.

THE HOTEL KEEPS COAX THEM

New York, July 6.—A cable despatch from London says that "as a result of the desire of King Edward that it shall pass, great interest has suddenly been aroused in the bill now before Parliament to prevent the sale of malt liquors to children."

This bill, which has recently passed its second reading by a very large majority, is one of those upon which the London Women's Christian Temperance Union has set its hopes and heart. Miss C. L. Lanning, of London, one of Lady Henry Somerset's best friends, and an ardent worker in the cause of temperance, who is at present in New York, spoke upon the subject of the children bill Friday at the W.C.T.U. convention in Washington Park.

"We do not protect our children," she said, "we what as carefully as we do our salmon fish. About the little fish, indeed, we are most particular. About our children we are equally careless. As early as a little British child can walk he may be sent to a saloon to get the family beer. And the barkeeper to encourage the habit of sipping among the children, always sees to it that an extra full measure is given the little one, so that he may drink on the way home without fear of a rebuke."

"All kinds of sweets, dear to children and penny whistles, which no little British child can ever refuse, are also among the things given by barkeepers to the children who come for the beer. In this way the children are encouraged to become drinkers and eventually drunkards."

THE SERVANT QUESTION.

How This Great Family Journal Heard This Problem.

Consider now the servant question. Verily, it is not the men who go forth and grab railroads and factories (that cause the most worry in the heart of man).
Nay, neither is it the trust nor the syndicate that loath a man's job for his own sake, but the man who in two, that loatheth him the greatest loath of all.
Surely, the servant question is the one that brings the gray hairs and wrinkles to the forehead.

For the servant quest abroad in the land seeking what she may devour. She getteth a job as a cook, and the flour bill goes up as high as the moon, and the sugar trust declares dividends every week because she buyeth so much.
She useth more coffee for a family of two than the boss cook of a circus doth for all his men.
She turneth the clock and she bringeth on the roast when it is dotheth to a hardwork lunch.
She maketh pie that no man can eat and eeth his life his own.
And she casteth about that linger in the loom of the ether (herb) created a great sensation. The circular gives two photos of Blondin, and this description:
A French-Canadian, 34 years of age, about 6 feet six inches in height, weight about 160 pounds, dark complexion, dark eyes, has a slight past in one of them, very dark brown hair, which is a little thin on top of head, and he is slightly bald behind, high cheek bones, square jaw, which is quite long and protrudes, slightly bowed, quick and alert in his movements and speech, speaks with a broken French accent, has indistinct ink marks on the inside of the left forearm. Blondin has very likely shaven off his mustache. Has worked as a farm hand, painter, butcher, hunter, fireman and engineer.

TO LOOK OUT FOR BLONDIN

Description of the Blondin Murderer Sent to Police Here.

The police have received a circular requesting them to watch for Joseph Wilfred Blondin, the Boston murderer, who is wanted on a charge of murdering his wife, the case having created a great sensation. The circular gives two photos of Blondin, and this description:
A French-Canadian, 34 years of age, about 6 feet six inches in height, weight about 160 pounds, dark complexion, dark eyes, has a slight past in one of them, very dark brown hair, which is a little thin on top of head, and he is slightly bald behind, high cheek bones, square jaw, which is quite long and protrudes, slightly bowed, quick and alert in his movements and speech, speaks with a broken French accent, has indistinct ink marks on the inside of the left forearm. NO RAIN, NO FOOD, IS THE GREAT WALL

People Dying Like Flies With Hunger and Famine In Far off China.

Forty Thousand Dollars Cabled From New York—Canada Asked to Join in the Good Work of Relief.

In marked contrast to the departure of the missionaries from the two provinces, is their return, which is now fairly begun. The Taoist of Tai Yuen came especially to Peking in order to head an armed escort that is to accompany them back to their mission stations. Orders have gone forth from the Imperial Government to the local officials to prepare their residences, and, as far as possible, to rebuild their schools and churches. There return is more like a triumphal entry than an ordinary journey. So far as the two provinces are concerned the last vestige of rebellion has disappeared. Not only are the inhabitants willing to permit the return of the foreigners, but they are anxious to have them again among them to a degree unprecedented in the history of the Chinese Empire.

BUT GRIM HUNGER REMAINS.
The one grim reality that remains in the famine. Famine, Christian and Confucian alike, the crystal grew up. "No rain, and no food." A common bond of hunger unites men of all faiths in the parched rice fields. A letter received recently from some of his former parishioners by the Rev. F. C. H. Dreyer, of Allentown, Pa., thus depicts conditions:
"Two young men, Tong Hai Cheo, and Sang Hsien, have reached Tientsin from Shansi. They have a very sad account of the people there. They are suffering greatly from the famine. The relief given by the Governor did not amount to much more than a name. I am very glad that old-n Han and his companions are now so far on their journey. They carry some relief with them, but this is, of course, very limited."

Some of the members of the Relief Committee will accompany the returning missionaries. Some of the supplies they will carry with them. The route is by rail to T'ing Chai, by cart to Hsuala, and the rest of the way by mule litters to Tai-yuen-fu, Shansi's capital.

Forty thousand dollars is a large sum in the two provinces, but after all it is only a drop in the ocean. The population affected by the famine is twenty millions and more than half that number are literally starving.

parishioners by the Rev. F. C. H. Dreyer, of Allentown, Pa., thus depicts conditions:

"Two young men, Tong Hai Cheo, and Sang Hsien, have reached Tientsin from Shansi. They have a very sad account of the people there. They are suffering greatly from the famine. The relief given by the Governor did not amount to much more than a name. I am very glad that old-n Han and his companions are now so far on their journey. They carry some relief with them, but this is, of course, very limited."

Cancer Sufferers Gain Strength

The new Constitutional treatment not only eradicates the disease, but renews the exhausted strength.

A great many people suffering from Cancer and Tumors, find their strength rapidly slipping away. These horrible diseases undermine the health and sap the vitality.

To operate or use plaster, simply means further exhaustion. The new Constitutional treatment, instead of weakening, actually builds up the strength and invigorates the entire system, not only this, but it arrests the progress of the disease and entirely eliminates every particle of the Cancer poison from the system. It is a pleasant treatment, an ointment is taken at home, without pain or inconvenience.

For full particulars write Messrs Scott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont., enclosing a stamp. All correspondence entirely confidential.

Honoring the Soldiers.

Omelette Mirror.—The Omelette Soldier boys returned on Saturday from their annual camp which benefited from the outing and discipline. The ladies of the association were kind enough to prepare luncheon for the boys on their return, which was very much appreciated by them. Mr. Geo. H. Hale, of Orillia, and Mr. J. H. Mulligan, gave prizes for best elderly member and appearance, which were presented by Miss Davidson to Messrs. Germain and Harry Evans respectively.

A BIG CONTRACT.

Messrs. Bogue & McMillan are said to be the lucky firm.

It is reported that Messrs. Bogue & McMillan, contractors for the Chemoag Lake Bridge, have secured the contract for the Cerebral Company.

Although the contract is not signed as yet, there is little doubt, apparently, that this portion of the work will fall to them.

There will be upwards of $300,000 brick required for the work. The contract price is said to be about $100,000.

Girls Wanted.

Two young ladies wanted at once at The Times-Bureau. Steady and agreeable employment to bright girls.

Are You Fit

To be Trusted With a Good Set of BRAINS?

GRAPE-NUTS

Keep Them in Order

A BRAIN FOOD AND REPAIRER

Every minister, lawyer, journalist, physician, author or business man is forced under pressure of modern conditions to the active and sometimes over-active use of his brain. Analysis of the excreta thrown out by the pores shows that brain work breaks down the phosphate of potash, separating it from its heavier companion, albumen, and plain common sense teaches that this elemental principle must be introduced into the body anew each day, if we would replace the loss and rebuild the brain tissue.

We know that the phosphate of potash is an affinity for albumen and that is the only way gray matter in the brain can be built. It will not answer to take the crude phosphate of potash of the drug store, for nature rejects it. The elemental mineral must be presented through food directly to the brain's laboratory.

These facts have been made use of in the manufacture of Grape-Nuts, and any brain worker can prove the value of the proper selection of food by making free use of Grape-Nuts for ten days or two weeks. Sold by grocers everywhere (and in immense quantities) Manufactured by the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich.

PUNY AND DELICATE INFANTS MADE STRONG AND HEARTY WHEN FED ON LACTATED FOOD.

The loving mothers of our country consider it a duty to say something in favor of the food that has proved a source of life to their little ones.

A lady in New Brunswick writes as follows: "When my baby was born last year it weighed only four and a half pounds, and did not increase much in weight up to its second month."

I was advised to use Lactated Food by a friend, and I am happy to say it worked wonders. My girl baby began to grow and increase in weight, and now she is almost sixteen months old and weighs twenty-five pounds.

She was not sick an hour after commencing with Lactated Food. I am sure Lactated Food was her great preserver. I wish every mother knew of the good qualities of this infant's food. Your druggist sells it.

The Dominion Day Celebration.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I was amused at the shallowness of a letter in to-day's Times signed "Workman" taking exception to some criticism of another published in the Dominion Day show here. The writer did not make a happy selection of a name to place when he selects one so comprehensive as to include "work."

His assumption that the critic, he says, is a critic, did not help to make a picture of the show is in a way to his ignorance of the subject. The fact, as the alleged, that the committee did their best, while the efforts ended in failure, is the best evidence of their incapacity. Nor is it true that "everything was free," as the writer says, and that the committee did their best, while the efforts ended in failure, is the best evidence of their incapacity.

As a matter of fact, the committee did their best, while the efforts ended in failure, is the best evidence of their incapacity. Nor is it true that "everything was free," as the writer says, and that the committee did their best, while the efforts ended in failure, is the best evidence of their incapacity.

THE BAND STAND.

The Council should see to it That Light is Provided.

It is incomprehensible that men in authority will lend themselves to expending the town's money in a procession that wastes like a thief in the night, and yet will neglect the housing and convenience of the band. The band is listened to by all who prefer music to whiskey, and that includes great numbers of women and children. This is the era of expansion, and Peterborough's representative must be equal to keeping pace with the requirements of the people. The band cannot play without lights or seats. Perhaps our City Fathers think that it might sit on the grass. It is a strange thing, too, that the Movement on Foot in the States to Buy up Mines and Then Pool Them—Interesting News From the Transvaal.

London, July 6.—Edgar Wallace, writing to the Daily Mail from Johannesburg, speaks of the bid of Americans for the Transvaal mines. He says: "Commercial America is making a big bid for the land, and commercial America is being aided and abetted in its plans by a patriotic, worn out, vitiated commercial England. Nor is this trade-grabbing the most serious aspect of America's attempt to secure by business dollar that which we have earned with bullet and fever. 'America,' said a well-known Johannesburg stock broker to me the other evening 'is going to have a considerable say in the eventual development of the Rand. As it is, very few people are aware of the enormous interests the States have in Johannesburg. Yes, I know it has been denied, and that very few of the leading Wall Street speculators have large holdings of Rand scrip, but there are many very wealthy houses in America that never, at any rate, skidoo ever gamble, who are steadily buying up shares whenever the opportunity offers. Of course, it isn't their game to come in with a rush and spend up the price, but the buying goes on none the less. 'As it is, most of the machinery used on the Rand' haile from the other side, and the reason for this is not far to seek. If you consult a list of the mines on the Rand, and for that matter, throughout South Africa, you will find that in most every instance the chief engineer is an American, and as Americans of all classes, be they chief engineers or trolley men, have an unshakable belief in the

Overland Route India To Europe

Halting Places and Postal Stations
Established Along The Line.

ACROSS THE STERILE REGIONS.

London, July 8.—Capt. Benn, British Vice-Council at Geatana, points out that there is now a real overland route from India to Europe. He has received it twice and the only inconvenience was a delay of three weeks at Mehad before permission could be obtained for the use of the Trans-Caspian railway. But this difficulty would not stand in the way of travellers from India who would make necessary arrangements for passports before starting on their journey. Roughly speaking, the overland route described by Capt. Benn runs from Quetta to Geatana, through Persia, a territory to Mehad, thence to Askaniad on the Trans-Caspian railway, across the Caspian to Rukh, and hence via Petrovsk and Moscow.

The reason that the practicability of this route has only just been demonstrated is that it is only within the last year or so that the Indian Government has taken steps to open up the caravan route from Quetta to the Persian frontier. This route was known to exist, and centuries ago it was the scene of a flourishing trade under Arab rule, but Asiatic misgovernment and decay superseded, and until Northern Beluchistan came under the British again any restoration of the old caravan road was impracticable.

Capt. Webb-Ware has, however, been indefatigable in establishing halting places and postal stations, in arranging for supplies and fodder and digging wells, and in improving the alignment of the road. The trade returns for the past twelve months show a marked increase over those for the preceding year, and there appears no doubt that a very great commerce between western India and Persia will eventually spring up along this formerly neglected line of march.

It shows clearly enough that a settled and strong rule will soon make light of the physical and political difficulties which beset communications across a sterile region, patrolled by roving bands of British robbers. Hitherto people have failed to realize the possibility of connecting India with Europe by rail mainly because the regions west of the former were so desolate, sparsely populated and imperfectly known.

WILL RUN TELEGRAPHS.
"It cannot be denied," says the Daily Chronicle, commenting upon this, "that if we were to display the same enterprise over opening up our sphere in Asia that Russia has over hers with her Trans-Caspian and Siberian railways, we should make a very important

The Evils Derived From Eating Alone

Bachelors Get Dyspepsia From The Practice.

THE LONDON LANCET'S OPINION

London, July 8.—The Lancet is doing what it can to promote matrimony by showing that singlehood is a fruitful cause of dyspepsia. In the last issue the following appears: "At a time like the present, when the marrying age of the average man of the middle classes is being more and more postponed, the physical ill of bachelorhood comes increasingly under the notice of man or woman to his or her. Indeed, it has been well said that for solitude to be successful, a man must be either angel or devil. This, therefore, perhaps, mainly to the moral aspects of isolation, and with those we have now no concern. There are certain physical ill, however, which are not in the least among the disadvantages of singlehood. Of these there is many a clerk, many a young barrister, many a young business man or journalist, perhaps, but not yet far enough from a healthy man to be called a dyspeptic. The only thing that ever takes him from his medical duty. There are some who happily disposed of individuals who can dine alone and not feel too fat too much nor too thin. With the majority it is different. The average man puts his nose or his tongue, before him, and thinks that he will lengthen out the meal with due deliberation by reading a little with and more between the courses. He will just employ his mind enough to help and too little to interfere with digestion. In fact, he will provide that gentle mental companionship which with happier people conversation gives to a meal. This is your solitary's excellent idea. In reality he becomes engrossed in what he is reading, still suddenly, finding his chop cold, he demolishes it in a few mouthfuls; or else he finds that he is hungry, and paying no attention to the book, which he flings aside, he rushes through his food as fast as possible, to plunge into his arduous and literary afterwards. In either case the lonely man must digest at a disadvantage. For due and easy nutrition food should be slowly taken and the mind should be intensely exercised during the process. How does it fare with the many solitary women of to-day? No better, we know, than with the men, but generally, alone or not, a woman may be trusted at any rate to take food enough. (We suppose, of course, that she can get it.) With a woman it is different. She is more emotional, more imaginative, and less inclined to realize the gross necessities of existence. Therefore, the woman doomed to dine alone as often as not does not dine at all. She gets dyspepsia because her digestion has not sufficient practice; a man gets it because his functions practice it too often in the wrong way. Men and women are gregarious animals. Physically and intellectually we improve with companionship. Certainly it is not good to eat and to drink alone. It is a sad fact of our big cities that they hold hundreds of men and women who in the day are too busy and at night too lonely to feed with profit, much less with any pleasure."

Privateers For All The Boers.

Kruger Not Likely to Issue Commissions For Them.

IT IS DANGEROUS TO COMMERCE

Washington, July 7.—The report from Brussels that former President Kruger is being urged to notify the powers that unless they intervene in the South African conflict he will commission privateers, is not treated seriously here. It is well understood, as one outcome of the war with Spain, that the United States Government will never again, except in the most extraordinary emergency, issue letters of marque, and the same reasons that impel the Government to this cause undoubtedly would operate to prevent the United States Government from recognizing any such warrants issued by any other nation even were that nation in full danger.

COMMERCIAL INTERESTS IN THE WAY

In the case of the Spanish war both of the belligerents by agreement refrained from issuing commissions to privateers, and it is now many years since the flag of any respectable nation has flown over such craft. In the case of Mr. Kruger, it is extremely doubtful whether he would, if the issue were forced in his way, be recognized as a de facto president, authorized to issue commissions to privateers. That point would have to be settled at the outset, and each nation whose commerce was affected or was threatened by the privateers would determine for itself his competence. It is scarcely to be expected that they would decide against their

Aggressive War Is Always Hard

Russian Imperial Councillor Discusses The Boer War.

HE COMPLIMENTS THE BRITISH.

London, July 6.—Much interest was shown yesterday in a meeting at the Royal United Service Institution, convened for the purpose of hearing a paper on the lessons of the South African war by M. de Bloch, a Russian Imperial Councillor, who is credited with having been the real author of the Hague conference. The paper was a long and exhaustive survey of the campaign, which, said M. de Bloch, would serve as a notice to Governments and peoples to change their aggressive policies. It was evident, he thought, that the lessons of the Transvaal war were applicable to a war in Europe—if they were applied with due prudence. None of the explanations given of the long duration of the war and the serious consequences which it had entailed for England was to his liking. The supposed perfection of the British soldiers in the conduct of the war, of endurance and of course, insufficiency of material, defects of the artillery, and the too late employment of turning movements—were in any way justified. He did not believe that any other army in the same condition of inexperience, guided by philosophical speculations drawn from manoeuvres and the wars of the past, would have fared better. On the contrary, it is able to have entirely failed. It required the great experience acquired in foreign campaigns, as well as the immense material resources of England, and the moral qualities of the English people in supporting difficulties without murmuring and without internal revolution, to arrive at even the point at which England was at the present moment.

THE MAIN LESSON.

It was evident that the main lesson to be drawn from the Transvaal war was that it was absurd to suppose that, whatever combinations be formed by any State or alliance of States, the results of a war of aggression could be regarded as hopeful against any great power, or still more so against an alliance of powers. That lesson had been appreciated at any rate in some quarters in England was shown by Mr. Brodrick's declaration, that the result of the Transvaal war showed that troops holding themselves on the defensive, and armed with modern weapons, could resist a long time an enemy much more numerous, and inflict upon them terrible losses. In his opinion, putting aside probable improvements in the future, no results could be obtained in a great European war, and in consequence, unless they could lead to wage decisively, and could only lead to social cataclysms and provoke revolution. England had no need for a formidable army; this would be nothing but a criminal toy, wasting the savings of the classes who were the most necessary of the country. For a defensive war England had no need of any army in the one sense of the word, and for political purposes her army must be specialized.

Boer Growlers Unsuccessful

Merriman and Sauer Leave England for South Africa.

THEIR PATIENCE AND COURAGE

London, July 8.—The Dunvegan Castle has left Southampton for South Africa, having among her passengers Messrs. Merriman and Sauer, who are returning from Cape Town. They accorded a Central News correspondent a joint interview before the vessel sailed. Mr. Merriman said that their opinion now was the same as it had always been, namely, that the British nation had been tricked into a war by a series of lies and mis-statements, and had not had their eyes opened yet. The working man in short had been tricked and fooled by those who had brought this business about.

Mr. Sauer said the continuance of the policy of the war would mean absolute ruin to South Africa, and probably their loss of South Africa to the Empire. Questioned as to what they considered to be the result of their mission to England, Mr. Merriman replied, "We have striven to do our best to effect such a settlement as will prevent what we have described, but have met with no success at the hands of the Government. We are not disappointed however. Blessed be he who expects nothing. At the same time we should like to say how very sensible we are of the existence and the efforts of the sane minority, who are fighting our battle of truth and justice in this country, and trying to keep England true to its ancient traditions of freedom and liberty. Their motto should be the motto of the late Mrs. Stowe, 'Patience and Courage.'

Gamblers Are More Careful

Receipts at Monte Carlo Have Fallen Away Greatly.

THE PARIS PAPERS FEEL IT.

London, July 8.—Business is bad at Monte Carlo. Not that the roulette and trente-et-quarante tables lack patrons, but that a number of these patrons have taken to winning largely, and thereby upsetting all the bank's calculations. Baron Ephrussi, son-in-law to one of the Rothschilds, won $250,000 last season, and his coolness and immense capital make the bankers despair of recouping this loss. When he loses he plays on calmly until luck changes, and it is sure to do in time. At Monte Carlo requires a capital of about 300 times as large as one's winnings.

Baron Carlo di Rudini, son of the well known Italian statesman, was another heavy winner. He too, was well enough to choose a father worth some $100,000,000 before presuming to buck the Monte Carlo tiger. On the other hand, the small players, who start with a few hundred dollars apiece, are almost sure to "go broke." A short run of ill-luck cleans them out, and the "subsequent proceedings interest them no more." It is from these small fry that the bank derives its net gain of $1,000,000 last season. This was much less than was expected, in view of the fact that it was an Exposition year. The winnings in the last such year, 1899, were $1,300,000.

The Boer war has much to do with it, for Englishmen, usually the best patrons, were few and cautious. Still, it must be admitted, that play at general are becoming more careful and economical from year to year.

It is a long time since a ruined gambler has blown out his brains in the gambling rooms, so business is bad, and themselves with 50 per cent. dividends is likely to grow worse. Before long the stockholders will have to content instead of the 42 per cent. of last season, and the much larger dividends of the Banque regime. The French press will suffer, as well as the company. The million or two francs formerly paid to the Paris journals as such money has been reduced to three-quarters, and last year to half a million. The civil list of the Prince of Monaco, on the other hand, has been increased half a million francs. It is now nearly $350,000. The stipend of the Bishop of Monaco, also, has been increased from 30,000 to 50,000 francs.

TORE DOWN THE FLAG.

Didn't Like to see the stars and stripes flying over a B. C. More Victoria, B. C., July 7.—Victoria had a little flag incident yesterday. Geo. Geaves, a contractor, and a leading spirit in all patriotic demonstrations, took exception to the display of an American flag at the store of a merchant during a hand concert given by the Fifth Regiment band, which was playing, just previous to the departure of an excursion to Port Angeles, and tore it down. Geaves had asked the merchant to remove the flag, and being told that anybody who removed it would get "licked," tore the flag down. That ended the incident.

This should be a good recruiting season for Capt. Bernier's north pole expedition.

Perma has got a single railway. China has a coast line of over 2,500 miles. Over 40,000,000 passengers are carried weekly by the railways of the world. There were 15,000 children at school in India 60 years ago. There are 4,000,000 now. There are 11,700 hotels in Paris, in which there are on an average 240,000 guests. It is estimated that England still has $2,000,000,000 worth of coal unused and available. Only 70,000 British reside on the Continent, while 200,000 Continentals live in England. For over 100 letters which passed through the post office in 1901 there are 9,045,600. The largest known flower is said to be the Rafflesia, of Sumatra. It has a diameter of nine feet. The total British shipping is 9,165,000 tons. That of the six other great powers is 9,070,000 tons. There have been 2,100 explosions in coal mines in the last 50 years, involving the loss of 3,500 lives. Harbor, the great authority on fish, says that every square mile of the sea is inhabited by 120,000,000 fish. Co-operative factories in Great Britain last year made profits aggregating over 120,000 on a capital of $2,000,000. The Duke of Cornwall presented in Sydney war medals to one thousand men and two nurses for service in South Africa. Hendrik Van Zyl, a Boer by birth and sympathy, has just been elected president of the Cambridge (England) University Union.

The Times suggestion as to the Poles on the streets is favorably received. The suggestion made by The Times a few days ago to the effect that the town take over the poles belonging to the Peterborough Light and Power Company and the Auburn Power Company, is favorably commented upon. Mr. John Carnegie, of the Auburn Power Company, said that something would have to be done at once, as his company wanted pole rights on many streets.

ARE COWBOYS, NOT EXPERTS

Great Falls, Mont., July 7.—The three men who held up the Great Northern transcontinental westbound express near Wagner, Mont., Wednesday afternoon will probably be captured before morning. Sheriff Griffith, with a posse of twenty men, has surrounded them at "Rock" Allen's ranch, about forty miles south of Wagner, near the edge of the old Fort Belknap reservation, on the west fork of the Poudre river. The posse followed the bandits all yesterday afternoon, finding signs of them at a road on Beaver creek, and again where they crossed the dry fork. Information that reached here late this afternoon is that the posse came in sight of the men about 4 o'clock to-day near the ranch and driving them in surrounded them. It is probable that they will not be captured until after a severe fight and at the latest advised Sheriff Griffith had not made the attack.

The bandits are thought to be housed in the ranch buildings, which offer every protection for a siege. The posse may not try to force their capture until reinforcements are received. It is understood that another posse from south of the Missouri, in the direction of Port Hawley, will join Sheriff Griffith at Allen's ranch. Contrary to first reports, the men are not experienced train robbers. Information from Wagner and nearby points is that they have been partially identified as cow punchers employed on a ranch lying south of Milk river. One is a half-breed, as was thought at the time of the robbery. He is known to be the man who boarded the express east of Wagner and forced the engineer and fireman to bring it to a stop at the head of the ravine in which his confederates were hidden.

The work of tracking the bandits was extremely difficult owing to the nature of the country—bad lands, broken throughout by foothills and the eastern end of the Little Rocky range. Across the line of Fort Belknap reservation, only a few miles distant, there are excellent hiding places and it is thought that if the bandits would elude capture to-night and once get in this ground it will be almost impossible to again find them.

Information received here from Havre is that neither Traveling Auditor Louisa of Clancy, Mont., or Irskeman Whitelaw were "in the twine" from the bandits at the time of the robbery. It is probable that the first estimate of the loss, $15,000, is somewhat excessive. Reliable information received to-day is that $70,000 was secured, and that this, with the damage to through express shipments resulting from the explosion in the car will represent the entire loss of the company. No information concerning the consignees of the money is at present obtainable. It is understood that a considerable part was in the shape of shipments west from Chicago bound for other financial institutions.

Old people, fond of their children, make mistakes very frequently in dealing with them. In their declining years they are too ready to get rid of their property, making it over to children, who after they get what they want, forget their duty to those who went through many struggles, in order that they might be educated and clothed. This is soon lost sight of, and the next move is to close off the old people and claim them as a nuisance.

An instance of the ingratitude of a son to a mother is strongly illustrated in the following page from "Fate": "A wealthy and fashionable woman in New York has been brought down to the condition of running a hand laundry, and doing the work herself, to keep from starvation. When her husband died he left wealth enough to make her and the children independent. She has one son upon whom she spent lavishly upon his education, and when he was married she gave him property enough to provide an income of $2,700 a year. The mother engaged in business in Litchfield, Conn., in order to increase the wealth she was ambitious to leave to her boy when the time would come for her to turn everything over to him, but her speculations did not pan out and to save her attorneys, she made over the property to her son, valued at $210,000. Now the son is living in luxury, and the poor old mother has to resort to the wash-tub for a living. She had three children when her husband died, but the son is the only one living. He refuses to recognize the rights of his mother to a dollar's worth of the estate, and has even forbidden her to enter any of the houses that she formerly owned. The law sustains him, for the mother made a legal transfer of everything to him."

Every year relatives of Robert Louis Stevenson in Scotland send a crown and cross of thistle from that country, which are placed on his grave in Samoa. The largest painting in the world, a canvas of panoramas and cycloramas in the grand salon of the Regency Palace, at Venice, is 84 feet wide by 34 feet high. The Japanese are fond of bathing. In the city of Tokio there are six public bath houses, in which a person can take a bath, hot or cold, for a sum equal to one halfpenny. The King of Italy received 24,000 telegrams of congratulation in the first day or two after the birth of his daughter. He also received over 2,000 requests for money in honor of the event. Although the Boer women have always been more enterprising than the British, and more treatment has been accorded the Boer widows who are refugees in the British camps than many of those are marrying British non-commissioned officers. Prince Henry of the Netherlands, Queen Wilhelmina's consort, has been elected a member of the international Council Institute. The next congress of the Institute will be held in London in 1904, when Lord Leary has consented to preside. When the recent Austrian census was taken the Emperor Francis Joseph filled in the usual form in his own hand and answered every question with great care. Among other things he had to state how many windows his residence contained, and whether or not he could read or write.

"She regards it all as a pleasant sacrifice, if she loves the man, Mr. Browning."

"And if she loves the man will she want to do all this if he asks her to?" "Men are positive and women negative."

"So you advise me to marry?" "I advise all men to marry."

"Then why are you single, Mildred?" "Oh, I am a woman," And she laughed softly.

Browning watched the gay scene of the ballroom in silence a moment. Then he said:

"Mildred, shall I tell you why I never married?" The girl buried her face again in the roses.

"Yes," she said. "Because I never thought you would have me. You were so bright and gay, and ten years younger than I."

Mildred leaned toward him until he felt her breath on his cheek. She spoke rapidly, for she saw Mr. Dixie coming to claim a waiter.

"Shall I tell you why I never married, Paul?" "Yes."

"Because you never asked me." "Mildred."

Browning sprang forward from the silken cushions and caught her hand. But she withdrew it hurriedly, and with her face all wreathed in smiles caught up her flowers and fan and lace handkerchief, and said, as she walked away:

"Come to me to-morrow afternoon at three, Mr. Browning."

And a moment later Browning saw her floating through the steps of the waltz on the arm of George Dixie.—Chicago Tribune.

"IS MORE BLESSED."

Give! as the morning dew flows out of heaven;

Give! as the waves when their channel is risen;

Give! as the free air and sunshine are given;

Lavishly, utterly, carelessly give. Not the waste drops of thy cup overflowing.

Not the faint sparks of thy hearth ever glowing. Not a pale bud from the June roses blowing.

Give as He gave thee, who gave thee to live.

Pour out thy love like the rush of a river, Wasting its waters for ever and ever. Tho' the burnt sands that reward not the giver.

Silent or songful thou nearest the sea. Scatter thy life as the summer showers pouring!

What if no bird through the pearl rain is soaring? What if no blossom looks upward adoring?

Look to the life that was lavished for thee!

Give, though thy heart may be wasted and weary, Laid on an altar all ashen and dreary; Though from its pulses a faint misereere

Beats to thy soul the sad presage of fate, Blad fit with cords of unshrinking devotion;

Smile at the song of its restless emotion! 'Tis the stern hymn of eternity's ocean;

Heart and in silence thy future await. —The New York Teachers' Magazine.

(WISDOM OF WILLIAM PENN

"Some Fruits of Solitude" is the title given to a curious little book compiled by Edmund Gosse from the aphorisms of William Penn. Here are some of the best:

Between a man and his wife nothing ought to rule but love. Authority is for children and servants; yet not without sweetness.

Well may we say our infidelity is of ourselves; since there is nothing we do that we should not do but we know it and yet do it.

Nothing shows our weakness more than to be so sharp-sighted at spying other men's faults and so purblind about our own.

For a covetous man to inveigh against prodigality, an atheist against idolatry, a tyrant against rebellion, or a liar against forgery, and a drunkard against intemperance, is for the pot to call the kettle black.

Men are generally more careful of the breed of their horses and dogs than of their children.

A true friend unbosoms freely, advises justly, assists readily, adventures boldly, takes all patiently, defends courageously and continues a friend unchangeably.

Inquiry is human; blind obedience, brutal. Truth never loses by the one, but often suffers by the other.

He that has more knowledge than judgment is made for another man's use more than his own.

Content not thyself that thou art virtuous in the general: For one link becoming wanting, the chain is defective.

THEIR FAME SPREADING.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills a Wonderful Remedy.

Sir,—It is because I owe a debt of gratitude that I can never be repaid that I ask you to publish some facts regarding Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills. I was for many years a sufferer from indigestion and stomach troubles. I could not digest my food, I was constipated, and it was only by injections that I could get relief. Physicians said I was no good. I was reduced to a skeleton, and could hardly walk.

As a last resort I tried a box of these pills, and the improvement was so marked that I continued taking them. I have now taken twelve boxes, never remembering being so well in my life. I have gained 22 pounds, and am putting on more flesh daily. I am a living, walking advertisement and consider no trouble too great in order to spread the fame of Dr. Clarke's Pills.

Cancer Sufferers Gain Strength

The new Constitutional treatment not only eradicates the disease, but renews the exhausted strength.

A great many people suffering from Cancer and Tumors, find their strength rapidly slipping away. These horrible diseases undermine the health and sap the vitality.

To operate or use plaster, simply means further exhaustion. The new Constitutional treatment, instead of weakening, actually builds up the strength and invigorates the entire system, not only this, but it arrests the progress of the disease and entirely eliminates every particle of the Cancer poison from the system. It is a pleasant treatment, an ointment is applied at home without pain or inconvenience.

For full particulars write to Messrs Scott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont., enclosing a stamp. All correspondence entirely confidential.

"Better Be Wise Than Rich."

Wise people are also rich when they know a perfect remedy for all annoying diseases of the blood, kidneys, liver and bowels. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which is perfect in its action. It so regulates the entire system as to bring vigorous health. It never disappoints.

—For 43 years I had got to be on my back, which was discouraging and troublesome. Rheumatism also annoyed me. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me completely and the swelling has entirely disappeared. A lady in Michigan saw my previous monomial and used Hood's and was entirely cured of the same trouble. She thanked me for recommending it." Mrs. M. S. Sarsaparilla, 408 Local Street, Kalamazoo, Mich.

Don't Allow Operation for Cancer

There is a simpler, safer and more effective method of treatment. Dr. J. C. Oliver, of Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A., in a paper he read before the Ohio State Medical Society, May 1895, said: "I have operated in a considerable number of cases of Cancer recently, and with one exception all have died within four to ten months after the operation." The statement of a prominent Surgeon, should make any one suffering from cancer, hesitate before submitting to operation and consider carefully the evidence offered on behalf of the new Constitutional remedy, which cures Cancer, Tumors and all malignant growths, without the necessity of operation. It is a simple vegetable medicine that searches out and destroys the cancer growths, completely eradicates the disease, and at the same time, builds up and invigorates the system.

LINCOLN'S BODY MOVED

Placed in Vault in The Monument to insure its Safety

Springfield, Ill., July 9.—The body of Abraham Lincoln has been secretly removed to a private vault in the monument as a safeguard against any attempt to carry it away. The exact time of the removal of the remains is not known, but is supposed to have been either Monday night or Tuesday morning. State officers and the men engaged in the work refuse to affirm or deny the report.

Robert Lincoln, of Chicago, came to Springfield on May 23, in company with Governor Yates and several state officers he visited the tomb, and arrangements for placing the remains in a secret vault were then made. While the party was at the tomb news of the death of Governor Tanner was received.

Work on the secret vault was completed a few days ago. The fact that Robert Lincoln, the president of the Lincoln Monument Association, had been before the started on his Eastern trip was the monument where work had almost been completed. It is said that he inspected the work and was satisfied.

FEAR OUTBREAK IN URUGUAY.

Report That Another Revolutionary Movement is Under Way

Montevideo, Uruguay, July 9.—Fear of revolution continues throughout Uruguay. The government denies the report that Colonel Gaudencio has invaded the country for the purpose of promoting the movement. It is known that in the island of Parana there are 300 men, commanded by Colonel Villaverde, armed with Mauser rifles which were obtained from the arsenal of Argentina.

A very persistent rumor is circulating to the effect that the president of the republic, Cuestas, will leave his power in the hands of the vice president, Macachaen. It is insisted upon that President Cuestas will abandon the presidency, declaring himself an adherent of Cuestas, all danger is over.

HUNG FROM A BALLOON.

Little Boy in an Iowa Town Saves His Life By Being Protruded of Wind.

West Liberty, Iowa, July 9.—The chief attraction of West Liberty's celebration of the Fourth of July was a balloon ascension by the Baldwin brothers of Quincy, Ill. An immense crowd watched the preparations for the ascent. Among the spectators was the twelve-year-old son of Herman Meyers. He was helping to hold the balloons down when it suddenly sprang into the air, and young Meyers was carried up to town in a triumphal procession. He motioned his hand and was with difficulty revived.

The little fellow showed admirable nerve, however, and after a time he was seen to twist himself, grasp the rope, and pull himself up to the balloon, where he sat in comparative safety until the bag slowly settled to the earth, after a three-mile voyage.

The boy was found unharmed and was carried back to town in a triumphal procession. He motioned his hand and was with difficulty revived.

REASONS WHY MOTHERS SHOULD USE LACTATED FOOD.

Mother should feed their babies on Lactated Food because it is recommended by every twenty thousand physician.

Mother should use Lactated Food for their little ones because it contains all the elements of pure breast milk.

When mothers use Lactated Food, they give their babies the purest and most nutritious food in the world.

Lactated Food is readily assimilated, is the easiest to digest, and is retained by the weakest stomach.

Lactated Food wards off cholera infantum, diarrhoea and dysentery. It never irritates the stomach and bowels.

Mother should use Lactated Food because it keeps the baby well all summer, and insures both happiness and tranquillity.

The Drowning of George Houston

Some Interesting Evidence Given at the Inquest.

TO BE CONTINUED TO-NIGHT

The inquiry into the death of George Houston, who fell off the scow accompanying the Water Lily on an excursion last evening of the 6th, was resumed last night by Coroner Gray and jury. Mr. G. W. Hutton appeared for the owners of the steamer and Mr. A. K. Dixon for the relatives of the deceased.

The first witness, Lewis Johnston, simply corroborated the evidence of G. W. Mulligan, given at the previous sitting.

Mr. Mulligan was recalled for cross-examination. He said that the scow was under the management of the C.G.E. Club, the committee being composed of Messrs. Allen, Holt, and himself. They made arrangements with the clerk in Caldwell's office in Amherst, paying $10 for the scow and $3 for the scow from 8 to 11:30 p.m.

On the night of the excursion they asked the Captain (Charles Calcutt) to have the scow run alongside the boat, but he declined and showed his instructions forbidding such an arrangement. The witness did not know how it came about that the scow was afterward run alongside.

Mr. Johnston gave the result of the autopsy performed by himself and Dr. McCollough. There were no external marks of violence on the body. The various organs, so far as could be determined, were in normal condition. In the opinion of the physicians death was due to drowning.

Robert Read, the next witness, saw Houston fall overboard. With one knee on the boat and the other on the scow he tried to reach him. He heard no call from Houston. He lost sight of him in the darkness of the trees on shore. He could not say that the scow and scow were more than 18 inches apart when Houston fell.

E. B. A. Fitzgerald crossed the plank once each way. He thought the crossing unsafe. The plank was about a foot wide. One end rested on a rope and he placed it on the deck.

William Hill was on the roof of the scow when the accident occurred. He saw Houston fall and gave the alarm. Houston was in the water but he was seen hidden by the shadow of the trees. It was three to five minutes after he fell before a boat was lowered. There were several lamps about the scow but he didn't notice whether the crossing was lighted.

Robert Sheppard was with Hill on the roof of the scow. He saw Houston fall. He seemed to miss the plank altogether when he stepped. The witness ran to the stern of the scow and saw Houston pass under the scow. The witness said to him "Can you swim?" and Houston replied "Yes." Houston was then about 10 or 15 feet from the stern of the scow. The witness was preparing to jump in to bring the boat thrown overboard within reach of Houston, but thought it unnecessary as Houston was a swimmer.

The witness said the single word "Yes" was all the witness heard from him. He seemed to turn away from the bench and the witness thought the man swam to the shore. When the witness returned to the scow, he saw a man in it, with a lantern. After a while he returned to the scow, and another man accompanied him for a second search.

Miss Kate McPherson, the niece of George Houston accompanied him the night of the excursion. She was on the scow when he attempted to cross from the scow. She saw him fall. He was at the moment looking at her as if about to speak. The plank was wet and slippery and there was no light. After reaching Peterborough she interviewed the captain. Thought he smelt of liquor. She asked him what he would say if he was asked to testify. He said he didn't know, and then told her to go home and sleep and he Houston was not at home in the morning to tell them what had happened.

After Ada Robertson was with Miss McPherson when she interviewed the captain. She didn't notice any indication that the captain had been drinking, didn't think of such a thing at the time, but he seemed indifferent. He might have spoken as if he cared.

Miss Gertrude Robertson was called. She was with the other ladies when the accident occurred, but was not present when they interviewed the captain. William H. McPherson, brother of Houston was his wife's brother. He was not on the excursion, but saw Captain Charles Calcutt the next day on board the boat. The story was that the scow was under the management of the C.G.E. Club. He asked the captain to show where the accident occurred, but the captain would not go on that day. The day following he went with him on the scow. The captain showed him where Houston fell in the water. The captain seemed in different and snappy. On cross-examination by Mr. Hutton the witness said that he told the captain that if he had minded his business the accident would not have occurred.

The inquest was then adjourned until this (Tuesday) evening at 8 o'clock.

LAKE AND RIVER RIPTLES.

Items of Interest to Beachcomber and Summer Hotel Men

—The City of Peterborough will likely make her trial trip this afternoon.

—The rush has begun for Stony Lake and other points.

—Mr. Alex. Gibson spent Sunday at Mr. Crane's cottage, Stony Lake.

—Messrs. J. W. Edwards and Jack Paterson, who have been rusticating at Stony Lake for the last two weeks, spent Sunday in town with their families and leave again to-day for the lakes.

—Mr. Chas. Armstrong, the genial proprietor at Mount Julian, is having a rushing season. Charlie has renovated his house thoroughly and has also greatly improved the condition of his bar, and has everything up to date. Mount Julian is one of the pleasant points on Stony Lake for a summer recreation. Fishing is unusually good.

How a Sprain Does Hurt
But it isn't the pain alone that is dreaded, just think of the loss of time and wages. Sprains without number have been cured by rubbing Polson's Nerviline into the pores of the skin surrounding the joint. No matter whether it is a sprained wrist, ankle, knee or back, just try Nerviline on it, and see how quickly it will cure. There is only one liniment that can be depended upon to cure sprains, strains and swellings, and that is Polson's Nerviline. Large bottle 25c.

"Pride Goeth Before a Fall."

Some proud people think they have strong constitutions, and ridicule the idea of disease. Such people neglect their health, let the blood run down, and their stomach, kidneys and liver become deranged.

Don't be foolish about your health. Use Hood's Sarsaparilla and you will prevent the fall and save your pride.

Running Sore—"My mother was troubled with rheumatism in her knee for a number of years, and it broke out into a running sore. She took three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and the sore was cured. Since taking six bottles of Hood's Olive Ointment she has been able to walk from Pan-American grounds."

The Street Wires

The question of what to do with the street wires is now before the Council. That something will have to be done at once, is apparent. The wires must either go underground, or the town will have to take over the poles. The former plan is hardly feasible, on account of the great cost.

TO ESTABLISH A NAVAL STATION, NEWFOUNDLAND

The Establishment of Which Points to Early Trouble Between England and France.

RESERVE MOVEMENT WELL RECEIVED IN N.F.L.D.

Quebec, July 10.—Information has been received here that Great Britain has fully decided to establish a naval station in Newfoundland for the training of young fishermen for the British navy and for the better protection of her interests in North American waters. The third-class cruiser Calypso, 2,770 tons, has been selected by the Admiralty for special service as a stationary dock ship, and will be stationed in Placentia Bay on the south side of the island, at a place called Marquis.

The gradual conversion of Marquis into a great naval stronghold is only a matter of time and money. The place is destined to become the rendezvous for a large British squadron, and the new scheme of imperial defence provides a liberal estimate for its maintenance. A graving dock for the repair of warships will be built, and a number of artificers will be stationed there, and while the machine shops in St. John's will probably suffice for present purposes, the erection of others at Marquis must follow before long, and the establishment of such a plant would necessitate the port being garrisoned.

It will serve another important purpose, in that it will be made a coaling station. At present there is no fortified port save Halifax in the British Atlantic Provinces, and there is no coal stored. Sydney, it is true, is the place where the coal is mined, and there it is easy to procure stocks in summer, but for the winter months it is icebound. Placentia Bay contains many splendid harbours and is never blocked with ice fairs. Marquis is situated on a splendid haven, forming part of Placentia Sound, and enclosed between beetling hills, which rise steeply on every side. There is ample area to accommodate a large fleet, and a narrow channel, which could easily be defended against hostile cruisers by a submarine torpedo scheme. It is capable of being converted into a magnificent naval stronghold, where a squadron could ride, and merchant steamers seek protection. It lies along the railway line which connects with every part of the island.

The strategic importance of the new station is illustrated by the fact that the bay opens out upon the Grand Banks of Newfoundland, and thence upon the North Atlantic. The squadron stationed there could dominate a vast sweep of ocean, and control the waterborne commerce of Canada by way of the St. Lawrence to the westward. In fact, the present scheme includes a plan for the virtual policing of the North Atlantic Ocean in the interest of British commerce. Shipping near the British coast would obtain two days' protection from the naval force.

Double Tragedy

Down In Denver

Insane Man Kills Woman and Mutilates Girl.

THEN CONFESSED HIS CRIME

Denver, Col., July 9.—Jennie Kinport, 4 years old, was assaulted and brutally mutilated in her room during the absence of her mother last night. Mrs. Kinport had been away during the evening and upon returning found the doors open and the bed clothes strewn about and blood spattered over the room. The girl was nowhere to be seen. Searchers from her about midnight in a vain effort near by unconscious and with numerous cuts on her body. The authorities were notified and Chris Jensen was taken into custody. He confessed to the police that he had stabbed another woman during the night near the end of the University Park car line.

Search was at once begun, and the dead body of Mrs. Bullis was found this morning at the place described by Jensen. She had been stabbed in the breast and the blade of the knife had penetrated her heart, causing instant death. The body lay in the roadway and there was no evidence of a struggle. Jensen said the woman "was after him" and for that reason he stabbed her. Mrs. Bullis was about 30 years of age. She conducted a dairy near the place where she was killed. Jennie Kinport is still alive but in a critical condition. Chief of Police Armstrong says Jensen undoubtedly is insane.

Lessons of The South African War

A Paper Read by M. Jean Bloch, Author of Hague Conference

INTEREST SHOWN THROUGHOUT.

London, July 8.—Much interest was shown yesterday in a meeting at the Royal United Service Institution, convened for the purpose of hearing a paper on the lessons of the South African war by M. Jean de Bloch, a Belgian having been the real author of the Hague conference. The paper was a long and exhaustive survey of the campaign, which, said M. de Bloch, would serve as a police to Governments and peoples to change their aggressive policies. It was evident, he thought, that the lessons of the Transvaal war were applicable to a war in Europe—if they were applied with due prudence. None of the explanations given of the long duration of the war and the serious consequences which it had entailed for England—that was to say, the supposed imperfections of the British soldiers in the conduct of the war, want of endurance and of course, insufficiency of material, defects of the artillery, and the too late employment of turning movements—were in any way justified. He did not believe that any other army in the same condition of inexperience, guided by philosophical speculations drawn from manoeuvres and the war of the past, would have done any better; on the contrary, it is probably it would have entirely failed. It required the great experience acquired in foreign campaigns, as well as the immense material resources of England, and the moral qualities of the English people in supporting difficulties without murmuring and without internal revolution, to arrive at even the point at which England was at the present moment.

THE MAIN LESSON

It was evident that the main lesson to be drawn from the Transvaal war was that it was absurd to suppose that, whatever combinations were formed by any State or alliance of States, the results of aggression could be regarded as "hopeful" against any great power, or still more so against an alliance of powers. That this lesson had been appreciated at any time in the quarters in England shown by Mr. Brodrick's declaration, that the result of the Transvaal war showed that troops holding themselves on the defensive, and armed with modern weapons, could resist a long time an enemy much more numerous and inflict upon their terrible losses. In his opinion, putting aside probable improvements in the future, no results could be obtained in a great European war, and in consequence war had become impossible to wage decisively, and could only lead to social cataclysms and provoke revolutions. England had no need for a formidable army; that would be not only a criminality, but a waste of the savings of the classes who were the most necessary of the country. A defensive war, England had no need of any army in the one sense of the word, and for colonial purposes her army must be specialized.

Trains Collide Engineer Dead

Wreck on Lake Shore Road, Near Cleveland, Ohio.

WERE PINNED IN THE DEBRIS.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 10.—A special to The Leader from Nottingham, O., says: One of the worst wrecks on the Lake Shore road in years occurred at 2.30 o'clock this morning in the centre of this village, ten miles east of Cleveland. The Southwestern limited, on the Big Four, from St. Louis, Cincinnati, and other western cities, and which goes on to the Lake Shore tracks in this city, was dived through collision with a portion of a freight train. Just what caused the wreck is not definitely known, but it is thought a portion of a freight train that had broken in two had rolled onto the passenger tracks. No passengers were killed. The dead are Frank Anderson, engineer of the passenger train, of Buffalo; and O. E. McCallen, of Cincinnati, mail clerk. The injured: William Elliot, Buffalo, fireman of passenger train, will probably die; W. M. Baker, of Columbus, mail clerk, injured on head and body; E. F. Lovelace, Cincinnati, mail clerk, slightly injured, and two unknown tramps, badly hurt.

The shock to the passenger coaches was terrific, and although the occupants were badly shaken up no passengers were hurt.

When the front end of the engine ploughed into the ground of the gully it became disconnected from the other coaches, that went over the embankment and swirled sideways, so that it pointed in the other direction. The mail car crashed into the tender, surrounding it completely. The engineer met his death by being pinned under the engine. McCallen, the mail clerk, was crushed between the side of the car and coal tender. He was found with his head forced down between his knees. Two mail clerks, when they awoke to their condition were able to escape themselves from the wreck without assistance. At least one person is believed to be buried under the wreck. Two Nottingham doctors responded to calls for assistance. The road bed and the two tracks were torn up for quite a distance, and the embankment will have to be repaired before the track can be relaid. The Lake Shore track is blocked east, and all trains are being sent over the Nickel Plate. The passengers of the wrecked train were taken to Cleveland over the Nickel Plate, and wrecking trains are at work on the Lake Shore.

Swindling Nun Not a Female.

Made Servant Girls Pay to Get Lovers and Escape Curse.

GOT MONEY FOR THE POOR.

New York, July 10.—A man who it is alleged has been masquerading as a priest and as a sister of charity in the Flatbush district of Brooklyn and obtaining money from servant girls was remanded for examination in the Grand street court, Brooklyn, yesterday. He says his name is Frank Russell, but refuses to give a more definite address than Jersey City. He was arrested Friday at the home of George Vanderveer, 27 Linden road, Flatbush, where he had made an appointment with the servant, Margaret Meyer, to collect $25. She had communicated with the police, and Capt. Knipe was on hand and arrested him. According to the police Russell first made his appearance in Flatbush about a month ago. He represented himself as a priest, it is said, and asserted that he was collecting money for a cathedral nearly completed in Manhattan. As there was no cathedral being built or near completion here his story was not believed. But what convinced the servant girls more than anything else that he was not a priest was the fact that he wore a beard.

DISGUISED AS NUN.

Russell remained in Flatbush only a few days. He returned in about a week, according to the servant girls, and that time he had shaved off his beard and was dressed as a nun. He posed as a sister of charity and said he was collecting money for the poor. He succeeded in obtaining some of the girls, it is said, but not many.

His third visit to Flatbush was about a week ago. This time, it is said, he was a priest. He pretended to have the power to bring good luck to the girls in their love affairs. He would guarantee to return to the girls their suitors and if they didn't have a lover to get one for them. Furthermore, it is alleged, he asserted that he had the power to put a curse on any girl who did not give him money. He told Margaret Meyer, it is alleged, that if she gave him $100 he would see that she had a happy life and if she didn't he would put a curse on her. The girl told him that she didn't have the money just then, but she would call on her on Friday, she would see what she could do. He told her that $25 would do for the first instalment and she promised to have it for him. She consulted with her employer and he advised her to see the police.

All The Lines Are Guarded

Boers Make Travelling Dangerous In South Africa.

STORIES OF BOER BRUTALITY

Cape Town, July 10.—Yeomanry patrol came in touch with Molan's scouts on the morning of July 4, a few miles outside Richmond. The Boers having the stronger force, the patrol retired. Lategan's and Molan's commands were then reported to be twelve miles from Richmond.

Blockhouses are being erected, and everything possible is being done for the protection of traffic on the railway to Pieterburg, but the difficulty is enormous, owing to the fact that the lines run between mountains with thick bush on either side, affording excellent cover for the Boers.

Lately the Boers surrendering in Pretoria district were driven to the border. They were afraid to enter their own territory. When they surrendered they said they thought they were the only ones still fighting. They showed surprise on finding that the fighting was continued in other parts of the country.

An enormous number of cattle and sheep are trekking from the south towards the Government farms near Pretoria.

Races were held at Johannesburg on Saturday.

A NEWFOUNDLAND CRISIS.

The Cabinet is divided over Mr. Reid's proposal that the Government should buy the St. John's Newfoundland, July 10.—There are rumors of a cabinet crisis here, but it is difficult to locate the exact situation. The most authentic news is that Mr. Reid's counter proposal to the Government's offer on railway concessions will not be accepted by a part of the cabinet that insists on the full interpretation of the promises made in the party's manifesto at election. Apart of the cabinet is willing to accept a strained interpretation of these promises for the purpose of raising the present emergency on labour and in the interest of the general progress of the island.

At a cabinet meeting this morning it was decided to send back the proposals to Mr. Reid, with a further request for concessions in the nature of a compromise between the extreme parties in the cabinet.

A MINISTER RESIGNS.

St. John's, Nfld., July 10.—It is reported that Minister of Finance, Jackson, acting on the advice of Bishop Howley, of St. John's, has resigned from the Board of Ministers, owing to a disagreement with his colleagues over the Reid railway question. Mr. Jackson declines to make any statement confirming or denying the report.

Will Mayor Denne Be The Man ?

Will he Consent to Face Mr. Stratton in West Peterborough ?

THIS IS THE LATEST QUESTION

It is said that he will do so if Properly Requisitioned by His Party.

And Will Give the Provincial Secretary The Battle of His Life—Mayor Denne in a Position to Put up the "Giant of War"

It is useless to look to either of our local contemporaries for anything in the way of information regarding the political situation in West Peterborough. Our friends have a happy way of arranging things that is not calculated to inspire the public, who want a square deal, with confidence in the political morality of the leaders of the two parties in West Peterborough. Ever since poor Garvin was so cruelly knifed by the leaders of the Tory party, there has been a feeling that things had sunk as low as they could go, and a reaction would assuredly follow. It is an insult to the intelligence of the electorate to suggest that it is "honest"—we mean, of course, politically honest—for a fight to gather in 1,000 majority for the Legislature, and a Tory to secure half that number for the Commons in practically the same riding. How else could it be done? Therefore, we say to the honest electors of West Peterborough: you must henceforth look to this great family journal for information regarding political, as well as other matters; you cannot longer trust your leaders for they have sold you, big and baggage; and will do so again; you must come in out of the way, and then G. F. G. will take care on you and will properly direct your political thoughts.

We are led to these reflections from the fact that the time for action has arrived in regard to the approaching elections for the Ontario Legislature. It is stated that Mayor Denne will be tendered the Conservative nomination for West Peterborough, and that he will accept the same. It is hardly likely, however, that the Tory leaders, or their organ, will peacefully permit any serious opposition to Mr. Stratton. If Mr. Denne is nominated, it will have to be done over the heads of the hydro-headed "machine," that scores every time in West Peterborough in the Dominion and Local fields. Mayor Denne is popular; he is energetic; he possesses ability; he has the modern conception of how to run an election, and can "bag the machine" if necessary, without awakening serious conscientious scruples. Such a man is not to be despised, no matter how powerful the government candidate may be. It is said that he has the "sinews of war," and will give his opponent the battle of his life. There is one thing sure, that if he, or any one else for that matter, enters the field with the slightest hope of securing a majority on merit alone, and disappointment will follow. The Tory crowd want money; they are impervious to any other argument; they have been getting it for years, and are always hungry for more. It simply amounts to a question of dollars and cents. If Mayor Denne will organize a machine of his own, and grease it well, the result will be decidedly interesting.

THIRTY WHEELS.

I challenge Mr. James Crossland to a bicycle race from 1 to 15 miles. Crossland, who hails from Barrie and claims his record to be 2:05, will be doing me a great favor by accepting this challenge and by so doing not at all the minds of many sports who have heard an awful lot of his riding but never seen him.

At The Lakes.

The Kawartha Canoe Club of Ithaca spent a very charming outing on the lake per steamer Manie, Thursday evening, and sailed to Chemoqua Park where an impromptu entertainment and dance was given by the members. The band escorted the party, and their selections sounded perfect on the water.

There is some talk of a regatta being held at Sturgeon Point this season, under the auspices of the Land-Edy Canoe Club.

Golf links are among the attractive features of the Kawartha Lakes. Six gentlemen and two ladies, representing Ithaca, played a nice number of summer visitors at Sturgeon Point, Monday, on the Sturgeon Point links. The Point team proved to be the stronger, and a most enjoyable afternoon was spent.

Boer Casualties

The Killed, Wounded and Imprisoned Number 8,084.

AN AMERICAN WAS IMPRISONED.

Cape Town, July 10.—The Cape Times, in its issue yesterday, demands a statement from the Colonial Government regarding "pending issues in the colony, especially as many circumstances connected with the military administration justify the people in seeking the advice and assistance of the cabinet."

United States Consul-General Stone, of this town, has resigned and will sail for home on the 26th inst.

WILL NOT RELEASE HIM.

Washington, July 9.—The American Government recently applied to Great Britain for the release of an American citizen, one Morgan, a native of Virginia, who was captured by the British troops and is now confined as a prisoner of war, in the island of Ceylon. Great Britain declined to comply with the request, and her refusal will probably prove a bar to any further representations by this Government on behalf of Americans captured as being in South Africa.

The opinion of Lord Milner that any person who serves in the Boer army loses his former nationality and right to protection, as enunciated by the legal officers of the State Department here.

Investigations by American Consuls have satisfied the department that the charges of British ill-treatment of Boer prisoners and refugees are utterly without foundation.

PRESSURE ON FARMERS.

Cape Town, July 10.—General French, who commands the troops in Cape Colony, has suggested that the Cape Government should bring pressure on the farmers who refuse to defend their colonies.

London, July 10.—In answer to a question in the House of Commons yesterday, Lord Stanley gave the total number of Boers killed, wounded or made prisoners from among the active commandos recently as follows:—March, 1,472; April, 2,434; May, 2,610; June, incomplete, 1,538. Total 8,084.

Lord Stanley further stated that there were last year, 8,355 conscripts in South Africa, affecting 8,330 persons. The crimes charged were all under the military code. There are, now, Lord Stanley said, in round numbers 251,000 troops in South Africa, of which number 14,000 are sick.

STEYN TO KITCHENER.

London, July 10.—The history of the negotiations between Kitchener and Botha, lately published, contains nothing new of importance. The latest Boer despatch, addressed by Steyn and Schalkbarger to Lord Kitchener, says in part:

"No peace will be made and no conditions accepted by which our independence and national existence or the interests of our colonial brothers shall be the price paid."

London, July 10.—The Canadian Scouts, on their arrival here, will be quartered in the Tower of London.

BURGHERS DECEIVED.

London, July 10.—N. N. Ford says that the Parliamentary paper issued last night, demonstrates that the burghers are kept in the field only by extravagant Preliminary Conference Between President Shaffer and Warner Arms at Pittsburg. METHOD OF DEALING WITH LABOR QUESTIONS.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 9.—A more hopeful atmosphere pervaded the headquarters of both the Steel combine and the Amalgamated Association today. As the result of the preliminary conference between President Shaffer of the Amalgamated Association, and Warner Arms, representing the Combines' interest, last evening, the Wellsville trouble, which yesterday threatened to undo all that had been done toward effecting a peaceful settlement of the strike, was not referred to today, and everything pointed to an amicable adjustment of all differences at the general conference arranged for next Thursday in this city. President Shaffer said he considered the questions of consulting with the conferees who usually meet to consider such questions.

"On board," said President Shaffer, "will meet the committee representing the combine in conference at the Hotel Lincoln in this city at ten o'clock on Thursday morning. I am now pretty well satisfied that the trouble will be settled at this meeting. There seems to be a spirit of fairness prevailing among those to whom I have talked officially on the subject, and I think we will fix matters up. The meeting will be for the settling of the scale for the mills as a whole."

COMPOSITION OF COMMITTEE.

In response to the query as to who would make up the committee Mr. Shaffer said that he did not know. Among those on the outside who professed to know, however, it was said that the committee would in this case be governed by the United States Steel Corporation by general officers and not by any of the operating officials of the underlying companies.

Should this be the case it will mark a decided departure in the method of dealing with labor questions with the Amalgamated Association. The former determination of the officers of the United States Steel Corporation and all of the subsidiary committees will have been entirely changed, and in place the general officers will undertake to settle the labor matters for the entire interests of the greater corporation.

News Of The Sporting Sphere

Happenings in the Realm of Sport in and Out of Town.

SPORTS BOOMING EVERYWHERE

CRICKET.

The Canadian team will play Wednesday and Thursday in Brooklyn. A two-days match was begun yesterday in New York between the Canadians and the Metropolitan eleven.

BOWLING.

The Dominion bowling tournament will be held on the lawn of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, Haverhill, Toronto Island, commenced yesterday.

BASEBALL.

The local nine will play Cobourg on Saturday.

Toronto won from Worcester on Monday.

Montreal won from Providence by 6 to 4.

Hartford won from Buffalo by 6 to 0.

Rochester won from Syracuse by 10 to 2.

HOWING.

The Don Howling Club will be represented at the National Regatta, in Philadelphia, on the 15th and 16th inst., by Messrs. Marsh and Scholes. The record of these men as oarsmen is a most excellent one and they will certainly do Toronto credit on the American course.

SWIMMING.

Two new records were established at the A. A. U. swimming championships at the Pan-American yesterday. In the 228 yards handicap B. C. Schaffer, of the National Swimming Association of Philadelphia, lowered the American record for the distance, formerly held by himself, from 2:58.5 to 2:50.5. He also broke the American record in the 440 yards handicap. His time was 5:31.5. The former record for the distance was 5:48.

YACHTING.

Rothamby, Fifth of Clyde, July 9.—In the first five miles of the racing between the Shamrock and the America yachts were apparently sailing for all they were worth and the challenger beat the Shamrock 1, quite half a mile. The boats started to windward with a steady, gradually strengthening breeze about sufficient to cover the America Cup course. The challenger had just come out of the dock and her hull was cleaned and she showed immensely improved form, outstriking the Shamrock 1, on every tack. She led the latter by a half mile off Little Cumbrae five miles from the start.

A LINDSAY MAN'S EVIDENCE.

Says that Dr. Pither's Backache Kidney Tablets Cured Him in Short Order.

If anyone were to take the trouble to make inquiries in Lindsay about Dr. Pither's Backache Kidney Tablets, he would be surprised at the number of people there that had taken that remedy with the most beneficial results for backache, kidney and bladder troubles of one kind or another. On making inquiries of Mr. Geo. Cain, of that town, respecting his case, he gave our representative the following statement: "Hearing of Dr. Pither's Backache Kidney Tablets, I procured a bottle from my druggist, and I want to say that they are excellent. I had a very bad backache, the result of cold settling there, and they cured it in very short order, so I feel I can recommend them strongly to anyone suffering from backache or kidney troubles."

Dr. Pither's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50 cents a box at all druggists. The Dr. Zina Pither Co., Toronto, Ont.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 10, 1901

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

The Peterborough Cheese Board meets this morning.

Peterborough is enjoying a building boom.

The man who is looking for a fat office should enter his name at the law firm of the Matthews Company.

The steamer City of Peterborough did not commence her run yesterday. She will probably do so to-morrow.

The Peterborough Light and Power Company intend painting their poles.

Mr. Chas. Turner yesterday received his British Government allowance of $5.

The George Street Methodist Sunday School picnic was held at Jackson Park yesterday.

For the finest quality of photographs go to Mr. C. B. White. You will be pleased with the work.

The steamer Water Lily took the Mark Street Sunday School scholars down the river yesterday.

J. McEachern, provincial auditor, has completed his audit of the books of Belleville's mining tax collector and finds a shortage of $17,000.

The Stanley Piano Co. employees will run an excursion down the river on July 10. Their outings are always most enjoyable.

Henry Clarke, Belleville, will spend two years in Kingston penitentiary for stealing $24 worth of copper from the old Sevens brewery.

Contractor Tugue will require at least 500 men on his contract with the Cereol Company, while contractor Langford will put on an additional 200.

Belleville Council has allowed its street railway to close down during January, February and March each year. The road did not pay in these months. The Bank of Montreal now have the road and believe they can operate it profitably in the other months.

A Irish Love Letter.

The following has been handed to the Times with a request to have it published.—"Dear Orlan—And last—Patrick O'Brien, sir: This is the last letter I'll have from me, but I want to tell you that I am a lover. (There's a lot of good fish in the sea besides lobsters, and if you think I'll cry my eyes out because you jilted me, that's where you make a mistake. Troth, the policeman on the beat has been coaxing me to go skatin' with him, and I'm goin' I am to-morrow. Troth, I'm a photographer; yours is in the ash barrel. Farewell, Patrick O'Brien, and the devil fly away with ye. Yours without respect, Mary Ann Brady.

Successful Musicians.

Mr. Waldon, the popular and efficient choir master of the George Street Church, has been elected to the position of organist by the choir and the congregation.

Intermediate and Senior—Miss Edythe M. Dawson obtained first-class honours in Piano, Harmony, Theory and musical history.

Junior, or first year—Miss Frances Ager obtained first-class honours in Piano, Harmony and Theory.

Primary, Harmony and Theory—Miss Ager, first class honours; Miss Wynne Dobbin, first class honours; Miss Hazel Chown, honours.

Mr. J. D. A. Tripp, who was the examiner, congratulated the pupils and teacher on their work done.

Secrets Our Ladies.

Yesterday a party of young Pennsylvanians, from Pittsburg, spent the morning in town on their way to Stony Lake. They belong to an Episcopal church choir and are being brought to Canada by Mr. J. R. Dodsworth, who has built a handsome summer cottage on the Dunsmuir shore. The boys attracted considerable attention on the streets as they paraded around, awaiting train connections. They were quite conversational with the citizens who took a deep interest in the boys. They made an onslaught on the Peterborough Hardware Company and the procession to the station was made as they were laden down with all kinds of fishing tackle. They will remain about two weeks.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

—Mr. R. J. Kidd and family are camped at Crawford's grove for the summer months.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McElin and Miss Ada McElin, opened up their cottage at Stony Lake yesterday.

—Mrs. P. Stewart and daughter, Miss Flora, of Wilminton, N.D., is visiting friends in town. Mrs. Stewart is a sister of the late Mrs. A. Dufron.

—Mr. John Doherty, the general proprietor of the Westwood Hotel, was in town yesterday, and dropped in to the Times office.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lach returned on Monday evening from an extended wedding trip. They left again yesterday for two weeks' stay at Burleigh.

—Miss Vieve Hunter is to be congratulated on carrying off first class honours in Primary Piano at the Toronto Conservatory of Music examinations.

BOER WAR NEARLY OVER.

It is Estimated That There Now Less Than Two Thousand Boers in the Field.

New York July 10.—The correspondence of the Tribune in London cables: "A British army of two hundred thousand men is still engaged in waiting and watching for a force of Boers ranging between 7,000 and 10,000 men. The last incident officially reported, is the burning of a railway station, fifty miles from Johannesburg, on the Natal railway, with a final repulse of the raiders. It was even more significant than the wrecking of a train on the Pietersburg line. The largest Boer force which has been raiding or skirmishing during recent weeks does not exceed four hundred men. Captures of stock and supplies are constantly reported by General Kitchener, and the Boers are surrendering by scores or hundreds every week. It is evident that the Boer guerrilla warfare becomes month by month less vexatious, and that General Kitchener is gradually wearing down by process of attrition the Dutch resources for resistance, marvelously efficient and well proved. The hands of raiders have been reduced in strength, and their capacity for inflicting injury has been impaired. The loss of horses would do an obstacle to a continuance of guerrilla warfare if the fighting Boers, when reduced to hard straits were not enabled to conceal their arms and masquerade as a refugee farmer. The difficulty of doing this has been increased by the readiness with which the Boers without uniforms have been transformed in neutrals and British sympathizers at a moment's notice, and also by the systematic arrangements for feeding and protecting the women and children. There is no longer any talk of reinforcing the British army. General Kitchener does not ask for more troops, but is contented with the situation, and with the steady progress made in clearing the country.

WILL STAY PRISONERS.

Americans Who Were Captured While Fighting in the Boer War.

Washington, July 10.—Americans fighting in Boer armies and were prisoners by the British, have to endure captivity until the close of the South African war. Great Britain has declined to comply with the request of the United States Government to release Americans now confined at Ceylon, and into the well probably prove a bar to further representations by the State Department in behalf of Americans captured as belligerents in South Africa. The test case was that of a naturalized American named Morgan, who claimed residence in Virginia. Sir Alfred Milner disapproved of the release of foreigners who fought with the Boers. He has announced that any prisoner of war who is a belligerent with the Boer forces loses his nationality, and must be treated as an enemy. This view is concurred in by the legal officers of the State Department, and investigation made by the American Consuls and British authorities that all reports that the British are ill treating the prisoners are without foundation.

By Lady's Toilet.

Is incomplete without the daily use of Dr. White's Electric Comb. No more hair falling out, dandruff or headache. Thousands of testimonials, but what you want is the comb. Send 50c for it. Sold on a written guarantee. D. N. Rose, Gen. Mgr., Decatur, Ill.

Be Loyal to Peterborough.

The publishers of the Kingston papers are complaining that about $5,000 worth of printing houses leaves the city annually. This could be performed as cheaply and in many cases much better than in being done away from home, connecting of letter heads, bill heads, envelopes, circulars, statements, tags, calendars, time tables pamphlets, etc. The merchants have complained of citizens going elsewhere to make their purchases, and have been supported in their protest by the papers which now charge the business men with disloyalty to the craft. Support your supporters will apply in these things with the most forceful language. Chalmers from Kingston firms should be discouraged. Stand up for your own town, it is of as much importance to the printer as to the merchant.

As smooth as an Egg.

You don't want your head that way. You want your hair glossy and thick. Use Dr. White's Electric Comb and your hair will not fall out and you will be troubled no more with dandruff or other scalp diseases. Sold on a written guarantee. Live agents wanted everywhere. Send 50c postage for one.

WILL NOT ARBITRATE.

The United States Government refusing a British Policy Towards Great Britain.

New York, July 10.—A Washington special cable states that the British Government declines to arbitrate on the United States claims against Great Britain, the United States Government will not allow a arbitration of British claims against the United States.

This decision has been made by the State Department in reply to requests made that a number of claims of British subjects, arising out of their expulsion from Hawaii, be settled by arbitration. The American Government is not prepared to arbitrate, but as the British Foreign Office has refused to allow such procedure in the case of certain American claims, it is thought good relations by diplomacy to reduce the latest British request. The American claims against Great Britain amount to much more than have against the United States.

THE HOUSTON INQUEST.

Decision at Length Reached by the Jury.

"We find that George Houston came to his death by drowning; we suggest that it is not safe, when the water is in high to tow a scow carrying passengers either alongside or behind a steamer or in these waters."

This is the substance of the verdict rendered by the coroner's jury in the Houston inquest shortly after midnight this morning. A host of witnesses were examined during the evening, but the only evidence of consequence was that of Captain Smith and Captain Fox who were passengers on the steamer.

George H. Dawson, Andrew W. Patterson, John L. McWilliams, and Edward Vickwire, passengers, shed no new light on the case. It was, however, of the nature, testified regarding the movements of the Water Lily and the scow, John Houston, brother of the deceased, had identified the body as that of his brother. Miss Murray was recalled and stated that the deceased was in his usual cheerful spirits before the accident.

Captain William Fox of the steamer City of Peterborough, was on the excursion boat as a passenger. He testified that it was after he had the scow alongside the steamer, when going down the current or through locks or bridges, Captain Charles Calcutt, who had charge of the excursion, told him to wait and told a man to go forward to the scow. It was at the wheel all the time on the night of the excursion, as soon as he heard the cry "Man overboard" he rang the bell and stopped the engine and had a boat lowered. There was no delay. The scow was alongside because it was the only safe way to take her through the tortuous channels, bridges, etc., especially at night and when the water is high. Whenever it was safe to do so, he would have the scow behind. His orders were that passengers should not go back and forth between scow and steamer. The boat and scow were equipped according to regulations with life preserving appliances. He was not a drinking man; had no more than two glasses of beer and no strong liquor in a year.

Mr. McEachern who threw the bench overboard, was expected to give testimony but was not present. It appeared to him that Mr. Houston did not see the bench, and that finding the distance between him and the steamer increasing, he struck out toward the shore and was unable to reach it.

DROWNED IN A WELL.

and Termination to a Sunday Visit Near Lindsay.

Lindsay, July 9.—Mr. Oscar Blatchford, an employee in Hobson's tannery, accompanied by his two children, left yesterday morning to visit his father in Fenelon township, near Cameron. About three o'clock Mr. Blatchford returned to the stable to hitch up the horse prepared for the journey. Mrs. Blatchford, while passing the well, noticed the hat of Ferguson, the three-year-old child, floating on the water. She at once notified the child's father, who lowered into the well, and found the child's body. Dr. Ray, of Cambray, was summoned, but pronounced life extinct.

The child had been with the father ten minutes previous to the finding of the body; and the interval he wandered from the house and by some means removed that covering from the well and fell in. The well was 35 feet deep and at the bottom of the accident some 25 feet of water was in it. Farmers should not keep open wells on their premises.

Left Two Widows to Mourn Him

Windsor, Ont., July 10.—On April 24 last A. B. Gould, a passenger on Niagara, St. Catharines and Thorold Railway train, was accidentally killed near St. Catharines. The body was recovered and shipped to Midland, Mich., by a woman who said she was Gould's wife.

A new plan to the case developed on Saturday, when Postmaster Corry, of St. Catharines, received a communication from a woman signing herself "Mrs. A. B. Gould," Philadelphia, Pa.

The writer stated that she was the widow of Gould, and that she had been married to him for 14 years. She stated that she was a widow and that she had been married to him for 14 years. She stated that she was a widow and that she had been married to him for 14 years.

The St. Catharines postmaster has warned to Mrs. Gould No. 2 all the facts in the case, not omitting to state that a Mrs. Gould, of Midland, Mich., was wearing a widow's weeds for the dead man.

So far as can be learned now, Gould had been maintaining two separate establishments, one in Philadelphia and the other in Michigan, dividing his time between the two. Further interesting developments are expected when the Philadelphia wife finds she has been out-generaled by the woman from Michigan.

The Late Mr. J. Mackill.

Port Hope Guide.—One of the men they go to today is because of the death of Mr. J. Mackill, who was a resident here for many years. He was a quiet, inoffensive man, a good citizen, a Liberal in politics and a member of the Baptist church.

In addition to his aged widow he leaves four sons and a daughter, together with a number of grand-children, to mourn his departure. Edward, of the G.T.R.; Wilkins, at home; Allan and Fred in Peterborough; Ellen (Mrs. D. Chestnut) Lindsay; Minnie (Mrs. Adamson) and Maud, Port Hope. The funeral takes place on Wednesday afternoon. The guide joins with their numerous friends in extending sincere sympathy.

The Train is Interdicted.

Arrangements are being made for the reception of Grand Master Lewis on the Odd-fellows by the Peterborough and Ottonabee lodges, on Thursday evening next, when the Degree Team of Ottonabee Lodge will put on the Second Degree and Peterborough Lodge the Third Degree. The proceedings will begin at eight o'clock sharp and it is hoped everyone will be present at that hour. Refreshments will be served at the close, followed by speeches, songs, etc. Every member of the order in and around Peterborough is invited. Invitations have also been sent to Norwood, Hawick, and Port Hope lodges.

HARD ON JUNK DEALERS.

Police Magistrate Dublin Takes Strong Language.

Thomas Frost, a lad 16 years of age, pleaded guilty to the Police Court this morning to three charges of theft of weights, which were taken from the packing house of the George Matthews Co., on three different occasions.

Frost at one time worked for the Matthews Company and frequently visited the establishment. After each visit large brass weights, used for weighing were missing. A search through the junk shop revealed the fact that the weights had been sold to the junk men by young Frost.

A. W. Leavie, a semi-professional junk dealer was charged with receiving from Frost, goods, knowing the same to be stolen. He was represented by Mr. E. B. Stone, and acquitted of the charge.

Frost is already out on suspended sentence and will come up next Tuesday for a final sentence.

During the trial the Police Magistrate spoke strongly in regard to the methods of junk dealers. He said that the fact that this boy, without any question, was able to sell perfect brass weights to no less than three junk dealers, naturally gives rise to the question as to how far the habit of the junk dealer is an inducement to boys and dishonest persons to get articles which they know they can readily sell. Boys nowadays are selfish, self-indulgent, and want money to gratify their appetite in the pastry shops, in cigarettes and cheap shows. The knowledge that they can sell their stolen goods, is a temptation to take what honesty would forbid, and he was satisfied that the whole system is a school where bad education is cultured. In most places the municipal police have a by-law licensing junk dealers and compelling them to keep a record of all purchases, the description, and the name of the seller, and in some cases the junk dealers are compelled to make a return to the Chief of Police of all purchases of the previous day. This had a wholesome deterring effect on buyer and seller and facilitates the police in the search for stolen goods. The Town Council of Peterborough can not do better service than to enact such a by-law, especially as an influence to save the boys from temptation.

NEW HUSBAND.

Quite an Improvement on the Old.

"I have been compelled to stop drinking it," said the friend who asked me to strengthen up on a cup of her good coffee. "Well," she said, "that needn't bother you, for I have found Postum Food Coffee here, which completely cured a drink of mine of sick headache." I tried her coffee and it was very good, but when I tried to make that food, I was disappointed. I soon found that I was not making it right, but by putting in two heaping teaspoonsful of Postum for each person, and letting it boil twenty minutes, it was delicious. I had at that time been an invalid for several years, but did not know my trouble was caused by coffee drinking, of which I was very fond. I immediately began to feel better after leaving off coffee and using Postum, and stuck to it. One day I met a lady who was troubled the same as I was, and whose appearance on the really shocked me, for she was so emaciated. She said she was surprised at my improved appearance, and wanted to know what I had been doing. She asked me if I had had a healer of any kind. I said, "Yes, I have allowed Postum Food Coffee to work the almost complete miracle of curing me." My husband has been absent in Georgia for some time, and has been in wretched health. Having been in the local fever for some time, I wrote to him to stop using coffee and try Postum, told him also just how to make it. Yesterday I received a letter from him in which he says, "I am feeling very much better, thanks to you and Postum. I sleep better, eat better, and in fact, my dear, am quite an improvement on the old husband." Alice L. Gibson, 806 Park Ave., Salt Lake City, Utah.

Vaccinate the People.

Toronto, July 10.—A more alarming and disastrous outbreak of smallpox is a probability in Ontario next autumn, according to Dr. Hodgette. That prominent officer of the Provincial Health Board presented a written report to the secretary of the board, Dr. Bryce, yesterday afternoon, in which the outlook is officially depicted in plain, outspoken language.

Following his inspection of the outbreak in Brantford, the report states that he visited the townships of Burford, Oakland and Windham. Dr. Hodgette states that he inspected 34 houses where smallpox was supposed to exist. He found that 164 persons of the 98 had smallpox. Of the 164 not less than 81 were unvaccinated.

Dr. Hodgette traced the infection to a house in Brantford, where the person had brought it from London. An unvaccinated girl visited the house and returned to her home in a locality where two birds of the millers were suspected by vaccination.

The report warned medical men and other municipalities that unless greater precautions prevail there will be in the approaching autumn a further break of smallpox more alarming and more disastrous than any seen for some time.

"Vaccination of all the people and adults should be the order of each municipality in this province," says Dr. Hodgette. "If this warning is not heeded the future expense incurred in stamping out smallpox will be enormous and burdensome in many municipalities."

"Many from the infected districts attended the circus in Brantford and the Baptist convention in Scotland. The warning is given both to lolly and clergy and physicians. Be on the lookout for new cases."

Canada, Was His Only Theme.

Hon. Jos. Chamberlain at Common Day Banquet in London.

COLONIAL SECRETARY'S SPEECH.

London, Express, July 11.—Mr. Chamberlain was the principal guest at the annual dinner in celebration of Dominion day in the Hotel Cecil last night. The chair was taken by Lord Strathcona, and 300 guests sat round the tables.

Mr. Chamberlain gave the toast "The Dominion of Canada." His rising was greeted by cheering loud and long.

What were they gathered for that night? asked the Colonial Secretary. It was to celebrate the anniversary of the birth of a nation; of one of those nations which together went to make up a great Empire, greater than the world has ever seen before and to which we were all so proud to belong.

"Well, his first and most natural thought was to compare the anticipations which were formed when the British North America Act first became law with their realization now that a generation had passed since Canadian federation was accomplished."

Those anticipations had, reference to two things—in the first place, to the future of Canada itself, in the second place, to the relations of Canada with the Motherland.

CRADLE OF FEDERATION

As to the former of these, he could not help thinking that even the most sanguine of the men that surrounded the cradle of federation could not have dared to anticipate the sturdy vigour, the astonishing growth, of the infant that they had helped to bring into the world.

"It was not for him to repeat the history—a history of which the experience of the world could hardly show a parallel — of the development of Canada."

In the course of a period which amounted only to the span of an average life they had in Canada established all the institutions of civilized and orderly government, created vast industries, employing a great population; transforming a treeless waste into one of the great granaries of the world, opened up sources of inexhaustible mineral wealth; created new centres of intellectual energy; reared a population—a people strenuous, law-abiding, God-fearing — the foundation the real and truest foundation of a great nation.

The record of the internal progress of Canada was one of almost unbroken advance. When they looked back upon it they did not wonder at it—they were able to justify the confidence with which every Canadian was born in the destinies of the magnificent land, which was his appointed heritage.

THE LINK WHICH BINDS.

But if the founders of Canadian federation were unable completely to realize the rapidly and completely, with which the spirit of the people would evolve all the institutions, all the qualities, all the characters that belonged to perfect nationhood, still less were they able to appreciate the results which this development would have upon the relation between Canada and the nation from which she sprang.

When the utmost liberty was conceded to the Canadian people to work out their own destinies, to travel the lines which they themselves should appoint, he thought it could not be denied that many of the most eminent Canadians believed that that was only a step towards an inevitable result, that it was only a moment in the direction of complete separation, which perhaps was to be followed in its turn by absorption in the powerful and friendly neighbour which Canada has to the south. (Cries of "Never" and "No, No!")

They say "No" now, but they would not have said it if they had been living thirty years ago. (Cries of "Yes.") But fortunately for us, and still more fortunately for Canada—(cheers)—those anticipations had not been fulfilled.

"Cheers."

Canada had felt herself strong enough to carry forward her destiny alone—alone, that was to say, with only the slight, but still enormously strengthened link which bound her to the Mother Country.

MISGUIDED SCEPTICS.

The advantages which Canada had derived from federation had suggested the possible advantages of a still greater union, in which sister nations should be held together by common aspirations.

"Cheers." During all this time there had not been warring sceptics who had disbelieved in what they called mere sentiment, who had thought that the claim which tied us together was a frail thing that it could not sustain the slightest strain, and they had publicly expressed their conviction that it was absurd to think any of our great self-governing Colonies would send a man or spend a penny for the interest of any other part in which they were not directly concerned.

These sceptics had shown a great want of imagination. (Laughter and cheers.)

The liberality which they unwittingly had promulgated about their fellow-subjects had, he hoped, by the events of the last two years been for ever silenced. He did not think that the world had ever seen anything more striking, more suggestive, than the way in which all our Colonies and dependencies came together and moved with us in the great struggle which had been forced upon us.

(Cheers.) They had shown, at any rate that they understood the meaning of the words Empire. ("Hear, hear," and cheers.)

TRAITORS AT HOME.

He had a great respect for civilized Europe, but he did not think the opinion of civilized Europe today was likely to be the verdict of posterity—(cheers)—and for his own part he looked with much greater confidence for the verdict of posterity to the unbiased sympathy of our great colonies, the freest people on the face of the globe, who had no selfish interest in the matter, than he did to the unimpaired prejudice and envy of foreign nations—(cheers)—who greedily swallowed every lie that was foisted upon them by enemies abroad or enemies at home.

If the time should come that the sceptre of dominion should be too heavy for our hands, we looked to the young nations—beirs of the future—those to whom it was given to carry on to distant ages the glory of the British flag and the pride of the British commonsense—we looked to them to appreciate our position, to approve our policy, to give us their aid and assistance to enable us to meet the claims of our enemies with the cheers of our children. If they that, and they would, they would give us the right to say, in the words of a Canadian poet—

"Lull, little folk, for joy to think that England's sun has set;
But flame louder than the sun,
And freedom louder yet,
Take back your spite-engendered
Sword, your conscript-nurtured Spear."

Hark to the cry that comes from east, out-heralding the morn;
And westward, beyond the sunset,
From the face that is to rise,
From continent to continent it sounds
From isle to isle,
And by the broad St. Lawrence, from Leveah the southern Cross,
We are England's—count on us
Before you count her loss.

THE FISHERMAN'S STRIKE.

The Little Japs Asked Cannery Men Money With Which to Purchase Rifles.

Vancouver, B. C., July 12.—The following statement, signed by Frank Rogers, a member of the executive of the Grand Lodge of Fishermen's Union of British Columbia, now on strike against the cannery, has been given out:

"Reliable information has been brought to us that some of the cannery men have advanced money to the Japanese to purchase rifles and revolvers. They say that the cannery men have ordered the Japs when they shoot they must shoot to kill. The fishermen consider this arming of the Japs a step which means civil war and the fishermen will ask all white men and Indians to govern themselves accordingly."

Your correspondent asked the secretary of the Fraser River Cannery Association, Mr. Burdick, if this statement of Mr. Rogers was correct. Mr. Burdick stated that no money had been advanced for rifles, although the Japs had made repeated requests to be given money to purchase weapons to defend themselves against the probable attack of strikers on the Fraser River.

Mr. Farrell, a member of the committee, gave the statement of an unqualified denial. He stated that many of the Japs in asking for advances of money had put in their statements "Guns and ammunition, so much." This item had been in every instance scored out, although the Japs had urged that they wished the rifles and ammunition to use them in case of self-defence. Subsequently, Mr. Rogers telephoned to a local paper that the white fishermen would be armed just the same as Japs. A member of the Cannery's committee in reply to this remark of Mr. Rogers, stated that the cannery men know for a fact that the men in their patrol boats, armed by white strikers had been armed when they were patrolling the river in an attempt to drive back the Japanese.

Members of the cannery's executive say that the statements made to newspapers that the committee are favourable to a suggestion made by Government Labour Commissioner Bremner, as to a possible way of settling the strike is incorrect. "They have had no suggestion before them and would make no further proposals to the fishermen."

DR. SYMONDS' SUCCESSOR.

Rev. E. A. Layfield will be Rec of St. M. Luke's.

It is understood that the appointment of Rev. E. A. Layfield, of Oshawa, to succeed Rev. Dr. Symonds as rector of St. Luke's, has been decided upon by the Bishop of the Diocese of Toronto. This is in accordance with the expressed desire of St. Luke's congregation. No official announcement has been made but the matter is considered as settled.

Sworn Evidence Will Be Taken

Kitchener Ordered to Investigate Shooting of British Wounded

RIFLE PRACTICE MUST LEAD.

Cape Town, July 11.—A commando of rebel Cape Dutch under Scheepers, looted and burned the homestead of the Hon. Mr. Herbold, near Murrayburg, on Monday last. The family was ejected and compelled to watch the destruction of the home.

After vainly demanding the surrender of the town of Campbell last Friday, a commando of Boers under Courtoy, attacked the place. The fire of the Boers was very fierce, for a while, but perceptibly weakened towards sunset. Eventually the attacking force retired. The British suffered no casualties.

Another cousin of R. E. Laver, carrying documents commissioning him as an officer under De Wet, has been captured in the neighborhood of Stormberg.

Mrs. Lucas Meyer, wife of the Boer general, sailed for Europe on the steamship Saxon today.

SWORN EVIDENCE.

London, July 12.—The Secretary for War, announced today in the House of Commons that Lord Kitchener has been asked to take sworn testimony regarding the alleged shooting of captured British officers by the Boers at Vlakfontein for refusing to work the guns.

Lord Kitchener at first believed the report unfounded, but subsequently replied that seven men had testified to seeing the Boers shoot wounded prisoners at Vlakfontein, and that he had ordered sworn evidence to be taken.

MILITARY TACTICS.

London, July 12.—General Francis V. Greene, U.S.A., is here with the object of studying European military systems and tactics. In spite of his own experiences in the Philippines and the apparent lessons of the Transvaal war, General Greene predicts that the next European war will be fought on much the same lines as in the past.

He says—"Boer tactics are impossible in countries that do not present the natural strategic advantages of the Transvaal—ugged, barren and unsettled, without means of communication, Europe, holding railways and fine roads everywhere, offers less favorable opportunities for defence. The question is totally different from the situation in the Transvaal."

RIFLE PRACTICE FIRST.

London, July 11.—Lord Roberts, Commander-in-Chief of the British Army, has ordered that in future the rifle shall be the consideration in the training of recruits for all branches of the service. sword, lance and bayonet exercises have been abolished.

CONDITION OF BRITISH.

London, July 12.—The Daily Mail claims that the condition of the British in South Africa is much worse than generally supposed, especially in Cape Colony. No evidence is produced. The paper declares that the Cape Dutch have taken the foolish attempts of the British at consultation as signs of weakness, and as proving that the English are tired of the war, and to that adds is attributable the condition of the colony, the rebelliously inclined colonists being thereby encouraged to give aid to the Boers.

The Mail's campaign undoubtedly reflects the views of the jingo, to whom it specially caters. That large section of the British public have long been in favor of finishing the war by Cawick methods, and their impatience is now being vented.

BOERS' COUNTER-CHARGES.

The Hagle, July 12.—The Boers have emphatically deny the London Daily Mail's stories regarding alleged atrocities enacted by the Boers at the battle of Vlakfontein.

The Boer delegates here say the publication of the sensational lie was incited by a desire to cover and suppress excitement which might arise from the murder of two Boers.

Commandant Delarey asserts that he recently sent, on two successive days, Boers with white flags to demand the surrender of 1,000 British who were surrounded near Pretoria, and that a British officer acknowledged that these envoys had been shot.

Delarey then asked why they were shot, and the English officer replied: "We do not negotiate with our enemies to rebel."

Commandant Delarey protested to Kitchener against the action, and the officer who shot the Boer messengers will be tried by court-martial.

BRITISH RETREATED.

London, July 12.—A Yeomanry trooper, in a letter describing the Vlakfontein affair, May 23, states that the British, the night after that fight, discovering that the Boers were surrounding their camp were obliged to retreat, leaving their tents standing, and their wounded behind them.

Cape Town, July 12.—Marnia, the well-known Cape rebel, was hanged at Middleburg, Transvaal Colony, yesterday. The execution was witnessed by prominent residents of Middleburg. London, July 12.—The Daily Mail continues to criticize the Government in regard to the Boer war. Referring to the Government's admission that it had information respecting the shooting of our wounded at Vlakfontein so long back as June 11, the Mail states that this is only a small portion of the policy of concealment now being carried on. While the Government is constantly saying in public that the war will be fought to a finish, it is, says the Mail, continually making offers of peace to the Boers.

Returning visitors last night reported a big crowd and a celebration worthy of the glorious, pious and immortal memory.

SOUTH AFRICAN MEDALS.

They Are on the Merit of Ophir and Have Not Yet Been Engraved.

Ottawa, July 12.—A despatch which reached the Militia Department yesterday afternoon makes it evident that the South African medals for the members of the Canadian contingents are on the Royal Steamer Ophir. The despatch, which is from the Secretary of State for War, acquaints the Governor-General with the former's approval of the medals being handed over to the general officer commanding the Canadian militia, and of their distribution.

The general commanding at Halifax, and Lieutenant the Duke of Roxburgh, who has charge of the medals on His Majesty's ship Ophir, have been the document signed, informed of the decision came to. The officials of the Militia Department concluded from the tenor of the despatch that the medals will be handed over to General O'Driscoll-Hilly on the Ophir's arrival at Quebec. The medals have not been engraved with the recipient's name and rank and apparently opportunity will not be afforded for doing this until after the formal presentation by His Royal Highness.

A Serious Charge.

The Algoma Conservator, printed at Gore Bay, Ont., says: "One of the most astounding things that has ever taken place in this district, and possibly nothing like it has ever taken place in any part of the Province of Ontario, was enacted in the Court House in Gore Bay on Tuesday last when his honor Judge A. B. McClellan, openly and publicly in public court, in presence of His Honor Justice Falconbridge, in the presence of the whole audience, impeached J. P. J. Cashman, Crown Attorney, and clerk of the peace of the district of Manitowish, of a very serious crime—the misappropriation of trust funds—and other matters." The Conservator says the disclosure was unexpected. That Cashman had got $150 from a Mr. Gallagher by false pretence, and that the money sent from Toronto to pay the jurymen ($250) had also been pocketed. The last of crooked transactions is said to be a long one.

Suspicious Characters Arrived.

Two burglars entered the house of Mrs. J. Tule, on the corner of Stewart and King streets, while she was visiting one of her neighbors. They were noticed coming from the house by Mrs. Chase, Reid, who at once sent word to police head quarters. Policeman McGinty was dispatched with all haste and captured them at Dunn's hotel, George street. On leaving the house of Mrs. Tule, they had several parcels in their possession, but on seeing they were being pursued by an officer they dropped them. Two more suspects were arrested late yesterday afternoon, and it is believed that they belong to one gang as three of them say they hail from Toronto, and the other from Dundas. The trial will take place at 3 o'clock this morning.

A special train took Prince Chun and his suite from here to Taku, from which port he will proceed by steamship to Shanghai. He sails from Shanghai July 20, for Genoa, and will proceed from there to Berlin by rail.

DEATH OF "TOM" GRAHAM.

Formerly Well Known and Esteemed in Peterborough.

This St. Lawrence News of Quebec, records the death on Monday, July 1st, of Mr. Thomas Graham, former resident of Peterborough. (The late Mr. Graham was well known in Peterborough, and was a considerable commercial success in his own right. He was associated with the clothing firm of John Calder & Co., during which time he resided on Glenora street, Peterborough. The late Mr. Graham went to Grand Forks, Dakota, where he established a flourishing clothing business and became a prominent citizen, having been elected treasurer of the city and a member of the school board. However, his health failed last spring and he came to Quebec in search of improved health. He died, an active and energetic heart, progressed and death ensued late in the afternoon of July 1st. He was a favorite among his friends, his genial, companionable nature making his company a rare enjoyment of 40, he leaves behind him a widow but no children. (The many friends Mr. Graham made during his short residence in Peterborough will learn of his death with the comparatively early age of 40, with deep regret. Mrs. James McGraw, Walton street, was a sister of deceased.)

MR. CARNEGIE'S WEALTH.

He Plans to Give Away Many Millions for the Benefit of the Public.

New York, July 12.—Andrew Carnegie still has $250,000,000 to give away in public benefactions. Mr. Carnegie himself is a millionaire. He has made his money, which he made recently at Skibo Castle, to a member of the New York Chamber of Commerce Committee who wishes his name kept secret from motives of personal delicacy.

Several members of the New York Chamber of Commerce delegation which went to England recently, visited Mr. Carnegie at Skibo Castle, and with him the millions were dispersed, his gifts to the public. He remarked that in the future he intended to make other donations, more extensive even than heretofore to public institutions.

According to Mr. Carnegie, he is still undecided in what manner to dispose of his wealth for the public good. He wishes to public to obtain the best results from his future benefactions, and for that reason has not formulated any philanthropic schemes.

HEAP-CALCULUGH.

Former Peterborough Teacher Wedded at Skirkirk Man.

The marriage was celebrated on Wednesday morning, June 27th at Skirkirk, Man., of that Frederick Heap, barrister of that town, formerly of the Peterborough Collegiate, and Miss Maggie Calculeugh, daughter of Major Calculeugh. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. M. Dekey, and the bride was given away by her father. She was attended by Miss Annie Moncreiff and bridesmaid, and the groom was supported by F. E. Storey, of Skirkirk. After the ceremony the happy couple left for Winnipeg, where they took the evening train for the east en route to Buffalo and other eastern cities. Many friends in Peterborough will join with the Times in extending congratulations.

Toronto's Big Exhibition.

The Prize List for Toronto's great Annual Exposition and Industrial Fair, which this year will be held from August 20th to Sept. 7th, has come to hand. It is printed in yellow shaded with green, and presents a very handsome appearance. Upwards of $35,000 will be distributed in premiums, and $30,000 will be spent in features and special attractions. The live stock classes have been rearranged in some instances and the premiums increased in others. A class for French Canadian cattle has been added. Copies of the Prize List and all information desired can be had on addressing H. J. Hill, 22 King St. East, Toronto. Special efforts are being made to increase the excellence of the Exhibition this year on account of the close proximity of the Pan-American.

COITING TO COME.

Cobourg Methodist Sunday school is arranging for an excursion to Stony Lake about the middle of August.

The Port Hope excursion on July 17th will be at Nichol Park instead of at Jackson Park.

Watch for particulars regarding the Printers' excursion down the river at an early date.

THE OUTING SEASON.

Hosts of Sunday School Children Departed Yesterday.

"This is a week of Sunday School picnics. The weather is ideal and the little people have been enjoying themselves immensely."

CHARLOTTE ST. OUTING.

The annual picnic of Charlotte St. Methodist Sunday school, took place Thursday afternoon at Jackson Park. The scholars met at the Sunday school and were taken to the Park in buses. A very pleasant afternoon was spent in games of various kinds. The Sunday School officials speak in the highest terms of the manner in which the caretaker of the Park looked after the picnic, and there was not the slightest mis-accord on the part of any other persons who appeared to be at the Park.

ST. PAUL'S S.S. PICNIC.

Inverlea Park was the scene of a very enjoyable picnic Thursday afternoon, being the annual outing of the primary and intermediate classes of St. Paul's Sunday School. The affair was very largely attended by the younger children, who spent a pleasant afternoon in various kinds of sport. An interesting programme of games was run off under the able management of Messrs. Jackson, Duggan and Alex. Gibson. The children showed great enthusiasm in the events, many of which were hotly contested.

The teachers of the school were well represented and assisted in making the afternoon highly delightful. At about seven o'clock the affair was brought to a close by the gathering singing "God Save the King," and the juvenile Sunday school scholars returned home carrying the prizes they had won and enthusiastic over the success of the day's proceedings.

ST. ANDREW'S S.S. PICNIC.

All who attended St. Andrew's Sunday School picnic Thursday spoke in the highest terms of the very successful outing at Dundas-Grove near Keene station. A large number left in special coaches attached to the morning Belleville train and were loaded at the Grove.

The young people immediately found their way to the sparkling and clear waters of the Ottawa river, which runs through the grounds and bathed in its suitable bathing parts, while others contented themselves with wading in the more shallow parts, which this beautiful day afforded. A number made pilgrimages to the quiet village of Keene and enjoyed the ordinary spirit of repose by fishing the church bell, which during the week the village fire alarm. Others of the company wandered along the shady parts of river and saw to Ilce Lake, and were able to get a glimpse of Idyllic Wild, just opposite.

During the afternoon games of all sorts were indulged in, football, etc., who could not thus indulge, contented themselves under the delightful shade-trees with reading, sleeping and swinging. The day throughout was bright and cool and the merry picknickers returned home at 5 p.m. all in good cheer.

The committee speaks in the highest praise of the hearty co-operation of G.T.R. officials at this station and at Keene, also of the courtesy and kindness of the conductors.

MARK ST. S.S. PICNIC.

The annual picnic of Mark Street Sunday School was held on Tuesday July 9, at Jackson Park. The Lily conveyed the pleasure-weeker reaching Jubilee soon after eleven.

In the afternoon a programme of races was run off, for which suitable prizes were given, as follows:

Girls—9 and under—Bertha Record, Hattie Castle, Hazel Crowe, Joyce—8 and under—Albert Crowe, Walter Paterson.
Girls—12 and under, open—E. Henthorn.
Boys—12 and under, open—C. Cox.
Boys—16 and under—E. Henthorn, F. Dornier.
Boys—18 and under—C. Cox.
Boys—16 and under, open—Paterson and C. Cox.
Boys' foot race—R. Paterson, C. Henthorn, W. Paterson.
Girls' foot race—E. Whitley.
Young ladies' race—L. Hissam, E. Weir.
Married women's race—Mrs. S. Taylor, Mrs. W. Chow.

A CHARGE OF ASSAULT.

Alexander Reid Takes Out a Warrant Against Contractor Corry.

Alexander Reid, Peterborough's well known expressman, this morning swore out a warrant before County Justice Magistrate Edmondson, against Mr. J. A. Corry, of the firm of Messrs. Corry & Co., of Peterborough, charging him with assault. Mr. Reid says he had a contract for drawing away empty cement bags from the canal works. The contract was first given to Mr. Wm. Quinn, but Mr. Reid says, Quinn was given notice that it was cancelled when he was asked to take away the bags he was interfered with and, as he says, assaulted by Mr. Corry.

WHEAT ALL HEAD-D OUT

Manitoba Grain Fields Are Described as a Sight of a Lifetime.

Winnipeg, July 12.—The crop reports to the Canadian Pacific Railway indicate that a huge wheat and coarse grain crop will be Manitoba's portion this year. The weather for the past few days has been a constant dry for the farmers—dry and breezy, with a bright sun. The grain is all headed out and travellers report that a drive through Manitoba at present is a sight of a life time. With continued dry weather the grain will be ripe by Aug. 1, and the general opinion is that Premier Roblin's prediction of fifty million bushels of wheat for Manitoba will be fulfilled.

COITING TO COME.

Cobourg Methodist Sunday school is arranging for an excursion to Stony Lake about the middle of August.

The Port Hope excursion on July 17th will be at Nichol Park instead of at Jackson Park.

BEAUTIFUL PICTURES FREE!

Superb pictures of Queen Victoria, King Edward and Queen Alexandra given free to subscribers of the Weekly Times.

These lovely pictures are the most striking and beautiful of Royal personages ever issued, being 18x24 in size, and are in seven colors. They would adorn any wall and are superb for framing.

We will give one of each of the above magnificent works of art (three in all) to anyone who will send us a club of five paid subscribers, at $1 each, to the Weekly Times. We will also furnish each of the five subscribers with 100 copies of one of these beautiful pictures, as a premium, absolutely free.

Go to Work and get five of your friends to subscribe for the Weekly Times for one year, paying for each $1 therefor; then send us the five dollars with the names and addresses of the subscribers, also naming the pictures selected, and we will mail you your three and each of the five subscribers one. Any man, woman, girl or boy can obtain these beautiful works of art by devoting a few minutes' time to canvassing.

Should you want the pictures in advance to canvass with, send us 40c and we will forward them by mail, and deduct the 40c from the $5 club.

For every club of ten subscribers we will give $2 cash or will send you a set of Chambers' Encyclopedia in 30 volumes.

For every club of 25 subscribers we will pay $5 cash to the club getter, or will give Chambers' Encyclopedia in cloth binding, gold letters.

Each subscriber is in every case entitled to one of the Royal pictures.

WHEN BABY IS SICK

Crying the Most Index to Its Physical Condition.

A baby's cry should be to the intelligent mother the best index to its physical condition. The healthy baby cries very loudly and in a lusty, explosive, angry manner, and the tears flow freely. The sick baby, or the one on the verge of sickness, cries peevishly or whines in a low tone.

Watch the manner in which the baby takes its food. If it is perfectly well it will attack the bottle greedily, and will express its satisfaction much in the same manner as any other young sucking animal—that is, by soft and inarticulate noises or grunts. If, on the other hand, the baby contemplates its food before touching it, or, after tasting, turns from it, because there is something wrong.

Watch the baby closely while it sleeps. If it is in perfect health the skin will be moist, the lips damp and scarlet, the palms of the hands and the soles of the feet pink. The eyelids will be completely closed and there will be no twitching of the muscles about the mouth or nose or eyes. Save for a faint rhythmic sound of breathing the healthy baby when asleep will be as still as a piece of carved marble.

If the baby smiles in its sleep, if it throws out its little hands and feet with swift, spasmodic motions; if the eyes are only half closed, the corners of the mouth drawn down, the breathing irregular or labored, the face flushed and the head hot, then lose no time in calling in the family physician.

THE VALLEY SHADOWS

The shadows in the valley, They gather grim and grey; We needs must pass their darkness through, It waits on every way; But from the heights descending, O soul, be brave and strong, And make the valley shadows ring Unto the hilltop song!

The shadows in the valley, They gather grey and grim, But all the darkened roads go straight From mountain brim to brim; And now the heights ascending, The way behind you long, How steadfast sounds your faithful chant, The valley's hilltop song!

—Ripley D. Saunders.

A Word About the Bathroom

The bath itself must, of course, always be kept spotlessly clean and the tiles brilliantly polished, and the linoleum covering the floor always carefully swept and washed, but even more than this is needed to make a really comfortable bathroom. A cork or rubber mat should be kept in every bathroom.

Woolen mats are useless; they absorb the moisture and become unhygienic. A placemat should be found on the wall for a mirror—a plain one with a black frame will answer the purpose admirably; the longer it is the better, and it should be placed where there is a good light. Two wire trays should also be fastened to the wall beside the bath, and low enough to be within easy reach of the person using it.

These are to hold the sponge and fannel and soap when not in use during the bath. Also shelves should be made and placed upon the walls of every bathroom. These may be of plain deal, enamelled any color that is liked. Plenty of soap should always be provided and towels in abundance, and with all these little comforts the daily bath will be indeed an unalloyed pleasure.

There is no place where a person's good breeding and early training, says a writer in The Delineator, are more clearly shown than at the table. Peculiarities of manner which might elsewhere pass without criticism are not there allowable. Conduct must be marked by serenity, and there must be no uncertainty of manner, but an easy knowledge of the use of all the belongings of the table. Customs which may seem insignificant are in reality of sufficient import not to show the difference between refinement and the lack of it, between a familiarity with social conventionalities or the reverse.

Whether a dinner is ceremonious or informal, certain customs remain the same. We will suppose that a lady is taking her seat at a dinner party. She immediately removes her gloves, places them in her lap, unfolds the napkin, takes the roll or bread from within it and places it at the left hand, on the table, and lays the napkin across her lap. At each place there may be on the right two large knives, a small silver fish knife and a tablespoon, and on the left three or four silver forks, one of them a fish fork and one an oyster fork.

The oysters are served on the shell and must be eaten whole, not cut in half. Soup is taken with a tablespoon and from the side of the spoon; one must never tilt one's soup plate to secure the last spoonful and must never be served twice to soup.

For the fish course, the silver fish fork and knife are used. Butter is not served at dinner. It is not good form to eat bread between the courses, as if one were hungry.

Some entrees, such as cutlets or served broods, may require the knife and fork; for others, such as patties, timbales or croquettes, a fork only is used. Meat is cut as required, a small piece at a time. When eating vegetables the knife is laid on the plate, the blade resting near the center. The knife must not be placed across the edge of the plate, nor with the handle resting on the table. The fork is then taken up in the right hand, the handle of the fork resting easily on the hand between the first finger and the thumb.

Small birds, such as quail and squab, are served whole, one for each person, and one cut the meat from the breast and cut each piece at the time of eating it.

THEIR FAME SPREADING.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills a Wonderful Remedy.

Editor of the Morning Times. Sir,—It is because I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be repaid that I ask you to publish some facts regarding Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills. I was for many years a sufferer from indigestion and stomach troubles. I could not digest my food, I was constipated, and it was only by injections that I could get relief. Physicians did me no good. I was reduced to a skeleton, and could hardly walk. As a last resort I tried a box of these pills, and the improvement was so marked that I continued taking them. I have now taken twelve boxes, never remembering being so well in my life. I have gained 32 pounds, and am putting on more flesh daily. I am a living, walking advertisement and consider no trouble too great in order to spread the fame of Dr. Clarke's Pills. A. F. Jones, Lockport, N.Y. For sale by Ormond & Walsh.

Don't Allow Operation for Cancer

There is a simpler, safer and more effective method of treatment. Dr. J. C. Oliver, of Cincinnati, Ohio, U.S.A., in a paper he read before the Ohio State Medical Society, May 1900, said: "I have operated in a considerable number of cases of Cancer recently, and with one exception all have died within four months after the operation." This statement of a prominent Surgeon, should make any one suffering from cancer, hesitate before submitting to operation, and consider the evidence offered on behalf of the new Constitutional remedy, which cures Cancer, Tumors and all malignant growths, without the necessity of operation. It is a simple vegetable medicine that reaches out and destroys the cancer growths, completely eradicates the disease, and at the same time, builds up and invigorates the system. Scott & Jory, Bowmanville, Ont., will be pleased to send full particulars of this treatment, in a plain, sealed wrapper, to any sufferer, on receipt of two stamps.

SAVES THE BABY'S LIFE

MOTHERS Say That

LACTATED FOOD.

Is a Blessing To All Infants.

Thousands of happy children have been nourished and brought up on life-saving Lactated Food. There is no other form of infant food in the country so popular with mothers and physicians. The most prominent city nurseries in Canada have made Lactated Food their choice, because it gives the most happy results. Lactated Food always keeps sweet and pure in any climate; variations of temperature cannot impair the virtues of this wonderful food. If baby is cross, peevish, puffy and weak, do not delay the use of Lactated Food; it is a true life-saver and health-builder. Your druggist will recommend it.

GRAPE-NUTS

TO KEEP OUT OF NERVOUS

PROSTRATION BY PROPER

USE OF FOOD.

It is a lamentable fact that American brain workers, do not, as a rule, know how to feed themselves by rebuilding the daily loss occasioned by making free use of Grape-Nuts, the famous breakfast food, which contains exactly the elementary principles which have an affinity for aluminum and go directly to rebuild the gray matter in the brain, solar plexus and nerve centers throughout the body. Follow your selection of food up with a demulcent of coffee, tobacco and whiskey for fifteen days and mark the difference in your mental ability which means everything to the average bustling American, who must have physical and mental strength or he falls out in the race for dollars.

THE OLD FOLK, TOO.

Through the kindness of Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald the old people of the Peterborough Protestant Home were enabled to have a very pleasant drive to the residence of Miss Rye, where they had tea last Saturday. This is the second time this summer that Mr. Fitzgerald has treated the old people.

DIED.

PETERBOROUGH.—In Peterborough, on Tuesday, July 10th, 1891, Charles Louis Harding, wife of Mr. Henry Freeborn, Dumfries, aged 21 years, 2 months and 9 days.

SWEETHEARTS ALWAYS

If sweethearts were sweethearts all ways
Whether as maid or wife
No drop would be half as pleasant
In the mingled draught of life.

But the sweetheart has smiles and blushes
When the wife has frowns and cold looks
And the wife has a watchful eye
For the glow of the sweetheart's eyes.

If lovers were lovers always,
The same to sweetheart and wife,
Who would change for a future Eden
The joys of this chequered life?

But husbands grow grave and silent,
And are on the anxious brow
Of the wife who is smiling and bright
With the words of the marriage vow.

Happy is he whose sweetheart
Is wife and sweetheart still,
Whose voice, as of old, can charm him,
Whose kiss, as of old, can thrill.

Who has plucked the rose to find ever
Its beauty and fragrance intact
As the flush of passion is mellowed
In love's unmeasured pace.

Who sees in the step a lightness,
Who finds in the form a grace,
Who reads an unaltered brightness
In the witchery of the face.

Undimmed and unchanged, Ah, happy
Is he, crowned with such a life!
Who drinks the wife pledging the Sweetheart.

And looks in the sweetheart's eye —Domestic Month.

—Like the wild-rose-brier:
Friendship like the holly-tree,
The holly is dark when the rose-brier blooms.

But which will bloom most coldly
—Emily Bronte.

We do not judge of the acts of nature as we do those of man. If we did nature would frequently be sentenced to death without benefit of clergy. Nature is irresponsible, unaccountable and incomprehensible.

Oh, deem not they are blest who Whose lives a peaceful tenor keep;
The Power who plies man with show.

A blessing for the eyes that weep —Wm. Cullen Bryant.

WORTH KNOWING

Japan gets the most of her salt from Germany and China, the best coming from Germany. She makes a considerable quantity of her own from sea water, but the quality is poor.

Nearly all of the "pure olive oil" imported into this country is not of seed oil made in the Southern States, sent abroad and there refined and returned to us as the pure product of the Mediterranean olive.

Argentine flour, which is trying to make its way into northern Brazil, cannot compete with the Argentine product.

The palm trees of Venezuela are a large all-spining species, making white and yellow silk, but they can be used commercially, owing to the expense of keeping the spiders reared. If left together they will devour each other.

Wasps eat honey, honey dew and the juices of fruits, but they also are carnivorous and live largely upon other insects. Pollen of flowers they are not supposed to use.

Commenting on the amount which a spider actually consumed during twenty-four hours, Sir J. Lubbock says: "At a similar rate of consumption a man weighing 160 pounds will require a whole fat steer for breakfast, a fat cow for dinner, and for supper two bullocks, eight sheep and four pigs, and just before retiring nearly four barrels of fresh fish."

If we examine a fly's head with the microscope, we shall notice that it has two distinct kinds of eyes; large ones, placed on each side of the face, and little ones or "ocelli," disposed in triangular form on the vertex. The large eyes form two convex prothoracic cones and are composed of a multitude of juxtaposed hexagonal facets. These facets appear to be about four thousand in number; they are not of the same size, those of the upper part being one one-thousandth of an inch in diameter and those of the lower part only about one two-thousandths of an inch.

In olden days, when tea was a rare and precious luxury, silver strainers were used, into which the exhausted leaves were put when they had been well watered and drained. They were afterwards eaten with sugar on bread and butter. This fact is recorded by St. Walter Scott in "St. Rona's Wreck."

PLANTS FOR INDOOR CULTIVATION

Preparing Potted Plants for Home Decoration

It is useless to think of having house plants unless you are prepared to place them in a sunny room; flowering plants especially must have the sun. Select a room if possible, with an eastern or southern outlook. To keep the atmosphere moist enough for rapid growth, place a pan of water on the radiator or stove and see that it is never empty.

George W. Perkins, an authority on the hygiene of house plants, says that to grow flowers in a house purifies the air about them, and that to a certain extent plants test the air we breathe. The injurious gases often found in dwellings affect plants as readily as they do people, and it is generally conceded that where a plant dies from chandeliers or furnaces gas the room is unfit for human occupation as well.

The first thing, then, to bear in mind is that it is necessary to have a great abundance of fresh air and sunshine. Pull up the shades and open the windows wide. In thus catering to the needs of the plants the house is made more cheery, attractive and healthful.

It is stated by some authorities that heliotrope, mignonette and nil in some way increase the quantity of ozone in the air. If this is true, then these plants should be, by all means, among the winter plants of every home.

The latter part of September or the beginning of October is the best time for propagating plants. The weather then is neither too warm nor too cold to hinder the cuttings from taking root.

Select a good healthy plant from which to take the cutting. If the branch snaps off clean, without bending, then you have made a good choice. When the wood of a plant has become hardened it is always difficult to get a cutting from it that will take root quickly. Except in the case of roses, cuttings should always be taken from the young wood.

Fill a box that is three inches deep with ordinary sand, firmly packed. Plant the cuttings and keep the sand quite wet until every cutting has rooted.

Place the box for two days in the shade, then move it into the sun. The temperature of the sand should be kept to about 65 degrees. As the cuttings become rooted, put them in pots, water freely, place in the shade for a few days, then set them in the sun, and they ought to grow and thrive well.

Another way to propagate plants is called the "sandwich system," and is so simple that any housekeeper can successfully root as many cuttings as she may wish to pot. The use of a soup plate is even better than a saucer, for it is deeper and will accommodate more cuttings. Put the cuttings in close together and cover with sand. Keep watered well and fully exposed to the sun. The window sill is a good place on which to place the dish. A close watch must be kept on the sand. Allowing it to get dry even once may cause the roots to bake and die.

Now for the soil for the pots. It should consist of one-third loam, one-third garden loam, one-sixth sand and one-sixth well rotted manure. Have a large box of this soil well mixed and kept in the cellar. Oftentimes you will want to repot or add more earth to a plant already potted, and sometimes it is difficult to get the proper earth just when you need it.

Suppose that last May or June you buried out in the garden some of your potted plants, sinking the pots in the earth up to the rim. You picked off the buds to prevent their blooming before you were ready to bring them in. Now you are ready to shift the plants to larger pots. Dig up the pot, turn it upside down, supporting the plant and earth with the left hand. With the right hand, knock the rim of the pot on the edge of a chair or table and the plant, with the clinging earth, will fall out into the hand, leaving the pot empty.

Now into the larger pot put a layer of charcoal or a wad of "excelsior." Cover this with a little fresh earth. Shake out the matted roots of the plant that one finds generally spread out in the soil. Dip the plant in water, and then in the fresh earth. Fill it with fresh soil—don't pack it—then water well, and set one side in the shade for a day or two.

Much water at first will rot the roots. But after the plant has shown signs of new life it should be watered regularly.

There are many beautiful foliage plants that grow easily in the window and brighten the room almost as much as plants that flower. It is difficult to make a plant bloom profusely by window treatment, but caryanthems make a very pretty showing, so do fuchsias, carnations and geraniums.

These coverlets are used only for the common clay pots, but one can get jardiniere in almost any kind of ware. Some jardiniere come with a saucer in these the plant is potted, and there is therefore no use for the common clay vessel in using the jardiniere that have no saucer the clay pot is placed inside them.

Hyacinths, begonias, tulips, crocuses, jonquils, geraniums, heliotropes and even roses make beautiful winter plants. A cheerful array can be had by sowing annual seeds, such as mignonette, phlox, sweet alyssum and portulaca. These pots should be kept in a window with a southern exposure.

For the evening a drooping plant should be selected, such as lobelia, petunia and passiflora.

Chrysanthemums make particularly pleasing house decorations. If very large blossoms are wanted, the plants should not be allowed to have many branches, and but one or two flowers. Such a plant needs much nourishment, and nothing is better than bayonet compost.

The great secret of success with potted plants is to keep them scrupulously clean.

Consumption

Is a disease of civilization. When the Indian was a stranger to the white man he had no name in his vocabulary for this dreaded malady.

Without arguing as to the curability of consumption, it may be stated positively that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures weak lungs, hemorrhages, bronchitis, deep-seated and stubborn cough, and other diseases which if neglected or unskillfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Persons suffering from chronic disease are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is conducted under the seal of sacred secrecy.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. In a little over thirty years, Dr. Pierce, assisted by his medical staff of nearly a score of physicians, has treated and cured thousands of men and women who had been given up as incurable by local physicians.

"Your medicine is the best I have ever taken," writes Mrs. Jennie Dugan, of Rapid City, S. D. "I had a cough that would not go away. I had a bad cold, but so bad I had to be in bed all the time. I wanted to get a doctor, but thought I would try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery before I had taken one bottle the cough stopped and I have since had no sign of its returning."

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation.

Toronto, Big Exhibition. The Prize List for Toronto's great Annual Exposition and Industrial Fair, which this year will be held from August 26th to Sept. 7th, has come to hand. It is printed in yellow shaded with green, and presents a very handsome appearance. Upwards of $30,000 will be distributed in premiums, and $30,000 will be spent in features and special attractions. The live stock classes have been rearranged in some instances, and the premiums increased in others. A class for French Canadian cattle has been added. Copies of the Prize List and all information of the Prize List can be had on application to H. J. Hill, 82 King St. East, Toronto. Special efforts are being made to increase the excellence of the Exhibition this year on account of the close proximity of the Pan-American.

GOLD MINING CO.

Owning Big Horn Mountain Tunnel and Veneta Vein, 200 acres situated on the Western Slope of Pike's Peak, in the famous Cripple Creek Gold Mining District

THE SAFEST OFFER EVER MADE TO INVESTORS

100,000 Shares Preferred Stock at 25c. Per Share.

It is printed on each certificate that subscribers to the above Preferred Shares will be entitled to receive in Dividends the full amount of money invested, before other stockholders receive any dividends, signed by the President of the Company.

This district produced more Gold in 1900 than any other in the United States.

This property occupies of 3600 by 240 feet, or 200 acres, of gold land. The mine has been worked. The feature of this mine is the Veneta Vein, 30 to 40 feet in width, and is certainly one of the richest veins in this famous district. There are other veins in this mine, the ore is high assay in gold from $12 to $100 per ton. The property is advantageously located for development by tunnel, which will make it possible to produce an enormous amount of ore daily, the quantity varying from 240 to 500 tons per day. The development by tunneling is the most economical and advantageous manner of working this property.

At a distance of 800 feet the Tunnel will intersect the Veneta Vein at a depth of about 680 feet, and will also intersect several other veins. The tunnel will cut the Big Horn Mountain 2100 feet deep, and will give it a company 200,000 tons of ore, worth over $20 per ton.

The new railroad, now practically completed from Colorado Springs, called the Colorado Springs and Cripple Creek road, passes within 200 feet of this Tunnel.

Adjoining this property is the Colorado Springs TUNNEL Company. In this property at a depth of 400 feet, the Veneta Vein was cut. At this point the vein was fully 20 feet in width, and its value from $20 to $100 per ton.

There are already in operation mills and smelters sufficient to treat the output of this property, which gives at once cash returns.

Capital Stock $1,000,000. Par Value $1.00 Per Share. 100,000 Shares Preferred Stock at 25c. Per Share.

In buying this stock the purchaser owns a direct title in the Company's property. This Company offers you an investment in stock, but a legitimate high grade gold mining investment in the Cripple Creek District.

The above offer of Preferred Dividends is an assurance of early returns. After additional machinery is erected, this property will be earning dividends almost equal to its Capital Stock.

THEIR FAME SPREADING.

BABY DOT OR SADDIE.

Here's a charming little lady in a snowy fur coat. Her name is Dot or Saddle. It matters not a grain! If you had her for a sister, I'm sure you'd love her much. As we brother does, who kissed her. And called her "Puggie-Pugh".

Little Grass Princess.

In the fields where the grass and flowers grow, there lived a little princess. The house in which she lived was so small that the grasses hid it from view. When the sun rose in the morning, it would awaken her and she would rise and go to the dew drop for her morning bath. The flower in which the dew would lodge, would form her washbowl. After she had washed, a blade of grass would offer to be her towel; and the running brook would be her looking-glass. After the little princess had finished her bath "one day, she wished to go to the garden and visit the sweet flowers. A butterfly which was passing, offered to carry her on his back.

She went with him, and he flew from flower to flower. The little princess loved the flowers and it made her very happy to be with them.

After a time she grew tired, and asked the butterfly to take her home. The sun had grown very warm, and as they passed the honeysuckle and other flowers, a leaf called out to her: "Take me for a parasol." The little princess took the leaf, and they soon came to her house.

In the house they found a nice little table, with a cornucopia of honey on it, for her supper. The bees had been busy while she was away.

After supper she lay down to rest, and the birds sweetly sang her to sleep. While she was going to sleep she thought how lovely everything was, and how good everybody had been to her; and she thanked God for all beautiful things and asked Him to make her good and lovely too.

Wit From the Mouths of Babes.

A little four-year-old miss wanted a fan, but could not remember the name of it, so she said: "Mamma, where's the thing you brush the warm away with?"

Teacher—Now, Johnny, suppose you had $2,000 and wanted to buy a brick house worth $10,000; what would you do? Johnny—Why, I suppose I'd have to marry a girl worth $8,000.

"Tommy," said his uncle, "can you tell me why the enemies of poor St. Sebastian shot him full of arrows?" "I reckon 'twas 'cause they didn't have no guns," replied Tommy.

Little Edith had been to church for the first time, and on her return her grandma asked her how she liked it. "I didn't like it organ very well," was the reply. "Why not?" asked the old lady. "Cause," answered Edith, "there wasn't any monkey with it."

A Singing Mouse.

A good deal of skepticism prevails as to the fact of there being singing mice, but, having kept such a songster for four years, an English gentleman is in a position to speak with authority.

She was caught in a coal mine, was brought to the surface and handed over to the proprietor. Thus commenced an acquaintance which soon ripened into intimacy, and which was only terminated by her death. There was no doubt about her song—a pretty bird-like warble, rising and falling alternately, and of sufficient power to carry from the top to the bottom of the house when all was quiet.

In appearance she was just an ordinary house mouse, with the usual well-groomed coat, the cascade of whiskers, the beady black eyes and an elegant tapering tail, like the rest of her tribe.

It was her song alone which singled her out from the dumb millions of her fellows, and this song she poured out almost without intermission during her waking hours.

It is not often that the waves of the ocean can set cliffs afire, but they do sometimes. At Ballybunnion, on the west coast of Ireland, the waves which for unnumbered centuries have been beating against the shore, one day broke into a great deposit or eruption of fire, which produced a fierce heat and set the whole cliff to burning.

For weeks the cliff burned like a volcano, and great clouds of smoke and vapor rose in the air. When the fire died out great masses of lava and clay burned to brick were seen in every direction.

In the Arctic regions there is another such burning cliff, which, when last seen, was on fire for twenty miles. The burning material was composed largely of lignite, but is believed to be made up of several other combustible chemical substances which had been set on fire when the waves reached them.

THE FAMINE'S WORK IN CHINESE PROVINCES

Rice, the Chief Article of Food, Selling For $13.50 Per Bushel.

THE RELIEF COMMITTEE CABLES FROM CHINA

Work of Feeding the Starving Millions Now Fairly Begun—The Cry for Help Is Being Heard and Answered by the Christian World.

The staple article of food in China is rice. Millet, and other cereals are also raised in various parts of the Empire, but what bread is to you, rice is to the Chinaman. It is rice that is the staff of life in Asia. But in the two provinces of Shensi and Shensi today costs $13.50 a bushel. Just think what this means. In times of ordinary prosperity, a day's pay in China is about equivalent to sixteen cents American money. The farming population are not accustomed to buy their rice. They raise it in their own fields, on the irrigated terraces. To purchase it at any price is a great hardship; almost an impossibility. But at $13.50 a bushel, it is out of question. There might as well be no rice, so far as its availability is concerned. The people, first hunger for it, and then die because they are unable to obtain it.

But along with information of the famine price of rice comes the cheering news that relief, as the result of Christian generosity, is now approaching the hunger-stricken provinces.

Rev. Arthur H. Smith cabled on July 15 from Tientsin: "I am sending $15,000 tons (10,000,000) to Shensi today." And almost simultaneously the following was received by Wu Ting Fang, Chinese Minister in Washington:

"Your cablegram of the 28th June has been received and contents transmitted to Hsinai Governor, who has just telegraphed us his reply, requesting us to convey, through you, to the Christian Herald, sincere expressions of thanks for the second remittance of relief funds, and stating that pictures depicting the famine are being

THE GREAT STEEL STRIKE UNDER WAY

President Shaffer's Order Affecting 140,000
Employees is Said to be Having its Effect.

BUT DETAILS AT PRESENT ARE VERY MEAGRE.

Amalgamated Association Will Levy an Assessment on the Members and Expect to Raise $25,000 a Month.

Pittsburg, July 15.—The strike of the members of the Amalgamated Association employed in the tin plate, sheet, and hoop mills which was ordered Saturday night as a result of the disagreement of the conference of the United States Steel Corporation and the Amalgamated Association was generally observed in the Pittsburg district this morning. At the mills where the strike order extended the skilled workmen were under the control of the union failed to put in an appearance, or if they did go to the mills it was merely as spectators, and with no intention of working. Early reports received at the general offices of the Amalgamated Association were of a strike order being observed at all mills of the tin plate, sheet, and hoop business.

President Shaffer is in communication with lodge officials at these plants and he is confident that the association will make such a strong showing on the preliminary suspension of work that a general strike of all the mills of the United States Steel Corporation will not be necessary. This latter proposition is the strong card which the Amalgamated president has up his sleeve, and which he has threatened to play if an early adjustment of the difficulty is not made. This strike bears a resemblance to the historical Homestead strike in 1892, in that it is not a question of wages, but of recognition of the Amalgamated Association. The Association insists on unionizing all the plants of the three companies in question. The management refused to grant this demand, and say that the individual contracts with workmen which are in force at a number of the plants must stand.

The Painter mills of the American Steel Hoop Company on the south side are shut down. The men have joined the Amalgamated Association, and this morning not one of the workmen were seen at five Hungarians, and six

CIGARETTE KILLED IN HAMILTON

London, July 15.—H. Roy Spennbury, who boards at 62 Dundas street and was employed in Perrin's biscuit factory, was drowned in the river about a mile south of the city yesterday morning while bathing. He was noticed by a companion, William Hooper, to sink below the surface, and to the latter's great surprise never came up again. The body was found in the evening in ten feet of water, with arms clasped around a stone at the bottom of the stream. The lad was a son of Mr. George Spennbury, the Michigan Central station agent at Melbourne.

LEAPED THE WRONG WAY.

Hamilton, July 15.—Shortly before 9 o'clock Patrick Lavelle, a well-known cigar maker, was run into and killed by a trolley car opposite the Jockey Club house. When the car was quite close to him the motor man rang the gong, but in the excitement of the moment the unfortunate man instead of stepping away from the car, ran right in front of it. He died in a short time from the injuries. An inquest will be held this evening. Deceased was 60 years of age and unmarried.

KILLED IN ALBANY, N.Y.

Hamilton, July 15.—Word has been received of the accidental death in Albany, N.Y., of Mr. Herbert Emmett, bridge builder, who resided in Hamilton some ten years ago. No particulars are learned. Mrs. Herbert is a daughter of Mrs. Lemox of Chisley.

RUN INTO BY A TRAIN.

Napueen, July 15.—Elder Hartman of the Odessa mill boy, and George Kilgus, a girl, aged 11, were crushed into a train early Saturday evening while driving over the G.T.R. tracks near Elmstown. The girl was badly injured that she died in a short time afterwards. The boy was also badly injured, but may recover.

GATE INVENTOR FOUND DYING.

Stratford, July 14.—Charles M. Abell a boarder in the American House, was found in an unconscious condition this morning and died soon afterwards. It is supposed he had fallen downstairs and sustained serious internal injuries. An inquest may be held. The deceased was 61 years of age, and about three weeks ago went to Stratford, where he displayed a gate for which he had taken out a patent.

LITTLE BOY KILLED.

Oshawa, July 15.—Wilfred Gifford, the two-year-old son of Kiram Gifford, a farmer living about a mile east of the G. T. R. station, was struck by a passing train on Saturday and was killed.

DROWNED AT MINDEN.

Minden, July 14.—Daniel Lunen, aged 18, was drowned while bathing here on Friday evening.

BEYOND HIS DEPTH.

Moncton, N.B., July 15.—John Taylor aged 16, went bathing yesterday in Robinson's Creek, got beyond his depth and was drowned.

Settling Time in English Investments

Decline in American Shares as Money is Tight for Investors

BANKS ARE GROWING CAUTIOUS

London, July 15.—The London Stock Exchange today was engaged with the preliminary of the settlement. There were marked and heavy declines in prices and large movements on the money market. A feeling of anxiety prevailed, especially in the market in America. The rumor that the banks would not lead on American securities is a gross exaggeration, but lenders are chary all around where long periods of time are asked for.

Since the last settlement many Americans have fallen from 8 to 9 points and one or two 10 or 18 points. The depression in steel is chiefly due to the rumors that the banks refused to loan money on steel stocks. The Associated Press, however, reports that the banks have not taken any such organized action. In a few cases advances were refused on steel, but this was owing more to the fear of the solvency of the applicants than the value of the stock, though all around difficulty has been experienced in getting the usual advance on this security. In the connection J. P. Morgan, Jr., said: "We have had no notification that the banks were making difficulties, the only reason which can be given for the decline in steel is that there are more sellers than buyers. I do not believe the strike to be serious; only a few mills are concerned, and the effect cannot possibly be judged for a few days. When these matters have developed, if the banks should decide to lend money, on steel, we would be glad to do so if we derived money available for such purposes."

A REACTION SET IN.

A Shrinking Financial Condition in New York.

FEAR FOR THE WAR

Briton Buys Cavalry Feed from Uncle
Sam for South Africa.

The Terrible Heat in New York—Great Suffering Among the Poor—Other News from Gotham.

Liquidation on a large scale has taken place on the Stock Exchange since the holidays. (Several circuits) contributed to this end. In the first place the market was quite ripe for a reaction. Prices had advanced to an almost unattainable degree since the election in November last, the Northern Pacific episode excepted, and had reached a level where some powerful fresh stimulus was necessary to continue the buying movement. Such stimulus was not forthcoming. Prosperity and big railroad earnings seemed to have been fully discounted for a time. Even the community of interest idea and its ton-o effect failed to carry values any higher. Large holders and big operators, satisfied with the profits of the last nine months and wearied with such a long spell of activity, were willing enough to let the market take care of itself for a period and to look themselves off to the summer resorts for enjoyment and recuperation. An argument of much force also, with men of this class, was the condition of the money market. With surplus reserve down to about $3,000,000 against $16,000,000 a year ago, and loans expanded to nearly $50,000,000 compared with $23,000,000 some time last year, the material for any active fall campaign was not in sight. The crop movement must be waited, and the stock withdrawn do not usually return until October or November. The West, it is true, had ample funds, but these are now largely on deposit in New York, and they, certainly, had withdrawn later on in the season. Last year we had increasing reserves during July and August, with September 6, when the surplus stood at $2,000,000 and dropped to $2,297,000 October 20, the point of lowest average. Whether July and August will show rising averages or not this year is entirely problematical. Some addition to the cash reserves is expected through arrivals of gold from the Klondike, which last year amounted to somewhere about $10,000,000, and in case of extremely low belief that the Treasury would avoid some sort of relief as an offset to the large sums absorbed by the government through taxation. These sources of relief, are, however, uncertain; and as gold exports are more likely than gold imports for some time to come, the outlook is for a tight money market until funds withdrawn for the crops begin to return. This is confirmed by the rumor that the Treasury is now asked for time money.

The strained situation in Germany is also a factor of some importance, because, trouble there would certainly be reflected here. Some help will be obtained through the contraction of loans resulting from heavy Stock Exchange liquidation, and a letter bank statement would cause no surprise this week, but it is quite evident that the money market will be as firm for a full campaign until liquidation is more complete and monetary conditions improve. Bank officials seem quite confident of securing good rates for money during the summer and autumn months, without, however, imposing any burdens upon general business. Credits are generally upon a sound basis, and there will be ample funds for legitimate requirements. It is the speculator who will feel the scarcity.

Forage orders for the British troops in South Africa are beginning to close in again. For several months the past no cavalry had been shipped from Brooklyn to the seat of war. It was learned today that Barker & Co., agents for the Union Trust, who do much of this food business for the British government at this port are about to start up rehiring horses. The order is said to be for 2,000 tons. It was also learned today that Barker & Co. have a ship due in this port to load 30,000 quarters of oats for South Africa. She will load in Jersey City.

THE BOER ATROCITIES.

An evening paper publishes the story of the shooting of British prisoners by the Boers, as told by a returned South African soldier. There is no doubt that the South African Dutch are losing the sympathy even of the rabid anti-English people of the United States.

THE TERRIBLE HEAT.

The heat yesterday and Sunday was excessive, and there were many deaths and prostrations. The ambulances were kept busy. The suffering amongst the poor is very great.

If you want the best quality of photos of yourself or friends, go to Mr. G. H. Whitten and you will get only the best that can be done.

Has Secret of Damascus Steel

Great Industry May be Revolutionized by a Convict.

WAS CARRIED TO THE PRISON

Des Moines, Iowa, July 15.—In a safety deposit vault at the Des Moines National bank lies a secret that may revolutionize the steel industry of the United States. To that vault there are three keys. One is held by the bank, one by officers of the Damascus Steel Company, and one by a free man, paroled by Governor L. M. Shaw during good behavior. Dawson who claims to have discovered the secret of Damascus steel and placed it in the vault, is a convict sentenced to a ten year term for the murder of Walter Scott, who had eloped with his daughter, Clara Dawson. Behind the walls the agent inventor carried the key to the vault. With good behavior allowance Mr. Dawson had fifteen months of his sentence yet to serve when Dr. L. D. Hood, president of the steel company, interested Governor Shaw in the case and pointed out to him that through the death in prison of the inventor science might again lose the secret of hardening steel and copper. Accordingly, Governor Shaw last week exercised clemency. Before his imprisonment Mr. Dawson had interested local capitalists in his discovery and had been assumed of abundant capital to perfect his process. The Damascus Steel Company with an authorized capital of $250,000, had been formed, and had just returned from a visit to the plant, where he had interested some of the great steel men. He looked forward to the new year to bring commercial success of his plan of making steel and copper.

THAUGHTY BLASTED HIS HOME.

But the domestic trouble that had hovered over him for two years culminated on Christmas Eve in a tragedy. His daughter Clara was only sixteen when she met Wallace Scott. She was pretty and he was not bad looking, and they fell in love. After much opposition from the parents, they were married, and Scott took his bride to his parents' home, and then called at the Dawson home to get her effects. The desperate father-in-law killed Scott with a revolver.

Pew doubt that Mr. Dawson makes Damascus steel. A few years ago, he went to Chicago with O. U. McCarthy, then Auditor of State. A room was hired, a blast furnace was put in, and steel was manufactured. Mr. Dawson allowed Mr. McCarthy and his friends to see all but one portion of the process. When the time came for mixing the secret ingredient with the melted metal he banished every one. What it was he added he will tell no one, save that it is some form and quantity of carbon.

CHARACTERISTIC OF PRODUCT.

The finished product is harder than ordinary steel, more pliant, susceptible of a keener edge. He made some beautiful knife blades that would bend a double and, and a heavy sabre. He fashioned a cold chisel and tested it beside ordinary chisels on some steel rods. The Dawson chisel went through the other in less than twice the time that ordinary chisels. The workmen had to change tools often in order to get good cuts of the steel. Dawson had finished the edge on his chisel as good as ever. In addition to the process of Damascus steel, Mr. Dawson has discovered a way to harden copper.

Voyage Through

The Whirlpool

Carlisle D. Graham Made the Trip
Successfully in a Barrel.

HE ALMOST LOST HIS LIFE

Niagara Falls, July 15.—In the presence of seven or eight thousand people Carlisle D. Graham successfully navigated the whirlpool rapids in his barrel Sunday. At about 3:15 p.m. he stepped into the barrel, that lay on the American shore a few hundred feet above the cantilever bridge. After clearing the trap on the end of the barrel, which is about nine feet in length, bound with iron hoops and heavily baited at one end with lead, it was towed out to about midstream by a row-boat and cut loose. The barrel slowly glided down stream towards the American side, and after passing the large rock between the cantilever and steel arch bridges it was caught in an eddy and was thrown into the American current, where it made the rounds several times of the little bay up and down the river for about twenty minutes, finally being caught in the current down stream. It soon shot under the steel arch bridge, hugging the rapids towards the American shore, and was towed like a cork up high in the air, and then completely submerged under great breakers that tossed and tore through the gorge. When it reached the turn in the river opposite Webb's Point it was shot out into midstream, and a few seconds later it shot into the maelstrom of the pool. It was caught in a current that carried it clean across the side of the pool to Thompson's Point, on the Canadian shore, where it was caught by a lot of boys and towed ashore. The trap was opened, and Graham, who was in a dazed and semi-comatose state for want of air, was taken out and laid on a rock and fanned, rubbed and brought back to life again. He claims he will make another trip during August. He said the man in the boat did not tow him far enough out into the stream, and that he was nearly exhausted on account of being caught in the eddy under the cantilever bridge.

RUSSIA AGAIN MEN- ACED BY FAMINE

Not a Drop of Rain Has Fallen in Some Provinces
Since Early June.

Volga Provinces Have Already Sustained Two Severe Famines in Ten Years and Cannot Withstand Another Without Help.

St. Petersburg, July 15.—Large parts from all sides reports are coming in of the empire are again threatened with famine. The last official report which has just been published, was dated June 21. Since then not a drop of rain has fallen in the Eastern provinces, and it is believed the crops are now largely beyond hope in many districts.

The provinces of Samara and Astrakhan will probably witness a recurrence of the dearth of two or three years ago and a dearth in these provinces is particularly dreary on account of the ignorance and helplessness of the Tatars and Tartars who make up a considerable part of the population there. The newspaper Volgar states that

The same kind of reports are coming from the province of Karan.

The Volga provinces have already been visited by two severe famines during the last ten years, and the population has lost whatever power it once possessed to withstand famine. Now.

Bank Robbers

Clever Deed
Man Who Looted a Bank of $40,000 Tells How He Did It.

HE CUT A HOLE IN THE ROOF

Milwaukee, July 15.—The story of the robbery of the Mineral Point bank, for which Stewart Jelliff is now serving a sentence in the Green Bay reformatory, is unique in the history of crime. Before being taken to Green Bay Jelliff made a full confession. From this it appears that he was two days in carrying out the details of the robbery and passed one day in the bank building without being discovered.

Jelliff started by making a rude ladder, which was ready in four or five minutes, and then stole from the granary of a farmer in the vicinity, ten or twelve grain bags and five burlap sacks. The former were to descend the sound of the vault door, and the latter to keep out the rain where the opening was made in the roof. With this preparation Jelliff, on the night of the robbery, cut a hole in the roof of the bank building and through this put his ladder, grain sacks and burlap, and followed himself.

He replaced the piece cut out of the roof and put the oil cloth curtains under the opening to keep out rain in case of a storm. Concealed in this hiding place, Jelliff lay until the next night. All the food he had was a few bits of cheese. The next night he began work by moving the bricks from the top of the vault. He had to dig through brick work three feet thick, but had finished this in an hour, when he lowered the ladder and let himself down into the vault. He easily opened the vault door, and then put a charge of nitroglycerin against the safe and set it off. A second charge was needed before the safe would fly, and this last explosion caused the vault door, shutting Jelliff out, as he had gone into the office during the explosion. Jelliff hid himself out and climbed to the roof, cutting down inside as he did at first, and again opened the door of the vault.

Then he took the $21,000 in gold and placed it in a grain sack, and the remainder in currency in his pockets. With his load he went out of the bank and through the law office of Spencey & McElborne.

As showing the nerve of the man and the fascination of a lock for him, it is notable that when passing through the law office he saw a safe and stopped to pick the lock, which he did in a few minutes. He found but $13, which he put in his pocket. Then he left the building, and afterward secreted the money in the place where it was found under his directions.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 16 1901

BORN.

The times have been at work in the councils of the two political parties in East and West Peterborough, and things are not running as smoothly as the customary marriage bell. This is a pity. Political freedom (sometimes) should be left in the hands of the "average" citizen. Then we should know exactly what we are to get, and likewise what we are not to get. This plan also establishes the hands of the (times) the system of political rewards and punishments. The office-seeker (he had almost written "luck") knows where to seek, and is not compelled to challenge public admiration before being admitted to his reward. Then, too, it saves the public of trouble. Conventions, caucuses, clubs, etc., need only be attended at the last moment to put the seal upon the doings of the boss and his agents, so that "the public and temperate public" may have some hook to hang upon when the fever and craze of party allegiance begins to outrage their conscience at election times. It has been remarked that we are 50,000 years of civilization, and it certainly looks like it. The Times has no political bias of oversteering strength, and shall therefore feel at liberty to tell the truth about both parties occasionally. The very air is tainted with the rotten state of public opinion. "Like member, like nun" is a good motto for any constituency. But political scavenging is hard work in this country, and we feel at present like taking a drink of something cool, if not stimulating.

Saving as a business is an exacting and exacting occupation. Long hours, fine work, poor light, unhealthy atmosphere—these are only some of the things which fret the nerves and hurt the general health. Often there is a diseased condition of the womanly organism which causes backache or headache and the working of the sewing machine under such conditions is akin to torture.

Thousands of women who work have written grateful letters to Dr. R. V. Pierce, whose "Favorite Prescription" has cured their womanly ills and established their general health. "Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries up unhealthy and offensive discharges, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes a weak woman strong and a sick woman well.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free, and so avoid the tedious, questioning, offensive examinations and obnoxious local treatments deemed necessary by some physicians. All correspondence private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

It takes great pleasure in recommending Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for female weakness. I was troubled with bearing-down pains in my back and hips for six years, and wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice. I tried his "Favorite Prescription" and six bottles cured me. I feel like a new person. I thank Dr. R. V. Pierce for my health. Life is a burden to any one without health. I have told many of my friends about the great medicine I took.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Toronto's Big Exhibition.

The Prize List for Toronto's great Annual Exposition and Industrial Fair, which this year will be held from August 26th to Sept. 7th, has come to hand. It is printed in yellow and black with green, and presents a very handsome appearance. Upwards of $35,000 will be distributed in premiums, and $30,000 will be spent in features and special attractions. The live stock classes have been rearranged in some instances and the premiums increased in others. A class for French Canadian cattle has been added. Copies of the Prize List and all information desired can be had on addressing H. J. Hill, 82 King St. East, Toronto. Special efforts are being made to increase the excellence of the Exhibition this year on account of the close proximity of the Pan-American.

ATTACK ON ROYAL CANADIAN.

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The condition of the British nation is such that it has won the admiration of all nations.

We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures—size 24x36, on heavy superfine calendered paper. A picture that will command attention and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian.

The one called "Attack on Royal Canadian" is the most beautiful of the series. It shows hundreds of figures on this picture, the Canadian soldiers standing out into the distance are swimming with men, while here and there a prominent figure—peaks of the will command attention and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian.

AN ADOPTED CHICKEN.

"Lucky" Was Accidentally Hatched With a Hatch of Little Chickens

When I was a little girl I lived on a farm where there were a great many chickens, turkeys, ducks and geese, and among them was a brown hen named Yellow Foot, who wanted very much to have a nice family of little yellow chickens, and she knew if she laid one egg every day until there were twelve eggs, and then sat on them patiently for three weeks, she would have twelve dear little chicks. So she laid a nice white egg every day, and she could never get twelve as the cook took the egg away every morning, so Yellow Foot felt very sad.

Now, another hen named Tufty thought it would be nice to have little chickens, too; but she was very smart and found a place away off that cook didn't know about, and there she laid her eggs, and one day she surprised all the other hens by walking into the chicken yard with twelve little chicks toddling after her. Now I had heard about this, and I was very curious to see them, and I went to see them, and I found them in the corner of a tall fence, a turkey sitting on some eggs, and running around her was a lonely little chicken, just out of its shell, making such a pitiful "peep peep." I took it up in my apron and ran and asked one of the men what it could mean. He said that a hen's egg had by mistake been put with the turkey's eggs, and it took just a week longer for turkeys to hatch than it does for the hen's eggs. The poor little chick had come out of its shell a week before there was any one to take care of it.

When I heard that I thought, "Poor little chicken, what will you do, for I don't know how to take care of you at all, and it will be a week before that ugly turkey gets ready to do it, and you can not wait until then?" And then suddenly I thought, "Why, this little chicken is just as old as the twelve that were hatched this morning. I'll take it to the chicken-yard and set it down, and then all her feathers will come out, and she will be like the other little chicks, and I can't believe how bad Tufty acted. The minute she heard the strange little 'peep' she turned around and stood still a moment, and then all her feathers stuck out, and she bobbed her head, and then pounced on my poor little chicken and gave it an awful pick. Wasn't it cruel?"

I didn't know what to do, I was afraid to go near Tufty, because she would think that I was going to catch her little chicks, and I knew she would try to pick me with a stick, and my poor little chicken. While I was thinking she flew at it again and gave it another pick. This time I didn't stop to think, but I jumped and caught it, and ran before Tufty could catch me. I ran till I felt quite safe, and then sat down on the kitchen doorstep with my poor little chicken in my apron and cried. I think I must have cried pretty loud, because mother heard me and came out. When I told her all about it, she said: "Why didn't you try old Yellow Foot?"

At that I jumped up and clapped my hands with delight, and my poor little chicken dropped on the grass, but it didn't hurt it, and I put it carefully in my apron and went to the chicken yard again to try mother's plan. I had a hard time finding Mrs. Yellow Foot, but finally I came upon her, looking doleful in the bottom of a barrel. I poked my head in with a stick, but she would not come out. At last I turned the barrel over and she had to come out. She looked very angry and made a great deal of noise about it. I waited until she got out, and then put my little chicken down by her, and oh, you should have seen her! She looked at it a minute, and when it "peeped" she gave a quiet little cluck, just as if she was trying to see how it sounded, and then the little chicken "peeped" again, and Yellow Foot clucked again, and walked around, and the chicken followed her.

So my little chicken had some one to take care of her, and I named her Lucky, right away, and oh, how proud Yellow Foot was! She strutted everywhere with her odd chick, and all the love and care she was going to give the twelve she gave to this one. She scratched for it, and clucked for it, and fought for it, and gave it all the warm cover of her wings at night. Little Lucky seemed to know that she had all the care that was meant for twelve, for she was the happiest chick that ever lived—Kinderergarten Gem, St. Louis.

At a centurion party on Clinton Ave. a few nights ago, I am told, the following familiar question was put: "What is the difference between a white baby and a black baby?" After all the young folk had given it up one of the grandfathers present, who had been a slave owner in the South, remarked: "I don't know what it is now, but I can tell you what it used to be." All appealed for the answer in chorus, and as he marched triumphantly out of the room, hands deep in trousers pockets, he checked "Nine hundred dollars!"

No one loves the man who he fears. No great genius was ever without some mixture of madness, nor can any thing grand or superior to the voice of common mortals be spoken except by the agitated soul.

For one swallow does not make a spring, nor yet one fine day. A king no less as he ought, a tyrant as he lists; a king—the profit of all, a tyrant only to a few. Aristot.

THEIR FAME SPREADING.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills a Wonderful Remedy.

Sir,—It is because I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be repaid that I ask you to publish some facts regarding Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills. I was for many years a sufferer from indigestion and stomach troubles. I could not digest my food, I was constipated, and it was only by injections that I could get relief. Physicians did me no good. I was reduced to a skeleton, and could hardly walk. As a last resort I tried a box of these pills, and the improvement was so marked that I continued taking them. I have now taken twelve boxes, never remembering being so well in my life. I have gained 22 pounds, and am putting on more flesh daily. I am a living, walking advertisement and consider no trouble too great in order to spread the fame of Dr. Clarke's Pills. A. F. Jones, Lockport, N.Y. For sale by O'Connell & Walsh.

Cancer Growing Two Years

A Remarkable Case Cured Completely by the New Constitutional Remedy.

Not long ago, we had the pleasure of receiving the following letter:

"When I began your treatment there was a hard lump in my breast, which had been growing for two years, and it was so bad that it kept me from the nipple in. I consulted two doctors, and they both pronounced it cancer, and advised me to have my breast cut off. Your remedy, however, was recommended to me by a friend, and I am very thankful to say that it not only saved my life, but did away with the necessity of having to undergo the painful operation, which I so much dread.

We do not publish the names of those who give us testimonials for the gratification of the curious, but any sufferer from cancer or tumor, may have the name and address of the person who wrote the above, by sending 2 stamps to Stott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

The Board of Works met last night.

The Steam roller is working on Charlotte street.

Yesterday was a scorcher, the thermometer registering 85.

Man wants but little here below, in true we may suppose.

He wants but little clothes.

Refreshments will be obtainable on board the City of Peterborough at the Stanley excursion.

Rev. Dr. Jackson, who preached in St. Paul's on Sunday, and who will conduct the weekly prayer meeting tomorrow evening in the lecture room of that church, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, Water Street.

Christ Church, Oshawa, is to be removed to a more desirable site, and will be raised and otherwise improved.

Mr. Thomas Rutherford, of Peterborough, has the contract, and will commence work at once.

The Heat of Fifty Three.

The following lines were written for The Times, and will be read with great interest by many who look upon yesterday as hot.

The narrator is a member of the Gold Lake Hunting party, the "hottest" club on record—and at therefore qualified to talk on the subject of heat.

Friend Snowden threw his lanky leg over a traveller's "box."

Emptied out his old corns with a couple of flinging knuckles.

Then tilted it up, and took a pull, and stroked his whiskered jaws.

And started in to tell the boys what real hot weather was.

He lived in Robert Cayceon, of which he'd often boast.

His memory always kept him cool, when other folks would roast.

Said William: "Tom, Biddy says it's hot. Well, now, you ought to see, the scorching days we sweated in July—53."

"It wasn't so much that dogs went mad, and houses tumbled down, as that Cap. Bottom's cattle shrank one half in going to town."

But the mercury in the glass kept on rising higher.

The boiling water in Lloyd's pond, set all the logs on fire.

Calamity Canal, where Tom upset, was as dry as any bone.

And Culcutt's lager couldn't be had, to temper the torrid zone.

It seemed as if a fire bird had scoured each field and tree, in the hottest summer ever known, gay! lucky in fifty-three.

It was so hot that clocks and dishes were melted into junk.

And he went up terrific, to one hundred plunks a bunk.

'Twas terrible red hot weather there the speaker choked a laugh.

"For every dollar that you got was melted to a half."

The railroad rails curled up so that not a train could run.

And folks around boiled coffee, and fried eggs to the sun.

I know, it's warming up a bit, but you boys can't tell me.

I didn't learn what hot weather was in July—fifty-three.

"All the rivers 'round about dried up just like old bones.

And fishes by the million were nizzled on the sun-baked stones."

And the ball got on fire and everybody knows.

They'd put it out, but 'twas so hot, they couldn't hold the hose.

Taters baked right in the ground and crops were all any use.

All the corn on John Patric's toes popped out through his shoes.

You tell me, was it to get a chill; just to get down here with me.

And let me tell you about the heat, we had in fifty-three.

DEATH OF WM. CARDWELL.

Overcome by the Heat in Syracuse, N.Y.

The death occurred yesterday, as a consequence of prostration from heat, of Mr. William Cardwell, formerly a well known resident. Mr. Cardwell was born in Ireland 47 years ago and came to this country when a young man, living in Peterborough and also in Oshawa. For the last five years he has resided in Syracuse, N.Y. He was well known and successful in business and highly respected. He was a member of Nassau L.O.L., No. 487, and also of the Independent Order of Foresters.

The remains are now at Bellevue's undertaking establishment. The funeral will take place at 4 o'clock today from St. Mary's Bridge, interment at Preserville cemetery.

Sports and Pastimes

HANDEBALL.

The practice game last night of the Peterborough and Auburn baseball team resulted in a win for the Peterborough team by a score of 1 to 3. The game was fairly good exhibition of baseball and quite a crowd witnessed the match.

The Auburn nine are a very speedy aggregation for a factory team, and have two or three men who, if handled properly would be capable of travelling in faster company. Dan McCurry was in the box for the Auburns and pitched good ball. Craig played behind the bat for the first three innings but had to retire at the beginning of the 4th, having received a nasty cut on the thumb. McCabe and Kehoe did the twirling for the Peterborough team. The same Peterborough team will do battle against Port Hope tomorrow. This game from time to time is a very interesting one and should bring out a large crowd of spectators.

REVIVAL OF CRICKET.

A Midsummer Day's Dream of Long Ago.

MR. WRIGHTON'S PROPOSAL

Peterborough's Veteran Cricketer Proposes to Organize a New Amalgamation.

That For where to, Outside the Best of Them—Cricket to the Older Days.

People who remember Peterborough 75 or 80 years ago will remember that the most famous of the then widders of the willow of those days was Mr. W. H. Wrighton. He could stop almost any ball, and his own known to remain in the wickets for two weeks at a time. They had time in those days. Then there was Billy Hartley and Tom Rutherford, of a slightly later day, but all keen cricketers, and willing to stay at the bat for almost any length of time. It is related of a pre-historic Mr. Hyman, that he once hit the ball over the grand stand the large building in the corner of the grounds into Rogers' race-way, in one hit. Mr. (il. T. Strickland is said to have had a whole side of his, with an "over still to spare." "Bill" Wrighton always played in carpet slippers. It was popularly supposed that during the flight of a slow ball he was thus enabled to creep up to the unsuspecting batsman and not the ball on the bat like a misquitter.

Swanson's hotel was the centre of cricket-talk and beer-drinking in those days. The late Mr. Swanson kept excellent wines in a cool place in the shed. Marvellous tales are told of how certain players would drink a washbowl of beer between innings, and when a fair, in fact, it is stated that this cricketer (third) gave the idea of Culcutt's brewery to the business world. Full many a time have we leaned back against the fence under elm trees and listened to how great things were done in the olden times.

But this is all by way of preface to the revival of this honorable game in Peterborough. (Mr. Wrighton proposes once more to do the mid and slippers. He is, we are informed, at this moment getting a team of him, ancient and modern, to challenge the present colts. "That's no way to play that ball," he would say. "You should cut the head off it," and that is what the cricketer-loving public of Peterborough, Ashburham and the surrounding country have to look forward to. Mr. Wrighton is a rising challenge to the colts, and expects to have it completed this week. He proposes to call his seven "The Wanderers," and in case of victory he will challenge Mr. C. Strickland's team, of Lakefield, of which Mr. Cooper is the star player. Mr. Cooper, however, learned his game in England, and did not up to the latest twist of the wrist. Mr. Wrighton is an excellent player for a stroke called the "block-n-run drive," which netted him many a run. All Well, let the panorama pass before our eyes once more before we go to play another game, and see another scene.

The team, it may be said, will be chosen from amongst thirty or forty the best players between Snider's Mill and the Locke's dam.

Growling! Yes, into weakness, but not strength, studies—plenty of them. Tired, of course, as is, and weak too. Does not eat enough, and digests far less than enough. This condition is so frequent, but how seldom noticed even by fond parents. Active boys, however, then watch their appetite improve, their cheeks and lips grow ruddy, their step elastic, their spirits buoyant. All this simply the result of eating and digesting enough, making blood, and thereby strengthening the nerves and brain power. Ferrero gives a woman's strength to weak girls. Your daughter or wife needs Ferrero. Get it today. From Ormond & Walsh.

The Times is sent to summer resorts and summer residents, addressed to individuals at thirty cents a month. Subscriptions taken for as short a time as one week. Orders may be left at the Times Bookstore. Each must accompany all orders by mail.

If a subscriber desires a change in address, he must send the old and new addresses must be given to prevent delay.

Baby Progress Guaranteed When LACTATED FOOD Is Used.

STATEMENT OF AN EMINENT PROFESSIONAL MAN.

The health of the baby directly depends on the quality of the food it receives. To-day, as in past years, thousands of babies are suffering from ailments brought on by improper feeding. Sir Charles Clark once said: "The ignorance of mothers in feeding their children is worth a thousand pounds a year to me."

It is a fact worthy of notice that the healthy, bright and fat babies of to-day are all being brought up on Live-giving Lactated Food. No other food on the market has such a reputation and no other food has been so highly recommended by medical men. Every mother who values the health and safety of her little one should give Lactated Food a week's trial. It quickly becomes the home food. All druggists sell Lactated Food.

The City Makes a Trip.

The greater City of Peterborough made a trip around the lake on Saturday, and President Caldwell was specially pleased with the way she handled herself. The double propeller works like a charm, sending the vessel along at a very greatly increased rate of speed. The boat will be inspected at once, and will sail to work on Saturday, when she will carry the Stanley Piano Company's annual excursion and picnic.

Cancer Growing Two Years

A Remarkable Case Cured Completely by the New Constitutional Remedy.

Not long ago, we had the pleasure of receiving the following letter: "When I began your treatment there was a hard lump in my breast, which had been growing for two years, and it was so bad at last that it made the nipple in. I consulted two doctors, and they both pronounced it cancer, and advised me to have my breast cut off. Your remedy, however, was recommended to me by a friend, and I am very thankful to say that it not only saved my life, but did away with the necessity of having to undergo the painful operation, which I so much dreaded."

We do not publish the names of those who give us testimonials for the gratification of the curious, but any sufferer from cancer or tumor, may have the name and address of the lady who wrote the above, by sending stamps to Slott & Jory, Bowmanville, Ont.

A THREATENED BYCOTT.

We call the attention of our readers to an article which appeared in the Examiner a few days ago, signed "A Catholic." It may have been written by a member of that church, but we doubt it. The article is infamous. It contains a covered threat against ourselves that should awaken apprehension in the minds of all fair-minded citizens who regard the press as the watchdog of liberty.

We are certain the article referred to does not emanate from any one who has authority to speak for our Catholic friends. The Times is no bigot; it has always given freely of its space to further all worthy charities, regardless of race or creed. It is not afraid to do what it conceives to be its duty, no matter how unpleasant that duty may be and it refuses to be lashed now by the anonymous writer referred to.

If our Roman Catholic friends choose to withdraw their support from the Times, and thereby establish a by-cott against this paper, as is hinted at, because we do not shut our columns to writers who discuss public matters as "Patriot" discusses, they are at liberty to do so. But we have no notion that they will. It would be decidedly dangerous and might expose our friends who inaugurate such a movement to ridicule and perhaps loss.

We do not always agree with the sentiments of our correspondents, but this is no reason why letters on public matters should not be published.

BURGLARS ABROAD.

Two Residents Suffer From the Operations of the Night Menace.

On Tuesday night two burglaries were committed. The residences of Mr. George Minnigan and Mrs. Wood, near the corner of Stewart and Townsend streets, were gained to Mr. George Minnigan's residence by cutting the screen door and unfastening the hook inside. Mrs. Minnigan heard a noise in the house, but did not think it was made by anyone in the house. In the morning, however, Mrs. Minnigan saw some clothes lying in the yard, she said to Mr. Minnigan she supposed they belonged to tramps, but she soon discovered that they belonged to himself and that his gold watch and a sum of money were missing therefrom. The burglars had been near the house, but had evidently been frightened off by his wife's investigations. Nothing else has yet been missed about the premises.

By removing the screen from a window the burglars worked their way into Mrs. Wood's residence, but nothing has been missed, except two handkerchiefs.

Two tramps were seen loitering about the corner of Stewart and Townsend streets, and it is said they frequently made perquisitions about the corner of Stewart and Townsend streets.

THE TIMES LETTER BOX

Letters from the People on Interesting Topics.

A Contradiction.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—After many days of travail some body who signs himself "A Catholic," to a letter in an evening sheet, under the caption of "Our Natal Day,"

Although the columns of your independent journal are open to the sides of any discussion, he did not avail himself of the opportunity of replying in the same paper in the usual way, but sought the columns of a party paper where he no doubt thought he could escape my observation and thus have his trashy letter go unchallenged. It is to be hoped, and it is probable, that he is not a representative Catholic, nor a true Orangeman, although he may be a bogus one. Because he is asked in the most kindly manner to devote our only national holiday to the country, to be abusive for want of a reply. The word "Patriot" is particularly offensive to him—it is like shaking the proverbial red rag before a bull. What a herculean effort he makes to show that St. Joseph's Hospital is as much a Protestant institution as it is Roman Catholic, but he does not show what part the Protestants take in its government. He makes "a general flourish" when he says that that institution is "open to Protestants as well as Catholics." But are not all their institutions including nurseries and churches, open to Protestants? It is not part of their wide-world policy to rope in Protestants at all times to their institutions, and in all ages?

His denial that the Protestants own their part of the hospital is as the Roman Catholics did their part, is on a par with the rest of this letter. The Roman Catholics are only asked to throw open their part of the park on the same terms as the Protestants have done, and thus make the park what it ought to be. Their motto evidently is "what we have we hold." Any one can investigate and verify himself as to the facts. After taking two weeks to look up his history, he finds two cases on record where Catholics have contributed prizes in clothing to Protestant prizes, and quotes Mr. Gough and Mr. Le Brun, two gentlemen, who have a well-earned reputation for liberality where business interests are involved. The old "chestnut" of desecration and destruction of the tomb of St. Joseph's is made to do duty when any of their misdoings are exposed.

Yours Truly,

PATRIOT.

Peterborough, July 17.

SMITH.

The spacious grounds surrounding the personage of Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church, was the scene of a highly profitable and enjoyable gathering of the Young People's Society on Sunday last.

Among the trees were hung lanterns, and upheld by iron racks were great blazing bundles of "fat pine," which made a pleasing and brilliant light.

The evening was an ideal one for such an entertainment. About sixty young people were present and spent the evening in play games and enjoying an informal program of music, vocal, instrumental, and dramatic.

Among those who took part were Mrs. (Dr.) Morgan, Miss McEwan, Miss Darling, Miss McGee, Mrs. Gilmour, Miss Rose, Mr. Hanna, of Park Street Church, Mr. A. W. Terrie, of Newwood Baptist Church, Mr. Baker, of Indian River Mission, Mr. F. Paul, Mr. A. McGee, Mr. H. C. Mann, and the pastor, Rev. W. A. Guntton.

One of the most attractive features of the evening was the serving of ice cream and cake by the young ladies.

All the social noised closing time Miss Emma Darling was called upon and read an address on the subject of expressing the appreciation of her Christian character and active service.

Miss Rose is a sister-in-law of Mr. Guntton, and has for some time been recording secretary of the Y.P.S.O.E. as well as a member of the church choir and teacher in the Sunday school.

She left on Tuesday, 10th inst., for an extended visit to her father's home in Shal Lake, Man. After her reading of the address she was presented with a beautiful teacher's bible as a token of the esteem in which she is held in the community. The whole thing was a perfect success to Miss Rose and she was so affected that she could not reply to the address. Mr. Guntton, in a few words expressed her appreciation of the kindness shown and of the gift presented.

The gathering broke up with singing, Aunt Lang Syne and cheers for the King, the ice cream, etc.

WOUNDS OF TREES

Methods for Treating Them Cheaply

It often happens that, either by intention, as in pruning, or by accident, trees are wounded in various ways. A common practice is to cover large wounds with coal tar, but this is objected to by some as injurious to the tree. Experiments made in the orchards and gardens of the Pomological Institute, at Ruthven, in Germany, go to show, however, that its true use is not injurious; but that, on the contrary, a callous readily forms under the tar, on the edges of the wound, and that the wounded part is thus protected from decay. There is, nevertheless, another objection, for if the tar is applied a little too thick the sun melts it and it runs down to the bark of the tree. This can be obviated by mixing and stirring and thus incorporating with the tar about three or four times its weight of powdered slate, known as "slate dust," being also known as plastic slate and used for roofing purposes. It is easily applied with an old knife or flat stick, and though it remains on the surface it remains soft and elastic underneath. The heat of the sun does not melt it, nor does the coldest winter weather cause it to crack—neither does it peel off.

The same mixture is also useful for other purposes in the garden. Leaky water-pots, barrels, pails, gutters, sashes, etc., can be easily repaired with it, and much annoyance and loss of time be thus avoided. It will stick to any surface, provided it be not oily, and as it does not harden when kept in a mass it is always ready for use. A gallon will last for a long time.

A most excellent preparation for small wounds and for grafting is thus prepared: Melt a pound of rosin over a slow fire, then melted take it from the fire and add two ounces of balsam of Venice turpentine (not spirits of turpentine), stirring it constantly. As soon as it is cool enough mix four or six ounces of alcohol of 95 degree strength—according to the season—until it is as thick as molasses. It keeps well in close-corked bottles for a long time. Should it become too thick by the gradual evaporation of the alcohol it is easily thinned by putting the bottle in warm water and stirring in sufficient alcohol to bring it to a proper fluidity. It is applied with a brush.

This preparation is much better than liquid grafting wax composed of rosin, beef tallow and spirits of turpentine, which often granulates. If there be any danger that the cloths will dry up by evaporation they may, beneficially, be brushed over with this composition, it being first made more fluid by adding alcohol. By this means I succeeded in February of last year, in grafting a single eye of Angie Siphonia upon a lemon tree, in a dry sitting room, without the use of any glass covering.

ART OF SINGING.

Some Advice If Good Results are to Be Attained.

It is not sufficient to proclaim "I will be a singer." An attractive appearance, the gifts of the musician, quickness of conception, and the power of representation, together with a voice of relatively minor importance, a good ear, a sound and rich voice of extended compass, added to an ardent desire to become an artist—such is the essential equipment of those who would travel the fair, if theory, road that stretches out before them. From the very inception of one's studies, vanity, false ambition and greed must be set aside and divine art only may inspire the pupil with zeal, compel industry and illumine the distant goal. If good results are attained, distinction and substantial reward will not be long in coming.

How, now, shall the education of a child be conducted who from infancy has revealed the possession of an acute ear, a vivacious temperament and valuable gifts—sweet voice and organs of pitch; of a child who from morn to eve sings with faultless intonation the melodies it overhears and prefers sitting at the piano and fingering the notes of the keys with delicate and accurate touch, to playing the organ? With due consideration for the bodily health of this gifted little creature, its parents after it has learned the alphabet and is between seven and eight years of age, may give it up to the training of a professional teacher, or, without, however, restraining it to too constant practice, I blame parents who, through pride over their children's accomplishments, summon them to the play to sing and for the entertainment of an aunt or cousin or to play for them the piano piece they have just mastered. How often has such embittered children toward their parents! He left his mother and starved for his physical well-being (do, m) can be commenced, but with the greatest caution; only a compass of two tones (from C to E) should be allowed—Harper's Lesson.

INSTRUMENTS.

The New York Times tells of an incident that shows how large ocean steamships have become: "Once a little immigrant boy, about 7 years old, was lost for four days on the voyage. He left his mother and starved in quest of adventure on the big ship, but upon growing tired was unable to find his way back to her. Instead of asking some one to show him where to go, or telling that he was lost, the young fellow decided to continue his explorations. Indefatigably

THE GREAT STRIKE.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 18.—The threat of District Manager Persifer, F. Smith, of the American Sheet Steel Company, to start the Wellsville rolling mill, and operate it as it had been in the past by non-union men, was the only new feature in the steel strike situation this morning, and the eyes of all interested were turned to that plant.

A despatch to the Associated Press from Wellsville, Ohio, at 10:30 o'clock, says:

"The strike situation here remains as it has been ever since the men were called out of the mill. F. P. Smith, manager for the American Sheet Steel Co. for the Pittsburg district, in an address to the mill men, declared that the mill would be run as a non-union mill. He gave orders for the mill to start this morning. In response to Smith's order about 30 went out to work, two of them members of the Amalgamated Association. The manager of the mill concluded that thirty men was not sufficient to man the mill, and the attempt for the present has been abandoned. It is said that non-union men from other places will be brought here to-day in which case serious trouble is feared."

Now that Mr. Smith has declared himself it is thought that the manager of the other non-union plants will make an effort to resume also within a few days, and developments of an exciting nature can be expected. It is known a gang of men are at work at the Deerees wood plant of the American Sheet Steel Company at McKeesport clearing up and making repairs, and a well founded rumor was prevalent that a strike would be called to-day, that an effort was to be made by the mill officers in the Painter plant to break the strike by bringing workers here from out of the city. In confirmation of this, for the first since the strike began watchmen armed with clubs patrolled all sides of the mill this morning. None of the strikers were to be seen about the property and everything was quiet. The mill officers declined to discuss the matter, and said when they were ready to move they would do so without any noise. For the present nothing was being done beyond cleaning up the mill, and making repairs that had been neglected, owing to the rush of business. The wood plant is closely guarded also, and the strikers look for the manufacturers to attempt resumption next week.

President Shaffer is still hopeful of an early settlement of the strike. The information he received from the strike centers to-day was quite meagre, which is interpreted to mean that the strike was going on well.

ARMAGEDDON AT HAND.

New York, July 18.—The steel strike in America is attracting much attention in England generally, and while long articles are being printed in the newspapers on the subject no comment is made in the editorial columns, according to the London correspondent of The Tribune. John Burns has been less reticent, for he forecasts an American armageddon with the revival of the old antislavery feeling and the transformation of trusts into State organizations by the political power of hordes of workmen. Englishers watch the quotations from Wall street, and are unmoved by socialist tirades. Combinations are felt to be on trial in America and if they survive the great conflict with organized labor concentration of capital will be promoted in England.

Youngstown, Ohio, July 18.—The amalgamated workers in the Youngstown mills of the Republic Iron and Steel Company have met and decided upon a policy for collecting strike benefit funds from their members. They have notified President Shaffer that if the plan is acceptable to him they will each donate one day's pay every two weeks to the strikers' fund. About 800 members agree to this, which will net about $3,000 per month. The workmen are also rapidly securing jobs in their mills for the striking steel hoop men.

IMMENSE LOSSES TO COMPANIES.

Pittsburg, July 18.—According to figures compiled by the Pittsburg Dispatch the steel strike is daily costing the three companies involved $210,000, and the workmen $180,000. It is estimated that in the daily loss of nearly 25,000 boxes of tin plate a day the American Tin Plate Company is daily losing over $90,000, while the loss to the canning companies, unable to secure their material, is enormous in addition. Practically no stocks have been carried, and the consumption has kept pace with the production for some little time past. About 700 tons of the 1,000 tons daily production of the American Sheet Steel Company is being lost, and this represents a loss each day to the combine of at least $60,000.

The loss to the gas stove manufacturers is also great, as the mills are closed which make a specialty of stove iron. This is the heavy season for making stoves. About 2,000 or 2,500 tons of steel hoops, bands and cotton ties are being lost daily by the American Steel Hoop Company by reason of the strike and this represents a daily loss in money of $70,000.

In addition to all of these losses the many varied industries crippled now and in prospect represent losses to the men of large sums that cannot be computed now. The amalgamated men are said to have a fund over $200,000 with which to keep the strike going, and the many unemployed men employed in the various mills still operating will go a great way toward keeping the snows of war in good condition.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills a Wonderful Remedy.

Editor of the Morning Times.
Sir,—It is because I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be repaid that I ask you to publish some facts regarding Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills. I was for many years a sufferer from indigestion and stomach troubles. I could not digest my food, I was constipated, and it was only by injections that I could get relief. Physicians did me no good. I was reduced to a skeleton, and could hardly walk. A last resort I tried a box of these pills, and the improvement was so marked that I continued taking them. I have now taken twelve boxes, never remembering being so well in my life. I have gained 22 pounds, and am putting on more flesh daily. I am a living, walking advertisement, and consider no trouble too great in order to spread the fame of Dr. Clarke's Pills. A. F. Jones, Lockport, N.Y.

THE CORDAGE CO'S BY-LAW PASSES COUNCIL

And Will be Submitted to the Ratepayers—The New Power Co Asks Permission to Erect Poles on Our Streets—Committee Reports

The Town Council met in special session last night when the main business before the Board was the consideration of the by-law granting aid to the American Cereal Company. The by-law was presented by Mr. J. C. Shook, general manager of the company, and was read in full. It provides for the construction of a new mill on the site of the old one, and for the purchase of land for the purpose. The council decided to pass the by-law, and to refer the matter to the ratepayers for their approval. The council also considered a report from the committee on the application of the New Power Co. for permission to erect poles on the streets. The committee recommended that the application be granted, and the council agreed to do so.

From Town Solicitor F. B. Edwards stating that the Win. Hamilton Manufacturing Company has submitted an agreement relating to the town of Lincoln in respect of the diversion of the stream crossing the town. The agreement was read in full, and the council decided to accept it. The council also considered a report from the committee on the application of the American Cereal Company for permission to erect poles on the streets. The committee recommended that the application be granted, and the council agreed to do so.

THE CORDAGE COMPANY.
The following communication was received from the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company, defining the aid and conveniences asked for from the town.
To His Worship Mayor Denne:
Dear Sir,—We desire to locate our factory for the manufacture of binder twine, rope and cordage at the town of Peterborough. We propose to erect two substantial brick buildings one of which will be 90 ft. wide by 300 ft. long, and to install within one year from the date hereof $45,000 worth of machinery therein; the plant to have a capacity of five tons of binder twine per day and also of rope and cordage per day. We will give employment to about 75 hands. It is the intention of the Company to double the capacity of their factory during the next two years should the demand of the trade justify them in doing so.

The Company desire to locate their factory upon lots numbers eight and nine south of Perry Street and west of George Street in the town of Peterborough and on lots numbers eight and nine south of Lake Street and west of George Street in the said town of Peterborough, and with that view they have procured an option from the owner Mr. T. E. Bradburn to purchase the same for $45,000.00. It is offered that the property at a very reasonable price.

The Grand Master Of the Masons.

Duke of Connaught Installed in England Yesterday.

A FINE TRIBUTE PAID TO CANADA

London, July 20.—His Royal Highness Prince Arthur, Duke of Connaught, third son of the late Queen Victoria and brother of King Edward VII., was yesterday installed as Grand Master of the Masonic Lodge of England in the presence of one of the most distinguished Masonic gatherings on record. The function took place in the Royal Albert Hall, and was a magnificent sight, being the fifth of its kind that has taken place in England since the beginning of last century. Thousands of Masons — and none below the rank of Past Master, Master of Senior Wardens, were allowed to attend the ceremony, and they were seated in the vast hall, and the night was one that will never be forgotten by those who enjoyed the honor of being present. The office of Grand Master had been held by the Prince of Wales from 1874 until he ascended the throne of England, when the Duke of Connaught, was chosen for the most exalted position. The Grand Lodge of Canada, and the Grand Lodge of the United States, were also represented, and the ceremony was a most impressive one.

CANADA WAS HONORED

London, July 20.—Eleven thousand English Free Masons attended yesterday the installation of the Duke of Connaught and Grand Master of the Grand Lodge, in succession to Edward VII. Albert Hall was thronged with members of the Grand Lodge, past and present, and with Masters and Wardens of English lodges, as well as in 1876, when the Prince of Wales was placed on the Mosaic Throne. The ceremony was virtually the same as at the installation of the Prince of Wales, and was most solemn and impressive. Grand Lodge officers entirely filled the orchestra and chorus seats.

The Duke of Connaught was welcomed by a fanfare of trumpets and the national anthem was sung by the enormous gathering. He was installed by the Earl of Amherst, Pro-Grand Master, assisted by the Earl of Warwick, Deputy Grand Master. The Duke made an excellent address, and referred to the fact that for many years the royal family had been closely associated with the Free Masonry. He said that he was proud to be installed as Grand Master, and that he would do his best to uphold the traditions of the Order.

Adam Hall representing the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company limited who proposed to use at the outlet about 250 horse power and others. Every one of these gentlemen recognized the importance of having cheap power distributed throughout the town and in order to facilitate the formation of the company they have subscribed for stock in this company.

The present demands for power however are not nearly sufficient to exhaust the power which this Company will be able to generate. The following communication was received from the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company limited.

Yours truly,
ADAM HALL
President.
This matter was referred to the Manufacturers' Committee.
A NEW POWER CO.
The following communication was received from a new power company, to be known as "The Ontario Power Company Limited."
His Worship Mayor Denne:
Dear Sir,—We have formed a Company for the purpose of generating electric power at Dim number five on the Otumabee river and we propose to transmit such power to the town of Peterborough and for that purpose we require the right to put poles up on the streets of the town.

Ex-President Steyn Only Had Nightshirt

So Close Was The Pursuit of The British he Could do Nothing Else

SAFELY DODGED BRITISH BULLETS

London, July 20.—The Standard's Pretoria correspondent, referring to the recent capture of the town of Heitz and the escape of Mr. Steyn, says that the ex-President was sleeping when General Broadwood surrounded the town. When the alarm was given he rushed out of the house in his night-shirt, mounted his horse and galloped away, safely dodging the bullets of the British riflemen.

BOERS RELIEVED WELL

London, July 18.—The Pretoria correspondent of The Daily Telegraph in a recent despatch says that the stories of their quality at Viakfontein are not well founded. He says that the enemy on the whole has behaved most creditably and kindly throughout the entire war, except for certain probably misunderstood white flag incidents. Anything out of the way which occurred at Viakfontein was the work of one or two individual Boers.

FIGHTING NEAR ALIWAAL

London, July 20.—The South African casualty list published last night indicates that sharp fighting occurred on July 14, near Aliwaal North. The British lost seven killed and two officers and 17 men wounded.

Plot To Overthrow The French Republic

London, July 20.—The Pall Mall Gazette publishes this afternoon a somewhat remarkable communication from its Paris correspondent, giving circumstantial details of an alleged conspiracy to overthrow the French Republic and install Prince Louis Napoleon as Emperor of France. The correspondent is assured that September 14th, upon which date the Czar intends to promote Prince Louis to a full generalship in the Russian army, has been selected as the occasion for a demonstration to support the claims of this Prince who is such a close friend of their Russian ally by all the elements opposed to the present regime. The names of M. Deroudele, the Marquis de Lur Saluces, and M. Marcel-Hobert are mentioned as the leading spirits of the movement, and several high functionaries of the present Government are alleged to be assisting the movement with funds.

REPORT OF MFRS. COM.

Ald. Rush, submitted the following report:—Your manufacturers' and railway committee have received a proposition from the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Co. proposing to erect a factory here, and to recommend that the company be granted a By-law, to this effect, the town purchase a site for the factory as required by them on terms similar to those made with the Peterborough Fibre Co. at a cost not to exceed $15,000, and that the assessment thereon be fixed for 10 years at that amount and that the steps requisite to authorizing these provisions be taken without delay.

BY-LAWS.

A By-law granting aid to the Canadian Cordage Company, on the lines embodied in their foregoing communication, passed its first and second readings.

A PLEASANT OUTING.

The second Annual excursion of the employees of the Stanley Piano Company will take place this afternoon to Jubilee Point. The twin screw steamer, City of Peterborough, has been chartered, and an order for 300 dinners given to the hotel at Jubilee Point, where the party will stay. The band of the 67th Regiment has been engaged to accompany the excursion, and the committee has left no stone unturned to make the outing one of the most enjoyable of the season.

Water Famine Now In England

The Prolonged Drought Threatens to be Serious There.

SUPPLY CUT OFF AT NIGHT

London, July 20.—The heat to-day is exceeding all previous records of the season. The entire absence of any breeze adds from 10 to 15 degrees to the 87 degrees recorded by the official thermometer, and indications point to a further increase of the stifling temperature.

Where Medical Relief Falls

To cure rheumatism, and all the time you suffer dreadfully, why don't you get a bottle of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and try that! It will take your stiff joints, loose arms, lame back, bent shoulders, wherever the pain is. Nervine has cured plenty of people in this way, and that ought to be proof enough that it will cure you too. It is an unusually strong liniment that cures rheumatism in unusually quick time. Best household liniment known.

STEYN THE GREATEST BOER OF THEM ALL

He Still Struggles Quixotically Against Surrender—Boers Want to Give In.

THEIR AMMUNITION AND SUPPLIES ARE WANING

But Steyn Asks If There is Any Reason for Refusing to Place Their Reliance Upon God.

London, July 20.—Ex-President Steyn is the greatest Boer of them all. His courage and patriotism of the man have shown out prominently above all other things in the Boer war. Although continuing a hopeless fight, entered into from quixotic motives, long after the man responsible for the war—Krugger—has fled to Europe, his persistence has not abated one jot. His policy is to die in the last ditch, but never to surrender, and he presents the fine spectacle of a man fighting another's quarrel and carrying it to the bitter end, though the person whom he is championing has long since retired from the field in despair.

Running Short Of Ammunition

One Reason Why the Boers are Attacking British Posts.

ALL THE WOUNDED WERE SNOT

Pretoria, July 20.—The considerable activity displayed by the Boers at the present time, and the constant attacks of the enemy on small posts, is explained by their desire to replenish their supplies, as their ammunition is running extremely short. The raiders are being constantly pursued and brought up against the forts established by the South African Constabulary. It is, however, extremely difficult to capture the small hands of the enemy, who are able to steal between the forts. The fact that the Boers in the extreme northern districts are quite ignorant of the movements of their companions in the south, has been proven.

SHOT THE WOUNDED

Johnannesburg, July 20.—An enquiry conducted to-day, under oath, a number of non-commissioned officers and men of the British army, confirmed the statement that the Boers shot the British wounded at Viakfontein.

HOW THEY DIED

Edenburg, July 20.—Particulars have just come to hand regarding the recent deaths of the three Boer leaders, Oos du Toit, Human and Linder. A squadron of Remington's Guides attacked a commando of Pretorius, of about 100 men, entrenched near Kotsenpoort. Fighting, which was carried on at close quarters among the rocks and bushes, lasted twenty minutes. Commandant Pretorius was shot through the eye, they eventually escaped on reaching last year's country.

ATTACKED IN ROCKHOUSES

Cape Town, July 20.—Only June 25 a commando of Boers under Viljoen made a determined attack on the British blockhouses at Braggart. They charged, and were received at close quarters with some shot from the British guns.

IN THE FRONT RANK

It is proposed to call one of the Duke of Connaught's sons the Prince of Canada. He will then rank with this great family name, which is one of the proudest of Canada.

SCOUTS GOOD RECORD.

Colonel Wilson, commanding Kitchener's Fighting Scouts, who has arrived here, stated in an interview that the record of the regiment during the last fortnight is as follows:—Eight Boer laagers surrounded and captured, including the following—112,000 cattle, 250 wagons, 10,000 dynamite cartridges, 8,000 rounds of small arms ammunition. Colonel Wilson states that in the regiment's last fight the Boers had 67 killed out of a total force of 100. Kitchener's Scouts have also captured 800 rifles.

Senator Mitchell Says That There Will be No Treaty.

Between the United States and Canada for Many Years

Washington, July 20. Senator Mitchell, in discussing the statement of the British Ambassador, said to a press representative that there would be no treaty between the United States and Britain, that would be acceptable to Canada.

The friction over international matters in which the Dominion is a party, is increasing, and there was only one way to put an end to it, and that was to absorb Canada.

The negotiations in regard to the joint commission are understood to be progressing and it is likely that an-

STEEL STRIKE AT A CRITICAL STAGE

Member of Steel Trusts Says Shaffer Does Not Represent Everything he Purports to.

SHAFFER PROVES IT BY CLOSING DOWN MILLS.

If a Settlement is Not Effected, Men in Other Non-Union Mills Will Ask to Have the Scale Signed.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 21.—The steel strike has reached the critical stage, and the developments of the next 72 hours are expected to have an important bearing on the great struggle. By Monday night the results of the attempt of the combine officials to resume operations at Westville and McKeesport should be known, and upon the success or failure of this, the outcome of the struggle will greatly depend.

At Westville the company is maintaining every point to the plant into operation, and the latest despatches from there say that they claim they will have a full force of all furnaces by Monday morning. It is said that they have the men imported from Pittsburgh and will bring them to the works by that time. The strikers at Westville are watching all incoming trains. The strikers are said to be active, and what may happen when they see the new men come in to take their place is difficult to predict. The company is taking every precaution to obviate trouble. A high fence surrounds the mill property and car loads of lumber have been taken into the mill, presumably for the purpose of housing the new men within the mill. A secret meeting of the strikers has been called for this afternoon.

IMPORTED NEGRO LABOR.

New Orleans, La., July 21.—Two men have come here from Pittsburg to get negro labor to take the place of the strikers in the steel mills of the United States Steel Corporation. They secured fifty men here, and have received reports from agents in Anniston and Bessemer, Ala., that 40 men have been secured there.

DISPUTE WITH SHAFFER.

New York, July 21.—Warner Arma, of New York, has made the following statement embodying an attack upon President Shaffer, the representative of the steel strikers.

"Mr. Shaffer wants the companies to sign for all the non-union mills. A wage agreement is a contract entered into voluntarily between two or more persons, representing certain interests. Mr. Shaffer has no right to ask the companies to sign an agreement with him for persons he does not represent. These companies are not antagonistic to labor, and have proved it by entering into wage agreements in the past with Mr. Shaffer for those that he represented.

Phones Urged For Coal Mines

Operators Consider Change Would Help in Case of Accident

THEY COULD LOCATE MINERS

Scranton, Pa., July 22.—Among the big mine companies there is talk of putting telephones in the coal mines. In the days of doubt which followed the disaster at the Twin Shaft, near Pittston, a few years ago, when sixty lives were lost by the extensive caving in of the mine, the telephone might have been used to advantage in letting the rescuers know where the location and condition of the imprisoned miners. Of course it is possible that such a subterranean disaster might render the telephone useless in the mine, but engineers are of the opinion that with reasonable ingenuity and care it is possible to introduce and operate in mine telephones that would not be affected by the caving in of the surface. Such an improvement would be a great boon to the mine workers, and its general introduction is regarded as a proximate possibility. Having some means of communication with those who are entombed in the depths of the mine would greatly assist in the work of their rescue. It has often happened in the history of mine accidents that the efforts of the rescuers were put forward in a direction entirely different from that in which the men were imprisoned and thus valuable time and energy were wasted. With a system of mine telephones in operation this would be averted. The plan suggested by those who are friendly to proposed improvement is to locate telephones at regular intervals along the workings, so that they may be protected as well as possible from accident, and be of easy access to the miners in case of danger. An experienced miner said today that he thought it entirely feasible to have a telephone in every mine "chamber" and carry it forward as the work progressed. He also said telephones might be placed at regular intervals along the gangways and electric light, too.

"I would not have the telephones running along the roof, in the first place," he said. "I would run them carefully down the shaft or slope and along the floor of the mine, close at the side, where they would encounter the least resistance. I am positive they could be introduced in that way and made ser-

Final Race in the Annual Regatta to be Rowed This Afternoon.

A MOST INTERESTING EVENT.

Philadelphia, July 22.—Weather conditions are ideal as those of yesterday prevail today for the final race of the annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, which will be rowed this afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock. Today's sport promises to be of the first order, as the cream of the rowing world will measure strokes in several events. The program includes the first, second and final heats of the intermediate singles; final heat in the intermediate four-oared shells; final heat in the association singles; final heat in the association doubles; final heat in the intermediate doubles; final heat in the intermediate fours; final heat in the intermediate pair-oared shells; final heat in the senior eight; and the dual contest for the National championship.

The race that is attracting the most attention is the senior eight, in which are entered the Vesper crew, of this city, which won the world's championship at Paris last year; the Argonauts of Toronto, the Winnipeg, and the New York Athletic Club.

PAUL KRUGER CALLS FOR DR. LEYDS.

Results of the Disclosures Made in the Reitz-Steyn Letters.

FIVE OF OUR GALLANT CANADIANS MENTIONED BY LORD KITCHENER

Paris, July 21.—In consequence of the publication of the Reitz-Steyn letters captured by General Broadwood, Dr. Leyds has been summoned with all haste to The Hague by Mr. Kruger.

London, July 21.—The following Canadians all deceased, are mentioned for distinguished service in despatches from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, May 8: Canadian Scouts—Major A. L. Howard, (killed). Canadian Mounted Rifles—Lieuts. Borden and Chalmers, Corporal Morden, Sergeant Builder (all four killed).

KITCHENER CLOSING IN.

London, July 21.—The Daily News' correspondent at Bloemfontein says that Gen. Kitchener is closing his grip on the Orange River and Cape Colonies, and is making a determined effort to end the war. General French's task in Cape Colony is a severely discouraging one, owing to the underhand treacherous work of the Cape Dutch.

London, July 21.—Thirteen big guns and twenty smaller ones have lately been taken from the Boers or destroyed by them to prevent capture.

Cape Town, July 21.—A British patrol encountered a Boer force twelve miles out of Sutherland. After a stiff engagement of about five hours the burghers withdrew.

IMPRISONMENT FOR LIFE.

Cape Town, July 21.—The sentences of death passed on 34 Boers, who took up arms again after swearing allegiance to Britain, have been commuted to imprisonment for life at Bermuda by Lord Kitchener.

Melbourne, Australia, July 21.—The Government of Queensland has been notified by Lord Kitchener, in reply to an enquiry, that he would be glad to have more mounted men.

Hamilton, Bermuda, July 21.—A further contingent of six hundred Boer prisoners arrived here today, all in good health.

Montreal, July 21.—The steamer Indian, of the Leyland line, will leave here to-morrow with one thousand horses for the army in South Africa.

A BUSY FAMILY.

A story with a Moral that Everybody should Read.

"Where is your mother, Johnny?" said a man to a little boy who had the other day.

"Playing golf."

"And your aunt?"

"She is out on her bicycle."

"And your sister?"

"She is training for the hockey match."

"Then I'll see your father, please."

"He can't come down. He is upstairs giving the baby a bath."

The Trials of Leifers.

Kingston News: On two or three afternoons this week the gossamer net of the river was spread out and down the west side of Prince's street occasionally holding up a corner as it took their feet. He inquired who they were, because he wondered how they managed to live in apparent idleness and plenty. In one case he was told, "His mother works." In another, "His sister helps him out." In a third, "He makes his poor old man keep him." Isn't this a shocking state of affairs? Loitering about in the streets and on the sidewalks, the unemployed men are a menace to society inasmuch as they are bound to either adopt their mode of living, and thus increase the number of those who have more than their share of the white man's burden to bear. Certainly Kingston has more than its quota of "do-nothings."

A PLACE TO BATHE.

Somebody Should Provide Bathing Houses at Once.

Public Baths are Greatly Needed in Peterborough. Bathing Being Needed by the Police.

It is a common sight of resentment among human beings to see or hear of the police arresting men for swimming in the river and lake, in the kind of weather we have been enduring lately.

There are men and boys who will risk being caught by the police and suffering the fate of real criminals, when the sun is making its power felt and nature craves for a plunge in the water, a few million gallons of which is sweeping down our river every minute.

The public bath is as much a necessity as almost any other convenience found by the town for the use of her citizens. We need them in situations which can be readily reached and where the safety of those using them can be guaranteed, where people of all ages and conditions can renew the vigour given out of them by a day's hard work in the broiling sun.

Every encouragement should be given the public to freely use cold water bathing in the summer weather, as it is one of nature's own remedies for the effects of heat. Nearly all animals instinctively seek the water as a resource when they are suffering from the effects of scorching weather.

We hope some one will take the matter up. There are plenty of places along the banks of the river and lake that are admirably suited for bathing.

A Celebrated Reform.

A movement is on foot among the merchants of many towns in Ontario and the Northwest to do away with the usual custom of displaying goods outside the door. It is a survival of the days when newspaper advertising was unknown and when goods stood at the doorways and cried their wares aloud to attract the attention of passers by. It is unjust to the general public to permit about a third of the wares to be taken up by outside displays, which serve no good purpose. In these days, where one or more newspapers enter every home, it is unnecessary to follow that style of advertising.

The Strike Settled.

Mr. Moss, the contractor for the construction of the Canadian General Power Company's power house at Niagara, informed The Times on Saturday that the strike on connection with the work is ended, nearly all the men having returned to work.

The men, who are Italian, are being paid $1.25 and upwards per day, and demanded $1.50. The work was resumed.

Mr. Moss says the huge pump is now in position, and the work will proceed rapidly.

STANLEY PIANO EXCURSION.

A Very Enjoyable Run Down the River Saturday Afternoon.

A large number took advantage of the Stanley Piano excursion to Jubilee Point on Saturday afternoon. The company was very much interested in promoting the enjoyment of the excursionists, and the outing must be pronounced the most successful of the season. The band was in attendance and the company lunched a piano which was utilized for an informal but none the less excellent concert on the return trip. The weather throughout the afternoon and evening was just right for out-of-town enjoyment. The hour was late when home was reached, everyone more than satisfied with the trip.

END OF THE WAR IS NOW VERY NEAR

Resident of Cape Colony Says That the War Will Soon be Over.

THE BOERS CAN NO LONGER FIND SUPPLIES

Latest News From the Seat of War—Kitchener's Sweeping Methods—More Boers Being Bagged Every Day.

New York, July 22.—M. Abraham, of Port Elizabeth, in Cape Colony, the representative of that district for a large insurance company of this city who is here on a business visit, said today: "We expect the end of the year to see the end of the war." Mr. Abraham said the general impression was that the Boer supplies would be exhausted by that time.

"They are getting nothing in now through any port," said he, "and they must be nearly at an end of their supplies. The war has been protracted beyond any expectation. No one knew that the Boers were so well prepared. They had been making ready for this war ever since 1881. They had munitions of war concealed even in Cape Colony. The intelligence department of the Boers is far superior to that of the British. The whole Dutch population of South Africa is in sympathy with them. They will give any information they can to mislead British troops. The Boer commissary is ready for them wherever they go. The British troops have to carry their own food. Often they cannot buy supplies for any money."

"From Cape Colony Dutchmen, of high standing, members of the assembly and of the Dutch reformed church, had to be arrested for high treason. The clergy were inciting the people to sedition and rebellion from the pulpits. Their racial feelings overcame all their satisfaction at the good government which they enjoy in the British province."

Mr. Abraham gave a vivid picture of the disastrous effects of the war even upon portions of the country untouched by its actual ravages. Port Elizabeth is the principal supply point for the Free State and the Transvaal. But the stocks of the merchants are loaded with orders which they cannot fill, as they cannot secure transportation for their goods. Business is almost at a standstill, and labor, of course, unemployed.

In contrast with this condition, Mr. Abraham pointed out the beauty of the country in normal times. "It is a dry, temperate, delightful climate," he said. "Subtropical diseases there do not exist. There is plenty of bush, but it is never as hot there as it has been in New York since I came, and it is always cool in the house. Our architecture is of a tropical style, suited to such a climate. There is plenty of game. Within twenty-five miles of Port Elizabeth, in the add bush, you can find twenty varieties of deer, besides buffalo and elephants. The interests of Cape Colony are mainly agricultural. In the western provinces they raise the cereals and in the eastern they raise melons, sheep, angora goats, cattle and ostriches."

Future Of The Liberal Party

Mr. Asquith on the Duty of Liberals Toward Boer Delusions

MUST BE A NATIONAL ONE

London, July 22.—Speaking last night at a banquet given in his honor by the Imperial Liberal Club, Mr. Herbert Asquith referred to the Reitz-Steyn letters as showing that the Boers were prevented from surrendering by the hope of European complications, and the alleged growing uneasiness of public opinion in Great Britain. He said it was the duty of the Liberal party, regarded as a section, to do its utmost to prevent the continuance of these destructive delusions. The interests of the Boers themselves, of the suffering population of South Africa, of the British taxpayers, of humanity and mercy, equally with policy, demanded the promptest and most effective use of every expedition that military art and science could suggest. The vigilant criticism with which it was their duty to watch the actions of the Government would not be less effective if it started with the assumption that the British officers and soldiers, even the Government itself, whatever its faults, were animated by humanity and consideration for the feelings of those whom the fortunes of war compelled them to treat as enemies.

THE FUTURE OF THE PARTY.

Dealing with the future of the Liberal party, Mr. Asquith said he did not accept the view that the system of party government was broken up. Despite the differences of opinion, the efficacy of the corporate enterprise, the Liberal party was not impaired, but it was to become a dominating political force in the members must be firmer in their faith, and more articulate in its expression, appealing to the sober-minded, level-headed men in all quarters of the Empire, and convincing them that the party was a national one, to which the fortunes of the Empire could be safely trusted.

Turning then to needed social reforms, especially education, Mr. Asquith declared that the greatest danger threatening the Empire was not the smallness of the army or deficiencies of the navy, but the fact that the British were allowing themselves to be steadily left behind in the race, success in which depended upon maintaining a higher intellectual standard than their competitors.

5,000 TRAWLERS IDLE

London, July 20.—The crisis in the fishing industry at Grimsby is daily becoming more serious. Half of the boats are laid up and 5,000 men are unemployed; by the end of the week all the boats will be taken of the fleet, and 10,000 men will be idle.

The owners and the employees are equally firm. While the federated owners insist on investigation, the men decline to enter upon it and the efforts of the arbitration board meet with no success.

The engineers are really masters of the situation. They enter on strike today; but the fishermen are practically unorganized and have no funds to drag upon.

Persecuted For Their Virtues

Pope Comforts The Religious Orders In Their French Troubles

"FATHER WILL FORGIVE THEM"

Rome, July 21.—The Pope has addressed a letter to the superiors-general of religious orders and institutions, in which he expresses his sympathy for the French congregations, and added words of comfort to them at the present moment. His Holiness is much afflicted at the gravity of the offences recently committed by some nations against the religious orders and institutions. The Church also complains, for not only is she deeply injured in her rights, but her power of action is greatly impaired. He who touches priest and monks touches the apple of the Church's eye.

The Pope goes on to say that he has died all means in order to put an end to such an ill-deserved persecution, and to save those nations from such a grave misfortune.

WORDS OF COMFORT.

The Pope seeks to comfort the religious orders and institutions. He says that the true reason of these facts is hatred of the Church, and that the real object is to remove it from human society, an activity which tends to restore Christ. The Pope warmly praises the religious orders of both sexes, and says it is for their virtues that they are persecuted. In order to console the religious, the Pope recalls that even among the most eminent men of the century there were never lacking upright minds to approve the works of the religious orders, who defend their inviolable rights as Catholics. If the Almighty permits these sufferings it is to give fresh strength to a spirit which has rarely grown feeble even in the normal times of tranquility.

The Pope exhorts the religious to redouble the ardor of their life of faith, prayer, and good works, and urges them to imitate the example of the blessed founders of their orders, and the good done by their predecessors under conditions as bad as the present. The authority of Christ imposes on all religious an attitude of once firm and dignified, but also mild and indulgent. Recall the sublime words, 'Vive in bono malum.' Repeat with Christ, 'Father forgive them.' Console yourselves in God. The Pope is with you. The whole Catholic world is with you."

GRIEVANCE OF SHIPPERS

Windsor, July 21.—Many Windsor, Walkerville and Sandwich shippers and manufacturers were present at the first local session of the investigation which Mr. A. J. McLean, Government Commissioner, is conducting in regard to the alleged freight rate discrimination practiced by the railways operating in Canada. Complaint was made that the rate for the shipment of grain from Essex and Kent to Liverpool was the same as it was from Chicago, and that the rate per cwt. on grain from Detroit to the seaboard was ten cents, while the rate from Windsor was sixteen cents; that the rate per cwt. on iron rails from Walkerville to Montreal was six cents while the same could be shipped from Detroit for six cents. On August 1st it was pointed out that the rate from Detroit to Toronto was less than the rate from Windsor to Windsor.

BEAUTIFUL PICTURES FREE!

Superb pictures of Queen Victoria, King Edward and Queen Alexandra given free to subscribers of the Weekly Times.

These lovely pictures are the most striking and handsome of Royal personages ever issued, being 18x24 in size, and are in seven colors. They would adorn any wall and are superb for framing.

We will give one of each of the above magnificent works of art (three in all) to anyone who will send us a club of five paid subscribers, at $1 each, to the Weekly Times. We will also furnish each of the five subscribers with their choice of one of these beautiful pictures, as a premium, absolutely free.

Go to Work and get five of your friend to subscribe for the Weekly Times for one year, paying for each $1 therefor; then send us the five dollars with the names and addresses of the subscribers, also naming the pictures selected, and we will mail you your three and each of the five subscribers one. Any man, woman, girl or boy can obtain these beautiful works of art by devoting a few minutes' time to canvassing.

Should you want the pictures in advance to canvass with send us 40c and we will forward them by mail, and deduct the 40c from the $5 club.

For every club of ten subscribers we will give $2 cash or will send you a set of Chambers' Encyclopedia in 30 volumes.

For every club of 25 subscribers we will pay $5 cash to the club getter, or will give Chambers' Encyclopedia in cloth binding, gold letters.

Each subscriber is in every case entitled to one of the Royal pictures.

FROM THE SEAT OF WAR

Peterborough, July 20.—The considerable activity displayed by the Boers at the present time, and the constant attacks of the enemy on small posts, is explained by their desire to replenish their supplies, as their ammunition is running extremely short. The raiders are being constantly pursued and brought up against the forts established by the South African Constabulary. It is, however, extremely difficult to capture the small bands of the enemy, who are able to steal between the forts. The fact that the Boers in the extreme northern districts are quite ignorant of the movements of their companions in the south, has been proven.

In the capture of a train near Nylstroom the majority of the escort were shot. In spite of these incidents there is not wanting evidence that our tactics are having a discouraging effect upon the enemy. It appears that a number of Boers have trekked northward in the Eastern Transvaal. These districts in consequence of the movements of the British columns have been made too hot for the Boers. Beyers' commando is said to have dwindled down to a mere nothing. Viljoen's march north is supposed to be made with the object of gathering the scattered remnants of the two commandos, and reinforcing Beyers.

SCOUTS GOOD RECORD.

Colonel Wilson, commanding Kitchener's Fighting Scouts, who has arrived here, stated in an interview that the record of the regiment during the last fortnight is as follows:—Eight Boer laagers surrounded and captured, including the following—113,000 cattle, 200 wagons, 10,000 dynamite cartridges, 8,000 rounds of small arms ammunition. Colonel Wilson states that in the regiment's last fight the Boers had 67 killed out of a total force of 100. Kitchener's Scouts have also captured 800 rifles.

SHOT THE WOUNDED.

Johannesburg, July 20.—At an enquiry conducted to-day, under oath, a number of non-commissioned officers and men of the British army, confirmed the statement that the Boers shot the British wounded at Vlakfontein.

HOW THEY DIED

Edenburg, July 20.—Particulars have just come to hand regarding the recent deaths of the three Boer leaders, Ollas, Hottel, Hottel and Oliver. A squadron of Hottel's Guides attacked a commando of Pretorius, of about 100 men, entrenched near Kotesport. Fighting, which was carried on at close quarters among the rocks and bushes, lasted twenty minutes. Commandant Pretorius was shot through the eye, they eventually escaped on reaching the open country.

Sydney, July 19.—A very few of the Australians who were offered commissions in the Imperial army have accepted same. One reason of the refusal has, of course, been the heavy mess and other expenses incurred by officers in English regiments—a matter to which Mr. Kipling and others have often directed attention.

But another difficulty presents itself to the colonial subalterns, who, perhaps, a man of mature years, and at once becomes junior to the beardless boy officers of the regiment. His position is intolerable. His ignorance of petty detail exposes him to the half-contemptuous pity of all ranks, while he is perpetually being "got at" by the adjutant or captain for his mistakes.

ATTACKED BLOCKHOUSES.

Cape Town, July 20.—On June 26 a commando of Boers under Viljoen made an determined attack on the British blockhouses at Brugpersit. They charged, and were received at close quarters with case shot from the British guns.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills a Wonderful Remedy.

Editor of the Morning Times.

Sir,—It is because I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be repaid that I ask you to publish some facts regarding Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills. I was for many years a sufferer from indigestion and stomach troubles. I could not digest my food, I was constipated, and it was only by injections that I could get relief. Physicians did me no good. I was reduced to a skeleton, and could hardly walk. As a last resort I tried a box of these pills, and the improvement was so marked that I continued taking them. I have now taken twelve boxes, never remembering being so well in my life. I have gained 22 pounds, and am living, walking, and feeling better than I have for many years. I am putting on more flesh daily. I am a living advertisement and consider no trouble too great in order to spread the fame of Dr. Clarke's Pills. A. F. Jones, Lockport, N.Y.

Cancer Growing Two Years

A Remarkable Case Cured Completely by the New Constitutional Remedy.

Not long ago, we had the pleasure of receiving the following letter: "When I began your treatment there was a hard lump in my breast, which had been growing for two years, and it was so bad at last that it kept the nipple in, I consulted two doctors and they both pronounced it cancer, and advised me to have my breast cut off. Your remedy, however, was recommended to me by a friend, and I am very thankful to say that it not only saved my life, but did away with the necessity of having to undergo the painful operation, which I most sorely dreaded."

We do not publish the names of those who give us testimonials for the gratification of the curious, but any sufferer from cancer or tumor, may have the name and address of the lady who wrote the above, by sending $5 stamps to Stott & Jurg, Bowmanville, Ont.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 22, 1901

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

The market was fairly attended on Saturday.

The Hoover island and cottage at Boscawen, Stony Lake, have been sold to a Rochester gentleman.

Mr. D. Walker, Inspector of Public Schools, is spending his vacation with friends at Durham and vicinity.

Mr. Felix Brown, a well-known family man, went up to Stony Lake for the week-end.

You make no mistake if you have your eyes taken by G. E. Whelan. No danger of them flying.

Rev. S. J. Sherry, of Picton, accompanied by his two daughters, are in town for a short visit. Mr. Sherry went to Stony Lake for a few days.

The printers' picnic goes to Jubilee on Saturday afternoon, August 3rd, good programme, sports and games, tug-of-war, music for dancing. Watch for further particulars.

Mr. Green has the men out this morning delivering the tax notices. The work will be rushed along this year, as Mr. Green has arranged all his ships according to streets and numbers.

The three insane persons who have been confined in the Peterborough gaol, were removed Saturday to the Provincial asylum—two going to Hamilton, and the other two to Mimico Asylum.

On August 13th there will be a vote taken on two by-laws, one providing for a new bridge, the other for the new bridge on Smith street. This was decided at last night's council meeting.

The Devil came to Peterborough to make the cooling shade. He rubbed on an old, or two. Then his decision made: "I cannot stand the awful heat, this scorching, torrid air; I guess I'll move home again. It's hotter here than there."

Mad in the comb. A bad sign. Job is growing bad. Stay it now. Use Dr. Williams' Comb and you will find no more combing. Your hair will stay where it belongs. Send up for one. D. N. Moss, 500a, Mt. Pleasant, Ill.

The Dogs told it. About two o'clock Saturday morning the dogs gave the alarm at Mr. Geo. O'Sullivan's residence on George street, and frightened away a man who was attempting an entrance at the side door. The man, when the dogs barked, made off through the front gate and up the street, he was in his shirt sleeves. The man came out of the fence from Mrs. O'Sullivan's lawn next door. Two nights previous Mrs. O'Sullivan was alarmed by someone attempting to enter her back door, but, whenever it was, made good his escape when the alarm was given.

Light for. Covered with dandruff, as usual. That means a dinner for Dr. Williams' Electric Comb will soon cure that. The only patented comb in the world. Every one who has used it is wild with delight. Only 50c and 60c each. D. N. Moss.

Would Take Things Happ. West Peterborough's local representative is at present acting Premier, and the entire executive staff at Toronto. Hon. Mr. Ross is in England, all the other members of the government are scattered, and the Hon. J. R. Stratton is the only pebble at Parliament building these days. But that nothing to Hon. J. R. He would not be alone long enough. If they would all stay away for a year this old province would get a hump on that would make everybody into a new life.

Stomach Indigestion Lived. And you want your camp raised to a condition of health and free from dandruff? Dr. Williams' Electric Comb will do it. Nothing else will. Send for one now before it is too late. Send on a written guarantee to give perfect satisfaction in every respect. Price 50c. D. N. Moss, 500a, Mt. Pleasant, Ill.

SOME LIVE QUESTIONS BEFORE THE COUNCIL

And Great Care Should be Taken That no Mistake be Made at Start.

THE POLE AND THE POWER QUESTION AGAIN

Are The Streets of the Town to Become a Forest of Poles?
—Trains Crossing Hunter Street.

We are quite aware of the fact that the present Council has its hands full. The different companies seeking means of internal transportation bid fair to encumber the town with inconceivable both ugly and dangerous. We refer of course to poles. What ever is done we hope the Council will see to it that the chief streets of the town shall not be blocked and entangled with poles and wires. The distribution of power from door to door is the serious part of the question. The main wires might be relegated to the side streets, although this plan would not be satisfactory, as the beauty of many of the streets would be thus destroyed by the erection of unsightly poles. There seems only to be one way out of the difficulty, and that is for the town to take over the poles and rent the privilege of stringing wires to the different pole companies.

Then, again, there is the approach to the Otonabee bridge. The Cereol Company propose to have two railway lines crossing the street. It is manifest to any one at all conversant with this highway, and the continuous traffic upon it, that nothing short of an overhead bridge for vehicles and pedestrians will answer the requirements of the community.

finuous stream of people, and protect their lives and vehicles as well. The Times would venture to make a suggestion. Why not ask the City Engineer of Toronto to come down and give us an opinion. We are not likely to evolve satisfactory solutions out of our own inner consciousness, and certainly not out of what we know of such matters. We should then have the satisfaction of knowing that we had done our best in asking advice from those who have been trained by experience. If we have to learn by experience it is going to be a costly and expensive business.

Peterborough is now on the highway to being a large place. Let us see to it that we prepare our plans for its extension with evidence of capability and broadmindedness. All should take a pride in the town—consumer and manufacturer alike. We trust that there will be no cause for regretting to the future to any lack of competence on the part of those who are entrusted with supreme control of our affairs.

Telephone, telegraph, street-railway, electric light, Canadian General, Cordage Company, etc., poles and wires will make the center of the town a network of difficulties and dangers in case of fire.

Great Victory For Canadian Oarsmen

Argonauts and Winnipeg Both Ahead of Worlds Champions,

CHAMPIONS OF 1900 NOT IN IT

Philadelphia, July 20.—The colors of the Vesper Boat Club, renowned in the world of aquatic, were dragged down to defeat in the race on the Schuylkill River to-day. A vast crowd of people lined the shores of the stream, and saw the shells of two Canadian crews, but not that of the Vesper which led the world's champion oarsmen over the finishing line at the Paris regatta of 1900. This was the scene that marked the closing of the twenty-ninth annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen—the most successfully conducted event in the history of aquatic in America.

The Vesper eight's boat showed to the front, as it did in the world's championship at Paris, but the hopes of the Vesper admirers were dashed to the ground before a half mile of the race had been rowed. At the trolley bridge, the race was over, as far as determining the winners was concerned. At every dip of the oars the Argonauts went ahead, leaving the Philadelphia in their wake. But this was not all, for another crew of Canadian added to the Vesper's bitter cup. The Winnipeg eight was allowed to enter the race as a matter of courtesy. It was not thought they had a chance to figure in the event, but they, too, passed the Vesper men, beating them over the line by nearly three seconds.

OUR SUMMER RESORTS.

Big Boon on all Over the Kawartha Lakes

Boboyoon Independent. Reports arrive daily of the number of tourists now coming to the Kawartha Lakes. Cobocook is doing a nice steady trade. Penelon Falls is receiving its guests. Kenogonsa Point cottages are as gay as ever. Boboyoon, the hub of the Kawartha Lakes, is a busy place. What with steamers, pleasure launches and boats towing, the lake is going all day long. The three resorts are filling up. In fact, the Hocking is using sketches. Pretty types of summer girls stroll with ribbons to their hats, the pianos catch it in the evening and the tennis courts in the afternoon. Buckhorn, the tourist trade, now says Mr. Eastwood, has never been better and he thanks the Kawartha Lakes Association for the work that has been accomplished. Charming Park Hotel—the visitors are having a gay time, and together with the cottages are enjoying the numerous hops. Burleigh Falls Inn reports very favorably, having already registered over fifty. Mount Julian Hotel is doing a rubbing trade, and the place is more than appreciated this hot weather. Mr. Fred Morgan, the energetic manager of the Victoria House, McCracken's Landing is in the thick of looking to the comfort and pleasure of his guests. The Victoria House is one of the popular resorts on Stony Lake. The Laborer's Home at Young's Point has its guests, and more coming next week. The Craig House, Lakefield, has the usual busy trade, and altogether the business on the lakes is increasing.

Boers Must Learn English.

Col. Gould Adams Announces the Educational Standard.

KRUGER AND THE LETTERS.

Bloomfontein, July 22.—At a recent reception tendered to school teachers of Orange River Colony, Col. Gould Adams, Deputy Administrator, announced that in future only one standard of education would be used in the schools of the colony—the English standard—which he said was the standard best fitted to equip the children for the future battle of life. It will be remembered that one of the conditions of submission offered by Lord Kitchener to Louis Botha last March, and now presumably revoked, was the following: "Both the English and the Dutch language will be used and taught in Public schools when the parents of the children desire it."

AIDER OF BOERS HOME.

Last Member of the Chicago Ambulance Corps to Arrive Tomorrow

Chicago, July 22.—When Richard Cahill, who is expected to reach Chicago this afternoon, arrives the last member of the famous Chicago ambulance corps will have reached home.

When the members of the corps reached the scene of the South African war and deserted the stretchers for the gun. Cahill followed suit and he fought for the Boer cause until his capture by the British over a year ago.

When the news of his capture reached his fellow soldiers in Chicago steps were immediately taken to secure his release. Colonel Finerty communicated with the state department, who in turn made enquiries regarding Cahill through Consul Stowe. On July 1 Cahill was released and started for home. He reached New York last week.

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS.

Blair Twice Misses Figs to Liable to Suffer by Government

The Blairville Infallible says: About a month ago we published in these columns an important amendment to the Weights and Measures Act and re-published it a few days ago. We now draw special attention to it, as, judging by the actions of the district inspector of Weights and Measures it is being violated. Tuesday evening Mr. Johnston went to a town west of this place and put under seal five tons of binder twine. Dealers and farmers should be on the lookout for binder twine that has no tags on it, or if it has tags, see that the maker's or importer's name is on them, also "this number of feet of twine per pound" as usual. Unless these requirements of the Act have been complied with the twine is liable to a penalty.

L. O. P. District Meeting

The annual district meeting of the Peterborough District, No. 25, L. O. P., will be held next Friday evening, July 25, in the lodge rooms, where the business of the District Committee for the year will be wound up, and a new D.D.G.M. will be nominated.

200 Strikers Are Out in Toronto

The Trouble in Brass Works Spread and Machinists May Quit.

A COMBINE THE CAUSE OF IT

Toronto, July 22.—Close upon 200 men are out on strike today in the brass manufacturing trade in the city. The trouble, which originated with the brass moulders, has now involved machinists, brass finishers, pattern-makers, and the core-makers. Today more than thirty brass finishers and polishers came out from the factory of the James Morrison Company, Adelaide street. Nine shops are now affected. The men in each case numbering from five or six up to thirty. The shops from which the men are now on strike are those of Morrison's, Coulter and Campbell, Keith and Hitzmoss, Johnston and Son, King street west; Northern Manufacturing Company, Dean street; Wilson and Cousins, and W. Macdonald. Three shops have signed the union scale, and the men are now at work. These firms are John Pol, W. Halkie, and C. Conable.

The men say it is a fight against a combination, and that more men may yet become involved. The machinists in several of the shops, it is asked to take the brass work, will probably refuse.

MARRIED A SECOND TIME.

Divorced Couple Weds That They Cannot Stand Apart

Woodstock, Ont., July 21.—The marriage of David Fraser and the widow of the late Ald. George Barnes of Ypsilanti, Mich., which occurred at Joliet, Midland County, recently, in the concluding chapter of a pretty romance. The bride and groom were married 15 years ago and lived in Woodstock. After a few years the couple became estranged, the husband leaving home. Mrs. Fraser secured a divorce and became the wife of James Fraser, who was a wealthy retired farmer. The second husband died three years ago, and Fraser, who had not lost track of his former wife, began a second assault on her affections, acknowledging his guilt in the misunderstanding which led to the separation. In spite of discouragement, he persisted, and the re-united couple are happily installed in their own home at Joliet at last. Mrs. Fraser was Miss Maggie Ross here before she married.

HAVE FAITH IN MILNER.

A Port Elizabeth Merchant Gives His View of the Boer War.

Toronto, July 22.—C. F. Kayser, a prominent merchant of Port Elizabeth, South Africa, who is at present in this city, says regarding the war, that while it has paralyzed business and while everybody is impatient and anxious for it to be over, all loyal Britons believe Mr. Alfred Milner's policy must be carried out to the bitter end. The loyal South African Dutch are confident of this as are the British and say that nothing short of a complete submission would be a disgrace. The war, Mr. Kayser thinks, will last some time, not that the Boers' leaders now hope for success, but because all their followers are determined to fight to the bitter end. The Boers, according to Mr. Kayser, must be crushed until the last Boer knows he is beaten.

HOT WEATHER TO REMAIN.

Present indications point out that it will remain hot and dry.

Toronto, July 22.—Old Probs, the reader of meteorological riddles, hinted out a warm item this morning. He ascertained that the great white belt of the United States was suffering from the most intense general drought, experienced in many years. St. Louis and Davenport were 106 degrees in the shade yesterday; Kansas and Omaha sweltered under 104 and Cincinnati held to endure the contrary mark. In Ontario the thunderstorms along Lake Erie tempered the atmosphere somewhat, and the little flood didn't get above 90. Present indications point toward a continuance of the existing heat wave. Humans will have to endure no end of perspiration before the balmy days of coolness come again.

THEIR HONEYMOON BRIEF.

Miss and Mrs. Two Sisters Seen Caught.

Saginaw, Mich., July 22.—Jas. Holt, 30 years of age, was arrested here Sunday, less than 16, were arrested here Sunday, as elopers from near London, Ontario. They were located in a hotel on Potter street, where they had been since Wednesday. Holt works on a farm two miles from Putnam, in Durham Township and has a wife and two small children. Annie Smith was the daughter of his employer, Edith Smith.

FOUR DROWNED. 27 WOUNDED.

Result of a Boys Yachting and Boating Around New York.

New York, July 22.—Four people drowned and twenty-seven people rescued in the record for yesterday's yachting and boating accidents in the waters around New York. The drowned were: William Dill, of Middleville, L. I., drowned off White Neck; L. I.; Edward Dimey, drowned off White Island, L. I.; Dennis Gallagher, drowned in East River; Augustus Wain, drowned in Harlem River.

WOUNDED IN A BOAT.

Red April 16, and Girl April 16, W. B. Ballew in Their Boat

New York, July 22.—Herman Treits and Ida Deputy, who were found wounded in a speck of lightning beach yesterday, are in a New Brighton infirmary, in a serious condition. Both have bullet wounds in the chest, the girl two and the boy one. He is aged 18, while she is 16. According to Treits's story, they agreed to die together. He says the girl shot herself first and then he used the same weapon on himself. Treits is under police guard.

THE PERIN DEADLOCK.

Britain Opposes Plan to Increase Chinese Customs.

THE GERMAN COMMANDER

General Von Ketteler on His Way from the Orient to Report to the Kaiser.

Peking, July 21.—At a meeting to-day the ministers finally fixed the amount of the indemnity at $50,000,000, to be paid in 40 years, at 4 per cent. per annum. Great Britain is unyielding in her opposition to the proposal to increase the Chinese customs tariff so that the indemnity can be more speedily paid. Word has been received here from Tsin-Yuen-Fu that the missionaries who started from here for that place under an escort furnished by the Chinese arrived safely on July 9, the anniversary of the massacre of missionaries at that city. From outward appearance this is a remarkable change. The missionaries were furnished escort and honest treatment all along the route and they were received on their arrival at Tsin-Yuen-Fu.

Many officials call on them daily. Strict orders have been given that proper treatment shall be accorded to the missionaries. The German commander, General von Ketteler, is expected to arrive in Peking on July 19.—Count Lamdorff, minister of foreign affairs, and Ambassador Alvenleben of the German empire are conducting a series of secret conferences at which the chief topic discussed is China.

They are seeking to reach an agreement which will assure Russo-German harmony in the future for eastern policy to the two empires. The conferences are distinctly anti-English in character and the officers at the British embassy are greatly concerned. They fear that Russia and Germany intend to adopt a course of action with regard to the co-operation of England.

Tien-Tsin, July 19.—Considerable uneasiness is felt here following the resumption by the Chinese of the partial control of the city. The natives are entertained by the Chinese lines outside of Tien-Tsin an area of further violence are anticipated.

Portland, Ore., July 22.—General Von Ketteler, commander of the German troops at Pao-Ting-Fu, China, and a relative of the late German minister Von Ketteler, arrived in Portland yesterday from the Orient and will proceed immediately to Berlin, where he will explain the condition of the situation in China to Emperor Wilhelm, at whose order the trip is made.

Kruger's Wife Died Sunday

She Succumbed to an Attack of Pneumonia

KRUGER HEARS THE SAD NEWS

Pretoria, July 21.—After suffering from pneumonia for three days, Mrs. Kruger, wife of the late President of the Transvaal, died this afternoon.

Mrs. Kruger was the second wife of Oom Paul, her maiden name being Mies Kruger. She was a native of Pretoria in South Africa. Mr. Kruger's first wife was her aunt.

Auntie Kruger, as the Boers called her, was a typical Boer woman, and it was hard to realize that she was the first lady of the land. Though far from being starchy, she cared nothing for finery, and in the days of her prosperity in the Presidential residence in Pretoria, she lived with the simplicity of a Dutch farmer's wife. She often confided to visitors that she and her husband never lived beyond the $2,000 a year "coffee money" allowed them by the Government, and that she never interfered in politics, disliking the title only for the trouble they caused her husband.

Mrs. Kruger was the mother of six children. Her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Kruger, who lived with the simplicity of a Dutch farmer's wife. She often confided to visitors that she and her husband never lived beyond the $2,000 a year "coffee money" allowed them by the Government, and that she never interfered in politics, disliking the title only for the trouble they caused her husband.

KRUGER HEARS THE NEWS.

London, July 22.—It is said that Kruger had been warned of his wife's serious illness last Friday, through Lord Kitchener. Mr. Kruger has just returned from church yesterday when the news of his wife's death was broken to him. It is said he burst into tears, exclaiming: "My poor Bessie. She was a good wife. We only quarrelled once. That was six months after our marriage." The ex-President then prayed for a while. A large number of condolence letters have already been received.

WONDERFUL CRO'S.

An Army of Men Needed to Gather in the Golden Grains of Manitoba.

Mr. Geo. A. Bradbury, who has been commissioned by the Manitoba Government to visit Ontario, and tell of the enormous crops that that province is raising, called on the Times yesterday. He says that the Government and the railways are making all the efforts possible to get to harvest bands for the North-west farmers. Fully 25,000 men will be needed, which will only be one for every farmer and excursions will be run from as far east as Nova Scotia. The fare will be $10, and $10 to return by Dec. 15th.

A Pleasant Outing.

Those who want to spend Sunday at Lyle-Wild or Jubilee or Gore's Landing, can do so by taking one of the steamers Saturday afternoon, and returning Monday morning by the same line.

Veiled Warfare With The French

This Is the Real Meaning of The British Naval Manoeuvres.

ARE FOR THE MEDITERRANEAN

London, July 21.—The Admiralty has issued the general idea, orders and instructions, and lists of ships for the navy the North Sea. The navy will begin its time after midnight of July 28-29. The manoeuvres will be at two main points and purposes be a contest between England and France for the control of the Mediterranean. There will be two main fleets, and they will actually fight for the command of the English Channel, which may be taken as representing the Mediterranean.

The rumoured accession to the forces of the men to the Weymouth plant did not take place and the 23 men who had stuck to the company went to work this morning as usual. It is expected that the company will endeavor to increase this number within the next few hours. Color is given to this by a report that the managers of the Pittsburg mills held a secret meeting in this city Saturday when they decided that, owing to the weakness of Weirville as an amalgamated stronghold, they would start up that mill. The strikers at Weirville have been watching very closely all the movements and also the river bank, as it was said that the men would be brought in by boat up the Monongahela river.

The Amalgamated people are greatly elated over the fact that they succeeded yesterday in organizing a lodge among the employees of the National Tube Works. The formation of this new lodge of Amalgamated men at the National Tube Works may extend the conflict to that plant, inasmuch as the Amalgamated Association officials say they would undoubtedly protect these men by calling out all the workers at the mill in case the company discharged them for having joined the union.

PRESIDENT SHAFFER SPEAKS.

When seen this morning President Shaffer was in a good humor. He would not discuss his plans for this week. Much depended on circumstances. The general plans of the Amalgamated Association were of course laid out in the mill in case the company discharged them for having joined the union.

HINTS ON CAMPING OUT.

Exhaustive hints on this season of betterment to the wilderness

A spring bed that will rival in comfort all the patented arrangements in the world is readily made. Fasten together with nails a framework of poles, putting a strong crosspiece at head and foot. For the first layer select spruce poles the size of a broomstick, tapering at one end to the other. Cut these long enough to project at least a foot at each end, and put the big ends at the head of the bed. To nail these down will mean to make a bed as hard as a board, so they must remain loose. The extra length at head and foot allowing for sagging. Place these poles three or four inches apart. Cover them with a cross layer of coarse spruce or balsam or pine boughs, and above them arrange a layer after layer of fine spruce tips, adding a final layer of the flat cedar tips. With a blanket over the whole, the bed is complete.

One article of the camping outfit will serve to preserve the very odor of the forest and the music of the waters after the old life has been resumed. This is the camera, and it should accompany every step of the way, and be in readiness always for work.

NEW CENTURY IDEAS.

The Toronto Industrial to be Greater Than Ever.

The Toronto Exhibition, to be held from August 28th to Sept. 7, announces that its principal characteristic will be the adoption of New Century Ideas. The phrase might be considered a bit indefinite but for the fact that contemporaneous statement is made that there will be daily and nightly displays of all the new weapons of war as well as recent developments in the art of peace. The pom-pom will be on view, wireless telegraphy will be shown in practical use off the shore to passing vessels, magnificent displays of illuminating effects will be made, recently announced developments in electricity will be shown, demonstrations will be made in the cultivation of the Sugar Beet, modern methods of rearing at sea will be illustrated. The new era of the future will take place, in fact the military will be very much in evidence in all its branches, while the handy-man and the machine will also be used largely in the off-shore operations and the brilliant night spectacle the Bombardment of the Taku Forts by International forces. An International Military Tattoo will be the feature of the opening night, when a large body of troops will be utilized. A strong exhibit of French Canadian cattle, dairy products and manufacturers, Toronto Exhibition never promised so well as this year. Greatly reduced rates on the railways and steamboats have been arranged for, and no better time for visiting both Toronto and the Pan-American, or the former alone, could be desired than between August 28 and Sept. 7. When it is stated that this year Toronto will distribute upwards of $2,000 in premiums and spend $10,000 in special attractions, all of which can be seen from the grand stand for $1.50, the magnitude of Canada's greatest exhibition will be appreciated.

THE Census Enumerators.

Some of the census enumerators, who did their work last May, are commencing to kick good and hard. They claim they have not been paid yet by the Government, and they say it is about time they were. They do not understand why there should be such a delay. They also say that some of the men who acted as returning officers at the elections last November only received their fee a few days ago. As the enumerators are scattered all over the country now, and in some cases new certificates will have to be made out owing to a misunderstanding in the rates to be paid, a further delay in the payment of the money may take place.

STARTING SURPRISES ARE NOW IN STORE

Pres. Shaffer Says Strikers Have Been Fortifying Themselves for the Past Three Years.

MEN ARE ON THE LOOKOUT FOR IMPORTED MEN

But So Far The Employers Have Not Succeeded in Bringing In Men to Take The Places of the Strikers.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 23.—The situation of the strike today practically the same as on Saturday. Weirville and McKeesport being the points around which the interest centres, and any new development will no doubt emanate from those places.

The rumored accession to the forces of the men to the Weymouth plant did not take place and the 23 men who had stuck to the company went to work this morning as usual. It is expected that the company will endeavor to increase this number within the next few hours. Color is given to this by a report that the managers of the Pittsburg mills held a secret meeting in this city Saturday when they decided that, owing to the weakness of Weirville as an amalgamated stronghold, they would start up that mill. The strikers at Weirville have been watching very closely all the movements and also the river bank, as it was said that the men would be brought in by boat up the Monongahela river.

AT McKeesport the Dewees Wood

Company did not make any attempt to go into operation, as was expected. Rumors of great moment were rife yesterday and unusual excitement manifested that it was stated that the company would bring in new men this morning and the strikers were watching every ingress to the city. Hundreds of men were parading the streets, watching the railroads and also the river bank, as it was said that the men would be brought in by boat up the Monongahela river.

The Amalgamated people are greatly elated over the fact that they succeeded yesterday in organizing a lodge among the employees of the National Tube Works. The formation of this new lodge of Amalgamated men at the National Tube Works may extend the conflict to that plant, inasmuch as the Amalgamated Association officials say they would undoubtedly protect these men by calling out all the workers at the mill in case the company discharged them for having joined the union.

Worked in Heat At 140 Degrees

Sensational Evidence by J. Burns
Regarding London Bakehouses

ARE CROWDED WITH VERMIN

London, July 22.—Starting evidence was given on the condition of London bakehouses before the Standing Committee on Trade. The clause which it is proposed to insert in the Factories Act provides that after Jan. 1, 1904, an underground bakehouse shall not be used unless certified by the district council to be suitable.

Mr. John Burns contended that underground bakehouses in London in many cases were as bad as before the passing of the Public Health Act in 1895. He had some signed statements from bakers' employees. One who had worked in an underground bakehouse in a west end thoroughfare said: "It is very badly ventilated, the lavatory is in the bakehouse, and the bread is always around there. We supply Marlborough House with bread. The date of my employment was May, 1900." (Laughter.) He was not disposed to give a bakehouse like that two years' extension even though it supplied Marlborough House. (Laughter.) He had another statement as to an underground bakehouse in Essex road, where there was no ventilation, the gas burned day and night, and where the men had fainted with the heat at 140 degrees. In an underground bakehouse in Commercial road there were no windows, and a trap-door which was kept shut led from the shop. Another letter from Bromley Road stated that a bakehouse there was over-crowded with vermin, and, not a bit of food could be put away, because of insects. A German baker had left his employ in Commercial road, Peckham, because the bakehouse was not fit to work in. When a German baker left an underground bakehouse because it was not fit to work in there could only be a sheet of brown paper between him and the vermin kingdom. (Laughter.)

SMALLPOX IN AN ASYLUM.

Twenty-Nine Cases in Malvern Asylum Are Traced to a Nurse.

Malvern, July 22.—There are twenty-nine cases of smallpox and varioloid among the patients and patients of the asylum, who became affected by a female nurse who was recently away for a short time. Her affliction was first diagnosed as chickenpox. No one knows where she contracted the disease. The grounds and buildings are all quarantined and no one is allowed to leave the buildings or grounds. The 1,700 patients are being vaccinated as rapidly as possible.

are some startling surprises in store for the manufacturers when the proper time comes for springing them, he says. "Our people," said he, "have been availing and have fortified themselves against such an emergency for three years. At present we are simply taking our much needed vacation. When the cooler weather arrives we will be in shape to settle down for the winter, untroubled by the conditions confronting us, for we have everything in readiness for such a winter as will result if this strike is not settled."

FIREMEN STILL REFUSE.

Shamokin, Pa., July 23.—All the striking firemen refused to go to work this morning. President Schultz said none of the men will go back until ordered to do so from headquarters at Wilkes-Barre. He does not anticipate that any of the companies will refuse to restate the men if the strike is declared off. Most of the colliers hereabouts started up today with non-union men in the fire-rooms.

STRIKERS RETURN TO WORK.

Scranton, Pa., July 23.—The striking boiler-makers, machinists and foundrymen at the shops of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad returned to work at the old rate of wages today, notice having been posted by the company following a decision of the men to return if all of the 874 men who went on strike eight weeks ago would be taken back. Two men were discharged for cause. The 300 men employed by the Allegheny Company remain out pending a settlement at the shops of the company.

Cleveland, July 23.—John P. Ward, Vice-President of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, for the sixth district, says that he has completely frustrated any attempt of the "American Steel and Wire Company" to start its Newburg shop plant in operation, despite contrary reports made by the company's agents. "It has been reported to me, from time to time," says Mr. Ward, "that the company is attempting to lure away from their union affiliations to start them to work. I have heard that they are trying to stampede the union men who are sympathetic with us. These efforts are useless. They can do nothing. We have anticipated their every move, and their efforts will appear ridiculous later on."

The Points Made In Fosburg Case

Evidence Against Man Who Is Charged With Manslaughter.

VERY CONFLICTING STATEMENTS

Pittsburg, Mass., July 22.—With three steps in its case against Robert S. Fosburg, the alleged slayer of his sister Mary, apparently well fortified, the prosecution, came to-day to the opening of the third day's session of the trial of young Fosburg for manslaughter with the announcement that it hoped to complete its case before night. The three vital points, which the prosecution is considered to have established thus far are:

First, that the bullet which killed Mary Fosburg was fired from a revolver of the same calibre as one owned by her brother, the defendant; secondly, that the defendant bought cartridges to fit such a revolver some time before the tragedy; thirdly, that certain statements made by the accused after the slayer was killed as to how she was shot conflict with tests made by experts as to the nature of the wound, and the direction of the bullet.

The three witnesses who, if the state's plan is carried out to-day, will be called are James and Beatrice Fosburg, the young brother and sister of the defendant, and Chief of Police, John Nicholson, of Pittsburg. The two members of the Fosburg family, it was expected, would be called upon for evidence, to be put in contrast with the story told by Robert Fosburg concerning the presence of burglars in the house at the time Mary was shot, and that Chief Nicholson would describe in detail the formulation of the entire case against the defendant, as, from the first, he has been the head and front of the prosecution. It was he who first led the investigation upon the tragedy, and he was the first to accuse the brother of having done the deed.

A FATAL MISTAKE

Took Strichine Instead of a Headache Remedy and Died Within an Hour

Salamanca, July 23.—Mrs. O. H. Bow, of Mansfield died yesterday under sad circumstances. When she awoke yesterday she complained of a serious headache, and went to a cupboard to get a headache remedy. By mistake she took down a bottle containing a solution of strichnine instead of a dose of the poison. Soon after she notified a neighbor of her mistake. Dr. Lee Whitney of Elmfieldville was summoned and in the meantime some home remedies were administered, but Mrs. Bow died within an hour. The physician arrived. Her husband was away at the time. Coroner Stillman does not expect an inquest.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 23 1901

TREATMENT OF THE ENEMY

What do the pro-Boers of Europe or America who profess to be British sympathizers want the British to do? Do they expect Lord Kitchener to leave standing the houses and barns from which soldiers are shot down when they pass? Do they expect that a farm which is used as a Boer laager shall be left in the rear or the flank of a British advance? Is a village which is a rendezvous for bands of the enemy, who kill the British from the protection of a white flag, to be left as a danger to the British?

Most people suppose that the British have not been guilty of over-vigilance. They have merely allowed themselves to be taken by surprise. They have given their share of sacrifices to credulity and truthfulness. They have trusted the Boers too far rather than too little. Hundreds of British wives have been made widows, and thousands of British mothers mourn their sons, because Boer farm buildings have been left as a resort for a treacherous crafty foe.

If the farms are left desolate, what is to become of the women and children found there? These Boer women know the British too well to be afraid of them. They have not thought it necessary to go with their menfolk when the latter seek a place of safety. They know a much better plan. If they remained with the commando, it could not move rapidly to the midnight attack. If they trusted their Boer relatives to feed them the men would not be able to give their whole attention to their raids and their destruction of British property, consequently they throw themselves on the protection of the British and never have they done so in vain. They have always been treated as well as the circumstances would permit. But the South African campaign is no picnic for the British soldier and the Boers who leave their families to their fate or the care of their foe should certainly be the last to complain if they suffer from the hardships which are inseparable from the situation. War is hell, at the best, and the Boers should have realized this fact before they precipitated the campaign.

NEW CENTURY IDEAS.

The Toronto Industrial to be Greater Than Ever.

The Toronto Exhibition, to be held from August 10th to Sept. 1, announces that its principal characteristic will be the adoption of New Century Ideas. The phrase might be considered a bit indefinite but for the fact that contemporary thought in the statement is made that there will be daily and nightly displays of all the new weapons of war as well as recent developments in the arts of peace. The post-ponement will be on view, wireless telegraphy will be shown in practical use, the latest in passing vessels, magnificent displays of illuminating effects will be made, recently announced developments in electricity will be shown, demonstrations will be made in the cultivation of the sugar beet, modern methods of rearing and raising will be illustrated, maneuvers with latter-day artillery will take place, in fact the military will be very much in evidence in all its branches, while the hands and the machine will also be shown largely in the off-shore operations and the brilliant night spectacle of the bombardment of the Lake Ontario International forces. An International Military Tattoo will be the feature of the opening night, when a large body of troops will be utilized. A strong exhibit of French Canadian cattle, as well as of Pan-American live stock, dairy products and manufactures, Toronto Exhibition never promised so well as this year. Greatly reduced rates on the railways and steamboats have been arranged for, and no better time for visiting both Toronto and the Pan-American, or the former alone, could be desired than between August 10 and Sept. 1. When it is stated that this year Toronto will distribute upwards of $3,000,000 in premiums and spend $2,000,000 in special attractions, all of which can be seen from the grand stand for 25 c., the magnitude of Canada's greatest exhibition will be appreciated.

THE IMPERIAL LIBERALS

At a banquet in his honor by the Imperial Liberal, Mr. Herbert Asquith, who had returned to the House of Commons after his tour of the United States, the Liberal party was presented from surrendering to the hope of European complications, and the alleged growing uneasiness of public opinion in Great Britain. He said it was the duty of the Liberal party, regardless of section, to do its utmost to prevent the continuance of these destructive delusions. The interests of the Liberal party, of the suffering population of South Africa, of the British taxpayers, of humanity and mercy, equally with policy, demanded the prompt and most effective use of every expedition that military art and science could suggest. The vigilant action with which it was their duty to watch the actions of the Government would not be less effective if it started with the assumption that the British officers and soldiers, even the Government itself, whatever its faults, were animated by humanity and consideration of the feelings of those whom the fortunes of war compelled them to harm.

Dealing with the future of the Liberal party, Mr. Asquith said he did not accept the view that the system of party Government was broken up. Despite the differences of opinion, the efficacy of the corporate existence of the Liberal party was not impaired, but it was to become a dominating political force. Its members must be firmer in their faith, and more articulate in its expression, appealing to the sober-minded, level-headed men in all quarters of the Empire, and convincing them that the party was a national one, to which the fortunes of the Empire could be safely trusted.

Turning then to needed social reforms, Mr. Asquith declared that the greatest danger threatening the Empire was not the smallness of the army or deficiencies of the navy, but the fact that the British were allowing themselves to be steadily left behind in the race, in which the standard for maintaining a higher intellectual standard than their competitors.

THE NEW BABY

Open up a new world to the loving mother. If it is a strong, healthy baby that new world is a world of happiness. If it is a weak, fretful child the new world is full of anxiety. It has been proven in thousands of cases, that the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes all the difference between strength and weakness in children. Healthy, happy mothers have healthy, happy children. We now have a darling baby who makes the mother's strength to give her child. It makes the baby's advent practically painless and promotes the secretion of the nourishment necessary to the healthful feeding of the nursing child.

"I have been using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and can say it is just what you advertise it to be," writes Mrs. Victor J. Hadin, of Leonardville, Riley Co., Kansas. "I began taking it just two months before baby came and was greatly benefited by its use. The doctor who attended me said I did about as well as any one he had seen (as I was sick only about three hours), and she said that 'Favorite Prescription' was 'one perfect medicine' which she did have faith in. I now have a darling baby, boy, strong and healthy, who weighed nine pounds when born. During this month he gained three and one-half pounds. Have never given him one dose of medicine."

ATTACK OF ROYAL CANADIANS AT PARADE

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has been the pride of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures of the Canadian soldiers in the field. A picture of the will command itself and send a shiver to the heart of every true Canadian. It is the one called "Attack of Royal Canadian Infantry." It shows the Canadian soldiers in the field, in the midst of a battle, in the midst of a battle, in the midst of a battle. It is a picture of the will command itself and send a shiver to the heart of every true Canadian. It is the one called "Attack of Royal Canadian Infantry." TO ANNEX CANADA TO THE UNITED STATES

"Oh, the woman faint once in a while," was the cheerful answer, "but nothing serious has happened yet. You know," he explained, "this barred his nose, so he can't see."

VOL. 29. NO. 172

PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO THURSDAY JULY 25 1901

PRICE TWO CENTS

THE DUKE OF CORNWALL

Will be Created Prince of Wales on His Return to England

The Heir Apparent to Assume His Duties to the State.

New York, July 25.—Max O'Rell cables the Journal from London as follows: On his return to England in November next the Duke of Cornwall will be created Prince of Wales. As soon as preparations are finished at Buckingham Palace, King Edward and Queen Alexandra will remove there from Marlborough House, which will be handed to the new Prince. The King has given to the heir presumptive for a country residence, Frogmore House, in Windsor forest, which used to be inhabited by the Duchess of Kent, Queen Victoria's mother. The King and Queen will keep Sandringham as the country house of their predilection.

H. R. H. DUKE OF CORNWALL

It will take a year to make the elaborate preparations for the coronation. Pledges to be witnessed at the expense of beautiful Green Park. People are already making engagements of windows to view the procession, which will take two days going over the route ten miles long. As much as $2,000 will be paid for windows, as the landlords of houses on the route and tremendous prices for rent, and the rent of many will be paid in full by letting a few windows. There will be speculation, money made on money lost.

THE CORONATION OATH

The Roman Catholic Peers Raise Some Objections

THE TROUBLE HAS BEGUN

The Royal Black Knights of Canada Take Hand in It.

London, July 24.—The Roman Catholic peers are objecting to the term "adoration" of the Virgin in the proposed revision of the Coronation Oath. They say that "adoration" does not properly express the sentiments of the Roman Catholics towards the Virgin. Lord Salisbury has expressed the opinion that no doubt the word "worship" could be substituted for "adoration," when the bill comes on for discussion, but it seems doubtful whether "worship" will prove any more acceptable to Lord Lansdowne and his friends. "Veneration of the Virgin" will probably be the term proposed by a Roman Catholic peer. Then the question will arise whether "veneration" of the Virgin is contrary to Protestantism. Evidently there is some pretty verbal sword play in preparation.

NEW CENTURY IDEAS.

The Toronto Exhibition to be held from August 15th to Sept. 1, announces that its principal characteristic will be the adoption of New Century Ideas. The phrase might be considered a bit indefinite but for the fact that contemporaneous country the statement is made that there will be daily and nightly displays of all the new developments of war as well as new developments in the arts of peace. The post-ponement will be on five telegraph telegrams will be shown in practical use off the shore by passing vessels, many night displays of illuminating effects will be made, recently announced developments in electricity will be shown, demonstrations will be made in the cultivation of the sugar beet, modern methods of rearing at sea will be illustrated, maneuvers with later-day artillery will take place, in fact the military will be very much in evidence on all the branches, while the handy-man and the marines will also be used largely in the off-shore operations and the brilliant nightly displays of the "Gala Night" of the Tatu Fort by international forces. An International Military Tattoo will be the feature of the evening night, when a large body of troops will be utilized. A strong exhibit of French Canadian stock, dairy products and manufacturers, Toronto Exhibition never promised as well as this year. Greatly reduced rates on the railways and steamboats have been arranged for, and no better time for visiting both Toronto and the Pan-American, or the former alone, could be desired than between August 15 and Sept. 1. When it is stated that this year Toronto will distribute upwards of $3,000,000 in premiums and spend $5,000,000 in special exhibitions, all of which can be seen from the grand stand for 25 c., the magnitude of Canada's greatest exhibition will be appreciated.

To Jubilee and 1891

The steamer City of Peterborough will run a trip on Friday, August 24th, to Jubilee and 1891, leaving the wharf at 9:30 a.m. Return fare to Jubilee Point 25 c.; to 1891 50 c.

THE PETERBORO CHEESE BOARD.

Over 3,500 Boxes of Cheese Were Boarded Yesterday.

PRES. DRUMMOND'S REMARKS

The regular meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board was held yesterday. The following buyers were in attendance: Messrs. Bailey, Smith, Wright, Whittell, Cook, Fitzgerald, Kerr, Moore, Clouston, and others. There was an exceptionally large board there being 3,500 boxes offered. The prices were good, and the bidding very lively; 9 1/2 c. was the highest price paid and at this figure many factories sold. The other price of 9 1/4 c. cleared off the board. President Drummond, before opening the proceedings, said that he desired to say a few words regarding the last meeting. He touched upon the manner in which certain buyers rejected cheese without even coming to inspect the same; in other cases they had come to the factories and refused to take the cheese unless inspected by a Government Inspector at Montreal. He wished the buyers to understand that the cheese on this board is not being sold subject to any Government inspection. He said that he thought the cheese should be shipped out at least the week after it was sold, and he asked the buyers how they would like it if there was a successful attempt to let his cheese go if it happened to be in advance in price between the time of the sale and the time of the supposed shipment? Mr. Thomas Hiebert thought that the president's remarks were quite timely, as he considered that the manner in which the sales have been conducted leaves a great chance for litigation. It is no fault of the cheese maker if the cheese is not in favour when the buyer comes along 3 or 4 days after the sale, Mr. Hiebert said he was going to stand up for the rights of the cheese maker. Mr. Cook spoke, endeavouring to hold the position of the buyers and told of the difficulties they had to contend with. The factories boarded as follows:

HIGHER FIRE RATES.

Decided on at a Meeting of Underwriters. Toronto, July 24.—The meeting of the Fire Underwriters of Canada, held here proved to be an important one, and as a result, there will be a change in fire insurance rates. The specific rating system is to be adopted in all cities and towns in Canada, in effect, every house in the future should be its own bottom. A key rating will be given to each town or city, according to its fire facilities and circumstances. A standard building for each place will be chosen, and variations from this will be rated. Structures with their walls unprotected, skylights, great heights, will be charged extra. Only business structures will be affected, and it is estimated that large ones will have to pay more for their insurance. The English companies doing business in Canada were the chief movers for the change, as they have been hit hard by recent conflagrations. Lumber rates are also to go up.

THE MATCH OFF.

The Telle Cricketers Are Afraid to Face The Old Times. The proposed cricket match between the Old Times, organized by Mr. W. H. Wrighton, and the Colts, will not materialize, the latter refusing to show up. It is clearly a case of bluff, for the Old Boys would doubtless have made mince meat of their opponents. In the meantime Mr. Wrighton's agitation is ready to meet any other cricket organization that may appear, and give them a run for their money. All communications in the nature of a challenge should be written in red ink with the biggest kind of pen, and addressed to Mr. W. H. Wrighton, Peterborough. The answer will come back in quick order and will be red hot for battle.

LORD PAUNCEFOTE AS PEACEMAKER

He is Doing Noble Work in England at Present.

ENGLAND AND THE STATES

Should Have Better Understanding, And This Will be Accomplished

New York, July 24.—The correspondent of the Tribune in London writes: Lord Pauncefote has given a quasi denial to the press interviews. This may be understood in a Pickwickian sense. He repudiated what was purely unimportant and retains what was safe and useful as a method of influencing British and American opinion. The sum of the whole matter is that Lord Pauncefote has been doing what he could do to remove possible causes of future conflict and controversy between two great nations speaking the same language, and having common instincts and interests. It is a matter of no importance whether he has been diplomatic or undiplomatic in his methods. The main point is that he stands for the same benevolent purpose and policy with which he was identified at the Hague Congress. He is an Englishman who believes that the canal question and every other issue should be settled by the use of common sense and good will. Friends of peace in both sides of the Atlantic will wish him not to speed and do nothing to obstruct his work. The situation remains as has been described frequently in these despatches. Lord Pauncefote has brought Lord Salisbury and Lord Lansdowne and the members of the Cabinet into touch with American opinion on the subject of the canal. If they have not understood before the trend of that opinion respecting control of the interoceanic canal in the event of a serious emergency of war, they now know what it is. The chances now favor a settlement of the canal question on lines which will be satisfactory to the United States Senate, as well as to the State Department, and Lord Pauncefote is doing the work so well that newspapers on both sides of the Atlantic can safely talk about the weather.

BROTHER'S PISTOL SHOT SISTER

Lawyer Joyner Continues Address at Fosbury Murder Trial.

THE THEORY OF THE DEFENCE.

Pittsfield, Mass., July 24.—The court house doors were besieged fully an hour before the opening of the trial of Robert L. Fosbury, charged with the murder of his sister, Mary. The crowd of spectators, many of whom were from out of town, were kept waiting for some time before they were admitted. Mr. Joyner at the hour of adjournment yesterday had just described the scene on the morning of the tragedy, when Robert L. Fosbury, who had been beaten by burglars had recovered consciousness and rushed to a window, and screamed "murder." He resumed to-day by telling why the Fosburies kept firearms in the house. "We know," he said, "and the Government does not know, that it was the defendant's pistol which shot his sister. Counsel said the firm of R. Fosbury & Company had many men in its employ, the pay-roll amounting to some $6,000 weekly. The men were non-English-speaking, and were paid in money at the office of the company. Mr. Fosbury, senior, would take money from the bank to the office in an electric car. The men knew this and because of the risk the chief of police had once remarked that if any man needed a pistol that he (Fosbury) did. For this reason the defendant and his wife, occupied the kitchen bedroom, but they discovered a disagreeable odor in the sink, and moved to another room, leaving some wearing apparel and a pistol in the kitchen."

THE LINE OF DEFENCE.

The theory of the defence was that the crime was not the performance of a skilled burglar, that the stockings which were worn and cut were drawn over the shoulders to muffle the sound of steps; that the traces seen were made by the men when they left the house, and that they intended to steal anything they could lay hands on. Men were seen running down Benedict street, said the lawyer, after the tragedy, and it is the theory of the defence that they doubled on their trail and when the posse came along joined in the pursuit, thus diverting suspicion from themselves. In conclusion, lawyer Joyner said: "The defence will show that the family has done its utmost to bring to justice, the man who entered the house and the whatever may be the theory. Miss May was a woman without an enemy. In her home and in her church she was the affection of all who knew her. She was her brother's companion, her mother's idol, and to the youngest member of the family she was ever helpful. There was no estrangement between any members of the family."

When Mr. Joyner had concluded his address, the witnesses for the defence including neighbors, members of the Fosbury family and Miss Bartholomew, were sworn in a group.

MILNER ADVISES GREAT CAUTION

Must Show Boers That Though Without Independence Are Free

THE CONVOY TRAIN CAPTURED.

London, July 24.—The freedom of the City of London was formally conferred on Lord Milner yesterday in the presence of Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, Right Hon. George J. Goschen, First Lord of the Admiralty Lord Strathcona, and Mount Royal, and many other prominent persons. In an eulogistic speech the Lord Mayor referred to Lord Milner's great work in South Africa. In replying, the Governor of the Transvaal, and Orange River Colony said the steadfastness of British opinion in regard to the war was a great factor in its successful issue. There was, he said, an immense difference between the almost old burghers who were still adhering to their original leaders, and the young men who were harkening to the new. British subjects in the British colonies, he referred to, he general resolve to treat the burghers when the war is over with such generosity as will help them to accept the situation. Lord Milner declared, "We shall show, then, in the words of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, that if they have lost their independence, they have not lost their freedom."

MORE PEACE RUMORS.

London, July 24.—The Daily News understands that peace negotiations are again in progress in London between representatives of the South African colonies and the Government.

BRITISH CONVOY CAPTURED.

London, July 24.—The following dispatch has been received from Lord Kitchener under date of yesterday: "A train from Cape Town with 113 details and stores, was held up, captured and burned at Scheepers, three miles north of Beaufort West on the morning of July 2. "Our casualties were three killed and eighteen wounded. An inquiry is proceeding. "French reports that Grappe, with 300 men, was attacked in the mountains near Crooket by Kriksinger at dawn July 21. The horses scattered. An all day fight followed. Grappe fell back on Mortimer. Our loss was slight. "Beaufort West is 200 miles north of Cape Town on the main line of the railway. "GRANT FOR LORD ROBERTS. "London, July 24.—The London Times says that Lord Roberts will be granted the sum of £100,000 sterling in recognition of his services in South Africa, and to suitably maintain his peerage. An additional estimate will be submitted in Parliament immediately to provide for this.

Report That Papers Are Being Prepared by the Lawyers.

THE CONFERENCE SPOKEN OF

Pittsburg, July 24.—The status of the strike this morning remains unchanged, except for the rumors of intended injunction proceedings, and of efforts being made by disinterested parties to bring the leaders of the two contending forces together with a view of bringing the conflict to a termination by a compromise of some kind. Veryl Preston, former president of the American Steel Hoop Company, and John Warner, of the Carnegie Steel Company, are in the city, and their visit seems to have given rise to the supposition that they have come here to discuss this question with officials of the Amalgamated Association. Reports were in circulation that a conference was held last night, on President Shaffer and Secretary Williams of the Amalgamated Association, were seen on the streets down town at an early hour this morning. When seen to-day both denied that there had been a conference of any kind. So far nothing has been done in the matter of the proposed injunction proceedings against the strikers, but it is understood that the papers are being prepared and the attorneys will offer them in the federal courts within a day or two.

BROKEN HEARTS IN THE YUKON.

Yukon Labor Union Issues a Statement Warning Laboring Men of Their Deplorable State.

ABSOLUTELY SUICIDAL TO GO TO THE TERRITORY

Condition in Regard to Wages Has Become so Acute That a State of Anarchy Now Exists.

Dawson, July 25.—A startling description of the state of the labor market on the Yukon is contained in a letter issued by the Yukon Kipchive and Improvement Union for the information of people outside, and as a warning to intended victims. This document states that the Yukon is evidently no place for the laborer. The minimum wage is $1.00 a day, and the maximum is $1.50 a day. The length of time that a laborer can hope for employment is nine months, and the average is much below that figure. When not working board costs from $20 to $30 per week, and additional expenses foot up nearly as much more. Food and clothing are sold at enormous prices, boots bring from $10 to $12; rubber boots $14 to $20; overalls $2 to $4; cigars 25 cents to 50 cents each; shirts 25 to 50 cents; beer 25 cents to 50 cents per glass; tobacco $1.50 to $2 per pound; laundry 25 cents to 50 cents a piece. A piece of meat from $4 up; a whole from $8 up. Lawyers charge all they can get. Canned goods and bacon, with the staples of life, constitute the food. WHY THEY REMAIN. Laborers continue to remain in this country because most of them are possessed of "wild cat" claims, and some are living in the hopes of selling them out at a price sufficiently large to enable them to leave the country with at least a small start. Formerly, when claims were being worked by the original stakers, $1 per hour was paid, but now, with banks, English capital and grasping shysters as the principal operators of large groups of claims the richest ground is fighting with characteristic capital methods to grind the wages down to less than a living rate, hoping, apparently, thereby to either enslave the white labor or force it from the country and then resort to Chinese. But the price of foodstuffs is maintained. Chinese have not yet afflicted this territory, and we appeal especially to our labor friends of British Columbia to strive to keep us from having to fight this additional enemy. To the merchants who supply the Klondike with the many thousands of dollars worth of luxuries and material used by white men, we appeal for a slaying of this Oriental curse, which will in addition to driving your fellow countryman out of a country that his industry has developed and opened up, reduce the prospects and profits of trade in such things as will not be wanted by the Chinese and Japanese whose sole object will be to live on the poorest of the land, and to return to their native land, thereby causing want and poverty to us and a great loss of trade to our wholesale supplies.

A BAD COUNTRY.

In short, for a laboring man the Yukon country is a good one to stay away from; for a man, with a family, except in specific cases, it is absolutely suicidal to come here expecting to earn anything at wages for the wife and little ones. The Yukon is naturally intended for wild young men, who wish to escape the restraints of civilization and are willing to endure untold hardships in the hope of ultimately striking a claim that will give enough to enable a start in business in the outside world to be undertaken. As far as laboring men are concerned, this country has always been a bad one. Such conditions of interpretations of common law exist that hundreds upon hundreds of cases exist in which a place where a man has produced more than sufficient to pay expenses and still remains worth thousands of dollars, and still, by a process of preferring claims, working on lay or straight refusal to pay, the wages of the miner is refused; all the while a paternal government exacts a license of $10 a year for the privilege of having to submit to such treatment. Things have now reached such an unhappy pass that in the matter of the right of the wage earner to seek redress against an employer who defrauds him of his wage a state of absolute anarchy exists in the Yukon. This condition has become so common an occurrence now as to be almost expected, and has been the cause of hundreds of broken hearts and of thousands of disappointed ones on the outside, who expected the husband and father in the Yukon to send enough to prevent want, at least.

SPAIN NEEDS BRITISH HELP

Gibraltar Question Discussed by Madrid Correspondent.

GERMANY QUIETLY LOOKING ON

London, July 25.—A correspondent of The Daily Mail, writing from Madrid, states that while the warning of Gibraltar about Gibraltar was valuable, his suggested remedy was impracticable. The question now was whether or not Great Britain should continue her defenses at that point. This depended on the attitude of Spain to Great Britain. "On this point," says the correspondent, "I have made most careful inquiries in the best quarters, and the assurances I have received could hardly be more satisfactory. Senior Sergeant's naval programme is a most modest one."

SPANISH POLICY

Spanish Mediterranean policy exists just as far as the Moorish coast, and her attitude towards the "Latin lake" results from the sentiment that makes the Spanish regard Morocco as its rightful inheritance. Ceuta, the Zaffarinas, Albufera are all stations on the Mediterranean shore of Morocco, and no other power has secured foothold there. Forty years ago, when O'Donnell urged Spain to war against Morocco because of the behaviour of the Rifians, whom no Sultan has ever yet controlled, all the Mediterranean coast up to Tangier might have fallen into Spanish hands but for Lord John Russell's interference. Since that time Spain has regarded herself as rightful heir to Morocco, and the feeling has been intensified by the loss of Cuba and the knowledge that France has been working her way into the Moorish country from the Sahara Desert. Now and for many years to come Spain must curb her ambitious and in the meantime she looks for the preservation of the status quo. It would not suit her to find any great power, be it Great Britain or France, installed on the Moroccan coast opposite Spain, and the knowledge that Great Britain is sound upon the question of Morocco's integrity, and that France is to put the matter policy, was undoubtedly a factor to the former country. It may be suggested that, if the Mediterranean corner of Morocco has to pass into the hands of a European power, Spain's establishment there would be more favorably received than that of any other power. INTERESTS IDENTICAL. One area, then, that British and Spanish interests in the Mediterranean corner are identical, that Spain needs the support of Great Britain to prevent interference with Morocco, whose happiness is a matter of moment to an even more than to Spain. MRS. NATION GOES TO GAOL Topska, Kas., July 24.—Mrs. Carrie Nation has been fined $100 and given a thirty-day gaol sentence, by Judge Hamm, in the district court, for disturbing the peace and dignity of the city, by a Sunday "joint" raid last March. There is no appeal, and Mrs. Nation will serve in prison.

TROUBLE BREWS IN CHINA.

Another War Can Only be Prevented by Prompt Action. Tien Tsin, July 24.—Difficulties here consider that the prevention of a speedy resumption of trouble depends entirely upon the firmness displayed by the powers. It is thought that this fact should be recognized in Europe and the United States. The general feeling in Tien Tsin is that China is in no way overawed or intimidated.

Dairy of a Chinese Relief Commissioners Travels Through Shansi.

PEOPLE SELLING THEIR CHILDREN FOR FOOD

The Commissioner Helped to Bury 196 Hunger Victims—Relief Urgently Needed

New York, July 26, 1961—In a recent ten days' journey across the Chinese province of Shansi, one man helped to bury 130 dead bodies, all of them victims of hunger. The man was then victimized himself.

The man was a native Commissioner appointed by the Governor of Shansi to supervise the work of relief.

Dead bodies lying by the wayside or eaten by dogs were not the only evidences of the shadow of the hunger-cloud which the Chinese Commissioner saw.

He met parents selling their children for food, and men who bought and sold boys and girls.

At night 7 o'clock in the morning at Huang-Shang, three o'clock in the morning; saw many dead bodies in the road. The local authority was supervising their burial. In a deserted cave met a boy of about fourteen, dying from hunger. We rescued him and fed him with bread and water. He told us that both his parents and sisters died two days ago. We notified the kind-hearted authorities to bury them, and sent the boy to the hospital. He cried bitterly on his departure, and we all shed

The Commissioners kept a diary of his journey and sent it to his friend, Chow Tse-Chi, Chinese Consul in New York. His Excellency Chow Tse-Chi forwarded a translation to the Christian Herald.

It is an eloquent letter. Its terseness is evidence of the terrible truthfulness of the picture it presents. Its author makes no more attempt at exaggeration than he does at concealment.

1. Did Admiral Schley unnecessarily delay his departure from Cienfuegos for Santiago de Cuba, where he was advised that the Spanish fleet had taken refuge?

2. Was Admiral Schley guilty of reprehensible conduct in issuing orders for and allowing with the squadron under his command to Key West after having been notified that the Spanish fleet had fled?

3. Was the opportunity now given them that it will not be the city's fault. Never before had New York made such extensive provision for summer education work as this year. There are sixteen vacation schools, five summer sessions, twenty-eight playgrounds and eight summer camps, all in one way, and there are nine hundred teachers and women teachers who minister to the children's wants. A little more than a fortnight ago most of the children were enrolled in the summer schools, left the regular schools with weapons and hurrahs for vacation, and now they are back again crowding the doors of the vacation buildings long before the opening of the regular schools. Schley was on board the Brooklyn, which, while very swift, was equipped with comparatively light armor. The light armor was needed to enable her and Schley ordered her to be turned in the direction opposite to that taken by the Spanish fleet, thus making a loop from the rear to the front. The Spanish ships were turning in the opposite direction as they emerged from the harbor. At this turn, the Brooklyn crossed the bows of the Spanish fleet. Admiral Schley's attention was called to the danger of the collision, he was told. He replied that the Texas might look out for herself. He said Admiral Schley has explained that was the loop because he wished to get the rear of the Spanish fleet. Admiral Cervera said that it was his purpose, if possible, to put the

COMING TO PETERBOROUGH.

A branch of the Sanford Manufacturing Co., of Hamilton.

The Times has been informed that a representative of the Sanford Manufacturing Company, of Hamilton, was in town yesterday looking over the ground with a view to opening out a retail branch of their business in Peterborough.

It will be remembered that this Company had a store on the corner of George and Hunter streets, which they named "Oak Hill Clothing Store," and moved some years ago to Apscomb Court.

On account of the impetus given to trade by the creation of new industries, the Company, we might seriously contemplate again opening out here.

It is possible that the Grand Central own property would make first claim on the property of the Government, hope that arrangements may be made by which this property will be thus utilized.

An Old Man States His Case

A Peterborough Resident Tells

New Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets Cured Him.

Those who want evidence of the curative power of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets for all forms of kidney, bladder and urinary troubles of young and old, can easily find plenty of Peterborough people who have been cured by this remedy and who are pleased to speak a word in its favor.

Mr. Robert McClelland, Water St., an old resident, states his case as follows: "I have suffered from constipation and bladder trouble for fifteen years. I heard of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets and secured a bottle, and they have given me great satisfaction. My age, over 70 years, is against me, yet they worked finely with me, and I can highly recommend them."

Remember for the backache, urinary troubles and frequent rising at night, that afflict the aged, there is no better remedy than Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. Price 50 cents a box at all druggists. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

A True Brain Food

It replaces the feeling of lassitude and mental depression, clears the mind, straightens the brain, and gives directly to the brain, that which is needed. The true brain food must be supplied by rich, red blood. If mental fatigue worries and alarms you, look to the brain, but to the stomach and assimilate organs. No remedy yet discovered, possesses the marvelous brain-strengthening power that Ferrozone has demonstrated in the said cases. Ferrozone does not stimulate the brain into a fitful glow, but by improving digestion strengthening the nervous system, stimulating assimilation, giving new life to the heart, it sends a stream of red, vitalizing blood to the brain. Thus it is a true brain food. Ferrozone is sold by Ormond & Walsh.

A RELIC OF MAJUBA HILL

British Sword-Bayonet Lost in That Fight Has Been Recovered.

A relic which is not only of great historic interest, but which was many a time the cause of a very gallant feat of arms, has just been presented by the 3rd Imperial Yeomanry through its gallant commanding officer, Col. G. J. Younghouse, to the royal highness the Prince of Wales, colonel-in-chief of the Imperial Yeomanry.

During Lord Methuen's attack on the Boers, on August 3rd, 1899, Col. Younghouse, who was then in command of the 3rd Imperial Yeomanry, was ordered to lead his men to the front, and to attack the Boers, who were then in a position to cut off the main line of the British army.

LOCAL NEWS LETTERS

MOUNT PLEASANT

The hay crop here is the best the farmers have had for many years past, and they have had the very best weather to help them.

Fall wheat is also extra good, and is nearly all cut and ready for the barn.

Ontario farmers are highly favored this year. High prices for almost everything a farmer has to sell, and a good government to live under, should make the citizens of this great province rejoice.

Mr. T. W. McLean, of the Ontario Institute for the Blind, Brantford, is on a visit to his home. He lately paid a visit to the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo.

Miss Smith of Peterborough, is visiting friends here.

The cheese and butter factory, under the able management of Mr. D. Casey is doing a good business.

Our town is coming to the front - sidewalks and painting are the order of the day.

We are anxiously waiting for the Burleigh Falls Electric power to drive the many manufacturing under consideration.

The road grader is doing good work in the township of Cayuga when I hope will please the owners of roads for Ontario. The gravel used on some of the roads would have been better to have been run through the stone crusher but we hope in the near future to hear of the council purchasing a steam roller and a stone crusher.

OTONABEE

The members of the Council who interviewed Mr. Denniston to replace the old outwards that had been allowed to fall into disuse some years ago on the 7th line between Miller's and Henderson's, reported that Mr. Denniston informed them that they could not be legally replaced, as it would be the same as putting in new culverts.

J. J. Howland was present asking the council to take proceedings under the Drainage Act to have a ditch constructed and creek deepened and widened, commencing at Redmond's and ending on the 11th concession, and running to the Otonabee river.

On motion the council will meet in Peterborough on Saturday to receive the petition and appoint an engineer to look after the construction of the drain.

The following accounts were presented - Thos. Hoffman, gravel, $12.48; Frank Doherty, cedar, $7.80; R. L. Levison, cedar, $2.25; R. L. Nelson, repairing roads, $6.05; gravel, $8.81; cedar, $7.60; John Grady, gravel, $3.08; J. R. Burland, $2.45; J. Fitzgerald, $1.82; Daniel Kelly, $5.50; John Anderson, $6.36; Wm. Drury, $9.40; J. Harrison, $1.76; M. O'Leary, $2.4; J. Short, $6.84; Wm. Hatherly, $10.75; Indian Reserve, $3.15; E. C. Howson, $6.72; D. Kelly, $2.40; John Long, $10.50; W. H. Borland, $2.40; W. O'Ford, $5.50; R. Elmhurst, $30.84; Peterborough Hardware Company, nails, 35c; J. Elmhurst, man and team 1-2 day, $1.80; J. Henry, 1 day, $2.76; J. Benson, 1-2 day, $1.38; D. McFarlane 1 day, $1.62; Dan Hayes, gravel $4; Wm. Doherty, $4; R. Evans, gravel $1; 28 and 27-1/2 ft. John Johnston, repairing road, 76c; Review, advertising, $2; Robt. Wood, cutting hay at Kennedy's swamp, $5.

A communication was received from the Ontario Bank that the balance to the township's credit on July 1 was $108,070. From Dr. Mohr to the Board of Health that there was a case of scarlet fever and one of diphtheria near the beach bridge.

TOO MUCH EDUCATION?

Prof. Starr, of Chicago University, is suffering from a surfeit of higher education. The desire for a college education, he declares, has become a fad, and is not in the majority of cases, inspired by a genuine thirst for knowledge. "Too times too many persons go to college nowadays," says Prof. Starr. "No one should go except for a bona-fide desire to learn. Most people go for some social prestige which a college education confers, or because they are misled by the value which is put on a college degree carries with it in business life. As a result the students at our colleges get only a smattering of scientific knowledge, a false idea of science, and go into the world with wrong notions because they merely dabble in philosophy. Furthermore the average college student commits an outside-like fallacy in swallowing everything that is given him without question. The result is detrimental in its effects on our social and industrial activities and in impeding the mental strength of the country."

Ottawa and Otonabee.

Ottawa and Otonabee, two names with a subtle aroma of romance in their very euphony, the one a Spanish word and the other of Indian origin, are nearly always coupled in describing one of the most beautiful summer resort districts in the famous "Highlands of Ontario." Ottawa means the town, open, the prettiest and most picturesque in all Canada, and Otonabee the lovely lake on whose shores it is built. This was a famous place nearly thirty years ago, but with the destruction by fire of the famous Couchiching Hotel and the opening up of newer and wider regions, there was a slight falling off for some years, though there were still many who came annually to spend their summers on its shores. Of late years there has been a remarkable revival in its popularity, as more people have begun to learn of the not easily equalled combination of attractions offered, fine scenery, capital fishing, a health-giving atmosphere, endless means of amusement, and all the comforts and conveniences that go to make life itself a pleasure, to be had for the asking.

The Grand Trunk Railway System recognizing the unlimited attractions of the district situated in the vicinity of Ottawa and the unequalled facilities for the accommodation of summer tourists, have issued a handsomely illustrated publication dealing with the special features and attractions of the locality. The brochure also touches on some of the attractive spots on Lake Simcoe, Lake Huron and the Severn River. It deals in a truthful spirit with what may be expected by the fisherman and amateur angler. A chapter on the hotel accommodations with a list of hotels and boarding houses and prices per day and by the week is also embodied. It tells how to reach Ottawa and gives authentic information to tourists from the United States regarding custom arrangements. In all it is a most comprehensive pamphlet of invaluable aid to the summer traveler and will be sent free to anyone applying to W. BURNETT, C.P.A., Peterborough.

It Makes Weak Women Strong.

It suffered from female weakness for five months, writes Miss Belle Hedrick, of N.Y. Putnam Co. N.Y. "I was treated by a good physician but he did me no good. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y. for advice, which I received, telling me to take his 'FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION.' When I had used the medicine a month my health was much improved. It has continued to improve until now I can work at almost all kinds of housework. I had scarcely any appetite, but it is all right now. Have gained several pounds in weight. I would advise all who suffer from chronic diseases to write to Dr. Pierce."

ATTACK OF ROYAL CANADIAN

present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The best of the British soldiers on the battlefield are in greater demand than ever. The best of the British soldiers on the battlefield are in greater demand than ever.

We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures - size 20x24, on heavy, superior colored paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian.

At the one called Attack of Royal Canadian, there are literally hundreds of figures on the picture, the soldiers are shown stretching out into the front, and there are a number of men, while here and there a private figure - speaks only too well of the British soldier. It was on this battlefield that the British soldier, sold his life unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of the gallant heroes that lived so high on the cheering banners have been laid to rest in the quiet graves of the world under African skies. To every Canadian there is a picture of the British soldier, the deeds of his brave soldier boys speak with a terrible and terrible truth.

At the Battle of Belmont, charging the River City of Belmont, and the charge of the British soldiers, the deeds of his brave soldier boys speak with a terrible and terrible truth.

THE STRIKE SITUATION

Pittsburg, July 26.—Steel strike developments of the last 24 hours indicate that the company's forces at Wellsville are slowly accomplishing their intention of operating the plant with non-union men. Yesterday afternoon and last night a number of men succeeded in eluding the strikers and getting inside the works, and before the day is over a fourth mill is expected to be in operation. The situation at Wellsville is acute and there is no doubt the condition of affairs there with the rumored injunction proceedings caused President Shaffer to make his mysterious trip to that place yesterday.

At Keosauqua all remains quiet as heretofore. The fact that many of the officials of the mill have left for their summer vacation, has caused the strikers to relax their vigilance in the vicinity of the Duquesne Wood Plant. The strikers seem now almost convinced that no effort will be made to start the mills in the near future. The declaration of Mayor Black that night that he would not permit deputies in the idle mill or allow the city police to guard the company's property has caused a sensation, and the Mayor awakened this morning to find himself the most popular man in western Pennsylvania with the mill strikers. The men of the Boston Iron and Steel Company formed an amalgamated Lodge last night with thirty members. This is considered a great victory for the strikers, as the Boston works has always been considered non-union. There was no change in the status of affairs at Clarke Steel Iron works in this city, or at Lindsay and McCutcheon Allegheny plant. The latter is still closed down in every department. A force of coal and iron and city police guard the boiler property, but everything is quiet.

Pittsburg, July 26.—Two moves, it is reported, were made by the aggressive officials of the American Sheet Steel Company today towards the breaking of the strike. One was the shipping of some of the non-union men that have been employed in the Vandergrift mills of the Company to Wellsville to assist in the starting of the plant there. It was stated that the men were to be shipped to Wellsville during the early evening and would reach there after dark. As a consequence of this report there is a suppressed excitement pervading Wellsville, which at any moment may break out into a serious condition. Both strikers and officials of the company are on the alert and ready for any emergency. The impression is strong tonight that the general officers of the United States Steel Corporation have become determined on the subject of the early breaking of the strike, and to ultimately force the operation of all idle plants.

The second move that is understood to have been initiated today is the starting of the long-idle Hyde Park plant of the American Sheet Steel Company. This plant was taken into the combine burdened with objectionable contracts made by the former owners, and has remained idle since the American Sheet Steel Company took hold of the property. The long idleness of this mill has caused much of the men formerly employed there to leave Hyde Park for other places, and the company believes there will be less difficulty in starting this plant than where the Amalgamated Association has control.

It was apparent, in Pittsburg this afternoon that fresh and decidedly important developments in the strike of the steel workers were about to take place. At the Amalgamated headquarters the two leading officials of the associations were absent during the greater part of the day. It was stated that President Shaffer was away on personal business. The absence of Secretary John Williams was also accounted for in the same manner. The conference held on Tuesday night, which kept President Shaffer and Secretary Williams out until early this morning, remains as mysterious as before. Whatever the object of the meeting, it is believed to have been continued today and much of importance is expected to be developed from the conference.

BRITON AND BOER

London, July 25.—Some most interesting particulars are given in the Cape newspapers just to hand with regard to Commandant Fouché and Krizinger, two of the most prominent leaders of the invaders in Cape Colony, in a full account of the fight which took place at Buffelsfontein between thirty-five men of the Woodhouse Yeomanry and a force of 500 Boers. After fighting bravely for a couple of hours, Captain Clark, who was in command of the patrol, surrendered on terms, Commandant Fouché, who granted the terms, saying, "You are a brave man, and have a brave lot under you. I agree to your terms of surrender, and will see that they are observed." Krizinger was very angry when he heard the terms, and, addressing Captain Clark, said, "You are the man who wanted to bring the Kaffirs to murder us at Lafrasfontein." Captain Clark (cool, calm, and collected), retorted, "You are an infernal liar." Raising his huge jambuk, with which he is used to fling his burghers in order to urge them on to fight, Krizinger roared, "Say that again." "I repeat," calmly and deliberately replied Captain Clark, "that you are an infernal liar, and if you strike me with the jambuk I will pull you from your horse and trample the life out of you." The blusterer was awed and amazed at the bravery of a British captain and a mere handful of men hearing him in this manner in his den.

Commandant Fouché interposed, saying "Captain Clark surrendered to me under certain conditions, and these conditions must be respected." Turning to meet you again upon more equal terms, and then you'll be my prisoner."

Krizinger's command, according to Fouché, consisted mainly of rebels, "the sum of the country, who were never better off in their lives."

The General And The Boer "Baby"

Cape Town, July 27.—A Colonial trooper serving in the Boshof district sends the following appalling instance of British barbarity:—
"Our general the other day visited a farmhouse and interrogated the old vrouw in possession (who had a 140 inch-waist. After some palaver the General said he must search the house for arms and ammunition. The old lady made no demur, merely requesting that her daughter, who she said had just been confined, should be left in her room. But the general was too old a bird to be allured by that kind of chaff, and said he was an old man with children of his own and would go and see the baby. The old lady implored him not to go, as her daughter was still very ill and ought not to be disturbed. His suspicions being more than ever aroused, he went and found in an upstairs room a young woman in bed. Advancing to the bedside, the old ruffian, in his silkiest tones, inquired how the mother and babe were progressing and asked if he might see the latter. The proud mamma replied that it was too cold to expose her offspring to his inquisitive gaze. At this point the old lady, who was dancing around in a perfect ecstasy of apprehension, remarked that the babe was very delicate, and had to be kept under the bed clothes to avoid taking cold. At this the gallant General took a step forward and pulled the bed clothes right off the bed. Lo and behold, in place of the sweet smiling cherub there were six Mauser rifles and several bandoliers filled with cartridges. There was silence for a minute, and then the General, turning round to the old gal of the 140-inch waist, said, 'I suppose, madam, when your time comes it will be a 15-pounder!'

AFGHANISTAN WAR: SEEMS MORE PROBABLE

Britain Preparing For Early Hostilities in the Great Buffer State.

MANY BELIEVE THAT A GREAT WAR IS NEAR.

This Is The Reason Why England Is Withdrawing Seventy-Thousand Men From South Africa.

London, July 29.—The reason assigned for withdrawal of British infantry from South Africa while the republics are still unconquered is that the British government is soon to have need of aiding the heir of its friend and beneficiary the Amir of Afghanistan, a lineal descendant of the historic Dost Mahomet.

Afghanistan is the buffer state which protects British India along an extended and exposed frontier. The treaty with the ruler is substantially the same as that which England made with the Transvaal. The Amir is independent within his territory, but is under obligation to make no compact with any foreign power without England's approval.

The population is about 4,000,000 and the entire male portion above childhood can be turned into an army on a bugle's notice. The area of the country is estimated at 216,000 square miles, chiefly sterile when not irrigated. The inhabitants comprise numerous tribes, mostly nomadic and generally Mohammedan, and liable to war upon one another when not engaged in a common defense or aggression. The country contains mineral wealth and, where irrigated, yields abundant cereal and vegetable crops.

Cabool has factories capable of turning out field guns, rifles and cartridges. The present ruler has made a beginning of modern order, but is opposed to railways, fearing that the Russian bear on one of his flanks or the British lion on the other would use them to the injury of the country. Russia has an heir for the throne as soon as vacated and Great Britain has a rival. The health of the Amir is not good.

England will support the claims of the son of the present ruler, who, Russia holds, obtained the throne by violence and fraud.

ON TRAIL OF THE BENDERS

Think Famous Wanderers Have Been Found.

MANY HORRIBLE DEEDS ENACTED

Topeka, Kansas, July 29.—Four persons, believed to be members of the notorious Bender family, accused of committing nearly forty murders at their home near Galena, Kan., thirty years ago, are believed to have been located near Fort Collins, Colo., and Gov. Stanley has issued requisition papers on the Governor of Colorado to their arrest bringing the suspects to Kansas to stand trial. The first step toward bringing the suspects to Kansas was taken upon the representation of F. Ayers, of Fort Collins, who asserts that one of the quartette, Kate Bender, was once his wife. Governor Stanley issued the requisition upon the authorities of four men who went to Colorado especially to identify the suspects.

The Benders committed a series of the most atrocious crimes ever recorded. They lived on a small farm near Galena, and for years, as it developed after their flight, had lured travellers to their place, murdered them for their money, and buried their bodies in the yard around their home or under the house. The house was arranged with trap doors. All four members of the family were accused of aiding in the murders.

An investigation into the disappearance of a man who had stopped at the Bender house and whose bones were found beneath the building led to their flight one night. A big reward for their arrest was offered by the state, but they were never found.

The Benders, like their neighbors, were squatters on disputed land in Ly Belle county, Kansas, near Cherry ville. It was a new country in 1872, when the Bender crimes were committed. The Osage Indians had recently relinquished it, leaving behind a bad class of whites, whose trade was murder and horse-stealing. The country was full of night-riders, who killed without mercy and upon little provocation, but it was left for this German family to set up a slaughter house for the butchery of travellers who sought the shelter of their roof. The number of their victims will never be known, but they are generally credited with thirty-seven murders. The family consisted of William Bender, aged about 40; his wife, aged about 35; Kate, aged about 20, and John aged perhaps 25. Kate and John were children of William Bender by a former wife. They came to Kansas in December, 1870, and moved into the house in the following January. This house was on a tract 160x200 feet and fronted north. There was a door at either end and the room was divided by a canvas partition drawn tightly over upright stanchions. This partition was the death trap. The victim was decoyed to a seat close against the canvas, and Kate, standing behind the partition, struck him on the back of the head with a hammer.

As Kate moved by people who knew her, she took up the hammer and then, when they were alone, she would strike the victim on the back of the head with the hammer. The victim would fall over the partition and the murderer would then strike him on the back of the head with the hammer. The victim would then be strangled with a rope. The bodies were then buried in the yard around the house or under the house. The house was arranged with trap doors. All four members of the family were accused of aiding in the murders.

A Terrible Hand-To-Hand Encounter With Boers.

BOTH SIDES FOUGHT DESPERATE

London, July 28.—The following communication has been received by a gentleman of Newcastle, whose son is at the front: "We had a terrible night three weeks ago near Linday. We were going along nice and quietly when suddenly the advance guard fell back, and reported a Boer convoy a mile ahead. We got orders to gallop up in front of the guns, which were then shelling them, and we galloped up, the guns dropping shells over our heads about a hundred yards in front of us all the way. We were nearly all the troops of the column in action, and then we were at it—helmet, helmet, sabre, sabre, and felling everything that came in our way. I saw our men shooting between the wheels of the wagons at Boers on the other side. The Boers, seeing that they were outnumbered, threw down their arms and surrendered, but we were not nearly finished yet for the Boer women were shooting down our men, wounded or otherwise, wherever they laid the chance, and they kept hand- ing loaded rifles through the wagons in the leader where we had the men prisoners. One of the Australian Bushmen just lived long enough to tell his chums a horrible tale of barbarism. He had been shot and mortally wounded, and might have lived a few hours, but some Boers who caught sight of him jumped on his chest and broke his neck. Can you wonder at the tigerish ferocity of our men whenever they get to close quarters with such odds? We pulled their wagons and furniture to one side, and made huge bonfires of them. The next morning was a sorrowful time, for we had to dig twenty graves to put our comrades in. Some of them had their faces so much 'beaten' as to be unrecognizable. The Boer prisoners buried their dead on their own side, and he told him it was part of the Boer's custom we had captured, and as we had wounded the Boer in two places during the fight I wish we had killed him."

OWN dead, who, together with the 47 prisoners, brought the grand total up to 200 and 100 wagons, so that we had a good haul that day.

TAKES GIRL AS COMPANION

Captain Andrews and Young Woman to cross Ocean in Small Boat

Atlantic City, N. J. July 29.—Of the many applications received by Captain William A. Andrews of this city as a result of his advertising for a woman to accompany him on his next voyage across the Atlantic ocean in his new fourteen foot boat, the one accepted is from an Atlantic City girl. When asked about the selection of a companion the captain said:—

"I intend to take with me a young nurse of this city. We have shaken hands over the bargain and she is fully determined to go with me. The young woman is Miss Selma Hanson, a pretty brunette, 21 years old, of Atlantic City. Captain Andrews was asked when he intended to start. He replied he would not sail until after the equinoctial storms in September, and that the starting point would be from the end of Young's pier here. He said his boat would be different from any of the previous six, in which he made former voyages."

PRIVATE PARTIES GIVE BIG MONEY

Mme Melba Given 1000 Guineas For Two Performances.

THE RIVALRY OF NEWLY-RICH.

London, July 27.—Never before have musicians and operatic stars received such very large sums for performing in private houses in London as they have done this season. Kubeik, the youthful violinist, is easily the lion of the lot. He never played at a private concert for less than 120 guineas, and generally got 200 and there was scarcely an evening that he was not found at the house of some millionaire. One well-known woman gave a Kubek party each week, and not satisfied with paying the maximum sum for his services, presented the virtuoso with a Stradivarius worth £1,500. Mme. Melba's London agent asserts that she has received 500 guineas a week for appearing at private parties, which works out at about 125 guineas per song. Paderewski got 1,000 guineas for two performances in houses on Carlton House terrace. In many cases these large sums were paid by Americans.

RICH HARVEST FOR ARTISTS.
An agent who generally supplies these luxuries to London's millionaires said, in the course of an interview, that only a few years ago all the leading artists must be secured for a private party for what one now demands. "Performers," he added, "received far more for this class of entertainment, which is organized for newly-rich people, who wish to outdo each other, than they get for public appearances."

Never Say Die.

You may be weak, miserable, nervous, sleepless, your digestion may be poor and you despair. Never say die until you have used Ferrone's the most wonderful blood maker, nerve strengthener and brain invigorator. It tones up the whole system. BLOOD SACRIFICE IN A GRAVE YARD

Three Chinese of Stratford Take Oath of Innocence.

THREE CHICKENS WERE KILLED.

Stratford, July 27.—Last Monday morning there was a strange scene enacted in St. Mary's cemetery, beside the last resting place of the late Charlie Louie. It will be remembered that Lee Sing, Sam Hing, and Lee Chong, who were in the employ of John Sing, passed up $10 each as a protest of innocence to John Sing, on account of the disappearance of a certain sum from their employer's treasury.

John offered to make good on certain conditions. The three Chinamen were to take an oath of innocence, and in Chinese demands a graveside sacrifice in blood.

That's why there were heathen rites enacted in the city of the dead the other morning. Kneeling at the head of Charlie Louie's grave, Lee Chong read over an oath in Chinese. As the sound of the incantations died away he gripped his head and black and eddipitated it. The blood was allowed to enrich the soil over the remains of their late lamented friend, Charlie. Lee Sing and Sam Hing did likewise.

John Sing was present, so was Chief of Police Young. Inspector Coppin, Mitchell, and several others. After the chickens had given their last kicks, John Sing passed over three ten dollar bills to Chief Young with instructions to hand one to each of the three sacrificial victims. This was done and the crowd then left the cemetery.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES

LACROSBY

Oshawa defeated Port Hope on Friday by a score of 8 to 2. The game is reported as being dirty and rough. Oshawa failed to produce a number of certificates and consequently the game was played under protest. The Victorian lacrosse team are requested to turn out to practice in full force tonight.

SPREAD OF STEEL STRIKE THREATENED

Contest Now Expected to Affect the Furnaces of the Mahoning and Shenango Valleys.

FURNACE ASS'N SOLD PRODUCE TO STEEL MEN

This Fact Was Taken Up By The Strikers Will Probably be the Cause Of An Extension Of The Strike.

Pittsburg, July 24.—The Post says: A serious spread of the steel strike is now threatened in an unexpected quarter. From the sheet steel, hoop and tin mills the contest is expected to reach out into the furnaces in the Mahoning and Shenango valleys, and cause a complete shut-down of those plants. It would throw many hundreds of men out of employment, and curtail the production of raw material, as well as the finished lines. From these furnaces it is believed that the danger will threaten with greater force than ever the union mills of the National Steel Company throughout Ohio. It is not thought at that point the same spirit of unionism is feared to be strong enough to reach once more into Homestead and Duquesne. When it was announced yesterday that the Bessemer Furnace Association had sold all of its product for August to the United States Steel Corporation the fact was at once taken up by the Amalgamated Association, being the early portion of the present year the American Federation of Labor has had organizers at work among the furnace men in the two valleys. They have succeeded in getting together all of the furnace men in the various plants of the association, and forming lodges of the federation, with large membership. Under an agreement with President Shaffer of the Amalgamated Association, this work of organization was arranged in such a way that whenever it became necessary in case of a strike, the Federation of Labor was to be prepared to turn over all of those furnace lodges as well as all other lodges it had in the iron and steel trade, to the Amalgamated Association. The fact that the Bessemer Valley Association is now doing this work with the open consent of the Amalgamated Association opens the way for the carrying out of the programme of the Amalgamated Association for claiming help of the lodges of the federation at this critical time in its behalf. To take in these lodges and obtain their support for the strike will be the work of a few days.

In the meantime the union men in the works of the National Steel Company have been restless ever since the strike began. They have, according to President Shaffer, been kept at work in the mills with the greatest difficulty. If the furnace men came out in order to shut off the supply of Bessemer pig to the United States Steel Corporation, it is believed that further delay in ordering the strike at these mills will be impossible.

HANDBALL

The Peterborough ball team suffered defeat from the Kingston Ponies on Saturday afternoon on the P.A.A.A. Grounds by a score of 16 to 5. The Ponies are one of the best amateur teams in the Province and play good clean ball. The Peterborough nine were certainly off and had it not been for a series of errors on the part of the players the runs piled up against them would not have been nearly so many, as the majority of runs were got on errors of basemen or fielders. Both McCabe and Kahoe pitched and received poor support.

The Peterborough ball team are arranging for a week's tour taking in Port Hope, Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston and Lindsay.

One of the attractions at Jubilee on Saturday afternoon will be a baseball match between the West Ends and Auburns. Both these teams are in the peak of condition and the match ought to prove a great drawing card. The performance of Flaherty of the Auburns at Port Hope, last Wednesday, is sure to be repeated. The West Ends are determined to win a game after losing to the Elms of Amherstham. It will certainly be a case of Greek meeting Greek.

A REVIEW OF THE FAMOUS HOMESTEAD STRIKE OF 1892.

The famous Homestead strike, which ranked next in importance to the present strike among the steel workers, began at midnight on July 15, 1892, when nearly 1500 workmen, who had toiled all night long, went out to their work. They were put out of employment. The scale of wages in force expired at that hour, and in all the mills, the proprietors of which had not signed the scale for the ensuing year, work ceased entirely.

During the first stage of the strike all was quiet at Homestead, and in Pittsburgh, the streets were filled with idle men, but the rest of order prevailed. However, prompt measures were taken by the Carnegie firm to prevent any damage being done by the strikers. Their property was surrounded with pipes filled with water to squirt on the men in case of an attack by mobs. This action on the part of the firm then regarded as contemptuous and unwarranted.

A DESPERATE CONFLICT.

Things went quietly along until early in the morning of July 16, when the locked-out men, who had been waiting for some time, came into conflict with the Pinkerton men, against whom an avowed hatred had been worked up. When the tug came, they were met by a firm resistance from the men, and a battle followed. The Pinkertons opened fire and at the first volley two workmen fell, and the enraged crowd and they bore down upon the Pinkertons with stones and clubs. Nobody stopped to enquire who the persons were. After the exchange of shots the crowd grouped on the bank and rushed toward the ferry railroad bridge, where they stood their guard and returned a desultory fire, with their revolvers at the hip, and the plucky band, finding their weapons ineffective, slowly fell back before the withering fire of the Winchester. The first man to fall was Martin Merz, a heater in one of the mills, who was fired upon from the bridge. Close beside him stood a big Hungarian. He stood over Merz's prostrate body, and as he was in the act of raising him he was also shot.

PINKERTONS REPULSED

A second attempt was made to land and before doing so the officer in charge announced to the crowd of workmen that the banks that his men were fired upon and he would land them if he had to move down every man in sight. He then ordered his men to advance, and as they advanced from the bridge they were met by a shower of lead from the rifles and pistols of the workmen. The officers fell back for an instant, as if repulsed, and marching eight abreast, endeavoring to get ashore. They were driven back again, however. The captain of the tug and one Pinkerton were killed in this encounter, and six workmen, including one John Morris, whose loss was a great one, were wounded, and children were now running through the streets crying for revenge and for blood. Oil was poured out on the water with a view to setting fire to the barge, and the tug was fired upon from their position. A cannon was placed on the bank by the men and the barge was rammed on all sides. The Pinkertons then withdrew several of them having been killed. Capt. F. H. Horn, in charge of them, was wounded and taken to a hospital in Pittsburgh. In an interview he said he did not know much about the strike, but had been ordered to protect the property and he did so the best he knew how.

APPEAL TO THE STATE

Sheriff McCleary wired the Governor of the State for troops, relating the serious state of affairs. The Governor answered that the local authorities had to maintain every means at their command to suppress the trouble before he would give state aid.

Finally in the afternoon the Pinkertons displayed a white flag and a committee of workmen went aboard to settle terms. The men guaranteed safety for them, they were killed and taken to a munition behind and agreed to leave the place under guard. They accepted the terms. While being escorted through the streets each in charge of two deputies, they were kicked and struck with stones by the strikers. The unfortunate detectives begged for mercy. Some had pistol shot wounds in their heads and three were seen who had their eyes shot out. One had an eye punched out by an umbrella in the hands of a woman. The mill men used the stocks of their rifles on them, inflicting bloody, and in some cases, fatal injuries. About 100 were injured in this way. The Pinkertons were taken to the Pittsburg jail, and formally charged with murder. They were afterwards sent to New York.

In the battle 11 workmen and nine detectives were killed and 18 workmen and 21 detectives wounded.

In the U. S. Senate a resolution was proposed for the appointment of a select committee to investigate by whom and why the Pinkerton detectives were employed and what legislation was necessary to prevent their further unlawful employment. The resolution was left over.

The Advisory Committee on July 18th decided to offer no resistance to the mill-occupancy of the town or the Carnegie property. A detachment of troops was being sent to guard the works.

There came reports from Chicago that organized labor was forming military companies to combat Pinkertons when the next clash between capital and labor occurred. The movement, however, never materialized.

HEARD ON CARNEGIE

Mr. Andrew Carnegie was in Aberdeen at this time, and on hearing of the strike, said: "The strike is most deplorable, and the news of the disaster grieves me more than I can tell you. It came on me like a thunderbolt. In a clear way, I must positively decline to enter into any discussion as to the merits of either side of the case. All I will say is that the strike and not take place in the old Carnegie works, but the difficulty has been entirely in the recently acquired works."

The cause, employing this statement, says: "Millionaires have never taken kindly to Mr. Andrew Carnegie, although they have accepted with apparent thankfulness the new houses and other good things which he has given them. The fact is Mr. Carnegie has preached too much with his giving."

The militia ordered out was the entire National Guard of Pennsylvania, numbered 4000. Instead of offering resistance the militia welcomed the militia with brass bands and other ceremonies. A committee was appointed to duck any person in the street who would show disrespect to the soldiers.

CAUSE OF DISAGREEMENT

H. C. Fryck, Chairman of the Carnegie Company, in his testimony before the Congressional Investigation Committee, said he supposed reduction by the company only affected 25 out of the entire 3500 employees, while the scale submitted by the men called for an increase in almost every instance. The proposed reductions were based on the decline in prices during the three years previous. The wage reduction was about 15 per cent. He declined to give the cost of production per ton.

ALMOST ASSASSINATED.

After this an attempt was made to assassinate Fryck and to poison his family. He was shot and severely wounded. It was thought to have been the work of an anarchistic plot. His family and coachman nearly succumbed from the effects of poison in food they had eaten. A number of foremen and others left the mill about this time under fear of being shot.

MANNING OF THE MILLS

One month after the commencement of the strike matters looked rather discouraging, so far as the lock-out men were concerned, about 75 men were working in the mill. These men were receiving threatening letters daily from the strikers.

For two or three months after this the men gradually returned to their places in the mill. On October 5 the fences that had been put around the mills for protection were torn down by the firm, and the two or three hundred strikers who were around at that time gradually disappeared. The strike was ended and organized capital had triumphed over organized labor.

STEEL STRIKE HAS COST $6,515,000

Pres. Shaffer Refuses to Talk as to The Reports of a Settlement of the Great Labor Struggle

SETTLEMENT IS BELIEVED TO BE NEAR AT HAND

Officials of the Corporations Are Anxious to End the Strike—A Gain For The Workers in Sight.

Pittsburg, July 29.—The Pittsburgh general strike of the Carnegie Steel Company has now entered its eighth day, and the reports of a settlement of the strike are becoming more numerous. The steel strike, which has cost the Carnegie Steel Company $6,515,000, is believed to be near at hand. The officials of the corporations are anxious to end the strike, and a gain for the workers is in sight.

IN GOOD HUMOR.
President Shaffer and Secretary Williams were both early at the Amalgamated headquarters this morning and in rare good humor. They said that the strike was being handled in a very satisfactory manner, and that the workers were in good humor. They also said that the strike was being handled in a very satisfactory manner, and that the workers were in good humor.

TO RAISE HALF A MILLION.
New York, July 29.—Resolutions advocating the raising of a half million dollars, a defense fund and other things bearing on the steel and other strikes were discussed at a meeting of the Central Federated Union of New York yesterday. The resolutions will be voted on next Saturday. They advocate also the retention of a lawyer who shall be paid a sufficient fee to the above the cost of the strike, and who shall be called upon to attend all cases in the courts in behalf of organized labor throughout the country.

SHAFER ROAMS IN DISGUISE

Strike Leader Wore False Beard and Mill Clothes.

AND STUDIED THE SITUATION.
Pittsburg, July 29.—For hours Pittsburgh was virtually a closed city to the whereabouts of President Shaffer, and it was naturally surmised that he had gone to New York to settle the differences between the men and the Trust with Mr. J. P. Morgan. Color was added to this theory by the fact that until one o'clock yesterday morning Mr. Shaffer had been in conference with mysterious persons at the hotel where he has heretofore met the manufacturers.

At light came late last night, when word was received that Mr. Shaffer had been at Wellville, Ohio, in disguise, to direct the efforts of the strikers against the steel mill. It is probably the most eccentric thing a strike leader ever did. Emulating the example of King James, Prince Otto and other famous men, of history and fiction, Mr. Shaffer decided to visit the scene incognito in order to get a good idea of the situation without his presence being known to either steel managers or strikers.

IN A THEATRICAL MAKE-UP.
He took the half-past two o'clock train. He was dressed in his rolling mill raiment and carried an old carpet bag and a cotton umbrella. Over one eye was a black patch and he wore a profuse false beard. He had been carefully prepared by the make-up man of a local theatre.

Mr. Shaffer's trip to Wellville was prompted by the report that nine non-union men had been sent to work in the steel mill and that the authorities were about to use the law on the

THE SAMPSON AND SCHLEY SQUABBLE

Cause of the Trouble Between the Admirals.

POPULARITY VERSUS "PULL."

New York, July 29.—The truth or falsity of the accusations against Rear Admiral Schley is to be definitely determined at last, and the appointment of Admiral Dewey as president of the court gives assurance that justice will be done. The people of this country have such absolute faith in the honesty and intelligence of Admiral Dewey that any verdict rendered by a court in which he presides will be universally respected. Some persons, however, think that Congress will be called upon to settle the case finally.

The appointment of Rear Admiral Sampson as Commander-in-Chief of the U. S. naval forces constituted Rear Admiral Schley's first grievance; the latter was given an independent command, that of the Flying Squadron, and left well until Commodore's fleet arrived in the West Indies. Then Sampson and Schley were subjected to hostile criticism, Sampson in the newspapers and Schley in the Naval Department, where Sampson was strongly upheld.

Schley was fortunate enough to be in command of the squadron which fought at Santiago, and took command. A month of blockade duty followed, and then Schley had another stroke of good fortune. Admiral Sampson went out with the cruiser New York in command, and while the commander-in-chief was away Schley came out with his ships, and the battle of Santiago was fought. No one man was entitled to any special credit for the brilliant victory there won, in a few minutes, for the captain of each vessel acted as he thought best without any specific orders from either Sampson or Schley, but Schley was the actual commander in the light and Sampson was only the nominal commander arriving upon the scene after the action was over, or just as it ended.

There would have been no trouble whatever over the matter, for there was glory enough in the victory for all, had not Sampson, in making official report of the battle, taken the whole credit thereof and ignored Schley completely. The American people resented this, and hence arose the deplorable Sampson-Schley controversy. The Navy Department and the President continued to support Sampson as opposed to Schley. Every officer concerned in the fight was promoted, the commander-in-chief receiving the first promotion, Schley the second, and so on.

But Schley's friends objected to this; confirmation of the nominations was delayed for a long time, and ultimately Sampson was deprived of the honors that would have been his had the controversy not arisen. Sampson's friends, however, were not idle. They attacked Schley with unexampled violence, which is reflected in Edgar Stanton Mallery's history, where Schley is denounced as a traitor, a liar, and coward, and held up to the scorn of his countrymen.

Briefly, the charges against Schley are these: 1.—That, instead of going on to Santiago, he lingered for several days at Genoa, without ascertaining that Cervera was not there, until the arrival of Capt. McCall. But the reason for this delay had just been disclosed by Rear-Admiral Rubley D. Evans, who says that all the captains had been given a code of signals, with which to communicate with the Cuban rebels on shore except the captain of the Brooklyn and Commodore Schley. Why Schley was kept in ignorance of the signals and code of the rebels is a question of equity to come before the court.

2.—That, having almost reached Santiago, he turned back, disobeying an order to go on, and, but afterward making excuses and returned. This makes answer by producing a letter from Sampson, omitted from the official correspondence published, in which Sampson expressed the opinion that if Cervera had been at Santiago, he would have come out and met the fleet, and that he was directed by Commodore Schley to guard Cervera.

3.—That, in the battle, the Brooklyn was fired from the rear and it was necessary to go back again. The Brooklyn made a beautiful turn and was then able to fire directly into the bows of the leading ship of the rebels, as they came out of the harbor. Captain Cook thought it possible that the Brooklyn would be destroyed in this attempt, but believed that the light would hold the Spanish ships until the American battleships should come up and take them with their heavy guns. The statement that the Brooklyn in turning ran two miles south was outrageously incorrect.

MOVE AGAINST CATHOLIC ORDER

Bishop Janssen Forbids Knights of Columbus to His Jurisdiction

MAY SEND AN APPEAL TO ROME

New York, July 29.—One of the remarkable developments of the present generation of American Catholics is the extraordinary success and growth of the Knights of Columbus, a society of a sort of diluted masonry in character founded in a little Connecticut town in 1882. Up to this time it has gone along unchecked, but now one member of the Catholic hierarchy has made a move against its further progress.

Bishop John Janssen, of Belleville, Ill., is said to have notified the priests of his diocese that he does not wish the Knights of Columbus established within his jurisdiction and prohibits the organization of any of their councils under their auspices or with their hierarchy will follow his example. It is probable that the move will result in sending an appeal to the tribunal of last resort at Rome and obtaining a decision as to the standing of this society which at present seems to hold out very special attractions for Catholics.

Membership in secret societies is forbidden to Catholics by the Church. A Catholic may not join a society whose ends and aims are kept secret from him until he is in full participation in it having taken its oath and pledges. He may not take an obligation to obey, the will of another blindy, whether that other be an individual or an aggregation of individuals in a lodge or fraternity. He may not associate himself with a movement in which, even though the ends be laudable and open, he has no knowledge of the means to be employed to achieve those ends.

The philosophical standards used are that if the ends aimed at are good there is no need of secrecy. If the means to be employed are licit there is no need of secrecy and the Church expressly forbids the abdication of free will of the taking of obligations to obey regulations of which one is yet in ignorance.

The Knights of Columbus restrict membership to Catholics in good standing. That is, applicants for membership must have complied with the rule of the Church about the reception of the sacraments at the stated and prescribed times; but it is alleged that in the zeal of their earlier days of the organization strict compliance with this rule was not always attained.

The society has 30,336 insured and 38,266 associate members.

There is a feeling of uneasiness in the Catholic hierarchy in regard to the growth of the Knights of Columbus, and it is believed that the move against the society is a result of this feeling. The Knights of Columbus are a very popular organization, and it is believed that the move against them is a result of this popularity.

PETTY REVENGE OF MR. BROODRICK

Places the Daily Mail Under The Ban Owing to Vlakfontein.

LORD KITCHENER'S SUCCESSOR

London, July 30.—The quarrel between The Daily Mail and the War Office relative to the divulgence of the shooting of prisoners at Vlakfontein, and other matters, has resulted in the Secretary for War notifying the conductors of the paper that they henceforth will not be supplied with official news issued by the War Office. Mr. Broodrick adds that he has warned the news agencies not to supply The Daily Mail.

It seems that Mr. Broodrick has reasons to believe that certain information appearing in the Mail regarding General Kitchener's supposed rearrangement of the army was obtained from documents purloined from the War Office, and it is on this that the stoppage of official communications is based. The Mail, however, insists that it has been cut off from this source of news in revenge for revealing the Government's suppression of the facts in connection with the Vlakfontein affair. It says that other newspapers will come to its support, enabling it to defeat Mr. Broodrick, and it prints today a despatch, issued on Sunday, showing that it has access to the War Office communications.

Consequently The Mail prints a letter from one of its correspondents detailing his difficulties with the censor over his Vlakfontein despatch, and incidentally hinting that both General Kitchener and Mr. Broodrick lied. The correspondent remarks that "the reason for the suppression of the truth about Vlakfontein is to disguise the character of the ruffians in the Boer ranks, to conciliate whose is now the Government's chief anxiety."

BOER CAVES FOUND.
Pretoria, July 30.—Col. Barrett has had a successful skirmish near Verreugse. His force captured 25 Boers and a number of cattle and waggon. On July 1st, 1901, the number of Boers captured, wounded or surrendered was 1,084. Caves that were occupied by Boers have been discovered in the Lydenburg district. They were hurriedly vacated by the Boers when the British approached. The caves were well furnished and stocked with provisions. A quantity of silks and satins were also found in them, a fact which suggested that these were looted from stores. A military census will be taken on July 31.

KITCHENER MAY RETIRE.
London, July 30.—It is freely rumored that Major-General Neville G. Lyttelton will succeed Lord Kitchener as Commander-in-Chief of the forces in South Africa. Lord Kitchener is likely to be retired, and it is believed that the end of the war is at last actually in sight, so that General Lyttelton's task will be more passive and administrative than his predecessor's. General Lyttelton did good work under Sir Frederick Buller in the early days of the war, but Lieut. General Forster and Major-General Buller are both senior to him. Neither of them are, however, likely to be appointed, and it must be said in favor of the choice of General Lyttelton that he has already distinguished himself in civil life.

MISERY AND SUFFERING.
London, July 30.—The war news remains a record of misery and suffering from two fighting races, each with its innumerable power of endurance. The Boers are credited with a success in forcing Delany's force to evacuate Beaufort's and fight its way to Tlengbobo, in Swaziland. This incident shows that the Boers are still a powerful force. The operations against Viljoen north of Middleburg, have been more successful than the official despatches have indicated, and four columns co-operated well in harassing the Boers. The Western Transvaal is tolerably quiet and few incidents are reported from the Orange River Colony. General French's campaign south of the Orange River is making slow progress, and the moral effect of the successes based upon Cape rebels is not yet apparent. The most hopeful word brought by General Buller is that the war cannot last longer than three or four months. This is not reassuring tidings for a nation sighing for peace.

KILLED BY ENRAGED MOTHER.
Indiana Contractor Who Killed Daughter Shot Dead by Her Mother.
Phebblyville, Indiana, July 26.—William Gray, commonly known as "Billy" Gray, a contractor and builder, was shot and instantly killed this afternoon by Mrs. Mark Frieze at the Red Mills, ten miles north of this city. Mrs. Frieze, in company with her husband, drove from Franklin, Ind., where he resides, to the place where Mr. Gray was working. She whipped out a revolver and fired, the ball taking effect in his right side and passing through his heart. He struggled, stepped two steps and fell, when she placed the revolver near his head and shot him through the neck. Gray had been keeping company with Mrs. Frieze's daughter, but unexpectedly married another girl, which enraged Mrs. Frieze. She and her husband are in jail and refuse to talk about the crime.

SATISFACTORY COM- MUNICATIONS WITH CHINA

Mr. H. W. Frost of the China Inland Mission, Re- turns After a Long Tour in the Orient.

COUNTRY SAFE FOR MISSIONARIES AND TRADERS

Even in Provinces Where Outrages Were Committed the Signs Were Favorable—Benefits of the War.

Toronto July 30.—Mr. H. W. Frost, of the China Inland Mission, returned to the city on Saturday after spending several months in China and visiting Palestine and England on his way home. Mr. Frost speaks most optimistically of the present outlook of things in China, although he feels the folly of anyone attempting to prophesy regarding the future course of events as there are elements in the situation which might produce directly opposite results. At present, however, the condition of affairs in the Yangtze Valley is most satisfactory, and the country is already safe for both missionary and commercial enterprise. The firm and favorable attitude of the Yangtze Viceroy to foreigners, all through the recent disturbances and the control of the leaders over the people assures the foreigners of safety in this region. Besides this, the under-mundane who are also friendly to foreigners and have asked the missionaries to return, promising protection. As a result, many missionaries have already returned and the work is making good progress; so that if the viceroys remain firm in their policy, all will go well as far as the Yangtze Valley is concerned.

THE OUTRAGES.
As regards the provinces in which the outrages against foreigners were committed, viz., Hunan, Szechuan and Chihli, Mr. Frost believes that Sir Ernest Satow and the other ambassadors are right in insisting that there must be official acknowledgment of the wrong done, and official reinstatement of missionaries before they will return there. For this the time has not yet come, and no entrance must be deferred.

N. S. GARLAND PASSES AWAY

Accountant of the Finance De- partment Died Sunday.

AN AUTHORITY ON BANKING

Ottawa, July 29.—Nicholas Murray Garland, P.S., accountant of the Finance Department, died yesterday at the family residence, 362 Albert street. He had been ill for three months. Deceased was in his 67th year, and a son of the late Wm. Garland, of North Gower, one of the pioneers of Carleton county. In his younger days Mr. Garland was in business in Ottawa, but was appointed to a position in the civil service in 1870. He was one of the leading accountants in Canada, and enjoyed a reputation outside of his own country. He had been a member of the Institute of Accountants of England and France. In addition to his professional duties, Mr. Garland devoted considerable time to literary work with marked success. He compiled a Parliamentary Companion, and was the author of a work entitled "Banks, Bankers and Banking," which is a recognized authority on the subject. He also published a work on building and loan societies. He looked a deep interest in trade matters, and was Secretary of the Ottawa Board of Trade for many years. The deceased was connected with several leading families of Carleton county.

PREFERS DEATH TO BRIDE.

Clinton, Iowa, Man Browned Himself at the Altar Set for His Wedding.

Clinton, Iowa, July 29.—The remains of James Kinkadee, a well-known young man of this city, were taken from the Mississippi river today. Last night at 8 o'clock he was to have been married to Miss Alfreda Peetz. After making the necessary preparations, Kinkadee left home at 7 o'clock. His failure to arrive at the home of the bride at the appointed hour caused anxiety, which resulted in a search for the missing man. No trace was found, however, until this morning when a bat, shoes and clothing, afterwards identified as those of Kinkadee, was discovered on a raft moored at Lamb's sawmill. Dragging for the remains was immediately commenced, resulting in the discovery of the body. White suicide is apparent, no reason can be given for the act.

I GUESS I WILL GUESS.

Every person buying a ticket for the Printers' Excursion to Jubilee, will be given a chance of winning a China tea set, valued at $10.00, by guessing the number of beans in a jar in the window of the Peterborough Book Store. All ticket holders to write their names on the back of their tickets and also the number of their guess. Tickets are sold at 50c to avoid overcrowding. For other prizes see window of the Peterborough Book Store.

Two Girls Killed May Be from Strangely.
Elizabeth, N.Y., July 29.—Grace Haiman, 18 years old, has for five days suffered intense pain from an attack of hemorrhage which seized her last Friday night. She lives with Mrs. Cornelius De Forney, Walter's father, and medical assistance has proved futile. Her hemorrhaging is very bad, and it is feared she will choke to death. She was taken to a hospital last night. The doctors say the case is a very rare one. A similar case, that of Miss Alice Neil Jones, is reported from Delaware, N.J.

Mother and Son Felt from Window.
New York, July 29.—Mrs. Alice O'Keefe felt from the window of her home at Paterson, N.J., last night. Her young son saw her fall, and trying to reach the window, he was killed. He also fell.

DISCUSSING SETTLEMENT OF STRIKE

The meeting of the Federation was long one, and there was much heated argument, but when the resolution came to a vote nearly every delegate present voted in favor of the strike. The following day the workers appeared, comprising all the workers on the port-front:

Tried Dr. Pitcher As a Last Resort.

A Toronto Lady's Experience With This Famous Specialist's Backache
Kidney Tablets.

For many years in the hospitals of Detroit and as professor of Genito-Urinary Diseases in Michigan College of Medicine of that city, Dr. Zina Pitcher gave careful thought and consideration to diseases of the kidneys, bladder, and urinary system.

So profoundly impressed was he with the fact that many thousands of people suffer from some form of kidney derangement, who were unable to avail themselves of the services of a specialist, that he decided to give to humanity at large his famous prescription for Kidney Diseases, under the name of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

It is of these tablets that Mrs. May Goddard, 333 Adelaide street west, Toronto, speaks in the following terms—
"After enjoying the most perfect health for many years I was a sore trial for me to realize that my health was failing. I had, in the first place, acute pains in the small of my back, and was losing flesh rapidly. Then other complications arose, which so weakened me that it was only with the greatest amount of determination that I could attend to my work. I tried a number of remedies and consulted several physicians without obtaining more than temporary relief, and as a last resort I tried Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets as so often a case at all druggists or sent by mail."

onto, Ont.

REGIMENTAL ORDERS.

By Lieut. Col. Edwards of 57th Regiment—
More Attention to Shooting.

The following orders have been issued by Lieut. Col. E. B. Edwards, Commanding Officer, 57th Regiment:

Headquarters, Peterborough
July 28th, 1901.

Order by Lieut. Colonel E. B. Edwards,
Commanding 57th Regiment, P. I.

1. Company officers are required to see that each member of their respective Companies shall before the end of August have fired at least from 40 to 80 rounds at the target, and to send in their target returns for at least 40 rounds by the date named.

2. An officer or competent non-commissioned officer must be present to act as instructor for the men of each Company and to superintend their shooting.

3. Where necessary in special cases arrangements should be made to have men shoot before seven in the morning or after six in the evening.

4. For recruits who find it difficult to get out to the ranges in the day time, the first training may be given in the morning at the target, but in no case should the regular target practice be altogether omitted.

5. A special report must be made up to each case (if any) where the target practice is not done in accordance with the foregoing orders.

By order,
D. WALKER, Lieut. Adjutant.

In connection with the accompanying orders the attention of Company officers is specially directed to the training of the members of their Companies in the shooting, and the first and most important branch of the annual training. No officer who neglects this part of the drill can be considered to be doing his whole duty, and no man who shoots can be deemed to be serving as an efficient volunteer who will not, or cannot give the time to learn to shoot. A man might just as well after joining refuse to turn out for the ordinary Company or Battalion drill, as to refuse to turn out for target practice.

D. WALKER, Lieut. Adjutant,
Commanding 57th Regt.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

The entire object of true education is to make people not do the right things, but enjoy the right things—Ruskin.

There is a transcendent power in example. We reform others unconsciously when we walk uprightly—
Wm. Swetchnie.

I fell into the habit years ago of talking with God, and it became so natural that in all my open places, I do it without thought—Horace Bushnell.

If you want to be miserable think about yourself, about what you want, what you like,—what respect people ought to pay you and what people think of you—Charles Kingsley.

Life strikes many an unheralded, prophetic little note. A word, a trivial happening, gives hint like a theme in music, of something that is to be more or less recurrent all the way along—
A. D. Whitney.

A psalm which cultivates the spirit of gratitude is a psalm which we ought often to read. If we were more grateful both our joy and our sorrow would be increased. Gratitude is born in the heart which takes the time to count up past mercies—Charles E.
Jefferson.

Man is no better than a leaf driven by the winds until he has conquered his lonely duties. This makes a man —the habit of confronting great things in solitude, and chiefly the habit of conversing with God alone, and of filling the soul with his strength—
John Puleston.

There is no music in a "rest" that I know of, but there's the making of music in it. And people are always missing that part of the life, and always talking of perseverance and courage and fortitude; but patience is the finest and most perfect part of fortitude, and the rarest too—Ruskin.

Be cheerful; do not brood over failures unrealized until a chain, link after link, is fastened on each thought and wound around the heart. Nurture intended you to be the fountain spring of cheerfulness and social life and not the traveling monument of de-pair and melancholy—Arthur Helps.

Foodless and faulty are we, yes, but our follies and our faults are not the main facts. This is the "good news of God," that in every man he sees something a great deal more important than the man's sinfulness. Sin clouds our view of ourselves; it does not obscure the Father's sight of his child. When a sense of his chang-less goodness reaches us it is like a sunbeam; the cloud vanishes before it, and we are left in the light of his love. We ought also to love one another—Charles G. Ames.

FROM THE BEST THINKERS.

Let a man learn as early as possible to confess his ignorance, and he will be a gainer by it in the long run; otherwise the trick by which he kills his ignorance from others may become a habit by which he conceals it from himself, and learns to spend his whole life in an element of delusive show, to which no reality corresponds—John Stuart Blackie.

What are the hopes of man? Old
Egypt's king,
Cheops, erected the first pyramid.
And largest, thinking it was just the thing

To keep his memory whole and mummy lid.
But somebody or other rummaging,
Burgleously broke his coffin's lid.
Let not a monument give you or me hopes,

Since not a pinch of dust remains of Cheops.

Every man in his lifetime needs to thank his faults. As no man thoroughly understands a truth until he has contended against it, so no man has a thorough acquaintance with the hindrances or talents of men, until he has suffered from the one, and seen the triumph of the other. We need the want of the same—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Man dwells apart but not alone,
He walks among his peers unread;
The best of thoughts which he hath known

For lack of listeners are not said, —Jean Ingelow.

CURIOUS FACTS

There is no good in praying for anything unless you will also try for it—
Henry Van Dyke.

The Russian form of salutation is brief, consisting of the single word
"praval," said to sound like a sneeze.
The Otabe islander will twist the end of the departing guest's robe and then solemnly shake his own hand.

Very young lambs are as like as peas in a pod to everything, except the noes of their mothers. A hundred ewes at pasture, with lambs of the same size, will make no mistake about their children—that is, if the children have once been with their mothers.

Sometimes it happens that for no visible reason a ewe rejects her lamb, and cannot be induced to own it. If she has twins she may own one and reject the other.

The Queen of England was hardly twenty-one when she wedded Prince Albert. Her eldest son, the Prince of Wales, was not twenty-two when he married Princess Alexandra. The late Czar of Russia was only twenty-two when he married Princess Dagmar, the sister of the Princess of Wales, who was twenty. King Humbert of Italy was twenty-four when he wedded his queen, Marguerita, and the Emperor of Austria at the age of twenty-three married Princess Elizabeth, who was at the time only seventeen. The last King of Spain at the age of nineteen, the first of his name, married his second wife, and he was only twenty-two when he married Princess Augusta Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein.

Great Britain's Greatest Naval Demonstration Now on

What Britain Could do in a War With France.

Dover, England, Aug. 1.—What may be called the greatest naval manoeuvre of modern times commenced to-day. This year's drills of the British sea fighters are to eclipse anything heretofore attempted by England or any other country. They will be, to all intent and purpose, a well-contested battle between England and France for control of the Mediterranean, though the scene of the sham fight will actually occur in the channel.

The British admiralty has issued elaborate orders and instructions and all the ships of the two opposing fleets have been anchored near the harbor ready to sail to the scene of the battle. The contest is to be keenly watched both in England and on the continent. It is of the utmost significance in view of the attacks recently made in the House of Commons and in the London papers on the inefficiency of the Mediterranean fleet. It was maintained that England on sea was really at the mercy of France, or even Russia in the Mediterranean, handicapped as she is by her wars in Africa and in the far East.

The year's naval manoeuvres are to consist of three completed by France in which the excellence of the submarine boats of the Gustave Zede order was illustrated. It was demonstrated that they were a brilliant success against such vessels as the Charles Martel. Admiral Gervais, the French commander-in-chief, in his report on the evolutions points out that the scouting service was entirely inadequate, and he concludes that the Gustave Zede has shown herself not as a mere weapon of defense whose action is limited to a narrow zone around the point to be protected, but as a dangerous assailant traversing the sea to carry destruction to hostile coasts.

The great naval gathering was composed of the northern and Mediterranean squadrons, totalling forty-one ships, with an aggregate displacement of 250,000 tons, carrying 11,000 guns and manned by 600 officers and 15,000 men. The English manoeuvre area lies between the fifty-sixth and forty-seventh parallels, which means everything between Edinburgh on the East coast, Glasgow on the west coast, and the Bay of Biscay, including the north sea, St. George's channel, the English channel and the west coast of Ireland.

ADMIRAL WATKINS.

The fleets are called B and X. B may be regarded as the French fleet and X as the English, and the general idea of the manoeuvres will be heat undered by looking at a map of the British Isles "upside-down," and placing B (French) fleet off Edinburgh and X (English) fleet off the North coast of Ireland. The Scilly Isles and the Channel Islands (which are regarded as impregnable) thus become Gibraltar and Malta. This is how the admiralty puts it.

Fleet B is cruising in the North sea and can coal at Plymouth, Portland or Portsmouth. It has detachments of cruisers and torpedo craft at Plymouth, Portland and Portsmouth.

Fleet X is cruising off the north coast of Ireland and can only coal at Queenstown or the Scilly Islands. It has detachments of cruisers and torpedo craft at the Scilly Islands and the Channel Islands, which can coal at those places.

The whole of Great Britain below the fifty-sixth parallel belongs to B. The whole of Ireland, together with the Scilly Islands and Channel Islands, belongs to X.

The orders from the admiralty to commence hostilities do not necessarily reach both sides at the same time. The examination service is to be brought into operation at Portsmouth, Portland, Plymouth and Queenstown but is only to be made applicable to ships of war; merchant ships are not to be interfered with.

"Each fleet is to try to obtain the command of the English Channel and of the approaches both to it and to the St. George's channel, X's ultimate aim being to stop the trade in those waters and B's to cover it."

Each main fleet will have two special squadrons of cruisers, torpedo boats and torpedo craft attached to it.

"The disease is on both sides of the continent. There is no doubt that the bubonic plague will come here. The way the officials acted in California, from supreme court down, was little short of criminal. It is all a matter of dollars and cents. When the plague appears in other cities it will be the same here. Life will be autocratized to cash, and the courts will decide that there is no bubonic plague while the physicians are risking their lives to combat it."

Summer helps to cure catarrh and bronchitis. Sunshine, evenness of temperature, outdoor life, together with freedom from recurrence of colds which winter excites is a great boon to victims of catarrh, bronchitis and hay fever. Fortify these blessings by the wonderful, certain and prompt Catarrhonic treatment. It cures always, but quickest in summer. Doctors approve of it. Druggists recommend it. People who have used it, go wild over it. You try Catarrhonic, then wonder where your Catarrh has gone to. It cures. Do you know any other remedy that does? All dealers, 25c and $1.00.

HEADS A BIG CONCERN

Phenomenal Success of a Peterborough Boy.

Mr. Fred C. Armstrong, Son of W. H. Armstrong, of Millbrook, the Head of an Important British Industry.

We publish below an article from the London Daily Mail, which will be read with interest. Mr. Armstrong, who is a son of Mr. W. H. Armstrong, Millbrook, received his education in Peterborough Collegiate Institute. He is a nephew of Mr. Wm. Fair and Mr. Geo. J. Chalmers, town Mr. Armstrong when a mere lad, built a telephone line for his home three miles, into Millbrook, stringing the wires and doing the whole work, himself. This line is still in use, and when he called the other day that he had risen to the high position he now holds, the message was sent over his own wire to his mother. Mr. Armstrong is but 28 years of age. The following is the article reprinted:

Three years ago an English company, Messrs. Dick, Kerr & Co. of Preston, secured a contract to supply the electric equipment of the railway in the Midlands, and Mr. Armstrong, who had been working in the Midlands, was sent to the Midlands to see that the contract was carried out. He found that the work was being done very badly, and he decided to take matters into his own hands. He went to the Midlands and saw the workmen at work. He found that they were doing the work very badly, and he decided to take matters into his own hands. He went to the Midlands and saw the workmen at work. He found that they were doing the work very badly, and he decided to take matters into his own hands.

That was the latest information from those engaged on the work. Mr. J. B. Charleston the Government superintendent at Dawson received a despatch from the Ashcroft end of the line on the 15th, stating that away up at the point of construction men were putting a trail through the woods to make a way for the poles and to enable them to push the supplies along. They complained that they were somewhat handicapped on account of the snow, which still exists in considerable quantities in places. The heavy timber and general roughness of the country contributed to make their progress rather slow. Poles were, however, being gradually got into place, and the lines behind them cleared of wire and other material, scattered along. There was then a gap of about 35 miles to be traversed in order to complete the line. The streamers are unusually full of water, and cause much difficulty in working. The point where the line men were then working was about 13 miles north of Hazelton. The several sections of the line which will in the near future be finished into a complete system, are from Ashcroft to Hazelton, 100 miles; Hazelton to Telegraph Creek, 350 miles; and 670 miles from Hazelton to Dawson, making in all 1,125 miles of line. The southern terminus of the line is at Ashcroft, and Vancouver's messages will be repeated from there.

THE BUBONIC PLAGUE.

Little Doubt That It Will Sweep America.

People Must Fight for Life.

Milwaukee, Wis., August 1.—Dr. Walter Kempster, who was sent abroad by the Harrison administration to study the origin and spread of plague and scourges, and Dr. U. O. B. Wingate, secretary of the state board of health, both anxious Dr. John N. Hurty of Indianapolis, secretary of the Indiana state board of health, in his startling contention that the bubonic plague will sweep the American continent.

Dr. Hurty is a specialist on epidemics and has several times accurately predicted the appearance of plague. Over a year ago he asserted that the bubonic plague would reach the Atlantic and Pacific ports, and the presence of the scourge at New York, Francisco and ports along the Pacific slope has brought the marine hospital service to a grim realization of the danger that threatens the nation. Now Dr. Hurty claims that the plague will cross the continent and two of Milwaukee's eminent physicians who are most qualified to speak on the subject agree with him.

Dr. Wingate said that his first duty on the appearance of the plague would be to destroy all the rats possible. He said that they distributed the disease more than any other factor. All sufferers from the disease would be quarantined and their homes and adjacent buildings disinfected. There would be wholesale inoculation and vaccination. It would then be the duty of the board of health to trace the disease to its immediate source and plug up all channels of its spread. The germ of the bubonic plague has been definitely located and a serum has been found that will immediately render immune those receiving it.

Dr. Wingate believes the plague will appear here, but does not think it spread will be great. He thinks that in Chicago conditions are ripe for its reception and that the same conditions exist on the south side of this city where a great number of foreigners live.

Dr. Walter Kempster said: "The country will undoubtedly be swept from one end to the other by this terrible scourge. Unless the most drastic, sweeping and immediate measures are taken to prevent it. Already

BATTLE BETWEEN MORGAN AND ROCKFELLER FOR THE DOMINATION OF AMERICAN FINANCE

Thirty Million Dollars Made by a Few Strokes of Morgan's Pen.

FIGHT TO CONTROL A BANK.

New York, August 1.—The most remarkable dividend ever declared in the Wall street district was made public Monday.

A sum approaching $3,000,000 was given as a special dividend to the few men owning stock in the First National Bank. This is approximately 1,000 per cent. The men who received the money owned the stock in that bank before the increase of capitalization from $500,000 to $10,000,000. The increase announced July 20, together with the creation of a surplus of $10,000,000, made the First National, in point of resources, the greatest bank in the western world. The dividend, of course, does not go to holders of the new stock.

As marvelous as this division of accumulated profits among the old stockholders appears, the financial feat by which the directors, in a simple resolution, made the bank richer by about $3,500,000, is regarded in Wall street as the pecuniary miracle of the decade. In fact, the accomplishment looks like alchemy until by rudimentary arithmetic it is proved that a few pen-strokes and a few impressions of type on stock certificates have made this exclusive circle of stockholders richer today by this vast sum than they were a month ago.

The directorate of the bank consists of George F. Baker, president; H. C. Fahnestock, vice-president; F. L. Hine, second vice-president; F. A. Baker and William Fahnestock.

ROCKEFELLER'S YEARNING

But the coup could not have been made except for the circumstance that the so-called Rockefeller clique in Wall street have cast yearning, if not covetous, eyes upon this, the choicest of banking properties, and that the Morganbund, as it may be called, has steadily kept the precious stock off the market until it reached a fabulous figure whenever it happened to be quoted.

The golden windfall of the First National may be simply described. At the old capitalization of $500,000 the 5,000 shares were worth in the market $5,000 or $1,000 each. Under the new capitalization of $10,000,000 the 100,000 shares, by reason of the Rockefeller clique for them, have jumped to $700 bid and $800 asked for each share, or the $80,000,000 in the open market are worth $70,000,000. The total market value of the stock, therefore, by the action of the directors in increasing the capital stock was raised $69,500,000. But the increase in the capital stock is a technicality. The actual cash value of the First National stock, and $30,500,000 is the actual cash gain in the resources of the bank by virtue of the increase of the capital stock, coupled with the competitive bidding of the Morgans and the Rockefellers.

Wall street can see but one fact winking through this unprecedented, almost unreasonably advance in the market price of First National bank stock. It sees but one explanation, in money, the degree of the Rockefeller wish to own the First National bank stock, like any other commodity, is regulated by the law of supply and demand. The Rockefeller demand is $70,000,000 strong. The Morgan supply, just recently, was but $30,500,000 strong. Now, of course, under the determination to hold the stock, the stock is worth as much to the Morganbund as it is to the Rockefeller coalition—$70,000,000. Other great banks in Wall street are by no means exceptions to the conditions which control the price of financial liability, and must be subtracted from the total increase. Subtract $2,000,000 from $30,500,000 and $28,500,000 is left.

FORCED UP MILLIONS

This is not the time fancy of statistics. The official quotation of the stock, as by the bond sheet of the Stock Exchange, has been here stated. Seventy National stock. The prices of other stocks show that every share offered would have an eager bidder, and that forces are at work to secure control. The National City Bank, even after the recent sagging state of the market, is quoted at 65, the Chase National Bank at 70, the National Bank of Commerce at 35, and the Hanover National at 70. Although they will not talk for the public, the bankers speak among themselves of the possibilities of the impending struggle for mastery, and of the character of the leaders who will conduct the campaign for the championship of the money held. Who will be the American Rothschild—Morgan or Rockefeller.

Ottawa, July 31.—There will be direct communication by telegraph between Ottawa and Dawson City, in the Yukon on August 1st, that is today.

That was the latest information from those engaged on the work. Mr. J. B. PRASE FOR ROBERTS.

But for His Daring and Strategy British Would Have Lost.

ROBERTS TO GET £100,000.

London, August 1. In the House of Commons today, proposing the resolution granting Field-Marshal Earl Roberts £100,000 for his services in South Africa, Mr. Balfour, in the course of a eulogy of the field-marshal, whom he compared with such men as Wellington, Nelson, and Wellington, said there was no doubt that but for Lord Roberts' daring and strategy, and the rapidity with which his plans were carried out, Kimberley and Mafeking would have fallen, 11,000 British would have been starved into submission at Ladysmith, and there would have been a general sliding of disloyalists in South Africa. Great Britain might have recovered her empire, but what cost? The country was saved from this by the genius of the man he now lauded the House to reward by a unanimous vote, irrespective of political differences.

The statement called forth protests from the Irish members. The Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, concurred in the motion.

John Dillon, Irish Nationalist, strongly opposed the vote. He protested against mentioning Lord Roberts in association with such a man as Mr. Balfour. He declared Lord Roberts had shown the greatest humanity in South Africa, and said he had employed barbarous methods, and had proved himself a dismal failure.

$500 Reward $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Who Dislodge Beers From a Farm House With a Mountain Gun.

Cape Town, July 31.—At despatch from Vereeniging on the boundary between the Transvaal and the Orange River Colony, says:—

"Captain McDougall, commanding a post at Houtskop, eight miles to the north-west of this place, took fifty Canadians, with a seven-pounder mountain gun to dislodge some Beers who were known to make a farm house at Zwaartkops, three miles to the south of Vereeniging, their rendezvous. Sixty Beers were in the house, and they are said to have suffered severely, as they exposed themselves to a heavy fire."

It is estimated that they lost twelve men killed.

COUNT LEFT POOR, BUT RETURNS RICH

Edmund Von Larisch, Watchmaker Restored to Estates.

Vancouver, August 1.—Count Edmund Von Larisch, who left New York two months ago a poor watchmaker, is now in this city, rich in honors and dollars. In the interim he has been received by Kaiser Wilhelm, whose grandfather, on June 14th, 1894, sent him into exile for forty-five years for having killed Count Von Punitz. The Kaiser has received him to his estates and his fortune, the value of which is said to be $5,000,000, waived the fourteen years imprisonment which he might have suffered for fighting a duel, and as a mark of special favor gave him a secret mission to California and deputized him to represent the Kaiser at the reception to be given to the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall in Ottawa on September 15th.

Stopping in the Commercial Hotel in Vancouver, it is said by those who have heard from him that he never has said when he would return to his wife—Mrs. Heinkel, as she is known, and who when he left New York city on May 25th was living at No. 650 East 15th street, since he left she has cared for his little watch repairing business in a shop in East Houston street.

When the Count, who is now sixty-seven years old, reached London he was received by his sister, who has married into a rich Russian family, and she now the Princess Wladimir. She identified him at once. His first duty was to report on June 14th, the anniversary of the duel, and to wear the uniform of a lieutenant of the Fourth Hussars, which rank he held in the famous regiment when he killed the Count Von Punitz.

His sister's influence induced the Kaiser to advance the date of his reception eight days and to pardon him, as far as concerned the punishment. He was born in 1835, and his guardians were the Counts of Saxe-Weimar. The Larisch family, prudent when revolutions were causing thrones to totter, cut their estates in half and put the proceeds of one part in the Bank of England. When, after being graduated from the University of Heidelberg, the Count became a lieutenant in the famous Hussars he met the fate which meant so much was for him.

He became the rival of his major for the affection of a young girl. They quarreled, a challenge passed, and they fought, the major falling, killed by a sword thrust. The young lieutenant rode two horses to death that night to reach the Count.

BUBONIC PLAGUE

Dr. Kumpster, who was sent abroad by the Harrison administration to study the origin and spread of plague and malarial, and Dr. O. B. Wingate, secretary of the state board of health, both sustain Dr. John N. Hurty of Indianapolis, secretary of the Indiana state board of health, in his startling contention that the bubonic plague will sweep the American continent.

Dr. Hurty is a specialist on epidemics and has several times accurately predicted the appearance of plague. Over a year ago he asserted that the bubonic plague would reach the Atlantic and Pacific ports, and the presence of the scourge at New York, Francisco and ports along the Pacific slope has brought the marine hospital service to a grim realization of the danger that threatens the nation.

Now Dr. Hurty claims that the plague will cross the continent and two of Milwaukee's eminent physicians who are most qualified to speak on the subject agree with him.

Dr. Wingate said that his first duty on the appearance of the plague would be to destroy all the rats possible. He said that they distributed the disease more than any other factor. All sufferers from the disease would be quarantined and their homes and adjacent buildings disinfected. There would be wholesale inoculation and vaccination. It would then be the duty of the board of health to trace the disease to its immediate source and plug up all channels of its spread. The germ of the bubonic plague has been definitely located and a serum has been found that will immediately render immune those receiving it.

Dr. Wingate believes the plague will appear here, but does not think its spread will be great. He thinks that in Chicago conditions are ripe for its reception and that the same conditions exist on the south side of this city where a great number of foreigners live.

Dr. Walter Kumpster said: "The country will undoubtedly be swept from one end to the other by this terrible scourge. Unless the most drastic, sweeping and immediate measures are taken to prevent it. Already the disease is on both sides of the continent. There is no doubt that the bubonic plague will come here."

"The way the officials acted in California, from supreme court down, was little short of criminal. It is all a matter of dollars and cents. When the plague appears in other cities it will be the same here. Life will be subordinated to cash, and the courts will decide that there is no bubonic plague while the physicians are risking their lives to combat it."

AUSTRIA'S TROUBLES

London July 31.—A despatch to the Pall Mall Gazette from Budapest says:

"In consequence of the agitation in Albania Austria has ordered every citizen in Bosnia and Herzegovina to be immediately placed on a war footing. Additional regiments leave Vienna this week for Sarajevo and Banja Luka. All the officers on duty have been ordered to rejoin their regiments."

Constantinople July 31.—The excitement among the Albanians at Prishtina is becoming more acute. The Christians are reported to be in a desperate condition and the foreign Ministers here have made renewed demands at the Yildiz Kiosk that the government protect the lives and property of the Christians.

EAST PETERBOROUGH AND MR. TOM BLEZARD

Evidence that the Veteran Politician Was Turned Down by the Machine.

THE TIMES AND THE LOCAL LIBERAL ORGAN

The Times Was Accused of Making Untruthful Statements, and It Now Challenges Its Contemporary to Prove That It Is Not Right—A Pretty Story of Machine Politics.

A week or so ago we published an account in these columns of the turning down of Mr. Blezard in the East riding, and we extended our sympathy to him as a man who, though for a quarter of a century the standard bearer of the Liberal party, had met with the chill of cold neglect at the hands of the party. Before entering into the details of a reply to the Examiner's editorial dealing with our statement of the case, we may say once for all that when a member does not receive a recommendation at the hands of his party, even if the party knows perfectly well that he has no intention of standing again, it shows there is a "bugger on the fence" from time immemorial it has been the custom to recommend a member, to show him that it is cared for and again he had the option. When such a feature of convention programme is omitted it must be for cause, and we know that in this case the cause certainly existed.

It is true that Mr. Blezard nominated Mr. Anderson. It is true that at the convention, as at former conventions, Mr. Blezard stated that he wished and was ready to retire, but in each case he was re-nominated. Why? Because he was wanted there. Now, however, the desire for his candidature has strangely taken wings. Some other plan of the "head cook and bottle washer" for this district had been matured in the meantime, suggested to the newspapers and gradually worked up to its fruition upon convention day. We have no doubt that our genial old friend will stand by his party and be loyal to it till "the last gasp's snore." In the euphonious language of Bret Harte, but in such a case the generosity and courtesy of the occasion is all on the side of Mr. Blezard, and none of it on the side of those who were afraid to extend him the usual courtesy of a re-nomination.

Whether Grit or Tory, bond or free, it is nothing to us. We are under the thumb of no man, and shall express our opinion of such work on all occasions, whichever party fails to do the decent thing by those who stood to it when it was the least. It is the usual thing of course to heap obloquy upon obloquy, and by sneers and slanders to drive a man out of existence. We are aware that the average politician is

BOARD OF TRADE AND CORDAGE CO.

Unqualified Approval of the Proposed Grant.

SPEAKERS WERE ALL OF ONE MIND

It was raining quite heavily about 8 o'clock last night, and President Dunlop was about to adjourn the Board of Trade meeting called to consider the matter of granting the Cordage Company. Before doing so, however, the President made a few remarks, and he was followed by Mr. J. H. Burnham in an informal speech, and then there was such an inrush of citizens that suddenly the meeting was transformed into a large and representative one.

Mr. Dunlop promptly recommended the determination to adjourn, and Mr. W. H. Meldrum set the ball a-rolling by calling on Mr. Adam Hall, the President of the Board of Directors, to give an account of the Cordage Company. Mr. Meldrum thought the by-law should be passed unanimously. Local capitalists should be treated the same as foreign. The company was not found to locate in Peterborough, and the town should jump at the chance to have the factory here.

Mr. Hall said that the company had obtained its charter, and had placed its stock very successfully. There was $120,000 already subscribed. They had overtures from other towns, but they were not accepted. The lot at the corner of Aylmer and Lake streets is in every way suitable. They propose to put up a building 320x40 and two storehouses 150x50, and to expend $100,000 for machinery and buildings. They had looked carefully over the town and decided upon the lot chosen as most suitable, and they regarded the price as reasonable. The company would employ at the outset 75 hands, and hoped to have the factory in operation by the 1st of December next, and if their anticipations were realized, they would in 18 months time double their capacity. This would involve the erection of another set of buildings, equally as large, and the increase of the staff to 150.

The proposed bonus would amount to 8 cents on $1,000 of assessment, or 24 cents per annum on an assessment of $3,000. Stock in the company had been sold throughout the whole Dominion and other places wanted the factory, but Peterborough was preferred. The company would not ask the town for fire protection as they intended to put up a sprinkler system. They would require sewerage, but it was the town's intention to extend the sewerage system at any rate. The majority of the hands would be expert mechanics. Some girls would be employed, but they also would be expert. Girls in the Bradford factory earn $7 to $8 per week.

WHITHER ARE WE DRIFTING?

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir,—Is it not time for the taxpayers to ask, "Whither are we drifting?" With a tax of about twenty mills on the dollar, besides being the highest assessed town or small city in Ontario, with one possible exception, had we better not cry "halt!" Have we not been leeching in the past by big corporations asking for bonuses, exemption from taxes and other immunities and privileges, and by their obtaining from us more than they did ask through the incapacity or corruption of those whose duty it was to guard our interests?

We are now confronted with another scheme whereby the poor taxpayer will be called upon to grant a bonus to an individual, with the promise of big dividends to its rich shareholders, in consequence of which all its stock has been bought up. I am in favor of encouraging, not inducing, a prudent manner. I would be quite willing to grant any concern a free site for their buildings, if necessary, so long as they are used for the intended purpose, and complied with the conditions agreed upon in all respects, but never in any event ought we to part with the ownership of the land, so that we could make other uses of it when the concern ceased to exist on "vamped" the ranch. Yours, etc.

THE CORDAGE BY-LAW

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir,—I congratulate your correspondent on his perspicacity, and I am glad to see that there is another person besides myself who thinks that those items on the Cordage Company from the newspapers of the "surrounding towns and villages are simple bluffs, put in those papers for the sole purpose of being copied into the local papers.

I have been told that the directors represent one firm or one family in town through the names of their typewriters, etc., and if this is the case I don't see why we should tax ourselves for the sake of a family compact, especially when they advertise that they are getting their power for almost nothing from a new power company which is trying to sell its stock to the public. Yours,

TRADES AND LABOR UNION MEETING

In the S. O. E. Hall Last Night—Largely Attended.

POINTS OF INTEREST DISCUSSED

A public meeting of the Trades and Labor Union was held in the Sons of England hall last night. The meeting, which was held to discuss the important matters of the day, was attended by a fair crowd of the trades and labor men of the town. Mr. Curry took the chair and called upon Mr. Geo. Hall to speak.

Mr. Hall spoke at some length on the importance of maintaining and urged the men not to try and seek all their work to work for other men's interests as well as their own. He urged them to be very careful, his meeting being to represent them in Parliament and not vote for a man who at election time will do almost anything for them and after he has been elected to turn around and throw them down, but to place a man as a representative who will stand for their interests, at all times, and then, not until then will they have their interests looked after. He also spoke of the number of working hours the laboring man at the present day were compelled to work and of the small amount of wages they received for their toil. He thought that the employer who worked his men 12 hours a day for a fair wage received as much as any man could get from his labor, and the employer who compelled his men to work 16 hours a day at the same wage was also referred to the number of hours the men of the town of Peterborough worked and the small pay received of each work, and urged the men to put down on the Council who would look after their interests.

In his closing remarks Mr. Hall presented very strongly upon the members of the Trades and Labor Union the necessity of attending church and receiving the cooperation of the clergy. He said they did not let themselves be heard and seen they could not expect others to do it for them.

The next speaker was Mr. Miller. He spoke of the necessity of helping other tradesmen and not, because one man is receiving more pay than another, run down his trade or try and pick it up pieces, but pull together and get organized. He urged the organization of the men of the day for the purpose of pulling the capitalists of the day to advance their own interests. The capitalists are not looking after the interests of the working men, but their own interests, which mean dollars and cents. He urged them, when selecting a representative for the House of Commons to target politics, and vote according to their conscience, and if their man should be elected watch his course with interest and if he fails to do his duty to turn him down and not be won over by promises as they had been in the past. He touched upon the long hours of toil of the working man and the disadvantages he had to contend with, and the treatment that many of the working class received at the hands of the employer.

Mr. McClelland then addressed the men, principally on the advantages of unions, and referred to the struggles of the Unions in British Columbia, and the unity that prevailed between employer and employees and gave as an instance an article written by Mr. Clute as to the way matters were conducted in the west in the Hobbin Collieries, which employ 1400 men. When coal was demanding a low figure and the company could not pay the wages they were paying, the men called a meeting and had their wages reduced on their own accord, which meant over $20,000 a year to the employer, and when coal advanced in price the men received their advance in wages with interest. He also explained the way the company and the men settled their difficulties. The men would call a meeting and select a representative to place their grievances before the foreman and through him to the manager and head of the works and hence their grievances were looked into.

Mr. McClelland favored the 8 hours as a day's work that gave a working man more time with his family, and more time to enlighten himself on the matters of interest that were before the public. He also spoke of the indignities that town offered to munufacturers and the power that could be received at much more reasonable terms from the canal than other towns could not give.

Mr. Jas. Hall was called upon and presented his hearty co-operation to the men.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the speakers.

TRANSPORT LENNOX HELPLESS ON PACIFIC

Her Shaft Broke Far From Land on July 25th and She Has Drifted Ever Since.

A CREW PUT OFF IN SEARCH OF ASSISTANCE

Picked Up by a San Francisco Steamer They Tell an Interesting Story of Peril and Adventure on the Ocean.

San Francisco, Aug. 2.—Seven men from the disabled transport Lennox, bound from Manila to this port, who were picked up in a small boat off Piedras Blancas lighthouse, and brought to this city by the steamer George Loomis, tell a story of a broken shaft, death of provisions and of the drifting of the helpless ship in the current that sets down the coast. The men constituted a volunteer crew that put off from the transport in search of assistance. On the Lennox are 11 cabin and 45 second-class passengers, nearly all of whom are discharged sailors and soldiers, and the English officers and a Chinese crew of about 20 men. There are no women on board.

STORY OF THE DISASTER

Third Mate Spratt and his companions tell the same story. One of them said:

"The Lennox left Manila on June 27, and Nagsaaki on July 5. Suddenly on the evening of July 25 the shaft broke within three feet of the propeller, making a great noise, but the quick shutting off of the engines prevented any damage to the vessel. There was a calm at the time, and things looked bad. The members of the Chinese crew were helpless, but two old sailors tied up a jury rig, but under it the vessel made little or no progress. For nearly a week we looked in vain for assistance, meanwhile drifting to the southward, and in toward the coast. What made really serious was the shortage of provisions. Captain Williamson asked the Chinese crew to man a small boat and attempt to reach the coast. The Chinese refused, and the chief officer came to us sailors and asked for a volunteer crew. Twenty minutes later we were off in a boat and were given a good send off. We took two kegs of war, two tins of corned beef and a box of hard tack. The boat was rigged with a sail but there was no wind, and until we were picked up by the Loomis, 13 hours later, we were at the mercy of the waves within eight of Piedras Blancas lighthouse." It is expected that the tug Blocon, which was at once sent in search of the Lennox, will find the transport some time today.

Santa Barbara Channel. She was 300 miles south of this city, and 40 miles at sea when the small boat left her.

FOUL MURDER BY THE BOERS

Defenceless Kaffir Servants Were Slain in Cold Blood

YEOMANRY PATROL WAS TAKEN NO EXPENSE IS BEING SPARED

London, Aug. 2.—The War Office yesterday received the following cable from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria:

On July 26 an officers' patrol of 20 Yeomanry and some native scouts followed two carts and a few Boers fifteen miles from the railway at Dooits River, Orange River Colony, where they were cut off by 20 Boers, and after a fight lasting some time, the British were surrounded when their ammunition was exhausted. Three yeomen were wounded. After the surrender the Boers made the native scouts throw their hands up and then shot them in cold blood. They afterwards shot a wounded yeoman. The remainder were released. The Boers gave as a reason for shooting the yeomen that they thought he was a Cape "boy." Evidence on oath has been taken of the murders.

"French reports that he has received a letter from Kitchener, the Boer commander, announcing his intention to shoot all natives in British employ, whether armed or unarmed. Many cases of cold-blooded murder of natives in Cape Colony have recently occurred." Lord Kitchener further says that during the week ending July 29, twenty-four Boers were killed, 25 wounded, 22 taken prisoners and 30 surrendered. The British also captured 100 rifles, 15,000 rounds of small ammunition, 300 wagons and 2,700 horses.

BULLER WILL GET NO GRANT.

London, Aug. 2.—In reply to the question of John Dillon, Irish Nationalist, yesterday afternoon the Right Hon. A. J. Balfour stated that the Government did not intend to ask for a grant for General Sir Buller for services rendered in South Africa.

SUCCESS OF THE BLOCKHOUSE SYSTEM.

Pretoria, Aug. 2.—The blockhouse system recently adopted by the British is evidently a success. During a fortnight blockhouses were erected to cover a stretch of country 130 miles long, preventing communication between the burghers. Attacks have been futile on the 200 miles of railway protected by them. Colonel Kitchener recently had an engagement with Villous, capturing 25 Boers, 25 wagons and 3 Victoria-Maxim one-pounder pom-poms. The Eighteenth and Nineteenth Hussars are especially recommended for gallantry in the fight.

SALISBURY ON ROBERTS.

London, Aug. 2.—In moving the adoption of the King's message recommending the grant to Lord Roberts, in the House of Lords yesterday, Premier Salisbury spoke in eulogistic terms of the strategic abilities of Lord Roberts, displayed at a critical period in the history of the war. The grant passed with a unanimous vote.

THE SINKING OF WAR.

London, Aug. 2.—The Irish members greeted with ironical cheers the statement in the House of Commons yesterday, by Lord Stanley, that the actual cost of the war in July was £1,500,000 (£1,500,000 weekly).

The Chancellor of the Exchequer intimated that if the war continued at the same cost for another three months, which he had reason to hope was not probable, it would necessitate the spending of the whole reserve he had provided for financing the third quarter.

Look at Your Cool Collar

Covered with dandruff, as usual. That means a diseased scalp. Dr. White's Electric Comb will soon cure that. The only patented comb in the world. Every one who has used it is wild with delight. Only 40c and 60c each. D. N. Rose, Gen. Mgr., Decatur Ill.

Sudden Death!

The Stirling News-Arrow has the following concerning the death of George R. Ashley, a relative of Mrs. George Skyles:—"On Tuesday last Mr. George R. Ashley, of West Huntingdon, died very suddenly. During the forenoon he was drawing in 70, assisted by his son and about ten o'clock a load was taken into the barn to be unloaded. Mr. Ashley went into the mow, and his son threw a sheaf from the load, but as Mr. Ashley was about to lift it, he called to his son to stop, and he immediately dropped down. His son went to him at once, but found life all but extinct, and he expired in a few moments. His death was no doubt caused by heart failure. He was about 61 years of age, and highly respected in the community. He was a member of Stirling Lodge No. 238, I.O.O.F., and the funeral will be conducted by the brethren of the Order."

St. Paul's Tomorrow.

Rev. Dr. Jackson, of Cleveland, Ohio, who has so acceptably filled the pulpit of St. Paul's church for the past three Sundays, will preach tomorrow, morning and evening. This will be his last Sunday in Peterborough, and there should be a large attendance. Dr. Jackson is one of the most able ministers on the continent, his discourses always powerful as well as original. The Rev. gentlemen leave for home on Monday.

FRISCO STRIKE MAY BE SETTLED

Termination of the Difficultly Expected Today.

San Francisco, Aug. 2.—An early settlement of the trouble between the Employers' Association and the City Front Federation, involving 25,000 workmen seems probable, and an early end of the strike is anticipated. The labor leaders and prominent financiers are all hopeful that tomorrow the latest will see peace restored, and that on Monday the striking workers will return to their former employment.

Mayor Phelan has in his possession a letter from the City Front Federation asking for more light upon some features of the terms of peace upon which the employers' league. The letter will be laid before the Employers' Association today. Numerous conferences will be held, and it is expected by many of those interested that an understanding will be reached before night. Whatever decision may be reached will not directly affect the striking iron workers, who are not included in the city front federation of unions.

What Catarrhism is and is Not.

Catarrhism is not a wash. You cannot force liquids into the lungs. It is not an inflammation to be assuaged by the nostrils. Ointments are useless and disgusting. Nor is it a powder to be blown up the nostrils and still further irritate the already congested and irritated membrane. It is simply balsamic and healing substance breathed into the lungs and throat. Cures of catarrh. That is nature's way of curing, and nature's way is the only true way. If you suffer from disease of the throat, lungs, nasal passages do not neglect to treat Catarrhism. Two sizes: all at druggists, 25c and $1.00. Guaranteed to cure Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, and Hay Fever or your money back.

NEGRO LABOR AT STEEL WORKS

White Workmen Being Supplanted by Big Steel Combine.

Cleveland, Aug. 2.—The big steel combine is utilizing negro labor to supplant the white workmen in the Newburgh mills here. Already a couple of hundred colored men have come to the city from Pittsburg, Homestead, and adjacent iron centres in Pennsylvania. Many more negroes, it is said, will be brought here, and a general emigration of colored workmen familiar with the manufacture of iron and steel, from the South, is prophesied by a colored agent of the steel corporation.

The negroes from Alabama and Tennessee, according to the same authority, see in this strike a glorious opportunity to improve their conditions, and they are flocking north in large numbers. It is also stated that the steel corporation has given authority to its agents to gather all the colored iron workers possible and to center them at the various points of the strike.

Pittsburg, Aug. 2.—The Commercial Gazette today says that the Amalgamated Executive Board has received a telegram from J. Pleasant Morgan this morning refusing to reopen the wage conference where it was broken off three weeks ago.

Morgan's answer is expected by mail today. There is scarcely a fragment of a hope that the Amalgamated Association will back down from its well known policy. The leaders of the workmen will, in reply, outline their plans to the steel corporation for a continuation of the great struggle. They will include the stopping of every wheel possible in the works of the combine, and the extension of the strike in all possible directions by the Amalgamated Association. Today may develop much, but if the combine cannot be made to waver through the influence that will be brought to bear, the conflict will probably be fought to the bitter end.

THE JUDICIARY IS VERY HOSTILE

Indians, Ind. Aug. 2.—The National Socialist Convention adjourned last night, after electing Leon Greenbaum of St. Louis, National Secretary, and designating St. Louis as the national headquarters of the Socialist party. As the delegates filed from the hall they sang the Marseillaise, yuch of the wrangle during the night session hinged on the effort to embody in the articles of resolution clause prohibiting Socialists from accepting office under either of the "capitalist" parties, and from entering the ranks of the State militia. Both clauses were finally adopted. The Judiciary of the country was branded as a "servile tool in the hands of the capitalist class and hostile to the interests of labor."

The Cause of Nervous Headache

This most distressing and common malady doubtless has its origin in some unbalanced condition of the nervous system. Probably the simplest, safest and most efficient remedy is Polson's Nervine. Twenty drops in sweetened water gives immediate relief, and by halting the region of pain with Nervine. To say it acts quickly fails to express the result. Sold everywhere in large 25c. bottles.

Permanent Cures of Cancer

We here give a few cases, where the efficacy of our Constitutional treatment in curing Cancer, is established beyond all question. We have plenty on file. There is ample proof that where our remedy cures, it cures to stay and saves people from the torture of knife and plaster.

CANCER OF THE BREAST—A lady had cancer of the breast, which rendered her right shoulder and arm almost helpless. Our remedy cured her over five years ago, and there is not the slightest return of the trouble.

CANCER OF THE FACE—The case of a gentleman who was so bad that his right cheek was almost eaten off with the disease, cancer aggravated his trouble. Our treatment cured him five years ago and he had been all right since.

CANCER OF THE STOMACH—Doctors pronounced the trouble cancer of the stomach. There was vomiting of material that looked like Coffee grounds, great weakness and prostration. Cured over four years ago and well to-day.

CANCER OF THE NOSE—A severe case which was cured by our remedy in 1891 and has never returned to this day. Full accounts of the above cases, together with the names and addresses of the persons, are given in our new book, "Cancer, Its Cause and Cure," sent to anyone, in plain wrapper on receipt of a stamp, Stolt & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 3, 1901

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

The Board of Works met last night.

There was no Police Court yesterday morning.

Thursday, August 15th, is Peterborough's civic holiday.

The Orillia and band will run an excursion to Peterborough on August 5.

If every dog has his day, we don't see why so many dogs should want to have the night too.

The Printers' Excursion taken place this afternoon at two o'clock to Jubilee Point.

The Auburns will play the Peterborough first team and the P.A.A.A. grounds this afternoon.

The regular trip of the steamer City of Peterborough is cancelled to-day owing to the Printers' Excursion.

Masters Alex. Chalmers, Harry Lovick and Cameron Wilson are camped near Buckhorn. They report excellent fishing.

The hot weather has no bad effect on the photograph taken at G. E. Whitman's. His work does not fade. Sign of the Golden Camera.

There is a loud "equal" over the increased taxes this year, and many ratepayers think it time that a system of rigid economy was begun.

Two Hamilton men were tried in the police court yesterday, and a telegram from Hamilton asked the Chief to find Mrs. Norah Hamilton.

The annual Sunday School Excursion of All Saints Sunday school will take place on Thursday to Jubilee Point per steamer City of Peterborough.

One of the large plate glass windows in the Central Hotel, Leavelle & Co.'s office on George street, was broken Thursday afternoon, but by whom is yet unknown. It is said a boy threw a stone at a dog, and the missile struck the window.

It is currently reported in Kingston that the C.P.R. is about to assume control of the K. & P. R.R., which runs between Kingston, Renfrew and Pembroke, and is about to be extended to Smith's Falls. It taps the C.P.R. at Sharbot Lake and Renfrew, and forms the U.P.R. en route to Kingston.

The Grand Trunk Railway Company has had three port electricians at work in their Port Hope shops the past two months fitting up coaches with electrical conveniences. In all, twenty-four coaches have been equipped with incandescent lights, electric fans and other features in an electrical way. The cost to the road has been immense, those entrusted with the work being experts in their line.

Selfless Excursion.

The excursion under the auspices of Otonabee Lodge, I.O.O.F., is about to-day, Thursday, Aug. 15 will afford an opportunity for a pleasant day's outing. Return tickets 70c, to be had from W. Dickson Jewett, secretary, or from any member of the paper. Only a limited number of tickets will be issued, so that all who desire to go should secure them at once.

LOCAL NEWS LETTERS

INDIAN RIVER

The root crop has wonderfully improved owing to the recent showers. Mr. W. Torrey, of Iowa, is visiting his friends in Otonabee.

Mr. Joseph O'Leary, of Otonabee, was the guest of Mr. Coughlin on Sunday last.

Mr. John Fitzgerald has erected a beautiful frame barn, 50x10, on the home-land. The work was performed by Mr. Quinn, who had everything in perfect shape.

Messrs. F. Guerin and Wm. Walsh paid a visit during the past week. They came from all parts, will soon begin to collect at Indian River station where the fall races are to be held under the auspices of Mr. A. Whitham.

Mr. Cuff, who is at present visiting his friends in Ireland, was unable to carry out the work. Mr. Whitham is willingly consented to oversee the sports for the remainder of the year.

The other officers are Mr. Manore, station agent, treasurer; Mr. Wilk, secretary; Messrs. Brown, James Devlin, J. Loonigan, M. O'Leary and Mr. Frost, committee. The first meeting was held on the 30th, and there was considerable discussion owing to the fee and the advisability of allowing members who already had offices to enter the race.

HOW'S THIS?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any one of Otonabee that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

J. F. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known J. F. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by him.

BY-LAW NUMBER

A By-law to aid the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company, Limited.
Passed the () day of 1901.

WHEREAS by the Acts of the Legislature of the Province of Ontario 25 Victoria, Chapter 71 and 53 Victoria, Chapter 99 it is enacted and provided amongst other things that it shall and may be lawful for the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough to aid by way of loans the promotion of manufactures in or about the Town of Peterborough to the extent and in the manner therein provided and amongst other things by granting any lands or buildings and granting the same or the use thereof to any person or persons or body corporate for manufacturing purposes and that the By-law granting such loans shall have been submitted to and approved of by the majority of the qualified electors voting thereon in the same manner as with money laws requiring the assent of the electors.

AND WHEREAS the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company, Limited, have represented to the Council of the Town of Peterborough that they propose to establish in the said Town a manufactory of binder twine, rope and cordage, and to erect two substantial brick buildings, one of which will be ninety feet wide by three hundred feet long and the other fifty feet wide by two hundred feet long, and to install therein within one year four thousand five hundred worth of machinery, the plant to be supplied with five thousand of binder twine per day and three thousand of rope and cordage per day, and to give employment to about seventy-five hands, and have applied to the Council to the establishment of such manufactory by the granting of four thousand five hundred dollars for the purchase of Lots Numbers Eighty and Nine south of Perry Street and West of George Street in the Town of Peterborough and Lots Numbers Eight and Nine North of Lake Street and West of George Street in the said Town of Peterborough, and by granting partial exemption from taxation subject to the approval of the Legislature by fixing the assessment of the said property as hereinafter mentioned.

AND WHEREAS it is desirable and in the public interest to encourage the promotion of said manufacturing establishment as aforesaid.

AND WHEREAS it will be necessary to borrow by the said Corporation the sum of four thousand five hundred dollars.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the whole rateable property of the Municipality according to the last revised Assessment Roll, being the year 1901 is the sum of Four Million Two hundred and ninety-four thousand, seven hundred and ninety-five dollars.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the existing Debentures of the Municipality exclusive of the local improvement debt is the sum of Two hundred and fifty-three thousand and forty-one dollars and sixty-seven cents, and there is not part of the interest or principal in arrears.

AND WHEREAS for the purpose of paying the interest on the said Debentures and providing a sinking fund for the payment of same at maturity it will be necessary to raise each year during the currency of the said Debentures by special rate the sum of $38.15.

The Corporation of the Town of Peterborough, by the Council, therefore enacts as follows:—

1. This By-law shall take effect on the date of the final passing thereof as to all the provisions thereof except those relating to the fixing of the Assessment of the said Corporation, and as to so much of the said By-law as relates to the fixing of the Assessment of the said Corporation, the same shall take effect only upon the confirmation thereof by the Legislature of the Province of Ontario, and in the event of such confirmation not being obtained and until such confirmation shall be obtained and until the remainder of said By-law shall be in full force and effect.

2. It shall and may be lawful for the said Corporation to borrow the sum of Four thousand five hundred dollars and to issue debentures of the said Corporation of the Town of Peterborough for the said sum of Four thousand five hundred dollars, such debentures to be sealed with the Corporate Seal of the Town of Peterborough and to be signed by the Mayor and Treasurer and countersigned by the Secretary of the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust, to be payable within twenty years after the issue thereof and to bear interest at the rate of four per cent payable half yearly, on the first day of June and the thirty-first day of December in each year and to have coupons attached thereto for the payment of such interest. Such Debentures, as to principal and interest, shall be payable at the office of the Secretary of the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust in the Town of Peterborough.

3. There shall be raised and levied during each year of the currency of the said debentures by a special rate upon all of the property in the Town of Peterborough liable thereto the sum of $180.00 for payment of the interest and $168.15 as a sinking fund for the payment of the said debt at the maturity thereof making together the sum of $348.15.

4. The proceeds of the said Debentures for the sum of Four thousand five hundred dollars when sold shall be given to the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company, Limited, to aid the said Company in the promotion of the said Manufacturing establishment by the payment of the purchase money of the said lands upon and upon and subject to the terms and conditions hereinafter mentioned and until the said conditions shall have been fully performed and satisfied the said Company shall not be entitled to the said moneys or to any interest or right to the same.

The conditions upon which the said grant shall be made are as follows:—
(a) The said Company shall on or before the fifteenth day of July 1902 erect and complete two substantial brick buildings, one of which shall be not less than ninety feet wide by three hundred feet long and of suitable and proportionate height, and the other not less than fifty feet wide by two hundred feet long and of suitable and proportionate height.

(b) That the Company shall on or before the fifteenth day of July 1902 install in the said buildings at least twenty-five thousand dollars worth of machinery for the manufactory of binder twine, rope and cordage.

(c) That the plant to be installed shall have a capacity of five thousand of binder twine per day and three thousand of rope and cordage per day in addition to each binder twine.

(d) That the Company shall on or before the fifteenth day of July 1902 have their said Manufacturing establishment in running order, and in actual operation and employ at least seventy-five hands.

(e) That the conveyance of the said lands to the said Company shall contain and be subject to the condition that in the event of the said land within the period of ten years from the conveyance thereof to the said Company ceasing to be bona fide used for the manufactory of binder twine, rope and cordage or other manufacturing business approved by the Town Council substantially according to the capacity thereof, for the period of twelve consecutive months, then the said lands shall revert to and become the absolute property of the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough and free from any claim thereto of the said Company or their assigns unless the said Company or their assigns shall within six months after such period of twelve months for which the said lands shall have ceased to be used in conformity with the condition of the said lands shall have caused the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough the full sum of Four thousand five hundred dollars provided always that in the event of the failure to use said lands as aforesaid being due to strikes or destruction of the buildings or machinery in either case one year shall not be counted in the said period of twelve months to entitle the Corporation to resume the ownership of said lands or to be paid the value of the said lands as aforesaid. The conveyance of said lands to be in form approved by the Town Council and to contain a special covenant for the protection of the interests of the Town Corporation.

6. Subject to the provisions of this paragraph being confirmed by the Legislature of the Province of Ontario the assessment of the said lands including the buildings, machinery and plant thereon, shall be fixed at the sum of Four thousand five hundred dollars for the first year commencing on the first day of January 1902 and the return and oath of the assessor in respect thereof shall be amended accordingly.

7. The votes of the duly qualified electors of the Town of Peterborough shall be taken upon this By-law on Tuesday, the thirteenth day of August, 1901, commencing at the hour of 9 o'clock in the afternoon and closing at the hour of five o'clock in the afternoon of the same day at the following polling places and before the following Deputy Returning Officers respectively, that is to say:—

Ward No. One.
Polling Sub-division No. 1. At M. H. Halpin's Store, corner of Perry and George Streets; Angelo Williams to be Deputy Returning Officer.

Ward No. Two.

Ward No. Seven.
Polling Sub-division No. 7. At Wm. Lee's Shop, Smith Street; George W. Powell to be Deputy Returning Officer.

7. The 14th day of August, 1901, at the hour of twelve o'clock noon, the office of the Town Clerk shall be hereby fixed as the time when and the place where the electors shall give their number of votes given for and against the By-law.

8. The 12th day of August, 1901, at the hour of 12 o'clock noon, and the office of the Town Clerk shall be hereby fixed as the time and place for the appointment of persons to attend at the various polling places and at the time of the counting up of the votes by the Clerk respectively, on behalf of the persons interested in, and promoting or opposing the passing of the By-law respectively.

NOTICE.
TAKE NOTICE that the foregoing is a true copy of a proposed By-law which has been taken into consideration and which will be finally passed by the Council of the Town of Peterborough (in the event of the assent of the electors being obtained thereto) after one month from the first publication hereof in the Morning Times newspaper, the date of which first publication is the 22nd day of July, 1901, and that at the hour, day and place hereby fixed for taking the votes of the electors the polls will be held.

NATIONAL MOURNING ORDERED

Berlin, Aug. 24.—A special edition of the Reichsanzeiger published this morning contains an imperial cabinet order giving notice of the death of Empress Frederick, and ordering six days of mourning, beginning to-day. The order also directs that public amusements, including concerts and theatrical performances be suspended until after the funeral.

The order, signed by Prince von Croserg, the death agony of the Empress was brief, lasting hardly a quarter of an hour. When Prof. Reveners informed Emperor William that his mother's heart had ceased to beat, he uttered a brief cry, and his Majesty placed white lilies in his mother's hands. Telegrams are pouring in from all quarters. The heads of all foreign states and the sovereigns of all European countries send messages of condolence couched in the warmest terms.

BY-LAW NUMBER

A By-law to aid the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company, Limited. Passed the (day of 1901.

WHEREAS by the Acts of the Legislature of the Province of Ontario 36 Victoria, (Chapter 71 and 63 Victoria Chapter 99) it is enacted and provided amongst other things that it shall and may be lawful for the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough aid by way of bonus the promotion of manufacture in or about the Town of Peterborough to the extent and in the manner therein provided and amongst other things by acquiring any lands or buildings and granting the same or the use thereof to any person or persons or body corporate for manufacturing purposes and that the by-law granting such bonus shall have been submitted to and approved of by the majority of the qualified electors voting thereon in the same manner as with money by-laws requiring the assent of the electors.

AND WHEREAS the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company, Limited, have represented to the Council of the Town of Peterborough that they propose to establish in the said Town a manufacturing plant for the production of rope and cordage, and to erect two substantial brick buildings, one of which will be ninety feet wide by three hundred feet long and the other fifty feet wide by two hundred feet long and to install therein within one year forty-five thousand dollars worth of machinery, the plant to have capacity of five tons of rope and cordage per day, and to give employment to about seventy-five hands, and have applied to the Council for the establishment of such manufacturing plant.

AND WHEREAS the Council of the Town of Peterborough has resolved to grant to the said Company a bonus of four thousand five hundred dollars for the purchase of Lots Numbers Eight and Nine south of Perry Street and West of George Street in the Town of Peterborough and Lots Numbers Eight and Nine North of Lake Street and West of George Street in the said Town of Peterborough, and by granting partial exemption from taxation subject to the approval of the Legislature by fixing the assessment of the said property as hereinafter mentioned.

AND WHEREAS it is desirable and in the public interest to encourage the promotion of said manufacturing establishment as aforesaid.

AND WHEREAS it will be necessary to borrow by the issue of debentures the said sum of four thousand five hundred dollars.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the whole rateable property of the Municipality according to the last revised assessment Roll for the year 1901 is the sum of Four Million Two hundred and ninety-four thousand, seven hundred and ninety-five dollars.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the existing debenture debt of the Municipality exclusive of the local improvement debt is the sum of Two hundred and fifty-three thousand and forty-one dollars and sixty-seven cents, and there is no part of the interest or principal in arrears.

AND WHEREAS for the purpose of paying the interest on the said debentures and providing a sinking fund for the payment of same at maturity it will be necessary to raise each year during the currency of the said debentures by special rate the sum of $689.13.

The Corporation of the Town of Peterborough by the Council therefore enacts as follows:—

1. This By-law shall take effect on the date of the final passing thereof as to all the provisions thereof except those relating to the fixing of the Assessment of the said property, and as to so much of the said By-law as relates to the fixing of the Assessment of the said property, the same shall take effect on and only upon the confirmation thereof by the Legislature of the Province of Ontario, and on the event of such confirmation not being obtained and until such confirmation shall be obtained if at all the remainder of said By-law shall be in full force and effect.

2. It shall and may be lawful for the said Corporation to borrow the sum of Four thousand five hundred dollars and to issue debentures of the said Corporation of the Town of Peterborough for the said sum of Four thousand five hundred dollars, such debentures to be sealed with the Corporate Seal of the Town of Peterborough and to be signed by the Mayor and Treasurer and countersigned by the Secretary of the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust, to be payable within twenty years after the issue thereof and to bear interest, at the rate of four per cent payable annually, on the principal sum of Four thousand five hundred dollars, on the first day of June and the thirty-first day of December in each year and to have coupons attached thereto for the payment of such interest. Such debentures, as to principal and interest, shall be payable at the office of the Secretary of the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust in the Town of Peterborough.

3. There shall be raised and levied during each year of the currency of the said debentures by a special rate upon all of the property in the Town of Peterborough liable thereto the sum of $100.00 for payment of the interest and $169.13 as a sinking fund for the payment of the said debt at the maturity thereof making together the sum of $689.13.

4. The proceeds of the said debentures for the sum of Four thousand five hundred dollars when sold shall be given to the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company, Limited, to aid the said Company in the promotion of the said manufacturing establishment by the payment of the purchase money of the said lands upon and only upon and subject to the terms and conditions hereinafter mentioned and until those conditions shall have been fully performed and satisfied the said Company shall not be entitled to the said money or to any interest or right to the same.

The conditions upon which the said grant shall be made are as follows:—

(a) That the said Company shall on or before the fifteenth day of July 1902 erect and complete two substantial brick buildings for the purpose of their manufacturing, one of which shall be not less than ninety feet wide by three hundred feet long and of suitable and proportionate height, and the other not less than fifty feet wide by two hundred feet long and of suitable and proportionate height.

(b) That the said Company shall on or before the fifteenth day of July 1902 install in the said buildings at least forty-five thousand dollars worth of machinery for the manufacture of rope and cordage.

(c) That the plant so established and installed shall have a capacity of five tons of rope and cordage per day in addition to such binder twine.

(d) That the Company shall on or before the fifteenth day of July 1902 have their said manufacturing establishment in running order, and in actual operation and employ at least seventy-five hands.

(e) That the conveyance of the said lands to the said Company shall contain and be subject to the condition that in the event of the said land within the period of ten years from the conveyance thereof to the said Company ceasing to be bona fide used for the manufacture of binder twine, rope and cordage or other manufacturing business approved by the Town Council substantially according to the capacity thereof, for the period of twelve consecutive months, then the said lands shall revert to and become the absolute property of the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough and free from any claim thereto of the said Company or their assigns unless the said Company or their assigns shall within six months after such period of twelve months for which the said lands shall have ceased to be used as aforesaid, apply to the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough for the full sum of Four thousand five hundred dollars provided aforesaid in the event of the failure to use said lands as aforesaid being due to strikes or destruction of the buildings or machinery in either case one year) shall not be counted in the said period of twelve months to entitle the Corporation to resume the ownership of said lands or to be paid the value of the said lands as aforesaid. The conveyance of said lands to be in form approved by the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough actually protecting the interests of the Town Corporation.

6. Subject to the provisions of this paragraph being continued by the Legislature of the Province of Ontario the assessment of the said lands including the buildings, machinery and plant thereon, shall be fixed at the sum of Four thousand five hundred dollars for the period of ten years commencing on the first day of January 1902 and the return and oath of the assessor in respect thereof shall be amended accordingly.

7. MILL RE-OPENED BY STEEL CORPORATION

But Strikers Claim That the Trust Will Not be Able to Keep up Operation.

PRES. COMBERS IN CONFERENCE WITH SHAFFER.

No Violence as Yet, Though it is Expected in Case the General Strike Order Goes into Effect.

Pittsburg, Aug. 8.—Events are moving quickly in the steel strike now, and unless there is some outlook for intervention the contending sides will soon face one another in the full measure of their strength.

This morning the United States Steel Corporation succeeded in reopening the Farm Mill at the Lindsay and Melton plant, and President Samuel J. Comper, of the American Federation of Labor, arrived here to confer with President Shaffer, of the Amalgamated Association. The steel corporation counts the reopening of the Lindsay and Melton plant, and President Samuel J. TO GIVE MONEY TO THE BOERS

Ghamberlain Explains the Plan of The South African Grant.

THE NATIVE SLAVERY BANNED

London, Aug. 8.—During the discussion in the House of Commons on the proposal to grant £5,000,000 ($12,500,000) in aid of the Transvaal and Orange River Colonies, Mr. William Vernon Harcourt, an ardent supporter of the Government's measures, said:

In reply, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain admitted that the Government's first duty was to the loyal refugees, and he intended to make the money would not be spent for that purpose. Continuing, the Secretary for the Colonies said:

"It is also a matter of Imperial policy to give the necessary support to those of our enemies who come into our hands, five million pounds of the vote is for a rolling stock. A large sum will be devoted to relieving the Boers on their farms, and an expenditure will be made in the direction of agricultural settlements."

"There is no intention of confederation. We have had offers of land at reasonable prices, and a portion of the vote will be devoted to the purchase of such land, with a view of enabling men who volunteered for the war to settle when the war is over."

He described the question of handling the natives as "a most difficult and delicate" one, demanding great consideration. While the natives must be taught to work, nothing in the nature of slavery is permitted, and a revision of the "contract and arbitrary native labor laws" was necessary.

KINCORA SUNK BY THE OCEANIC

Seven Lives Lost by a Collision
In the Irish Channel.

THE COLLISION OF TWO VESSELS

Queenstown, Aug. 8.—The White Star steamer Kincora, Captain Cameron, which sailed for Liverpool yesterday for New York via Queenstown, arrived here this morning, and reported having been in collision last night in the Irish channel with the steamer Kincora, of Waterford, Ireland. The Kincora sank, seven persons were drowned. The Kincora was a coastal steamer of 450 tons, and belonged to the Waterford Steamship Company.

The collision occurred in a fog. The bow of the Oceanic was damaged, including between Waterford and Liverpool. She had a crew of fourteen men. The Oceanic brought the seven survivors to this port.

The damage sustained by the Oceanic will not prevent her proceeding on her journey.

Later details of the collision show that the only damage sustained by the Oceanic consisted in a few dents to her port plates. She proceeded at 4:30 p.m. The collision occurred this side of New York, at about 1:30 in the morning. The fog was very dense. The Kincora was struck amidships. All the passengers of the Oceanic were saved. There was some commotion until Captain Cameron assured them that there was not the least cause for alarm.

Headway was kept on the Oceanic after she struck the Kincora in order to give the crew the latter a chance to clamber on the Oceanic.

The boats were lowered to rescue every man possible. The Kincora sank very rapidly. The Oceanic remained in the vicinity of the collision until daylight, but nothing was then visible beyond some floating wreckage.

ARRESTED FOR SELBY ROBBERY

Police Have Placed "Back" Taylor
In Custody as a Suspect.

THE REWARD RAISED TO $35,000

San Francisco, Aug. 8.—The police have now in custody a man known as "Back" Taylor, who is suspected of complicity in the robbery of the Selby smelting works. He was employed in the works until about six weeks ago, when he quit, saying that he was ill. He lived in a cabin half a mile from the smelting plant, and it is said he had been missing from Sunday night until he was taken into custody yesterday. He was subjected to a rigid examination by the authorities, who express confidence that they are on the trail of the criminals. It is also reported that men now in the employ of the smelting company are under suspicion. As a stimulus to the efforts of the army of detectives who are working on the case, the Selby Company has increased the reward offered from $20,000 to $35,000. This reward will be paid for the arrest and conviction of the criminals and for the return of the gold. The company places its return loss at $250,000.

ETIQUETTE OF THE DUKE'S VISIT

Questions Submitted to Governor
General's Military Secretary

THE MATTERS OF PRECEDENCE

Montreal, Aug. 8.—A number of questions have been submitted in writing to Major Maude, military secretary of his Excellency, concerning matters of precedence in the reception to the Duke. His answers are as follows:

What is the precedence of the Lieutenant-Governor and the Mayor of any city? The Lieutenant-Governor takes precedence to the Mayor, except when, on this occasion, their Royal Highnesses are the guests of a city.

What is the precedence of consuls as between themselves? Consuls-General and Consuls are nowhere mentioned in the Canadian list of precedence, their positions being commercial and not diplomatic.

Will a royal carriage be sent to the various cities? Royal carriages and postillions for the Royal Highnesses and landau and pair for their Excellencies will be sent.

Order and occupants of carriages in the procession? Their Royal Highnesses will take their own personal staff in their carriage with them. This also applies to their Excellencies' carriages. In the procession their Royal Highnesses' carriages come last, their Excellencies' carriages next, followed by the Mayor and his staff.

What does half mourning mean? Mourne, black and white.

What is the exact precedence of: 1. The Admiral; 2. Lieutenant-Governor; 3. Bishop; 4. Archbishop; 5. R. C. according to date of consecration as bishop; 6. Lord (Chief Justice); 7. The Mayor; 8. The clergy have no precedence. Placed according to the Canadian table of precedence. (Sir Wilfrid Laurier comes between Nos. 3 and 4). Members of the Provincial Executive Council come after members of the Dominion House, but of course before members of the Provincial Legislature.

In the procession to the drill hall, does a band head the procession? No.

The correct form is for the chairman to rise, and propose the health of his Majesty the King, and Queen Alexandra, which is then drunk, after which the chairman again rises and proposes the health of their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, and His Royal Highness makes only reply to both toasts.

TO HAVE NEW EARS AND NOSE

Actors Undergo Operations to Improve Appearances.

THEY ARE ENCLOSED IN PLASTER

New York, Aug. 8.—Two actors, prevented thus far by physical deformities from becoming matinee idols are in St. Luke's Hospital awaiting the efforts of nature to follow out the work begun by two operations. When they leave the institution, three weeks from now, Arthur Charlesworth will have a new pair of ears and Walter Burke will have a new nose. Both of the actors are twenty-six years old and have followed the dramatic profession for several years. They discovered their features were not fair to look upon under the calcium glow, so they decided to have changes made, and three weeks ago they went to St. Luke's Hospital for that purpose.

Mr. Charlesworth had been troubled from his birth by ears which had a stubborn way of standing out almost at right angles with his head. As the years wore on this peculiarity grew more marked. He decided that unless he wished to be an eccentric comedian or to play Nick Bottom in the legitimate it would be necessary to have the ears closer to his head. Dr. Robert Albion removed certain muscles and bound the ears down by means of a bandage. When the bandages are removed it is expected that the ears will be entirely normal in their appearance.

Owing to dilated nostrils Mr. Burke's nose had the appearance of being rather large and flat. Dr. Albion removed certain cartilages and means of a few stitches gave the features another form. The nose is now enclosed in plaster. The removal of the supporting pillar of cartilage in three weeks will leave a nose of aristocratic outline, it is hoped. It is the ambition of the young actors to star and they think that their success will be assured when they have overcome their deformities. They are able to walk about the hospital, and when the opportunity offers, they entertain nurses and physicians with recitations.

MAY SETTLE THE STRIKE

New York, Aug. 8.—The Commercial-Advertiser says that a settlement of the steel strike may not be far away. It is learned that independent influences are at work, which may surprise everybody within the next few days. Mr. Morgan is silent, but it is believed that he has received important communications from persons strong enough and independent enough to bring about a settlement before

WILL NOT STRIKE

Marietta, Ohio, Aug. 8.—President Jenkins, of the local branch of the Amalgamated Association, says the men who are employed at the local mill will not strike. They have signed a contract for a year, and cannot possibly quit work. The mill is owned by the Republic Iron and Steel Company.

Youngstown, Ohio, Aug. 8.—According to the officials of the Ohio plant of the National Steel Company, their men will pay no attention to the strike order. The plant is a new union and employs 3,000 hands.

ACQUITTAL BY THE TRIAL

New York, Aug. 8.—It is announced here that the United States Steel Corporation has obtained control of the locally known Tube Works, a corporation with its mills in various parts of the country producing tubes of all kinds but principally of the higher grade.

The weekly product of the combined mills is about 6,000 tons of tubes. The mills owned by the Selby Company are operated by non-union men.

HOME FROM THE WAR

A Gallant Strathcona's Opinion of The Trouble in South Africa.

NO USE FOR IMPERIAL OFFICER

Hamilton, Aug. 9.—Another khaki clad hero from the South African war arrived in the city last night—Sgt. John Hobson, son of Mr. Joseph I. Hobson, Bay street south. Sgt. Hobson, who was called by his fellow soldiers in South Africa, stands 6 feet 4 inches and tips the beam at 200 pounds.

Sgt. Hobson left Hamilton 12 years ago for Medicine Hat and enlisted with Strathcona's Horse at 22 months ago. He left Pretoria on June 4th and arrived home on the 10th of August.

While in South Africa he served under Buller, Dundonald, French, Alderson and lastly Malabale Wilson whom he describes as a cracker, the king pin of them all.

A year ago Sgt. Hobson's horse was shot from under him while charging a kopje and he was taken prisoner. During his two months' detention he met Charley Kruger, a son of Oom Paul, whom he terms a good fellow. He says that he was treated A. 1 during the time he was prisoner and says that Chas. Theron, a Boer scout, had charge of him as "one of the finest fellows I ever met." The close approach of French's cavalry caused his captors to break camp allowing Hobson to make his way back to the British lines.

Sgt. Hobson speaks a good word for Boer bravery, the don't-know-when-they-are-beaten spirit.

When asked his opinion of the officers he gave a vehement denunciation of the "aristocratic, single-eyed imperial officer." But he tells a different story about the colonials. "Steele, Pagett, Plumer, Dartnell and Brabant you can cap off with Malabale Wilson who I think is one of the finest in the world," said the gallant sergeant.

GAT HOWARD'S DEATH

Newly Returned Scout Reiterates
the Murder Story.

DISARMED, THEN SHOT DOWN.

Toronto, Aug. 9.—Sergeant Muirhead, of Winnipeg, one of Howard's Scouts, who has just returned from South Africa, and is in the city on his way home, does not take the view of Sergeant Muirhead and others that Major Howard fell in a fair fight. Sergeant Muirhead was with the scouting party, led by Major Howard, when that officer was shot down. Howard was in advance of the party, with his orderly, and a Kafir boy, when he was confronted by a party of Boers, and ordered to surrender. There was no other course for him but to give up, and he threw up his hands, the Boers coming forward and taking from him his revolver. The morning was very misty, and the enemy did not notice the approach of a party of Howard's men. As soon as they saw that they were outnumbered they shot down the unarmed party Major Howard and his orderly, and the orderly, and the Kafir boy one, and ran away.

Sergeant Muirhead has no complaint to make of the treatment accorded the men in South Africa or on the way home. The commissary arrangements were splendid, and the only wonder is that England was able to look after such a large army so well.

It is the intention of Muirhead to return to the Transvaal Colony, as soon as peace is firmly established, and work in the mines. Many of the soldiers will remain in South Africa, he says, and secure positions. A few of the scouts who intended to come home at the expiration of their six months' service, decided at the last moment to remain for a reason not before hinted at. In a pleasant little game of draw they got separated from all the available cash, and concluded to stay behind to gather a little change for spending money on their way home.

WORKINGMEN SCORE CARNEGIE

Some of His Money Should go to His Employees.

ALSO TO WIDOWS AND ORPHANS

Montreal, Aug. 9.—The Homestead strike and its fatal results rise up frequently in the minds of the working men of this city should Carnegie's gift of $150,000 for a Public Library. The working men are not enthusiastic and in most cases so far have condemned the acceptance of the gift. The matter will be brought up for discussion at the meeting of the Federated Trades Council on Thursday next.

The iron moulders last evening adopted a strongly worded resolution protesting against the city doing anything that would perpetuate the name of Andrew Carnegie, and setting forth that some of his money should find its way into the pockets of the men who have to stand the heat of the rolling mills and to the widows and orphans who have been deprived of their bread winners through the actions of Mr. Carnegie. The brass workers also denounced it and denounced it as a soporific bribe to society to shut their eyes to the huge robbery of the combines. Their delegates were instructed to bring the matter up at the Federated Trades Council and demand an expression of opinion.

Killed a Big Black Snake.

Montreal, Aug. 8. Mr. J. H. Harding holds the record for having killed the largest blacksnake ever known to have been seen in this country. Hearing a child's screams, while out for a stroll on his far near this city, he rushed to the spot to find his five-year-old boy, Henry Harding, struggling in the coils of an immense blacksnake. Harding succeeded in severing the monster's head from its body, and upon measuring it the reptile was found to be 7 feet 3 inches long and 16 inches in circumference at the largest part of its body.

THE BOER PRISONERS.

They Are Held in Many Parts of the Empire.

INDIES AND ST. HELENA

The Principal Prison Places of the Sturdy Boer Warriors.

London, Aug. 9.—The Boer prisoners are wearying of their long imprisonment, and long for the termination of hostilities. Especially is this noticeable in St. Helena, where 1,000 prisoners are in confinement.

A small sketch may just published shows the places in Portugal, and India where hundreds of the Boers captured in South Africa, are now kept in confinement. Having destroyed the prisoners from India to Bermuda it will certainly not be long for them to be sent to the British Government.

Cronje's soldiers, the first large party to fall into the hands of the British, were landed on the island of St. Helena in April last year, and have been living ever since on Deadwood Plain, as the islanders call the plateau that rises about six hundred feet above the sea on one side the port of Jamestown.

Another part of the Boer army, 700 in number, marched eastward over the Transvaal frontier into Portuguese territory. They were captured near Kouma Port, the gateway through the mountains by which the railroad from Lourenco Marques ascends to the Transvaal plateau. They were sent to Portugal at the expense of the British Government, which is now paying the cost of their maintenance. Four hundred of them are confined in the citadel at Peniche, a small fortress on a peninsula jutting out into the sea a little north of Lisbon. It is a very secluded place, the few thousand inhabitants around the citadel being devoted almost exclusively to lime-making. Four hundred men are all that the storage capacity of the citadel would accommodate and so the other 300, excepting the officers, were sent to Alcobaca, a few miles inland. Commandant Penazar, who was in charge of the party when it surrendered, kept a prisoner at Thomar, about 50 miles northeast of Lisbon, where still stands the famous monastery of the

URGES FILIPINOS TO FIGHT

Agulnido's Successor Issues a Proclamation to the People.

Manila, Aug. 9.—Miguel Malabale, who has been recognized as the successor of Agulnido by the Filipino junta at Hong-kong, has issued a proclamation, dated July 16, copies of which arrived here this morning, urging acquiescence to the native of the continuation of an active campaign and expressing hope for its successful issue.

The proclamation, of which 50,000 copies have been printed, purports to emanate from Matigang. It is a characteristic insurgent document, charging the Americans with all sorts of atrocities and promising the loss of arms and ammunition and the death of their distinguished American officers, July 10, all of which, it says, the authorities concealed. The proclamation threatens general strikes with death for treachery and warns all Filipinos who surrender that they will never be able to leave outside the American lines. Malabale claims he has sufficient arms and supplies to continue the fighting indefinitely.

The American officials believe the proclamation was really written by Agulnido, the former representative of Agulnido in Europe, at Hong-Kong, and that he probably has never seen Malabale. Strong efforts are being made by the police to prevent the distribution of the proclamation.

OPPOSE A COLONIAL ARMY

Berlin, Aug. 9.—Referring to the published statement that the imperial government has decided to organize a colonial force with the troops which have left China, using this as a nucleus of a future colonial army, the Freisinnige Zeitung expressed the opinion that such an attempt could lead to a new conflict between the government and the Reichstag.

Emperor William has appointed an honorary committee to receive the body of Baron Von Ketteler, Germany's former minister to China, who was murdered in Peking, which is due to arrive at Bremerhaven Aug. 9 on the Falala. The committee includes several high military and naval officials, and also a foreign office delegation.

REVERSE FOR THE UNIONS

House of Lords Reverses Important Decision in Boycotting Case.

London, Aug. 9.—The house of lords today rendered an important judgment affecting trade unions. The case was brought up on appeal from the judgment of the Irish courts awarding a wholesale butcher damages against the Butchers' Assistants' association, which brought pressure to bear on retailers to boycott the plaintiff until he dismissed a certain non-union employee, threatening otherwise to call out the union employees of the firm concerned, and finally induced the non-unionists to leave the plaintiff. The lords dismissed the appeal on the ground that the alleged acts of wrongful and malicious conspiracy were not undertaken to advance the interests of the workmen themselves, but solely to injure the plaintiff.

A GOLFER'S SCRAP.

Trouble on the Links in Which Two Players Have a Bet.

Considerable interest is taken by our citizens, especially those connected with the Golf Club, in a scrap that is said to have taken place between the captain of one of the teams and one of the alleged golf players.

It is somewhat difficult to obtain the facts, but from what can be gathered it appears that a visiting club came to town a few days ago, one man shot, and several plays had to be left off in order to even the teams up. The captain of the local club laid off Mr. J. W. Carrin, but that player refused to be so treated. He, so it is said, vigorously protested, and backed up his protest by force, in fact, so the Times is informed, he "went for" the Captain in good style, and succeeded in giving the latter a few blows in the ribs, just to prove, as it were, that he is not only a "golfer" in the club, but also a worthy pugilist as well.

Had it not been for the timely intervention of a fellow, it might have fared badly for Mr. G., for his opponent was "mad all the way through," and was prepared to give his antagonist a well-needed lesson, when the combatants were parted.

At a meeting of the Managing Committee of the Club held on Wednesday night the matter was referred to a committee to ascertain the facts, when the Club will take action. Just what that action may be is only a matter of conjecture. The matter, it is said, can be arranged by electing the pugilistic ally of Carrin to the position of General Manager and first player in the Club, a position which if it is to be considered more than a qualification to DEATH OF A YOUNG LADY IN CHEMONG LAKE.

Miss Beale Dixon, of Maple Creek, N.W.T., Lost Her Life—She Was a Wife of Mr. A. K. Dixon, at Whose Cottage She Was Visiting.

One of the saddest drowning accidents that has taken place for years in this locality occurred at Chemong Lake, by which Miss Beale Dixon, whose home is in Maple Creek, N.W.T., lost her life yesterday morning.

It appears that the deceased young lady with her sister had arrived only the previous day from Belleville, where they had been attending school, and were only to spend a few days with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Dixon, of the town, who have a cottage at Chemong Park. It was arranged that the two, accompanied by their uncle, were to go fishing in the early morning, but the young lady with her sister had arrived only the previous day from Belleville, where they had been attending school, and were only to spend a few days with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Dixon, of the town, who have a cottage at Chemong Park. It was arranged that the two, accompanied by their uncle, were to go fishing in the early morning, but the young lady with her sister had arrived only the previous day from Belleville, where they had been attending school, and were only to spend a few days with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. CHINESE BUYING WAR MATERIAL

Wu Tung Fung, by the people of this country, Mr. Milner is quoted as saying of Minister Wu: "How much we influenced the course of our Government I do not know, but we must think we make a mistake in withdrawing our troops so soon. The Chinese are at this moment buying large quantities of war material. They are spending money in that way and are unable to pay indemnities because of poverty. The Mandarin class in China is untrustworthy. We ought not to take their word. Chinese diplomacy is not to be counted upon, and our Government makes a mistake when it builds upon it."

VISITORS FROM ORILLIA.

Five Hundred Visitors Take in the Town Yesterday.

Yesterday, being Orillia's civic holiday, an excursion was run under the auspices of the Fire Brigade and Band, of that place, to Peterborough. The excursion, which arrived at 11:30, by special train, and returned at 7:30.

The excursionists were accompanied by the fire band of the town, which played a number of selections in a very masterly manner. A company of local firemen, composed of Chief Rutherford, Assistant Chief Yelland, Secretary Theal and several others, met their train at the depot and during the day assisted in the distribution of excursions.

The 37th Regiment Band turned out to escort the visitors to the depot in the evening. The excursion party was a very large one. The train had two engines and nine coaches, all of which were crowded. The Orillians appeared to be well pleased with their reception.

COUGHING ALL NIGHT

An old cough. You're tired, many things and all you failed. You ought to be uneasy. Summer is here, so is the cough, and a summer cough is a dangerous one. You can get instant relief and speedy cure by breathing Calmarin. This remarkable lung and throat remedy relieves coughing, promotes expectoration and cures a cough in a few hours. Thousands say Calmarin is the best coughing cure for coughs and colds, and $1.00 at druggists.

BY-LAW NUMBER

A By-law to aid the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company, Limited. Passed the () day of 1901.

WHEREAS by the Acts of the Legislature of the Province of Ontario 36 Victoria, Chapter 71 and 53 Victoria, Chapter 99 A, in enacted and provided amongst other things that it shall and may be lawful for the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough to aid by way of bonus the promotion of manufactures in or about the Town of Peterborough to the extent and in the manner therein provided and amongst other things by acquiring any lands or buildings and erecting thereon a factory or other manufacturing buildings and to use the same for any purpose or purposes or body corporate for manufacturing purposes and that the Corporation may grant such bonus shall have been submitted to and approved of by the majority of the qualified electors voting thereon in the same manner as with money By-laws requiring the assent of the electors.

AND WHEREAS the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company, Limited, have represented to the Council of the Town of Peterborough that they propose to erect in the said Town a factory for the manufacture of rope and cordage, and to erect two hundred feet long, and to install therein within one year forty-five thousand dollars worth of machinery, the plant to have capacity of five thousand of binder twine per day and five thousand of rope and cordage per day, and to give employment to about twenty-five hands, and have applied to the Council for aid in the establishment of such factory by the granting of four thousand five hundred dollars for the purchase of Lots Number Eight and Nine south of Barry Street and West of George Street in the Town of Peterborough and Lots Number Eight and Nine North of Lake Street and West of George Street in the Town of Peterborough, and by granting partial exemption from taxation subject to the approval of the Legislature by fixing the assessment of the said property as hereinafter mentioned.

AND WHEREAS it is desirable and in the public interest to encourage the promotion of said manufacturing establishment as aforesaid.

AND WHEREAS it will be necessary to borrow by the said Town of Peterborough the sum of four thousand five hundred dollars.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the whole rateable property of the Municipality according to the last revised Assessment Roll being for the year 1901 is the sum of Four Million Two hundred and ninety-four thousand, seven hundred and ninety-five dollars.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the existing Debentures of the Municipality exclusive of the local improvement debt is the sum of Two hundred and fifty-three thousand and forty-one dollars and sixty-seven cents, and there is no part of the interest or principal in arrears.

AND WHEREAS for the purpose of paying the interest on the said Debentures and providing a sinking fund for the payment of same at maturity it will be necessary to raise each year during the currency of the said Debentures by special rate the sum of $29,13.

The Corporation of the Town of Peterborough by the Council thereof therefore enacts as follows:—

1. This By-law shall take effect on the date of the final passing thereof and to all the provisions thereof except those relating to the fixing of the Assessment of the said Company, and as to so much of the said By-law as relates to the fixing of the Assessment of the said Company, the same shall take effect upon and only upon the confirmation thereof by the Legislature of the Province of Ontario, and in the event of such confirmation not being obtained within the time specified in the said By-law, the said By-law shall be of no effect.

2. It shall and may be lawful for the said Corporation to borrow the sum of Four thousand five hundred dollars and to issue debentures of the said Corporation of the Town of Peterborough for the said sum of Four thousand five hundred dollars, and the said debentures to be sealed with the Corporate Seal of the Town of Peterborough and to be signed by the Mayor and Treasurer and countersigned by the Secretary of the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust, to be payable within twenty years after the issue thereof and to bear interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum, payable half yearly, on the thirty-first day of June and the thirty-first day of December in each year and to have coupons attached thereto for the payment of such interest, such Debentures, as to principal and interest to be payable at the office of the Secretary of the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust, in the Town of Peterborough.

3. There shall be raised and levied during each year of the currency of the said debentures by a special rate upon all of the property in the Town of Peterborough liable thereto the sum of $180.00 for payment of the interest and $109.13 as a sinking fund for the payment of the said debt at the maturity thereof making together the sum of $289.13.

4. The proceeds of the said Debentures for the sum of Four thousand five hundred dollars when sold shall be given to the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company, Limited, to aid the said Company in the promotion of the said manufacturing establishment by the payment of the purchase money of the said lands upon and only upon such subject to the terms and conditions hereinafter mentioned and until the said conditions shall have been fully performed and satisfied the said Company shall not be entitled to the said moneys or to any interest on or right to the same.

The conditions upon which the said grant shall be made are as follows:—

(a) The said Company shall on or before the fifteenth day of July 1902 erect and complete two substantial brick buildings for the purpose of their manufacturing, one of which shall be not less than ninety feet wide by three hundred feet long and of suitable and proportionate height, and the other not less than fifty feet wide by two hundred feet long and of suitable and proportionate height.

(b) That the Company shall on or before the fifteenth day of July 1902 install in the said buildings at least forty-five thousand dollars worth of machinery for the manufacture of binder twine, rope and cordage.

(c) That the plant or establishment and installed shall have a capacity of five thousand of binder twine per day and three thousand of rope and cordage per day in addition to such binder twine.

(d) That the Company shall on or before the fifteenth day of July 1902 have the said manufacturing establishment in working order, and in actual operation and employ at least seventy-five hands.

(e) That the conveyance of the said lands to the Company shall contain and be subject to the condition that in the event of the said land within the period of ten years from the conveyance thereof to the said Company owing to be bona fide used for the manufacture of binder twine, rope and cordage or other manufacturing business approved by the Town Council substantially according to the capacity thereof, for the period of twelve consecutive months, then the said lands shall revert to and become the absolute property of the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough and free from any claim thereto of the said Company or their assigns unless the said Company or their assigns shall within six months after such period of twelve months for which the said lands shall have ceased to be used as aforesaid, being due to strikes or destruction of the buildings or machinery by fire or landslip the time during which the said lands shall be so used be used in consequence of such strikes or destruction of the buildings or machinery (not exceeding in either case one year) shall not be counted in the said period of twelve months to entitle the Corporation to resume the ownership of said lands or to be paid the value of the said lands as aforesaid. The conveyance of the said lands to be in form approved by the Town Council for most effectually protecting the interests of the Town Corporation.

6. Subject to the provisions of this paragraph being confirmed by the Legislature of the Province of Ontario the assessment of the said lands including the buildings, machinery and plant thereon, shall be fixed at the sum of four thousand five hundred dollars for the period of ten years commencing on the first day of January 1902 and the return and oath of the assessor in respect thereof shall be amended accordingly.

7. The votes of the duly qualified electors of the Town of Peterborough shall be taken upon this By-law on Tuesday, the thirteenth day of August, 1901, commencing at the hour of 9 o'clock in the afternoon and closing at the hour of five o'clock in the afternoon of the same day at the following polling places and before the following Deputy Returning Officers respectively, that is to say:—

It is the cure of cases where other medicines fail that has made the great reputation for Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets

John S. Sturgeon, living on the island, Almonte, used one bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, and this is his report: "I used Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, and they did my kidneys more good than anything I ever got before. I have had a very bad back, and my kidneys were very bad. The annoyance was much from the secretions. I was also a victim of indigestion, belching of wind and a sensation of fullness, owing to an accumulation of gas. I had tried many remedies, but nothing did me any permanent good, till reading of these tablets I went down to Mr. Patterson, the druggist and got a bottle. I did not follow the directions strictly, but nevertheless they did me good. They relieved me of kidney trouble, I slept better and there were no more acute twinges in my back when lifting or stooping. I certainly can recommend them as an excellent for all forms of kidney complaint."

Mrs. W. Singer, 28 Railway street, St. Thomas, Ont., says: "Some four years ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism and neuritis, and since then my back and kidneys have been bad. Sometimes I have been laid up after doing heavy work washing, ironing and sewing machine work, when I really felt unable. I have tried other remedies, but this Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets that I got of H. E. Spencer, druggist, is by far the best. I feel quick and certain relief, taking three at a dose three times a day. I did not take over two-thirds of a bottle and an well. I consider them a splendid medicine."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets cure backache, lame or weak back, puffiness under the eye, swelling of the feet and ankles, gravel, brick dust deposits, scalding, smarting, or irritation, frequent urinating at night and all kidney and bladder troubles of young and old. Price 50 cents a box at all druggists. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Company, Toronto, Ont.

THE PRISONER ESCAPED.

The hooded burglar takes French leave after being arrested.

A burglar named Bailey, who was arrested and who was to have had his trial yesterday before County Judge Magistrate Edmondson, got away shortly before the hour of his trial. The fellow, who was a resident of the village, broke into Mr. W. A. Campbell's house and stole a suit and clothes. He took to a pond in the village, and after it bathed, put them on. The clothes were recognized and he was arrested. (Quincy F. M. Edmondson went down at noon yesterday to give him his trial, but the prisoner was gone.)

It seems he secured a plank and with it pried apart the iron maw of the window and thus escaped.

Although he was seen by several people he was not located, and the trial did not take place.

CITY OF PETERBOROUGH AUGUST 9th.

Avoid the crush and come with the Oddfellows.

—The Board of Council are to be congratulated on starting The Work.

It would seem that the people of Douro have at length wakened up to the folly of permitting Buckley's Lake longer remaining a pesthouse for the people of the county. A plan to take advantage of the Ontario Drainage Act to convert that swamp and bog into meadow and pasture lands. Our old townsman, Mr. E. H. Blackwell, has been retained by the Council and has made a very careful report upon this scheme, which together with the plans and specifications were submitted to the Council on the 30th inst. A large number of the farmers and others interested in the work attended at the Town Hall and considered the report which was thought by all to be very complete and satisfactory. Much surprise was also felt that work could be done so thoroughly for so small a sum of money as that estimated, namely $2,750.80.

The expenditure of this sum for labor after the harvest is off should prove quite a bonanza to the young Douro farmers. Almost all the swamp areas of Ontario have no been brought under the County of Carleton near Ottawa, using under this year. The cost of the work is to be spread over a period of 10 years under an interest charge of four per cent. per annum and repaid by a small annual tax which the increased assessment of land will very soon cause to disappear.

Our friends in Douro are to be congratulated upon this evidence of enterprise and public spirit. We shall look forward with much interest to the completion of the work.

It is thought by sporting men here that the Central portion of the Lake owned by the Lakefield Portland Cement Company will make one of the finest driving and race tracks in the Dominion. The dried mud being perfectly firm and well adapted to speeding. The great bulk of the land surrounding the Lake is covered with the ordinary swampy growth of a considerable depth and when drained will make magnificent game lands.

LOCAL NEWS LETTERS

INDIAN RIVER.

—Miss Nora Walsh, of Boboyegon, is visiting Miss Mary O'Leary.

—Miss Theresa Garvey was visiting friends in Douro.

—During the past week Mr. Foley was visited by two of his cousins from Ireland. They seem well pleased with the new country.

—A very pleasant evening was spent at Mr. Heffernan's on the 4th inst. This was on the occasion of William's departure to the Northwest. The many friends wish him all kinds of good luck.

—The meeting of the cyclists was held at 7 P. M. on the third inst., owing to the hurried time. Mr. Burke was appointed chairman and he said it was no use to tell the purpose of the meeting, for he knew that every person was deeply interested in the club. He then called upon Mr. A. Whibbs, who thanked his promoters for electing him to such a position, and hoped that he would be successful as his predecessors. Mr. O'Leary next addressed the assembly. He said he represented the farmers of the club, and was going to see that they received their rights (applause). He showed the duties of the cyclists, and called upon Mr. J. Devlin, his worthy assistant, to show the advantages that the young farmers could receive. When Mr. Devlin had completed his speech, Mr. Walker was called upon to support the mechanics. Mr. Walker begged to be excused, owing to his sore throat. Mr. Frost gave a very interesting speech about the strike, and showed how it interfered with the races. The meeting then adjourned to meet in two weeks' time.

The meeting then adjourned to meet in two weeks' time.

—The meeting of the cyclists was held at 7 P. M. on the third inst., owing to the hurried time. Mr. Burke was appointed chairman and he said it was no use to tell the purpose of the meeting, for he knew that every person was deeply interested in the club. He then called upon Mr. A. Whibbs, who thanked his promoters for electing him to such a position, and hoped that he would be successful as his predecessors. Mr. O'Leary next addressed the assembly. He said he represented the farmers of the club, and was going to see that they received their rights (applause). He showed the duties of the cyclists, and called upon Mr. J. Devlin, his worthy assistant, to show the advantages that the young farmers could receive. When Mr. Devlin had completed his speech, Mr. Walker was called upon to support the mechanics. Mr. Walker begged to be excused, owing to his sore throat. Mr. Frost gave a very interesting speech about the strike, and showed how it interfered with the races. The meeting then adjourned to meet in two weeks' time.

CLAIMS THAT HE IS THE KING OF ENGLAND

English Arrival at Montreal Declares that he is King Edward and Creates Sensation.

HAS COME TO PREPARE FOR THE DUKE'S VISIT.

Wished to Personally Inspect Reception Arrangements—Threatened the Police With Decapitation—Ravings of an Insane Man.

Montreal, Aug. 9.—A stranger, dressed in faultless attire called at the Oriental Hotel and asked to be accommodated with a Turkish bath. Upon one of the officials refusing to perform a small office for him, the caller became angry, and then and there declared himself to be no less a personage than his Imperial Majesty, King Edward of England. As if to emphasize his claim, he ordered the proprietor to have a whole establishment of furniture, including the police of the central station and had him removed to police headquarters in the City Hall. There he was asked his name and address.

To the first question he answered: "My full name is Frederick George Edward, but you needn't put all that down, as I am Edward, King of England, and most people know me by that name."

WANTS DUKE GUARDED.
When asked his address, he replied: "At the present time I am making a tour of my colonies, and I wish to see that when my tour starts out on the visit to all the English possessions, my person may be properly guarded. When in England, I read at Marlborough House, which, of course, is London. You may put down that address." When queried with regard to his religion, he said he was a Catholic.

As the orderly proceeded with his questions, the fellow took offense at the manner in which he was addressed: "Do you not know," said he, "that I am the King of England. Please remember my rank and position in future, and when you address me, say 'Your Majesty,' if you please."

While the orderly was plying him with questions, he remained in the custody of two stalwart policemen, who held him pretty securely by the arms. This seemed to annoy him very considerably, and he finally asked the orderly to command the men to keep their hands off him. The officer, in obedience to the request, and continued writing.

A moment later the fellow turned on his guards with the command: "Take your hands off me. Don't you know it's high treason for any subject to lay hands on the King of England. If you don't desist, I'll have you arrested and sent into the Tower dungeons."

HANDS OFF THE KING!
As if by way of answer to his appeal, the men tightened their grip, and in desperation, the "King" again appealed to the official at the desk to order the men to loosen their hold. "Will you order these men to take their hands off their King? Are you not aware that disobedience of an order I may give amounts to high treason and is punishable with death. It is well that I have a forgiving nature, otherwise would order the immediate decapitation of you all!"

It was at this moment that a painful scene took place. The officers would not relinquish their grasp on the unfortunate man, and he made a tremendous effort to free himself. He was as strong as a lion and it was only when an officer seized him round the throat that he gave up the fight. This clutch around the neck secured to bring him, as he exclaimed: "Oh, my God! you are strangling your king, the Lord's anointed." He was then carried to one of the cells, where he was quieted down.

To a reporter he said: "Will you take a message to the Governor of the colony for me?" he asked. "If you do I'll give you $500 tomorrow. I want to see the Governor. He should be here, but he is evidently unaware that I am in the country. Will you take my message and make haste?"

NOTIFY THE GOVERNOR.

The reporter asked him if he had been long in the colony, and he replied, "About a fortnight. You see, my visit was not pre-arranged, and therefore I didn't notify the Governor. I felt, however, that I would like to personally observe the arrangements that have been made for protecting my son during his tour, and I therefore decided to make the tour. Under ordinary circumstances the Governor would be here, and I would not have had to go to him. I greatly regret the circumstances which have led me to ask you to bring him here."

At this moment a policeman appeared at the door of the cell, where he was greeted with a command to release the "king."

"Here you official of my army and servant of your King, do your duty, and take me out of here," were the words he heard. "If you can't do it, yourself command a company of men. They at least realize the duty they owe to their sovereign and are held him pretty securely by the arms. This seemed to annoy him very considerably, and he finally asked the orderly to command the men to keep their hands off him. The officer, in obedience to the request, and continued writing.

A moment later the fellow turned on his guards with the command: "Take your hands off me. Don't you know it's high treason for any subject to lay hands on the King of England. If you don't desist, I'll have you arrested and sent into the Tower dungeons."

A BITTER ASSAULT ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

American Lawyer Says Mrs. Eddy Is a Charlatan.

ALSO CONSIDERS HER A FAKE.

Mr. F. W. Peabody, who was attorney for the celebrated antagonist Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy for many years, passed through Peterborough yesterday on his way to Stony Lake. He was seen by The Times and talked at length of Mrs. Eddy, the leader and founder of what is known as the Christian Science movement.

"Christian science," he declared, "is a shame and a fraud, an imposition from beginning to end, in that it falsely pretends to be a revelation from God communicated directly to its founder, Mrs. Eddy."

Mr. Peabody went on to say that Mrs. Eddy is now 50 years of age and in feeble physical condition, but that she has become rich and powerful through the teaching and practice of Christian science. Then he said:

"Mary Eddy was born in Bow, N. H. 35 years ago. The first 50 years of her life were lived in complete insignificance. Before her alleged discovery of Christian science Mrs. Eddy picked up a precarious existence as a spiritualist medium, so called, giving public seances for money in and about Boston."

Mr. Peabody then told of Mrs. Eddy's three husbands, Glover, Patterson and Eddy, and said:

"And many believe that in the course of time the widow Eddy became and is today the wife of C. A. Fryer (her private secretary). Mrs. Eddy is ostensibly Mrs. Eddy's servant, footman, secretary, man-of-all-work, but he holds the legal title to her residence in Concord, N. H., and to all the ground about it, the place. And not only is Mr. Fryer Mrs. Eddy's servant and secretary, but he is also the owner of her lands and houses and horses and carriages, the appliances of the house, and the

and to all the personal property upon crops upon her extensive estate, but he is the legal owner of her costly jewels, of the diamond cross she wears at her breast."

Mr. Peabody said regarding the discovery of Christian science: "Mrs. Eddy claims to have discovered Christian science in 1866, while it is shown to be false by evidence that she knew all there is to Christian science in 1864, and received it from Dr. Phineas P. Quimby of Portland, Me."

"Every healer," said Mr. Peabody, "is an agent for Mrs. Eddy's books, and they tell patients there can be no permanent cures or enduring happiness without the works she turns out."

Mr. Peabody continued: "The woman who has accumulated a fortune by the methods stated, and who has imposed upon the credulity of many thousands of religious people, to build up a powerful organization of which she has made herself the whimsical and despotic dictator, is the woman, forsooth, whom the Creator of the universe selected to be the successor of Jesus."

Regarding the statements that Mrs. Eddy has given away great amounts of money, Mr. Peabody stated that history of the land occupied by the mother church in Boston. He declared that Mrs. Eddy secured this by foreclosing a $5,000 mortgage on land worth three times that amount, freezing out the other owners, and then giving the land to a new society, retaining to herself right of re-entry at any time and possession of any structure thereon.

In the same way in transferring the Christian science publications, Mr. Peabody declared, she reserved the right to repossess herself of her being at any time of them."

Rheumatism Is a Constitutional Disease
The pain and localized conditions are mere results of constitutional conditions. Poisoned blood sends forth evil influence to various parts of the body, and to cure permanently you must treat it constitutionally. Nothing so completely dispels these poisons as the system as Ferro-China. It makes new blood. It imports vitality and vigor, enabling the system against the weakening effects of rheumatism, and cures, not simply relieves, the most stubborn cases. THE PARTING OF THE WAYS IN THE GREAT STEEL STRIKE

Army of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers Expected to Throw Down Tools Today

APPEALS ARE CONSTANTLY MADE TO MESSRS. COMPERS AND SHAFFER

They Are Asked to Use Their Influence to Settle the Dispute—Trust Reaches Out to the South

Pittsburg, Aug. 12.—The general strike order of President Shaffer for the Amalgamated Association becomes effective today, and an army of 25,000 iron, steel and tin workers in which it is expected to throw down its tools at the close of the last turn and join their brethren already on strike to the number of 50,000 or more. At the strike headquarters all was quiet, as the Carnegie building, from which the steel interests are being directed, was quiet, and the ordinary business day. With the approaching side of the parting of the ways there is still much talk of a settlement. Strong appeals have been made to both President Shaffer and President Compers asking that they throw their influence toward a settlement, and various plans for averting a general strike have been discussed and offered by interested men on the outside. There may yet come a powerful peace-maker with a form of compact that will be accepted by both sides, but the present strike seems inevitable.

Excellent order still prevails throughout the district. George Marsh, a strike breaker employed at the Lindsay and McClellan mill, one department which started up two days ago, with a non-union crew, was assaulted and seriously beaten yesterday, but that is the only case of the kind reported in the last 24 hours.

New York, Aug. 10.—After a conference of two days with President Shaffer, President Compers, of the American Federation of Labor, has returned to the city, stating that he is upholding the position of the Amalgamated Association and pledging the moral and financial support of the Federation in the strike against the United States Steel Corporation. The trust has ordered the great Denver wood plant at McKeesport to be dismantled, and removed to the Kiskimuttee valley, because, it is said, the officials and citizens of McKeesport are in sympathy with the strikers. It is reported also that the plant of the National Tube Company at McKeesport will be abandoned and a plan revived for a tube plant at Conneaut, Ohio. Various estimates are given of the number of workmen who will lobby President Shaffer's call, and go out tonight, but the strike leaders make it 15,000.

STROKES KEEP STEADY.
There is less talk among financial men about the strike than there was a few days ago. Well informed persons say that they do not believe that the Federation will fight more than financial men are willing to fight. With regard to Shaffer's order, they say its effect cannot be forecasted with certainty. There is evidently a disposition among financiers to sup guessing until the order goes into effect. Steel stocks showed a decline of a fraction of a point, closing at 41.2 for the common and 37.8 for the preferred. According to the brokers' operations in the stock indicate nervousness, but no lack of faith in the ability of the corporation to handle the strike.

Reports of another conference between the officials of the trust and the president of the Federation are being awaited.

A GRAVE OUTLOOK.

Washington, Aug. 12

A Washington despatch states that the gravest feature of the strike situation is that the Federation of Labor may order out the railway men on all lines handling the steel trusts' products.

The result of an action of this kind would tie up half the industries of the United States, and create a period of anarchy, during which a revolution might take place.

dent of the American Federation of Labor is dissatisfied, and one official of the company said that the time for a conference was past; that the companies would now proceed to break the strike by opening the mills they desired to keep open. With regard to Shaffer's order, they say its effect cannot be forecasted with certainty. There is evidently a disposition among financiers to

NOTHING BUT PROMISES.
Pittsburg, Aug. 10.—Nothing but pro-misses have resulted from the conference between Mr. Compers and President Shaffer. Mr. Compers was willing to do all he could to make the fight the greatest in the annals of labor, but he pointed out to Shaffer that his hands were tied by an Executive Council, which governs the Federation of Labor. The Amalgamated was only a small item, and the Federation had always been slow to give aid to strikes. He left for Washington, however, promising both moral and pecuniary assistance.

There was wild excitement in Carnegie, Pa., last night. Every stranger was held up by vigilance committees of the strikers, and some dozen were held outside of the town, and were not allowed to enter until they had given their lives. The members of the Amalgamated, 250 strong, have taken over the town, and are guarding every street and railway. The authorities are powerless against them. The American Sheet Steel Company's officials say that they will start their mills on Sunday night with non-union men, and if they do there will be trouble, and the strikers are in a very angry mood.

DISCHARGING SYMPATHIZERS.

At the Homestead mill five men who were seen consulting with Amalgamated officials have been discharged. It is estimated that they have influenced the strikers, and were trying to influence their fellow-workmen. They were told, however, that their dismissal was for other causes. It is thought that a number of others will be discharged.

President Shaffer declares that the order of the steel corporation for the removal of the Denver wood plant from McKeesport to the Kiskimuttee valley is only a bluff, which has been tried so often that no one is disturbed by it. A majority of the men employed at the wood plant, he says, own their own houses in McKeesport.

TO CONTROL BOTH SIDES.

New York, Aug. 10.—A report generally circulated in well-informed circles in this city is that the United States Steel Corporation is making arrangements for the control of all the Southern iron and steel works. Such a step, should the negotiations be successful, it is believed, would have a beneficial effect upon the steel strike, as the Amalgamated Association has entirely confined its efforts to unionize the works in the northern and western fields. It is stated authoritatively that the conference has been held recently in this city between the steel corporation officials and the capitalists, who are largely interested in the southern field.

TESLA TO ERECT PLANT.

Famous Electrician Says Place For Wire

New York, Aug. 11.—Nikola Tesla, the famous electrician, has just closed a contract for the erection of a building and plant at Wardensville, on the round, nine miles east of Port Jefferson, for the principal station of his wireless telegraphy system. The purchase includes 200 acres of land and Mr. Tesla says he will put up the largest building of its kind in the world for his experiments. The main building and the total cost of the plant and furnishings will be about $150,000.

Mr. Tesla says he expects to converse by electricity with all countries of the world from Wardensville, which will be his main station.

The station is to be the first one of a large number to be built in this and other countries. Though its main purpose will be to serve as a telegraph station, Mr. Tesla will also build on his land a laboratory and will continue his experiments in high voltage electricity. He will also use the telegraph the inventor hopes soon to give to the world as a commercial commodity a new system of lighting by diffused light.

EMULATES ACT OF ASTOR.

Duchess of Marlborough Says she is New London, Aug. 12.—The little town of Woodstock was on fire at the reception to the duchess when she arrived in the town. The duchess of Marlborough presented fifteen silver cups to many Oxfordshire imperial youths recently returned from South Africa.

Addressing the recipients the duchess said:

"I should have sympathy for the boers, for I am Englishman and Englishman is now my country. No doubt you, heroes all, were inspired in your great work for your flag by the traditions of my husband's ancestor, the first duke of Marlborough, who learned to appreciate the tough mettle of the Dutch soldiers when he fought with the duke of York in Flanders in 1679."

"John Churchill's descendant," my husband, discovered the real meaning of Dutch tenacity and courage while he was in the Transvaal."

A dash of enthusiasm is always relieved, and its unpleasant consequences averted by taking thirty drops of Folsom's Nervine in a little sweetened water. It instantly relieves the nausea and by its soothing and stimulating powers, calms the stomach and enables it to complete the process of digestion. Nervine has been proven more than a million times the best remedy for stomach and bowel troubles. Nervine will cure you.

JESUIT EXODUS FROM FRANCE

Associations' Law Causes Them to Leave the Country.

THE COLLEGES ARE ABANDONED

Paris, Aug. 12.—It is learned that rather than observe the requirements of the association law, which became operative on August 25, there will be between now and October a vast exodus of Jesuits from France. The law is so strict that which followed the enactment of the decree expelling them from the country in 1876. The twenty-nine Jesuit colleges in France, in which there are about 15,000 students, will be temporarily abandoned, and the 1,000 young men distributed among them, who are preparing to join the order, will continue their studies at Exeter in Holland or other work, and the order will in appearance at least, go out of existence in France. The Jesuits will be the most part, however, remain in the country to watch the trend of French politics and keep an eye out for the interests of the order.

Rev. J. J. Wynne says that the new law is the end of French Freemasonry and French Socialism. The Freemasons of France originated it, and the Socialists kept the agitation in its favor alive until it became a law. The bill was first introduced in the French Chamber of Deputies in 1882 by M. Bismont, one of the leaders of the Order of Free and Accepted Masons in France. The Freemasons of France are quite different from the Freemasons of Italy. In that they have no plan for the duty in their ritual. They want no religion mixed with the education of the youth of France.

THE CORDAGE CO. BY-LAW

The TIMES would like to see the By-law in favor of the Cordage Company, which will be voted on tomorrow, carried by a good majority. All who are loyal to the town will not only vote for the By-law, but will see that their friends also do so.

The following are a few of the reasons why the By-law should be carried:

1st. It will secure a large and growing industry, and bring between 60 and 75 families to town, whose taxes will amount to many times more than the $4500 involved.

2nd. The greatest advantage a place can have is cheap power. The success of the Cordage Power Company means the establishment of the Otanabee Power Company whose power will be the cheapest on earth.

3rd. With plenty of cheap power we are assured of other industries.

4th. We should vote for the By-law because it will reduce our taxes by adding to the number of taxpayers and vastly increasing tax-paying property.

There are many other reasons why the By-law should receive the assent of the ratepayers but the above will suffice.

Ratepayers! Be true to your interests and vote on the side of progress and advancement by marking your ballot in favor of the By-law.

THE EUROPEANS CANNOT COMBINE

Chauncey M. Depew Says American Roads Cannot be Resisted.

THE QUESTION OF PERCENTAGES

London, Aug. 12.—"I am going to retire from the interviewing business permanently," said United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew to a representative of the Associated Press today. "I have served my full term and have generally enjoyed it, but there have been so many tedious and erroneous reports of my speeches and sayings since I arrived in Europe this summer that I have concluded to give up the job."

"I have been seriously misquoted in an American paper on earning the efforts of European governments to offset American imports into their trade and manufactures. My observation of this movement leads to the conclusion that while the European Government view with alarm the increasing inroads of American products, it is impossible that they should successfully combine against them. I am led to this conclusion by my railroad experience. We often get a half a dozen or more trunk line managers together, who agree upon certain rates, but when the question of percentages was discussed it was always found that their aggregate demands reached 300 or 400 per cent. when there was only 100 per cent. to divide. There is no chance of European nations ever agreeing upon a basis of division."

BRITISH PROSPERITY AND THE BOER WAR

Wonderful Activity in Business Notwithstanding the Great War.

SURPRISING NEWS RECEIVED FROM SOUTH AFRICA

Strong Rivalry Between Cape Town and Durban For the Trade of Johannesburg—War Nearly Over.

London, Aug. 11.—One would imagine, from the opposition talk about war taxes in the House of Commons and from the letters of some correspondents in England, that all British energy was absorbed by the Boer war, and that the country was simply staggering along under its awful burden and waiting impatiently for the day when it could find an excuse for dropping it under circumstances not too utterly humiliating. It is rather surprising, then, to find two articles on disconnected topics which combine to show that the English people at home are tolerably prosperous, while all the energy in South Africa is by no means absorbed in the prosecution of the war. A London paper reviews in much detail building and housing statistics of the last few years. They show that every branch of the building trade in Great Britain has been unusually active during the period which covers the whole war, although the correspondents make no reference to that. The increase in the number of houses for the last four years has been over 1,000,000, much greater than for the period at any previous time. Increased population accounts for only part of this activity, for the corresponding shows that there has been a considerable decrease in the number of persons living in one house or tenement as compared with the reports of 1891. Of course, when times are had the families of the poor double up in one house, and the number of persons in a house is evidence of general prosperity. The correspondent adds that among the very poor times have been worse recently than the statistics of decrease are explained by the greater prosperity of the upper artisan class, which is thriving markedly in the midst of the war.

Surprising news, too, from South Africa is even more surprising. It is of a strong rivalry between Cape Town and Durban for the trade of Johannesburg, which is figured out by

RESEMBLES CASE OF CHIMAY COMEZ RELEASED AFTER 43 YEARS

Conspirator Had Been Imprisoned on Devil's Island Since 1858.

THE HISTORY OF THE CRIME.

New York, Aug. 12.—The news of the release of a prisoner named Gomez from captivity on Devil's Island, a place made infamous by the confinement there of Capt. Drayton, brings to mind a long forgotten tragedy, the attempt of Orsini and others against the life of Napoleon Emperor of the French, in January, 1858.

Felice Orsini was born in Italy, near Forli in 1819; in 1838 he joined Mazzini's "Young Italy" party, and in 1844 was arrested for taking part in revolutionary projects against the Austrian Government, and was sentenced to imprisonment for life on the galleys. The amnesty proclaimed on the accession of Prince Louis Napoleon in 1852 freed him, and in 1858 he was a deputy to the Italian Parliament. Further plotting and working against Austria caused his arrest in Hungary, and his sentence to death for treason. The punishment was commuted to life imprisonment in Mantua, from which place he escaped by sawing the bars of his cell. He then went to France, and after a rupture with Mazzini, who did not approve his methods, determined to assassinate the Emperor. Orsini had three associates, Giuseppe Jauri, Gomez and Carlo Daudin. On the evening of Jan. 11, 1858, while the Emperor and Empress were going to the opera, the conspirators threw a bomb under their carriage.

The bomb exploded, killing one of the horses and demolishing the carriage; but the Emperor and Empress were unhurt, though one hundred and fifty persons were wounded, of whom two at least died.

Orsini and his comrades were arrested within a few hours, and, after trial, the leader, Jauri and Daudin, were condemned to death. Gomez was sentenced to life imprisonment. Orsini and Jauri were executed on March 13, 1858. When Daudin was about to ascend the scaffold he was stopped and informed that his sentence had been commuted to life imprisonment. The Empress Eugenie had interceded for him.

Daudin was transported to Cayenne in French Guiana, but escaped at the end of 1858, returned to Europe, and during his rebellion came to this country. In 1861 he enlisted in the Seventy-ninth New York Volunteers and became a lieutenant in the Second United States Infantry, and after twenty-nine years' service was retired with the rank of Captain. He now lives in Los Angeles, California.

Gomez was sent to the Devil's Island, where, after forty-three years' imprisonment, he has just been pardoned. He is said to be a hale and hearty man of sixty-eight, a sign that the United States government, in the case of Captain Drayton, does not necessarily break down the prisoner's constitution.

VICTORIA PARK.

Disgraceful Vandalism Committed on Sand

Sight.

On Saturday morning The Times was requested to visit Victoria park, where the damage which had been done by vandals during the last night, and the large flower beds had been broken down, and the flowers trampled on and many of them destroyed. Other beds had been similarly treated, in several cases the flowers having been pulled out and scattered under foot.

This is a disgraceful and reflects little credit on police. We have four able-bodied policemen, whose duties are not too onerous, and who should be able to keep the park in order and prevent a step to vandalism. The arrest and punishment of one or two offenders would put a stop to it.

Since we write the above The Times interviewed Chief Rosell in regard to the matter. The chief states that a policeman is always in the park on hand concert nights. He will be glad to punish offenders if they can be discovered. Any information supplied him will be acted upon.

WHO IS JOSEPH BRENNAN?

Drowned in Alaska Had Friends in Vicinity of Peterborough and Lindsay.

Postmaster H. C. Rogers received the following letter:

Nome, Alaska, July 23, 1901.

Postmaster, Peterborough, Canada.

Dear Sir:—A friend of mine by the name of Joseph Brennan was drowned last Wednesday, July 17th, while crossing a stream called Fish River. I have known Brennan since 1833. We have been together more or less since that time. He has often spoken of relatives living at Lindsay and Peterborough. I don't know the initials of any of them, so I take this means of finding his people. If you will publish this letter, or you may know his folks. He has one third interest in some property in the Council City District, that he was going to take an outfit to, to prospect. The Fish River is quite a stream. The body has not been recovered as yet. He had a team of horses and a general outfit of groceries and tools that are required for prospecting. He also had on his person $200 or $300. The property will be sold at the Administrator's sale. This is all the particulars I can give you at this time. I wish you would find if any of his people live there. I have addressed a letter to the Postmaster at Lindsay. His people can address the Nome Nugget, and get full particulars. Respectfully,

O. ROBERTS.

For Wife Beating.

James McMartin, of Okanabe, was arrested on Saturday charged with brutal beating his wife, and daughter aged 13 years. He appeared before County Magistrate Edmondson on Saturday night, and remained until to-morrow.

Not Yet Captured.

The burglar, Ray, who escaped from No. 100 on Thursday, has not yet been captured. Ray's ransom at the time of his escape consisted of a pair of shoes, trousers and cap. He is said to be hiding in the village.

BOER REVERSES ARE REPORTED

Foucke's Cape Colony Commando Dispersed Near Jamestown.

THE BRITISH REFUGEES SUFFER.

Cape Town, Aug. 12.—Commandant Theron's force of Boers recently had an engagement with General Hunter's Western column near Zuurfontein, Cape Colony. After suffering great loss, the Boers reversed the tide of the engagement, and the British are reported to have lost heavily in an engagement northwest of Durban.

The British casualties were one killed and one wounded.

General Foucke's command had been broken up into small parties by the persistent operations of British columns in the Jamestown and Barkley East districts of Cape Colony.

The Cape Town Times yesterday again made comparisons between the general conduct of the British and Boer sections of concentration camps. The paper says that the conditions of the British refugees, while quite as painful, if not more so, than that of the Boers, are not made so conspicuous by definite and sensational reports.

STERN TO SEE KRUGER?

Paris, Aug. 12.—It was rumored on the Bourse today that ex-President Kruger and Steyn, of the former South African Republic, will shortly have a conference with a view of reaching a definite understanding in regard to the peace overtures.

NEW POLICY NOT FEASIBLE.

London, Aug. 10.—The chief topic of discussion here is the feasibility of the new policy of reprisals proclaimed in South Africa.

Military men do not hold Lord Kitchener responsible for the proclamation, but assert that the terms have been dictated from the Colonial Office. They ridicule the idea that the campaign can be brought to an end by manifestoes, promises and menaces, and contend that there is no substitute for the work of wearing out the enemy day by day and man by man.

KITCHENER NOT WOUNDED.

London, Aug. 12.—The rumor that Lord Kitchener was wounded in a recent skirmish with the Boers is officially denied here. The South African commander's customary despatches arrived here this afternoon, and nothing was mentioned regarding the matter.

PRO-BOER AUCTION SALES.

London, Aug. 12.—A tall officer named Bleakley, residing near Manchester, was recently detained upon the inland revenue officers for the amount of his income tax, which he had refused to pay on the ground that the war was cruel and unjust. The sale was well advertised by Mr. Bleakley himself, who caused the distribution of a number of circulars announcing the event, and his reasons for refusing to pay his taxes. A drawing room suite was first put up, and was sold to one of the pro-Boer friends for the amount of the debt and costs. The sale was then cleared at an end. Before the assembly dispersed several speeches were delivered denouncing the war, and a resolution adopted protesting against the prevailing war spirit of the age.

KITCHENER'S MAIL REPORT.

London, Aug. 12.—Mail despatches from Lord Kitchener, secured today in a Parliamentary paper, says his constant endeavor has been to improve the fortifications along the lines of communication, thus releasing men from active service. The garrisons of the railways have mostly been withdrawn.

A spirited narrative of the ejection of Gen. De Wet from Cape Colony concludes with the statement that the readers undoubtedly received a number of reports from the Colonial Dutch an ample supply of food and timely information.

Lord Kitchener received certain information that De Wet intended to attack Cape Town, while Gen. Buller, as soon as he heard that the concentration in Cape Colony was effected, was to enter Natal with 5,000 picked horsemen, and make for Durban.

Another mystery.

Vincent Whipple, An English Farm Prop

Mysteriously Disappeared.

Woodstock, Ont., Aug. 11.—A deep mystery surrounds the disappearance of Vincent Whipple, a son of Colonel Whipple, late of the Coldstream Guards. He was sent out to Canada three years ago as one of Reginald Gray's farm pupils, because he had lost an eye in an accident and accordingly could not enter the British Army. Whipple studied farming with farmers in Barrie and South Dumfries, and has for the last year been on the farm with Mr. Jefferson, about 15 miles from here.

When the Oxford Mill's went to camp at London in June, young Whipple went with them. The soldiers returned on June 29. Whipple went to Jefferson's on Sunday, the following day, and changed his uniform. Then he left for the city, coming to Woodstock to take part in the city in agitation demonstration. He has not been seen or heard of since. All his clothes and belongings were found in his room at Jefferson's. He took his baggage with him, however. Shortly after Whipple left the Jeffersons, a letter arrived there from his father, which presumably contained the young man's mouthful allowance. The letter was sent, but was never claimed. It has since been sent back to Col. Whipple in England, with news of his son's disappearance. There is naturally no reason why young Whipple should go away. His relations with the Jeffersons' family were of the most cordial nature, and he, as far as could be learned, was not in debt.

The case is far resembles the famous Rensselaer-Bowling case here as to some conversation among the young man's friends.

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 13, 1901

THOU SHALT NOT SPIT

England is conducting one war at least in which she will enjoy the sympathy of decent people the world over. This is a war against the spotted rabbit.

The state of England public sentiment on the subject is illustrated by a recent incident which was considered of sufficient importance to be tabulated to the country. On a crowded steamboat returning from Hampton court to London one of the passengers—just immediately a score of people around him directed their disgusted and indignant gaze at him, and the poor man, mumbling a humble apology, retreated precipitately to another part of the boat.

What these indignant passengers would do if they had to ride on a Canadian railway train, especially in the smoker, it is difficult to imagine. Perhaps they would wait until they came to the river and then jump in and drown themselves. A passenger on one of these cars does not sit in front of him and spit across his face, between him and the wind, during the whole journey. "Thou shalt not spit" is the new commandment everywhere written and spoken in London at present, and it is time it made its appearance in Canada.

EMPRESS FREDERICK

The long-standing German prejudice against the late Empress Frederick, who was the princess royal of England, was unworthy of a great people. It was inspired chiefly by a spirit, perverted by Bismarck, of antagonism to constitutional government and liberal institutions. It was intensified in later years by the increasing self-esteem of imperial Germany and by a natural jealousy of another country which in many respects outclassed Germany.

The offense of the late empress, however, was one which in the eyes of such a race as the Germans, fond of liberty and intensely progressive, should have been no offense at all. Her influence upon her husband and her influence upon the calculation to stimulate the future development of liberty. The fact that she fell under the delusion of Bismarck and his most arbitrary supporters must stand as proof of her vigor of mind as well as of the liberality of her ideas.

The brief reign of her husband, who was one of the most idolized of princes, gave him no opportunity to develop a policy, but there cannot be much doubt that such a monarch, influenced as he was known to have been by such a wife, would have modified the German government very materially. Prejudice against a woman, awakened by the man of blood and iron for a purpose, would not have long survived the accession of her husband to the throne.

The disposition shown in many parts of the empire even now to criticize and belittle the late empress is more a manifestation of national jealousy than it is of a reactionary spirit. Some of the political ideas of the English might be introduced in Germany to the immense advantage of all concerned.

CANADA'S GREAT.

Matters never looked more promising for Toronto Exhibition, to be held from Aug. 26 to Sept. 7, than they do this year. Entries in all departments are good, which in live stock and manufactures they are well in excess of previous years. The show of cattle is bound to be superior to anything ever seen in Canada before, a number of prize animals having been imported especially for exhibition at Toronto. The Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of the Dominion, on Tuesday, Aug. 27, will undoubtedly have the gratification of opening the best of the twenty-three successive annual exhibitions that will have been held at the capital of the Province. It will be thoroughly representative of the industrial arts, agricultural and horticultural products and general resources of this great country, and will abound in entertaining as well as instructive features. As becomes these warlike times the military will be much in evidence, arrangements having been made by permission of the General Officer Commanding and the Minister of Militia for daily practice with Maxims and other guns by the Royal Canadian Artillery, and for various cavalry evolutions by the Royal Dragoons. There will be the usual trotting, pacing and running races, balloon ascents by a man who escapes from a bomb that explodes a thousand feet in the air, an entertainment of great variety in front of the grand stand, athletic sports, letter-making tests, judging competitions, experiments in photography by wire, an international military tattoo on the opening night, the best dog show in America, lectures on the cultivation of the sugar beet, music by a score of the finest bands in America, and in fact more attractions and novelties than could be enumerated in a column of this paper, the whole being nightly crowded by a representation of the bombardment of the Taku Forts by the Allied Forces in China, concluding with a brilliant display of fireworks. While every day will be a great day from Aug. 26 to Sept. 7, the day of days will be Tuesday, Sept. 3, when a reunion of Canadian Old Boys and students of all the colleges and schools in Canada will be held. The following day will be Farmers' Day, but the probabilities are that with a fall programme every day and favorable rate on the railways the grounds will always be thronged by delighted crowds. Canada's Great Exposition will play second fiddle to no other.

Young Girls

Are often engaged in doing the work of a home under the most trying conditions. Nature cries out against the stooping and lifting, the running up and down stairs at times when labor should be as light as possible. It is owing to overstrain or self-neglect under these conditions that the foundation is laid for serious womanly disease. Irregularity is the first step toward impaired womanly health. Perfect regularity may be established by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It will heal inflammation and ulceration and cure female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

It gives me much pleasure to write Miss Ella Sapp of Jamestown, Conn., who writes: "I received from the use of your Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery, and I am now as well as I could be. It seemed as though I would die. I could not stand at all without fainting. Had given up all hope of ever being cured, when one of my friends insisted upon my trying Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. With but little faith I tried it, and before I had taken half a bottle I felt better. Now I have taken two bottles of Favorite Prescription and I am entirely cured, and in two months' time when all other medicines had failed."

ATTACK OF ROYAL CANADIANS AT PAARDEBERG

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures—also 2022, on heavy, superfine, colored paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian without called attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the soldiers or knights rushing into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a private figure—perhaps only too well of the floor—rises up. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Armstrong, and his men, were killed. It is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that died so bravely are buried in the hearts of the living. To every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldiers boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. General Buller and the British soldiers at Paardeberg, the gallant Major Armstrong, and his men, were killed. Cancer Growing Two Years

A Remarkable Case Cured Compl'tely by the New Constitutional Remedy.

Not long ago, we had the pleasure receiving the following letter:

"When I began my treatment there was a hard lump in my breast, which had been growing for two years, and it was so hard that it kept the nipple in. I consulted two doctors, and they both pronounced it cancer, and advised me to have my breast cut off. Your remedy, however, was recommended to me by a friend, and I am very thankful to say that it not only saved my life, but did away with the necessity of having to undergo the painful operation, which I so much dreaded."

We do not publish the names of the persons who give us testimonials for the satisfaction of the curious, but any sufferer from cancer or tumor, may have the name and address of the lady who wrote the above, by sending 2 stamps to Stott & Jory, Bowmanville, Ont.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 13, 1901

JOINTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

Men are scarce and labor is plentiful in Peterborough just now.

The chief wants an owner for a baby's knit jacket which has been found.

Many persons from town are talking of taking in the Pan-American this week.

A horse by some means got loose and entered Victoria Park on Sunday night, doing considerable damage.

What we have got to give to the people. This is the reason so many people go to White's to have photos taken.

The by-law for the extension of the water works system in Ashburnham, was voted down on Saturday, by a majority of 10.

Mr. Walter Stocker writes the Times from Glasgow that Glasgow's exhibit there is a splendid one and a credit to all concerned.

The hot weather has had a effect on the photographs taken at G. E. Whittier's. His work does not fade. Sign of the Golden Camera.

Another of those pleasant dances took place last night at Chemung Park. The party left the Post Office corner at 7:30 and were about thirty in number.

Mr. A. E. Simms, baker, has sold his bakery plant and delivery rig, and is doing business with A. J. Lane & Co., who will take charge of the route for Mr. Simms.

Five hundred dollars has been granted by the government for wharf accommodation at Sturgeon Point. It is about time that a new wharf was built on the Little Lake in Ashburnham.

A party of young people from town took a trip down the river in the Edison Yacht to Highland Park on Saturday afternoon. Considering the disagreeable weather, a very enjoyable time was spent.

The annual excursion of the Veterans Army Sunday School and seniors, will take place on Civic Holiday to Highland Park. Boat leaves Peterborough wharf at 8:30. Return tickets 20 and 30 cents. All are welcome.

JOHN BULL & CO.

Mr. Dickson Hall thinks business good in Britain—Security in British Trade.

Mr. Dickson Hall, of Richmond Hall & Sons, returned from his summer business trip to Europe a few days ago. The homeward ocean voyage was made on the Majestic of the New York Line, and was an exceedingly enjoyable one.

It, however, was marked by a disturbing incident, which would have caused a great deal of alarm amongst the passengers had it occurred in mid-ocean. As the Majestic was entering New York harbor a fire was discovered on the main deck. It was quickly put out.

Mr. Hall says that the fire was thought to have been caused by the overheating of the ship's boilers. The vessel was endeavouring to beat time on her run to New York. In doing so her boilers had become too hot and had set fire to a closet, on the main deck, just over the boilers, containing dirty linen.

Trade in Great Britain is reported by Mr. Hall to be greater in volume, though there is less shipbuilding the year. He points to the Glasgow Exhibition as a splendid example of the buoyancy, honesty and steadiness of success of the methods of British trade, if not of its enterprise. The Glasgow Exhibition was paid for, by the sale of second tickets, before it was opened. At the present time it has passed several times over, and it has still three months to run. "There is," says Mr. Hall, "a solidity, a weight in British trade that foreign speculators in the trade of other countries. He referred by way of comparison, to the effects and amusements of the Pan-American and the serious purpose and honesty of the Glasgow Exhibition."

The people of England are making great preparations for the coronation of the King next June. Mr. Hall learned that from a large space in the buildings and business places on the line of route of procession was already being sold at fabulous prices. The King's coronation robes are to bear the same design of the rose, shamrock and thistle entwined as that worked on the robes in which his royal mother, late Queen, was crowned. The people of England expect a stirring time next year. It is to be a socially great 1902.

Mr. Hall visited the chief commercial cities of the continent, and he is highly satisfied with the results of his trip.

THE CORDAGE COMPANY BY-LAW

The qualified ratepayers are today called upon to vote for or against the two By-laws which have been referred to them by the Town Council, the one being the Cordage Company By-law and the other the Smith street By-law.

The Cordage Company, by-law has already been exhaustively discussed by the Board of Trade, and was unanimously endorsed by that body.

The by-law is all in favor of the people, and adequately safeguards their interests. It might be well, however, to state briefly once again the conditions. First it provides for the issuing of debentures for $1500, which to purchase a site for the proposed cordage works, and, secondly it agrees to fix the assessment of the Company's property, land, buildings and machinery, at the sum of $4500, the full value of the land occupied for the period of ten years. In other words, it gives the Company a free site and exemption from taxation on its buildings and plant.

This appears to use to be a fair proposition, and one that the ratepayers should unanimously accept. The money is not to be paid over until the Company has spent its money on the buildings. In the event of the Company not fulfilling expectations and the works ceasing to be operative, the town has a lien or first mortgage on the entire property. To give our readers an idea of the magnitude of the works, we might mention that the buildings are to almost completely fill the lot. For purposes of comparison, we might mention that they would cover the block between Ormond & Walsh's drug store, the Bank of Toronto, the Bank of Commerce, the Ontario Bank and back to the starting point at the drug store.

As regards the other by-law, it is one providing for the raising of money by debentures to meet the expenditure necessary for the new bridge over the creek on Smith-st. This is a public highway that has to be maintained and the bridge had to be erected, and there is not any doubt but that the ratepayers will endorse the proposal to raise the money by debentures, thus spreading the payments over a number of years, rather than have it paid in a lump sum out of one year's taxes. The latter is what would have to be done, if the by-law was rejected.

BEAUTIFUL PICTURES FREE!

Superb pictures of Queen Victoria, King Edward and Queen Alexandra given free to subscribers of the Weekly Times.

These lovely pictures are the most striking and beautiful Royal personages ever issued, being 18x24 in size, and are in seven colors. They would adorn any wall and are superb for framing.

We will give one of each of the above magnificent works of art (three in all) to anyone who will send us a club of five paid subscribers, at $1 each, to the Weekly Times. We will also furnish each of the five subscribers with a club of one of these beautiful pictures, as a premium, absolutely free.

Go to Work and get five of your friends to subscribe for the Weekly Times for one year, paying for each $1 therefor; then send us the five dollars with the names and addresses of the subscribers, also naming the pictures selected, and we will mail you your three and each of the five subscribers one. Any man, woman, girl or boy can obtain these beautiful works of art by devoting a few minutes' time to canvassing.

Should you want the pictures in advance to canvassing send us 40c and we will forward them by mail, and deduct the 40c from the $5 club.

For every club of ten subscribers we will give $2 cash and send you a set of Chambers' Encyclopedia in 30 volumes.

For every club of 25 subscribers we will pay $5 cash to the club getter, or will give Chambers' Encyclopedia in cloth binding, gold letters.

Each subscriber is in every case entitled to one of the Royal pictures.

THE GREAT STRIKE

Pittsburg, Aug. 13.—Complete returns from all of the strike centers have not been received to-day, but as far as they go they indicate that there has been but slight change in conditions since yesterday. During the night the strike was made further gains from the National Tube Company at McKeesport, and from the American Sheet & Pipe Company at Erie, Pa. The strike at the latter place was closed last night, but a determined attempt will be made to operate it to-day.

Preparations are being made here to-day to increase the number of men in the strike at McKeesport, and which have been operating with one-unions since last week, and able to start the big blast-furnace, which has been idle since the first week of the strike went out. The police here have known that they will make a determined attempt to prevent violence or disorder and the steel managers regard this as a favorable point to break into the strike with non-violence.

Steel officials seen to-day express their complete satisfaction with the program they are making. They say that if they could get protection for their men and property at McKeesport and Wheeling, that the strike would be quickly ended. They say that the American Sheet & Pipe Company has a large plant at Wheeling, and that the group of big plants shown to be with them on the general call are still standing firm.

President Shaffer said in an address to the strikers, "I have received no reports from Chicago and the West. I will leave to-morrow morning for Wheeling and Erie, Pa., and I do not know whether I will return from Wheeling. I am going to Erie, Pa., to-day. The strike situation early to-day is fairly satisfactory as follows:

London and McKeesport plant of the American Sheet & Pipe Company—The first light, and the management declares that the plant will soon be in full operation.

Irishmen from Works—No effort is being made to start the mills.

Eliza Don Works—One workman on duty for the Company says he knows nothing of any intention to start and no men are expected to go to work to-day.

BOER LOSS ABOUT NINE HUNDRED

London, Aug. 13.—The following despatch from Pretoria, dated yesterday, has been received at the War Office from Lord Kitchener:

"I am glad to send you the latest return I have yet had for one week. Since August 5 the columns report 19 killed and 20 wounded, 50 prisoners, including 10 Boers, and 20 horses, including 10 Boers. The Boers are reported to be in the Orange River Colony, a total of 220. The columns have also captured 240 rounds of ammunition, 24 wagons, 500 lbs of meat and 500 lbs of flour. The Boers are reported to be in the Orange River Colony."

"General French is gradually driving the enemy's scattered bands northward. There have been several skirmishes with indecisive conclusions."

Alway, South Africa, Aug. 13.—August 6th and 9th have been set apart by Mr. Steyn, formerly President of the Orange Free State, as days of humiliation and prayer among the burghers still operating in that district.

Pretoria, Aug. 12.—During the past five months the enemy's force has been reduced by an average of 50 men a week. A large force has been captured west of Ventersburg. The condition of the women and children demonstrates the misery of bringing them into the camps of refuge.

London, Aug. 13.—The Transvaal of rebels has been received information that ex-President Steyn, after many adventures, has reached De Wet's camp. ANOTHER NATIVE MURDERED.

London, Aug. 13.—Mr. H. H. Hutchings, a prominent member of the Cape Colony, has been notified by the resident magistrate of Stellenbosch that when they were out scouting with a native constable named James Madhalla they were surprised by Boers, who shot the constable in cold blood, though he was not armed.

Cape Town, Aug. 13.—Despatches received here from Johannesburg, 100 miles from this town, say that the Hon. Mr. Van Ryn, a member of the Legislative Council, has been captured by the Boers and is held as a prisoner.

The presence of Boer commandos at Van Rynsdorp has alarmed the authorities at Cape Town, so that a number of troops are marching on Cape Town and the town guard has been called out.

Cape Town, Aug. 13.—Gen. Featherstonhaugh with the mobile column has returned to Kimberley after a sweep through the Zeeuwsdorp district. Several bands of raiders were encountered, but they were dispersed in every instance.

At Juppals a hospital was found in a farm house from which men had been fired at, in charge of a self-styled doctor and a number of Boer nurses, but only one patient.

After a month's absence Major-General Elliot has also returned. Sixty Boers were taken during the expedition. During the operations of the four columns large quantities of stock were captured, and also several thousand horses, some of which were in excellent condition, quantities of dynamite, arms, and ammunition, of which some had been buried.

THE MISSIONARIES CRITICIZED.
Washington, August 14.—Severe criticism is made by Major-General Adna H. Chaffee, of the conduct of the missionaries in China in his final report. The conduct of Rev. E. C. Tupper, particularly some under General Chaffee's notice by means of his application, induced by Minister Conger, for the purpose of accompanying him to certain villages to take advantage of the movement in some of the villages to settle up some of the claims for the destruction of Chinese Christians. The scheme of settlement proposed by Mr. Tupper appeared to General Chaffee "very much in the line of business called 'quackery,' which we hear a great deal about in China." General Chaffee then says that the private collection of indemnities showed a sliding scale of values for human lives. He continues: "As a further step for compensation for the loss sustained, some of the missionaries have obtained possession of property of considerable value, which has been disposed of at private or public sale. The proceeds, as I understand, are to be applied to the support of the people. I heard the statement made that Mr. Farver, Catholic bishop, has requested the French Government to deduct from its claim for indemnity the sum he obtained in the manner indicated."

Skinner of the British army, one of the highest officers who has been stationed in the United States since the war, returned to Kansas City from New Orleans to-day. With the ship which he made from Kansas City to Cape Town the British government has spent $1,000,000 in Kansas City for horses and mules for service in South Africa. Colonel Skinner says that approximately 100,000 animals have been shipped from this country through the port of New Orleans during the past three years. The average paid for these animals is $10 a head, making the total expenditure $1,000,000 in Missouri and Kansas alone.

Cancer Growing Two Years

A Remarkable Case Cured Completely by the New Constitutional Remedy.

Not long ago, we had the pleasure of receiving the following letter:

"When I began your treatment there was a hard lump in my breast, which had been growing for two years, and it was so large that it was like a large apple in it. I consulted two doctors, and they both pronounced it cancer, and advised me to have my breast cut off. Your remedy, however, was recommended to me by a friend, and I am very thankful to say that it has very much saved my life, but did away with the necessity of having to undergo the painful operation, which I do not much dread."

We do not publish the names of those who give testimonials for the gratification of the curious, but any sufferer from cancer or tumor, may have the name and address of the lady who wrote the above, by sending 2 stamps to Stott & Jory, Bowmanville, Ont.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 15, 1901

JOINTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

—There will be no issue of The Times to-morrow.

—Have you seen the pretty light blue at The Times Bookstore. Price only 10 cents. They are beautiful.

—What we have good we give to the people. This is the reason so many people go to Whitens to have photos taken.

—What we have good we give to the people. This is the reason so many people go to Whitens to have photos taken.

—The Peterborough Club has moved from the Crown Hotel to the Bank of Commerce block, where an elegant suite of rooms have been secured.

—A meeting of the committee of the whole County Council will be held here on Wednesday next to consider important business.

—Our Ontario correspondent says that quite a number from that village will take in the band excursion to-day.

—Mr. George Stevens, the "Ash King," has purchased the property at the head of Huron street, (Ashburnham, formerly occupied by Mr. J. Z. Rogers.)

—Complaints are made of rude boys taking liberties with the seats in Victoria Park, tossing them about and by no means improving their condition in the process.

—St. Peter's T. A. S. is soon to commence a series of lectures, the course of which will be held two weeks hence. By the end of the year the Society will have a membership of at least 1000.

—Wardens Fitzgerald has received a letter from Hon. J. H. D. Minister of Militia and Defence, expressing thanks for an invitation to open the Peterborough Central fair on Sept. 1st, and stating that, if his official engagements permitted, he would be here on that date.

A WONDERFUL INVENTION.

The cure dandruff, hair falling, itching, etc., yet costs the same as an ordinary comb—Dr. White's Electric Comb. This comb, which is used in the world, people everywhere have been introduced, and with delight. You simply comb your hair each day and the comb does the rest. The comb is made of a material which is impossible to break or cut. It is absolutely impossible to break or cut the hair. Sold on a written guarantee to give perfect satisfaction in every respect. Send stamps for one. Ladies also 60c. Gentles also 40c. Live men and women wanted everywhere to introduce this article. Sell on sight. Agents are with success. (See front column of this paper). Address D. N. ROSE, Gen. Mgr., Decatur, Ill.

The Golf War.

Now that the South African war is about over, people will be able to turn their attention to the war of the golf links. The trouble appears to be increasing rather than taking a more peaceful turn. Mr. John W. Garvin refuses to take a back seat again when requested to do so by an officer of the club. This may not appear to be in good form, especially if a soldier, but when Mr. Garvin believes he is right he will go ahead, even if the heavens fall. In regard to the officers of the club, John evidently thinks that all come look alike to him. There may be another bloody encounter at any time. The Times will endeavor to have a war correspondent on the battle field, so that its readers may have a full report of the battle. So far the war has not been widely affected.

Canned tomatoes.

(Some days ago a couple of Toronto gentlemen waited on Hon. E. J. Devlin, Minister of Crown Lands. They were both Woodmen of the World, and spoke of the establishment of a colony of Woodmen in the Lake Umbagog district. Now W. C. Fitzgerald, the grand secretary, says that the constitution of the Woodmen of the World prevents such a scheme for colonization. However, the gentlemen, who have obtained the scheme, may induce members of the society to settle together in the new country, but the order can take no official cognizance of this.

Don't forget the Band excursion to Sturgeon Point on —Miss Allie Whiten is spending a few days at Stony Lake.

—Mrs. W. E. Talbot is on a month's visit to Toronto.

—Mr. J. B. McWilliams, Provincial Crown Timber Inspector, is in Huntsville on Government business.

—Miss Mattie Robertson left yesterday for Pelee Island, where she will visit relatives.

—Dr. and Mrs. Greer and party leave to-day to spend a week at the Landing.

—Miss Gertrude Girdlestone, of Toronto is the guest of Mrs. Stewart Hayward, town.

—Miss Meta Middleton, of Lindsay, is the guest of Mrs. Oliver, St. Joseph street, for a few days.

—Miss Marguerite McWilliams, of Oshawa, is visiting Miss Hazel, Armstrong, Simcoe street.

—Lindsay Post:—Miss Lois Major, of Peterborough, is visiting her niece, Mrs. Pearson, of the east ward.

—Miss Ada Whitley, of Toronto, who has been visiting friends in Ashburnham, returned home, accompanied by Miss Clara Adams, of Ashburnham.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. Phelan and Miss Nagle, left this morning for Muskoka Lake. They will visit St. Joseph's and other points for the next two weeks.

—The many friends of Miss May Hill of town, will be pleased to hear that she has successfully passed her examinations at St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, N. Y.

—Mr. A. R. Poulter, K. C., returned from a two weeks' sojourn at Huntsville, Muskoka. Mrs. Poulter did not return, but will remain a few weeks longer.

—Miss Walton, of Rochester, N. Y., returned home yesterday after spending a very pleasant visit with her friends, the Misses Lela, Verna and Dorrie Burgess, Lakeside.

—The Misses Hurley, Hunter street, arrived home from a very pleasant holiday, spent with friends in Rochester, Buffalo, and New York where they were joined by their friends, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hurley, of St. Thomas College, Houston, Texas. He returned by Toronto, and arrived home on Monday evening, and expects to remain until the 26th inst., when he will return to Houston.

A Rare Remedy.

One of our little local boiler plate contractors printed an item the other day to the effect that lumbermen were driving away from the coast. My dear boy, you are quite right. It will drive a mile through a barbed wire fence; it will drive a herd of cattle over a precipice; it will drive a tramp from a good meal; it will drive a negro away from a hen roost, or a man to insanity who stays five minutes within five feet of its unassuming presence; yes, sir, it will drive away aunts and uncles, and if we had any aunts that it could not drive away, we would be tempted to discover them. And yet men sit down and eat it.

The Oddfellows' Excursion.

To Stony Lake on Civic Holiday promises to be the most comfortable and enjoyable of the kind. Remember the Oddfellows have the only special trip returning from Lakeside at 8:30 p.m. on arrival of the Empress, thus giving the patrons two hours longer on the lake than by any other excursion. Tickets are 50c. Round trip, including a basket of food, and a hot and cold water provided. Baskets checked on the boat. Tickets for sale by C. C. Parks at Ough Bros., and members of the committee.

From Stambur.

At the last meeting of the Lindsay Council a letter was read from the Town Solicitor in reference to a man named Lacombe, who being blind and unable to support himself had made application for admittance to the Home for the Aged. The Solicitor stated that as Lacombe had been a resident of Ontario for ten years, that township had a right to support him. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

At Smooth as a Ke.

You don't want your head that way. You want your hair glossy and thick. Use Dr. White's Electric Comb and your hair will not fall out and you will be troubled no more with dandruff or other scalp diseases. Sold on a written guarantee. Live agents wanted everywhere. Send 60c. postage for one. D. N. ROSE, Gen. Mgr., Decatur, Ill.

The Military Review.

The Toronto papers yesterday contain the details of the military review which will take place at Toronto before the Duke of Devonshire on Tuesday and Wednesday. The review will be held on the 5th and 6th Regt., Peterborough Rangers, 4th Victoria Regt., 4th Durham Regt., and the 14th Field Battery.

WARM WEATHER BREAKFASTS

GRAPE-NUTS

Require No Cooking

EASY FOR THE COOK

At the warm days approach, it is well to give some thought to an easy way to prepare breakfast. A food that is already cooked and simply needs to be treated with a little cold milk or cold cream, is ideal on that point, and such a food can be found in Grape-Nuts, at 15 cents per package.

It is sold by all grocers, and is also highly concentrated, but more important mission, and will not be present on the occasion referred to, but, however, deliver an address at the meeting which will probably be held the following Friday night.

The Labor Meeting

The Times is requested to state that Mr. J. H. McGeelan, who was to have addressed the labor meeting on Friday night, has been called to New York on an important mission, and will not be present on the occasion referred to, but, however, deliver an address at the meeting which will probably be held the following Friday night.

Next Indians Lifted Scales.

And you want your scalp freed from a condition of dandruff and free from dandruff—Dr. White's Electric Comb will do it. Nothing else will. Send for one. It is sold on a written guarantee to give perfect satisfaction in every respect. Price 60c. D. N. ROSE, Gen. Mgr., Decatur, Ill.

FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

Mr. Ernest Henry Writes a Very Interesting Letter to his Brother Tom of Town.

Mr. Thomas Henry, of town, has received the following letter from his brother, Ernest, of the South African Constabulary:

Jacobsdorp, S. A., July 14, 1901.

Dear Tom, —I would have written before, but kept waiting till I was permanently at some place. When we landed the Cape Town were rushed through to the front immediately. We travelled in open cattle or ox carts, and it took us 8 days before we reached Johannesburg. All these marches, and we were 8 miles with our heavy overcoats rolled around our bodies, and carrying our rifles; we also had two heavy belts, very hot, but we stood it fine. We were surprised some of the English officers. We have been trucking along over the veldt ever since, and have had quite a number of small scraps, and that is how about 100 prisoners. Things on the trip have done us. You see we are divided into troops and I belong to No. 20, mustering 120 men. We arrived here a week ago and I guess we will stay a few weeks longer. This is where the Cape Highlanders were shot down in their tents about 8 months ago.

I think South Africa is the best country on earth, and I never intend to see Canada again, except on a visit, as the opportunities here for a young man are very great. They are now building an Imperial Rail-way from Cape Town to Durban, and are paying white men one pound a day and natives five shillings. If one stays at the job 5 years he receives a bonus of £100.

I think that I shall receive a rise here now to 7 shillings a day; that is the pay of a first class trooper. Anyone can make money here, either as an employee, or in business of his own. This is now the case of winter. The nights are like October in the same country. I think I shall like sleeping in the rain at night on the veldt. The Cape of Good Hope is a beautiful place. I am getting fat and looking fine. We have been issued with a new uniform, but I sell my issue for a shilling, so you see I have some money.

Regarding my duties, I am busy for only one night a week for three hours. I patrol the streets of the village, and see that everyone is in bed at 9 p.m., and that no one is out after the curfew rings. I enter the house and arrest anyone contravening the law. We never go anywhere without a rifle or revolver with us. You may think that we have no fighting to do, but you should just see. I think that the war will last one year longer at the others will only surrender in the end. I think that the war will last one year longer at the others will only surrender in the end. I think that the war will last one year longer at the others will only surrender in the end.

A BIG EXCURSION.

About 1,200 People Take in the Excursion From Campbellford.

The largest excursion of the season passed through town yesterday for Rony Lake. When the train arrived at Lakeside fully 1200 people were on the wharf, ready to embark. It was the annual union excursion of the Methodist and Presbyterian Sunday schools, and as yesterday was Campbellford's civic holiday, the event was very largely attended.

The entire fleet of steamers, it is said, could not accommodate the crowd, and many returned to Peterborough.

Band at the Park.

The Stony Lake Drowning.

Further Particulars of the Melancholy Accident Secured.

The following further particulars of the drowning accident at Stony Lake has been received:

It appears that the victim, Alfred Williams, and Mr. Williams, who work at the Crown Corundum Co. at the head of Stony Lake, went on Saturday to visit their families, returning by steamer on Monday morning, arriving at 7 p.m. They expected to find the steamer on the wharf, but the steamer did not arrive, and being anxious to get home before dark, they engaged the services of M. G. Booth to public them up to the head of the lake. They started off about six o'clock, but had not gone two hundred yards before their canoe upset, and the three were precipitated into the water. The crew of the steamer, hearing the accident and went immediately to the rescue, and succeeded in saving the lives of Booth and Williams, but Williams sank and was drowned.

Notwithstanding that about 25 boats were at work dragging the lake, the body was not recovered till Tuesday evening about 10 o'clock, and was taken to Lakeside, where it was coffined and sent home in Grand Rapids.

The deceased was a son 30 years of age, and was unmarried.

Rheumatic Pains cured by Spending every day, as much energy as you make, and if the balance goes a little further, you will get thinner. Not wise to go that way longer. Better use Ferrero's, you will dig out more—little gains the first week, but the gain keeps growing. Not quite so thin! Keep right on, only don't use Ferrero's too long or you will get too fat. Then your blood will be rich, your heart strong, you won't puff and you won't get tired quickly. Puff and head strength, you have them all with Ferrero's. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

THE AGE OF REASON.

One would hardly think to look about upon the unchristian conflicts, wars, strikes etc., now going on that we were in what is proudly called the "Age of Reason." Whatever the name it goes by, the fact remains, that it is rather the age of Unreason, lighted up by the very artificial light of a love of show and a craving for social distinction. "Vanity, vanity, all is vanity," comprises about all that can be said of both the secular and the clerical world, for surely whatever the world, the flesh and the devil may be, the clergy are no better. Whether it is a lack of spiritual enlightenment, now being called "the quality of spiritual imagination," or what not, the fact also is that the religion of the clergy is all in their mouths. There are always a few saving exceptions. The world used to respect the clergy, but now they laugh at them—a playful merry laugh, but still unmistakably a laugh. "All men are liars," is a motto that applies to-day. It is so every time with regard to our clergies and our world alike. The day of the "calkitious" is now at its height. What will succeed it?

To Aid the Poor.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Trustees and pastor of St. John's Lutheran church will hereafter take up a collection at each Sunday service for the relief of the widows and orphans of the home. The contributions will be forwarded over week to south Africa.

Rev. M. Grosse, pastor of the church, has received many letters from his sisters from his brother in the Transvaal which relate tales of suffering among the women and children there. At a meeting yesterday Rev. Mr. Grosse requested that the Sunday offerings be used in assisting them. It is expected that considerable money will be raised by the members of the church, as it is the largest German Lutheran society west of New York.

BUFFALO BILLS' ROUGH RIDERS

This World-Famous Aggregation can be seen at the Pan American, Buffalo.

Just outside of the Exposition Grounds, at Buffalo, opposite the East Amburst Street entrance, adjoining Delaware Avenue, accessible by all lines of travel, in the great open field, on Monday afternoon, Aug. 26, will be located Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Congress of Rough Riders of the World.

The fact that this great American exhibition is not inside the enclosure in connection with the Pan American Exposition; as one could no more harness or hamper Buffalo Bill's Rough Riders within the confines of Limited space than he could hope to bridge Niagara and turn the tide of the Falls.

Col. W. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill), himself a typical American character, and his great exhibition has been the one distinct feature of world's fairs and expositions since 1886. At Earl's Court in London, at Paris, and at the great World's Fair in Chicago, in fact at every fair and exposition the world has been considered an absolute necessity in the way of furnishing who some amusement, education and recreation on a gigantic scale. This year, Messrs. Cody and Salisbury have devised a program particularly appropriate for the Pan American season, and the entire exhibition will be given on a plan of magnificence never before even contemplated, and to fittingly mark so important an epoch new chapters have been added to this great living, historical and dramatic story of civilization and evolution of the world's mounted soldier.

One of the leading attractions being the Battle of Tien-Tsin, or, the Battle at Peking, showing the allied powers of the world in military uniform and action. In the reproduction of this conflict in the Flower Kingdom, the scaling of the walls of that Mongolian stronghold will be participated in by the Marines of Russia, Germany, France, England, Italy, United States and Japanese soldiers, as well as the Bengal native soldiers now in the British service. The defeat of our troops, using the Chinese guns and soldiers. The bright-colored and fantastic uniforms of the different forces engaged making this one of the grandest war spectacles ever witnessed.

A score of other new features have also been added to the Wild West, including a squad of Queen Paul's brave Riders, who will show their particular methods of scouting, fighting and getting out of harm's way. A detachment of the famous Strathmore Horse, Canada's crack regiment, fresh from also appear daily in the great exhibition, together with a squad of Northwest Mounted Police, our continental cavalry and rough riders from over the border.

Probably one of the most interesting and exciting events on the program will be the actual work and bench drill of a crew selected from the U. S. Life-Saving Service, showing the intrepid men who guard our stormy Atlantic Coast and dare death in efforts to save human life. All of these new features added to the previously complete and instructive Wild West Exhibition will make it a point of general interest and one to which every visitor to the Pan-American must surely word their way again and again.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 14.—Out in Patagonia is a colony of 4,000 Welshmen, who it is stated, have tried life in that country, and having found it a failure, are now dissatisfied. An effort is to be made to induce them to come to Canada, and in order to do this, it has been decided that Mr. W. L. Griffiths, of Cardiff, Canadian Immigration Agent for Wales, will sail from Liverpool on the 22nd. The department expects that his mission will be crowned with success.

SUCH A CHANGE.

Not only in feelings but in looks. The skin is clear, the eyes are bright, the cheeks are plump. No more pain and misery, no more sick headache, no more jaundice. What worked the change? Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which cured the disease of the stomach that prevented proper nutrition, and also cleansed the clogged and sluggish liver.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures diseases of lungs, heart, liver, and other organs which seem remote from the stomach because many of these diseases have their cause in a diseased condition of the stomach involving the allied organs of digestion and nutrition.

I sent you a letter about a year ago, writes Mrs. J. E. Hamilton of Farmington, Maine, Co., Me. I stated my case as plainly as I could and received a letter from you in a few days telling me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and "Favorite Prescription" bottle of each. I used three of each, and feel like a new woman. Do not suffer any pain or misery any more. Before your medicine I suffered all the time—had jaundice, caused from food not digesting properly. I would have died had I not used your medicine. I could not do the work myself. I commenced using your medicine and was recommended for liver complaint, and think I am cured now. I asked doctor if he could cure me, and he said he could give me medicine to help me but the trouble might return any time. I doctors three years without any relief. I had sick headache since I took the first bottle of your medicine.

THE SOUTH AMERICAN WAR IS PROGRESSING

The Troops of Columbia and Venezuela Massing on the Frontier.

COLUMBIA IS PLAYING A VERY SHREWD GAME.

Will Uncle Sam Interfere?—That is the Great Question—The War Now Virtually Begun.

Washington, Aug. 18.—Advises from the Isthmus of Panama are to the effect that the Colombian insurgents are showing increased activity between Colombia and Panama, and may be seen openly drilling along the line of the Panama Railway. It is stated that the Colombian troops are doing little or nothing to check their movements, and foreigners in the region are much alarmed at the situation.

This probably means that the Colombian Government is pursuing a shrewd policy in the premises. Were it to suppress the disorders on the isthmus that would probably prevent intervention by the United States. On the other hand, if General Uribe Uribe's people are permitted to raid and loot, an appropriate railway property, a condition is created which necessitates American interference. When that comes our sailors and marines can be depended on to restore and preserve order, and the Colombians can with-

BRITISH HOUSE IS PROROGUED

Comments of The Press on The Work of the Session.

MICHAEL HICKS-BEACH IGNORED

London, Aug. 17.—The proroguing of Parliament to-day is the occasion of much comment. The Daily Mail Gazette refers to the results accomplished with annotations on "the decay of Parliamentary Government" and "the breakdown of the constitutional system." However this may be, finance was the only big thing dealt with during the session. Even The Times and Standard point out the decline of the quality of the debates in the House of Commons. The closure has been used more frequently than ever before. Mr. Balfour, the Government leader, has delighted the cynics by his cool unexcited walking into the House of Commons at eleven o'clock and breaking off debate by the closure.

The Statute says the Government has bungled in the war and in finance. It defines Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chancellor of the Exchequer, as a "politician absolutely ignorant of finance, and who knows as little about the money market as any other country gentleman." The paper contrasts the effects of the war on the Government's finances. It says there is a mistaken belief abroad that the resources of the country have been immensely exaggerated, and that Great Britain is not so rich as it is supposed to be. It claims that the Government has been here for one of the greatest guarantees of peace.

The King's speech at the proroguing of Parliament says:

"My Lords and Gentlemen: It is satisfactory to be able to close the last Parliament of my reign with the assurance that the cordiality of the relations of Great Britain with the other Powers remains unimpaired."

In regard to South Africa the speech says:

"The progress of my forces in the conquest of the two republics by which my South African colonies have been invaded has been steady and continuous. But owing to the difficulty and length of the military operations has been protracted."

The speech refers to the signal success of the Duke of Cornwall and York's visit to the colonies as "additional proof of the loyalty, devotion and devotion of the people of my Dominions over the sea."

The rest of the speech merely records the King's satisfaction with the liberal provisions made for the navy and military services for the arrangements made for the maintenance of honor and dignity of the crown, "especially those which effect the status and the comfort of my royal consort and the authorization to change the royal title. It concludes:

"I earnestly commend you to the merciful protection and guidance of Almighty God."

THE LAST WAR WILL BE IN 1930

Rev. Dr. Wild Prophecies to the People of Brockville

ALL STRIKES WILL ALSO CEASE

Brockville, Aug. 18.—Rev. Dr. Wild, in the course of a sermon, advised his hearers to be "eye to eye for universal peace." "The Mediterranean," he announced, "will be Great Britain's stronghold, for the future, as being spent in strengthening Gibraltar, God is behind it all. The time is near at hand when man's mercy will demand that there shall be no more war. As it is now, a vessel at Alexandria Bay with a large armament of the Metropoli, a battle ship could destroy Kingston, and a battle ship with dynamite destroy London. The last contest between the nations will be in 1930: after that peace and good will. Also, that there will be no strikes, only the one for freedom of speech and conscience. Look at your civilized nations. If a rock bomb in the ocean, they are all after it. Great Britain, Russia and the United States reach out goodly hands, and the other must stand back. It is along the line of borrowing an umbrella and forgetting to return it. So much has this been preached that you could not teach geography now if the book was a year old. The newspapers know that. I can read what the editor is writing and what he has not written, because I can read between the lines. Your war broke out the colonies fled to the aid of the Mother Country, and the British Empire was never so on-convicted as it is now. We were blessed by the hand of God, and God has shown that His hand was at work. It was to be. May the end soon come!"

STEAM ENGINE MUST GIVE WAY

Only Salvation of the Steam Railroad is Electricity.

R. P. PORTER'S CANDID OPINION

London, Aug. 18.—While Charles T. Feikens has gone to Budapest to investigate the Ganz electric system on behalf of the Metropolitan Railway, George Westinghouse has gone to New York today on board the American Line steamer "St. Paul" to see the interest of American capital in the Metropolitan Underground Railroad and the deadlock between these companies. It now appears that there is no difference between Mr. Feikens and the English owners of the Metropolitan Railroad, but the contest is between the two Americans for the control of either of both of the roads. Mr. Westinghouse, though for known, has a large number of shareholders of the Metropolitan, and the confidence of the managers and suggested schemes for the electrification and enlargement of the road that took hold of their imagination, as far more rapid than Mr. Feikens.

The shrinkage in the British railroad dividends consequent upon the steady and unceasing depreciation of values is discussed by R. P. Porter, in a letter to the Times from the standpoint of electrical railways, which already caused reduced profits. Mr. Porter finds that the only salvation is electricity. He says: "For the purpose of concentrating the population in the morning and distributing it at night, the steam locomotive must give way to the electric. R. P. Porter is giving a steam hammer in motion to crack a nut."

BRITAIN'S ENEMIES HARD AT WORK

Michael Davitt Talks Against England, at Sunnydale Park, Chicago.

EMPHATICALLY CONDEMNS THE BOER WAR

And Urges Irishmen to United Action in Order to Secure Freedom for Ireland.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Michael Davitt, M.P., who spent many weary days in prison and who today is looked on as one of the leading Irish patriots, delivered the principal address in Sunnydale park yesterday afternoon.

It was estimated that there were nearly 10,000 persons in the park when Mr. Davitt began his address and the gateway was besieged by hundreds of patriotic Irishmen, who pushed and struggled and almost fought for an opportunity to get within the enclosure.

Mr. Davitt was introduced by Chairman P. H. Keenan and at the outset caught the spirit of his listeners. His review of the light of the Irish nationalists in Ireland, was not new, and his prediction that the Irish race would yet be free evoked earnest and prolonged cheering.

CALLS BOER WAR A CRIME

Referring to this war the speaker said: "I find it hard to believe, that in the moral or political guilt of that measureless crime. Unlike China and Australia, she has not been content to justify or dead to all feeling of shame in supporting a war against a tiny nation by a huge empire out of a feeling of false loyalty." Continuing, the speaker pointed out that the distinct difference in religious between Roman Catholic England and Protestant Transvaal did not prevent disinterested sympathy.

The international aspects of the Irish national movement were next discussed. It was not a domestic problem solely, as according to the body informed, "American view, said Mr. Davitt, but was far-reaching because of the general movements of colonization and expansion. In this connection the speaker interpreted some sarcastic references to the term "Anglo-Saxon" as applied to "American." The United States, he said, constituted a few calls before they got into the day the acknowledged leading nation of the world—not an Anglo-Saxon, German or Celtic—but as a people of mixed European races. Irish emigration to America, he said, had done much to help England, by draining Ireland of its best citizens.

In conclusion, Mr. Davitt said: "And if you were in America and did not continue to desert their country and to make an unnecessary addition to the 80,000,000 inhabitants of this republic, if you will, on the contrary, aid us to fully protect the homes of Ireland and thus to help the domestic life of our country with all its traditional love of faith, fatherland and virtue, to build again our despoiled villages, hamlets and towns with a better educated and better equipped Celtic race, no laws or power or empire can long withhold from our land the crowning glory, right and blessing of Irish freedom."

TEST DOCTOR KOCH'S THEORY

Chicagoans Are Inoculated With Bovine Bacilli.

AND THEY DEFY CONSUMPTION.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—While enthusiasts in Europe and America are coming forward with offers to risk their lives in a test of Dr. Koch's tuberculosis theory, the Chicago health department is already making a test of its own. Several men are now undergoing the experiment of inoculation with the tubercle germ under the direction of Dr. Reilly, acting commissioner of health. Their condition a few weeks hence, it is thought, will definitely show if Dr. Koch's theory is correct.

These volunteers have been inoculated with the bovine tubercle bacillus. The germs were obtained from infected cows, and, according to Dr. Koch's theory, should therefore have no effect upon human beings. If, however, the men are stricken with the form of human tuberculosis known as lupus, according to health officials, Dr. Koch's theory fails to the ground.

GERM VARIETY NOT DANGEROUS

The variety of germ with which the Chicago health officials are experimenting has the advantage that its inoculation under safe circumstances is comparatively harmless. Even if, contrary to Dr. Koch's contention, it should affect the human beings it can be easily cured.

Both Dr. Reilly and Dr. Gehrmann are profoundly interested in the results of the experiments. The tests in this instance, they claim, will apply generally to consumption theories and a sufficient number of volunteers have been found to make deductions from present experiments accurate. The germs were secured from cows known to be affected with lupus, but carefully examined lest they should harbor any disease in addition.

"There is a form of human tuberculosis," said Dr. Reilly, "known as lupus, which is confined to the skin and some mucous membranes. Lupus is curable and its production would entail no danger. If a case of lupus in a human being can be produced by inoculation of the bovine tubercle bacillus, then Professor Koch's theory fails to the ground. This is the test that the health department is now making."

AND THEY DEFY CONSUMPTION.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—While enthusiasts in Europe and America are coming forward with offers to risk their lives in a test of Dr. Koch's tuberculosis theory, the Chicago health department is already making a test of its own. Several men are now undergoing the experiment of inoculation with the tubercle germ under the direction of Dr. Reilly, acting commissioner of health. Their condition a few weeks hence, it is thought, will definitely show if Dr. Koch's theory is correct.

These volunteers have been inoculated with the bovine tubercle bacillus. The germs were obtained from infected cows, and, according to Dr. Koch's theory, should therefore have no effect upon human beings. If, however, the men are stricken with the form of human tuberculosis known as lupus, according to health officials, Dr. Koch's theory fails to the ground.

GERM VARIETY NOT DANGEROUS

The variety of germ with which the Chicago health officials are experimenting has the advantage that its inoculation under safe circumstances is comparatively harmless. Even if, contrary to Dr. Koch's contention, it should affect the human beings it can be easily cured.

Both Dr. Reilly and Dr. Gehrmann are profoundly interested in the results of the experiments. The tests in this instance, they claim, will apply generally to consumption theories and a sufficient number of volunteers have been found to make deductions from present experiments accurate. The germs were secured from cows known to be affected with lupus, but carefully examined lest they should harbor any disease in addition.

"There is a form of human tuberculosis," said Dr. Reilly, "known as lupus, which is confined to the skin and some mucous membranes. Lupus is curable and its production would entail no danger. If a case of lupus in a human being can be produced by inoculation of the bovine tubercle bacillus, then Professor Koch's theory fails to the ground. This is the test that the health department is now making."

REAL CAUSE OF REVOLUTION IN SOUTH AMERICAN STATES

Now The Most Tyrannical Government in the World was Established.

COUNTRY WAS LITERALLY BROUGHT TO VERGE OF RUIN BY CLERICALS

Before Two Months Pass Liberal Party will be in Power in Colombia What Has Taken Place

New York, Aug. 18.—Senator Saul Perez, secretary of the "Colombian Diplomatic Agency" in this city, as the local revolutionary junta is called, and an exile from Colombia for nine years on account of his political opinions yesterday issued the following statement of the situation in Colombia:

"The newspaper advisers and information with regard to the revolutions in Colombia and Venezuela are so full of conflicting reports that show such an absolute ignorance not only of the political conditions, but even of the geographical locations, that I consider it indispensable to give a thorough and accurate explanation of the state of affairs."

In the three countries of Colombia, Venezuela and Ecuador—which once formed the Great Colombia—two parties arose from the well-defined and bitterly opposed tendencies existing there at the close of the war of independence. The first was the liberal, progressive, republican ideal of government, copied after the model of the United States of America; and the second was the theocratic, despotic, oppressive, inequalitarian form of government, copied after the Spanish model.

POLITICAL PARTIES.

"Though independence from Spain had been obtained after seventeen years of hard fighting, true freedom was still very far from the inhabitants of these regions, for the clerical or Jesuitic or Spanish party had a strong hold on the popular mind. Hence the several revolutions which have ensued. There is not so much reason to be scandalized at that all countries where only one religion is prominent have undergone similar troubles, called religious wars, and Spain is having the same trouble just now. Until 1848, notwithstanding the violence of the parties, Colombia had enjoyed a republican form of government. Both parties respected the constitution of the country when in power, and the conservative party itself kept within the limits of strict republicanism."

CASE OF PRESIDENT NUNEZ.

"But in 1848 a man was elected President of Colombia, and after he had secured the period of two years he decided in 1850 to become dictator for life. In order to materialize his plans he called the clericals to support him, promising to place them in power should they stand by him unconditionally. This constitution did not exist any more, and from that day on there has been nothing in Colombia, but the most autocratic and tyrannical government in the whole world."

"The liberals protested, took arms and fled to the fields of battle to defend the constitution and the republican principles. Then came the ill-advised intervention of the United States that helped Nunez to obtain the victory, and since then the clericals have governed the country at their want, have brought to complete ruin, and their scandals, their rascals, on the public and on private treasures, their crimes of all kinds, including human poisoning and the like, and would not be believed if there were not so many victims and victims to testify to the veracity of modes of governing a country which surpassed in atrocity the worst known to the middle ages."

WHAT THEY WANT.

"Now the entirety that the unhappy Colombian liberals, who have lost home, property, family and rights, have made to the people and to the government of the United States is that they force a meeting a fleet to protect once more the present government they investigate thoroughly the whole case."

"There can be no way between Colombia and Venezuela. A way has been taken place—on one side the Colombian and Venezuelan clericals organized a clerical invasion against the liberal Venezuelan government, and on the other side the Venezuelan and Colombian liberals prepared themselves to meet the invaders at the frontier. General Triunfo is at the head of the Colombian element of that army. Most likely he is the commanding general who obtained the two victories of July 29 and August 9. Now he must be pushing his way south toward Bogota, the capital."

"Venezuela has no reason to declare war against Colombia, because the clerical invasion has been completely defeated, and before two months elapse the liberal party will be in power in Colombia. On the other hand, the clerical government of Colombia is not in a position to declare war against Venezuela, because the Colombian government was the aggressor. That government is now tumbling to pieces. I expect the revolutionary party to prevail within a month."

BASEBALL

On Saturday last the Grand picnic and dinner of the Peterborough Lock works, came together at the Murray street school grounds and fought to which department should reign supreme in baseball honors. The Sandpiper, who appeared to be the heaviest batted, were too anxious to get a smash at the ball, and time after time swayed before the ball had left the pitcher's hand, so that the game was a mere farce. In his hit, Manager Lynch of the Sandpiper, had his men in the pink of condition but towards the last of the game they went in pieces, and required a few calls before they got into the game again. The Sandpiper won by a score of 30 to 21.

The teams lined up as follows:

Sandpiper, 1st: Moulden, 2nd: Barry O'Brien, 3rd: Peter Duggan, 4th: Barry O'Brien, 5th: Barry O'Brien, 6th: Barry O'Brien, 7th: Barry O'Brien, 8th: Barry O'Brien, 9th: Barry O'Brien, 10th: Barry O'Brien.

Notes of the Game.

Charlie Taper made a good umpire. Lynch held skin down fine. L. Whaley took his head in the fourth. Quite a demand was made on Easter Beer.

Dalmeid was fined $5 for throwing it into the umpire's.

Collins says he knew that it would take nothing "Shore of Cyclone" to the ground.

McCauley has released Dutchy Stortz and C. Gentry War for selling the game. Kelly as a base slider has them all beaten.

"Dutchy" Stortz had the bulge on the umpire and pitcher as he could talk to them in a way that could not be understood by a man on the field.

KINCORA CREW SANK WITH SHIP

New York, Aug. 18.—With a deep indentation nearly a foot square on one of the two plates of her fore bow, a tell-tale mark marking the effects of the recent collision of the Kincora, built in St. George's Channel, where seven lives were lost and the small steamer Kincora was cut down and sunk, the White Star steamship Oceanic arrived at this port yesterday, some eight hours late.

From passengers it was learned that there was no panic on board, although nearly all of the 306 first cabin passengers were crowded by the shock, which came when they were, with but few exceptions, asleep in their staterooms. Some few slept through the excitement on board, and did not know of their peril until morning. The majority hastened from their cabins in various stages of undress.

W. M. Warren, general manager of Parkes, Davis & Co., chemists of Detroit, Mich., occupied deck cabin D, not far from the bow of the steamer. "The shock woke me from my sleep," said Mr. Warren yesterday. "I stepped out on deck, and I could see dimly through the fog the lights of the steamer, which seemed impaled on our bows. We had struck by a little after 10 o'clock, on the starboard side, and she was sinking rapidly. I saw Captain Cameron and the pilot were on the bridge, and our captain gave quick orders to lower the boats while ropes were being thrown to those on the deck of the smaller steamer.

"In this way the captain of the injured vessel and thirteen of his crew were assisted to the decks of the Oceanic. Two of our lifeboats were lowered and went alongside the steamer, where seven of our crew were running about on the forward deck in a dazed manner.

PARALYZED WITH FEAR.

"They were told to jump overboard, and they would be saved, but they seemed paralyzed with fear. In ten minutes the steamer sank stern first, and the men went down in the water, from which her sinking caused. For an hour the boats stayed out but could find no one.

The rescued were made comfortable and an examination showed that the Oceanic was undamaged. Captain Cameron sent this news to the passengers ten minutes after the other steamer went down and nearly all returned to their staterooms.

We stayed in the vicinity as the fog was still dense, the Oceanic with bare headway on, until it about two o'clock in the morning I heard guns booming in the distance. The vessel was then sent at full speed astern for some minutes. Whether we were close to some dangerous reef I do not know.

CAPTAIN'S STORY.

Captain Cameron's statement, as given out yesterday, was as follows:— "August 18, at 10 a.m., during a fog the Oceanic was in collision with the steamer Kincora, of Waterford, 433 tons register. The captain and thirteen men were saved; seven men were missing or lost. The Kincora was a small steamer, and was carrying a full cargo of coal. The Kincora and made every effort to save further life. At 1:15 a.m. the Kincora sank. At 2:15 a.m. the Kincora was in collision with the Oceanic, and the Kincora was sunk. CAUSES OF TROUBLE IN SOUTH AMERICA

New York, Aug. 18.—Senator Raul Ponce, secretary of the "Colombian Diplomatic Agency" in this city, as the local revolutionary junta is called, and an exile from Colombia for nine years on account of his political opinions yesterday issued the following statement of the situation in Colombia:

"The newspaper advice and information with regard to the revolutions in Colombia and Venezuela are so full of conflicting reports that allow such an absolute ignorance of not only of the political conditions but even of the geographical locations, that I consider it indispensable to give a thorough and accurate explanation of the state of affairs."

"In the three countries of Colombia, Venezuela and Ecuador—which once formed the Great Colombia—two parties arose from the well-defined and bitter opposition tendencies existing there at the close of the war of independence. The first was the liberal, progressive, republican ideal of government, copied after the model of the United States of America; and the second was the theocratic, despotic, oppressive, imperialist form of government, copied after the Spanish model."

"Though independence from Spain had been obtained after seventeen years of hard fighting, true freedom was still very far from the inhabitants of these regions. The clerical or Jesuitic or Spanish party had a strong hold on the ignorant masses. Hence the several revolutions which have ensued. There is not so much reason to be scandalized at that, all countries where only one religion is predominant have undergone similar troubles, called religious wars, and Spain is having the same trouble just now. Until last, notwithstanding the violence of the parties, Colombia had enjoyed a republican form of government. Both parties respected the constitution of the country when in power, and the conservative party itself kept within the limits of the constitution."

"But in 1902 a man was elected President of Colombia, and after he had served his period of two years he decided in 1904, to become dictator for life, in order to materialize his plans he called the clerical to support him, promising to place them in power should they stand by him unconditionally. This dictatorial move, declared that the constitution did not exist any more, and from that day on there has been nothing in Colombia, but the most autocratic and tyrannical government in the whole world."

"The liberals protested, took arms and fled to the fields of battle to defend the constitution and the republican principles. Then came the divided intervention of the United States that helped the liberals to obtain the victory, and when the clerical have governed the country at their want, have brought it to complete ruin, and their scandalous rule, has caused the public and private treasure, their estimate of all kinds—including human poisoning—would fill volumes, and would not be believed if there were not so many witnesses and victims to testify to the veracity of these facts of government which surpasses in atrocity the worst known to the middle ages."

"Now the entirety that the unhappy Colombian liberals, who have lost home, property, family and rights, have to make to the people and to the government of the United States is that before sending a fleet to protect once more the present government, they investigate thoroughly the whole case."

"There can be no war between Colombia and Venezuela. This is what has taken place—On one side the Colombian and Venezuelan clerical organized a clerical invasion against the liberal Venezuelan government, and on the other side the Venezuelan and Colombian liberals prepared themselves to meet the invaders at the frontier. General Uribe is at the head of the Colombian element of that army. Most likely he was the commanding general who obtained the two victories of July 29 and August 9. Now he must be pushing his way south toward Bogotá, the capital."

"Venezuela has no reason to declare war against Colombia, because the clerical invasion has been completely defeated, and before two months elapses the liberal party will be in power in Colombia. On the other hand, the clerical government of Colombia is not in a position to declare war against Venezuela, because the Colombian government was the aggressor. That government is now tumbling to pieces, I expect the revolutionary party to prevail within a month."

FENIAN FOLLY

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Michael Davitt, M.P., who spent the last two years in prison and who today is looked on as one of the leading Irish Fenians, delivered the principal address in Sunday-side park yesterday afternoon.

It was estimated that there were nearly 10,000 persons at the park when Mr. Davitt began his address and the gateway was besieged by hundreds of Irishmen, who pushed and struggled and almost fought for an opportunity to get within the enclosure. Mr. Davitt was introduced by Chairman P. H. Keenan and at the outset caught the spirit of his listeners. His review of the light of the Irish cause, aims in Ireland, was not new, and his prediction that the Irish race would yet be free evoked earnest and prolonged cheering.

CALLS FOR WAR A CRIME

Referring to this war the speaker said: "Ireland has no share, thank heaven, in the moral or political guilt of that measureless crime. Unlike Canada and Australia, she has not been recent to justice or deed to all feeling of shame in supporting a war against a tiny nation by a huge empire out of a feeling of false loyalty." Continuing, the speaker pointed out that the distinct difference in relations between Roman Catholic Ireland and Protestant Transvaal did not prevent disinterested sympathy.

language and music of Ireland. Resolved, That we again place on record our admiration of the gallant fight which the Irish are making in defence of home and country, and express our abhorrence of the dishonourable and inhuman tactics which the British are pursuing in attacking the native African tribes and committing to their fury the innocent women and children of the Transvaal.

Resolved, That we regret that the congress of the United States, unaided in its time-honored custom, and of the traditions that should shape its opinions, has withheld its sympathy from the South African republics, and believe that public sentiment in this country is overwhelmingly in favor of the independence of the boers and against the power that has been the consistent force of freedom everywhere.

Resolved, That we are proud of the part taken by members of the Chicago Ambulance corps in South Africa, who, when they found they were not needed as nurses, took up arms in defence of the South African republics, and remember with affection our comrades, Thomas Naghton, Michael O'Hara and John Egan, who gave up their lives in the cause of liberty.

Resolved, That we support the domestic life of our country with all its traditional love of faith, fatherland and virtue to rebuild again our despoiled villages, hamlets and towns with a better educated and better equipped citizen race, no laws or power or empire can long withhold from our land the crowning glory, right and blessing of Irish freedom."

THE FOLLOWING RESOLUTIONS WERE ADOPTED:

Resolved, That while we still hold as we have always held, that Ireland should be exempted from absolute independence as a nation, and that no measure short of complete independence will satisfy the just aspirations of the Irish people, we believe that we should support all movements that will advance Ireland toward that goal; we, therefore, endorse the platform of the United Irish league, and assure its leaders that we are ready to cooperate with them in carrying out its policy and programme.

Resolved, That we have confidence in the patriotism and ability of William O'Brien, Michael Davitt, John Dillon, John Dwyer, James O'Kelly and the other men who direct the national movement in Ireland, and invite them to establish the United Irish league in this country, on the lines of the historic land league, and we call Mr. Davitt's attention to the magnitude and enthusiasm of this great demonstration in which he can be an earnest of the support which the Irish people at home will render from the loyal and warm hearts of their kindred in exile.

Resolved, That we view with alarm the terrible dream of conquest which, if unchecked, is certain to depopulate Ireland, and hold that this danger should be sufficient to unite for the common cause of saving our country the members of all classes and creeds, and of every political complexion; when the extermination of a people is threatened there is no room for faction.

Resolved, That we will assist every movement to encourage Irish industry, thereby to furnish employment which will keep the Irish people at home.

CANADA'S GREAT

thing over men in Canada before, a number of prize animals having been imported especially for exhibition at Toronto. The Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of the Dominion, on Tuesday, Aug. 27, will undoubtedly have the gratification of opening the best of the twenty-three successive annual exhibitions that will have been held at the capital of the Province. It will be thoroughly representative of the industrial arts, agricultural and horticultural products and general resources of this great country, and will abound in entertaining as well as instructive features. As becomes these warlike times the military will be much in evidence, arrangements having been made by permission of the General Officer Commanding and the Minister of Militia for daily practice with Maxim and other guns by the Royal Canadian Artillery, and for various cavalry evolutions by the Royal Dragoons. There will be the usual trotting, pacing and running races, balloon ascents by a man who escapes from a bomb that explodes a thousand feet in the air, an entertainment of great variety in front of the grand stand, athletic sports, letter-making tests, judging competitions, experiments in photography by wire, an international military tattoo on the opening night, the best dog show in America, lectures on the cultivation of the sugar beet, music by a score of the finest bands in America, and in fact more attractions and novelties than could be enumerated in a catalogue of this paper, the whole being nightly crowded by a representation of the bombardment of the Taku Forts by the Allied Forces in China, concluding with a brilliant display of fireworks. While every day will be a great day of days will be Tuesday, Sept. 3, when the famous old Dr. Adams' Relief Tablets will be on the railways the grounds will always be thronged by delighted crowds. Canada's Great Exposition will play second fiddle to no other.

TRADE WITH AUSTRALIA

Hon. William Mulock has returned from Australia strongly convinced of the trade possibilities between the Commonwealth and the Dominion. He found the Australians animated by a most cordial feeling towards Canada and anxious to see trade ties formed.

But, as the Postmaster-General points out, there cannot be an early development of trade between the two great colonies unless there is a better local service. The present line of steamers from Vancouver runs to Sydney, an freight shipped from Toronto or Montreal to Fremantle, must cross a continent by rail to reach the steamer, and at the other end of the trip cross another continent almost as great. Of course, this greatly reduces the volume of trade that can be done with Australia by means of the steamship line. It compels much Canadian freight to go via San Francisco, where sometimes it is subject to invidious treatment. Within the last few years it is a subject of boast in the United States that that country is increasing its business with Australia very rapidly—gaining ground on Great Britain and Germany. The chief reason is the improved steamer service of the last few years.

The example is worth following and recent events show that the time is opportune for opening up trade on a large scale with our sister colony.

THE TROOPS IN CHINA.

Peking, Aug. 18.—The troops of the powers have not yet evacuated the public buildings. The British and Americans propose to occupy the Temple of Heaven and the Temple of Agriculture until their barracks are ready.

Sir Ernest Satow, the British Minister thinks it would not be wise to withdraw before the protocol has been signed in conjunction with the Chinese plenipotentiaries, as withdrawal would remove the chief inducement to the Chinese to sign.

The Japanese still hold the northern section of the city. It is considered significant of their relations with the Chinese that a Japanese colonel has been elected to command and organize the Chinese police.

The opinion is growing that the court will refuse to retaliate so long as the powers maintain such large forces in the province of Chee-Lee.

The protocol does not provide for the destruction of the forts, the ministers of the powers having failed to agree on this point.

SAYS HE CAN CURE INSANE

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 18.—Dr. O. Bernstorff of this city has made the announcement that he has discovered a positive and permanent cure for insanity, restricting his declaration to those cases that come under the head of paranoias and what alienists call the gradual breakdown of the mental system due to over-brain exertion.

Dr. Bernstorff appeared at the four courts and appealed to the police and the press representatives to agree upon a deserving case which he states he will undertake free of charge simply to show that he is sincere in his statement.

"I have cured five cases so far," he said, "and wish to demonstrate that I can cure others. You see, I have had some trouble with the medical fraternity because I will not give out the secret of my treatment. I would like to state in advance that I do not pretend to cure cases of insanity due to severe injuries to the head or where persons were born idiots. That is impossible. But in other cases I will cure in from four to eight weeks."

Dr. Bernstorff holds high rank as a physician and his special study has been neurology. He is firm in his statement and will accept any patient pronounced incurably insane which is named by any paper or by the police.

CHATHAM'S BUSINESS COLLEGE.

This noted institution of business training will re-open for its 26th year on Tuesday Sept. 3rd. We feel that its work requires no special commendation from us, as it is one of the pioneer institutions in the line of commercial training in Canada, and is doing a class of work that has won for itself the confidence of the business public.

The proprietors, Messrs. D. McLachlan & Co., may justly feel proud of the reputation of their excellent school; and the best evidence of the hold which it has secured on the business community is found in a small pamphlet which this school issues annually, showing where pupils have secured positions during the year. The one just to hand for last year shows results of a most encouraging character. 304 of their pupils secured good positions in business offices as stenographers and bookkeepers or as teachers of commercial subjects in other colleges during the twelve months ending June 31, 1901.

The principal informs us that the demand for graduates has now become so strong that it is nine out of ten cases where calls for office help are received, the vacancy has to be filled with an under-graduate.

We commend that school most heartily to our readers, who are interested in a course of either shorthand or business training.

The school was established in 1874 by Mr. D. McLachlan, the senior member of the firm, and is the only business college in Canada which has been running for 25 years without change of management, which is the best guarantee that could be given of the class of work it has been doing.

The attendance last year showed pupils from 125 cities, towns and villages in Canada and the United States, from 30 counties and districts outside Ontario, together with seven States of the United States.

Callisthenics

Are a benefit to healthy women. But to women who are suffering from diseases peculiar to their sex they are an injury. When there is weak back or bearing down pain, headache or other indications of womanly weakness, exercise can only aggravate the condition. The womanly health must be first restored before strength can be developed by exercise.

When I first commenced using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, I was suffering from a disagreeable drain, bearing down pain, weak and nervous system, and I began taking your medicine. After taking first bottle I began to feel better. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, two of Golden Medical Discovery, one of Dr. Pierce's Catarrh Remedy, and one of Dr. Pierce's Kidney and Bladder Pills. I feel like a new person. I can't thank you enough for your advice and the good your medicine has done me.

I have a sister who is taking your medicine and it is helping her.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets promote regularity of the bowels, and assist the action of "Favorite Prescription." No other laxative should be used with Dr. Pierce's Medicines.

Wrote Mrs. George Strong, of Ganesport, N. Y. "I was suffering from a disagreeable drain, bearing down pain, weak and nervous system, and I began taking your medicine. After taking first bottle I began to feel better. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, two of Golden Medical Discovery, one of Dr. Pierce's Catarrh Remedy, and one of Dr. Pierce's Kidney and Bladder Pills. I feel like a new person. I can't thank you enough for your advice and the good your medicine has done me."

ENGLAND ON THE SEA

During a recent visit to Liverpool, in an address before the Maritime Association, Mr. Oswald Balfour, M.P., spoke in optimistic terms of the seafaring outlook of England. There was pessimism, he said; who thought and said that decay had begun. He did not believe it. He did not believe that there ever was a time when, taking it all in all, the mercantile marine of the country was in a more flourishing position than it was to-day, and he did not think that the nation which possessed more than half of the entire steam tonnage of the world, and which in ten years had added to its steam tonnage an amount which was more than the equivalent of the entire mercantile marine of France, Germany and Holland together, need be afraid that its ships were going to be driven from the sea by the competition of other countries. There was, however, one spot which to some extent detracted from the brightness of that prospect. He referred to the increasing proportion of foreigners on board the British merchant ships. He did not think there was anything in the figures that need alarm them. Out of a total of over 15,000 officers who passed for the certificate during the last three years, only 279, or about 2 per cent, were foreigners, and that proportion, so far as could be judged, was not increasing, but it was diminishing. Unfortunately, the same thing could not be said of the seamen. In the case of seamen there had for many years past been a steady diminution in the proportion of those who were of native origin. In the year 1870, 10 per cent of the seamen were foreigners. That 10 per cent had increased in the year 1900 to 21 per cent, and what was even more significant, during those 30 years the actual numbers of British seamen had remained stationary, while the number of foreigners during the same time had fully doubled. That was not altogether a satisfactory condition of things. To what cause was it to be attributed? Certainly not to any diminution in the British national love of adventure, or their national inclination for the sea. The fact that the government could obtain in increasing numbers all the recruits which were required for the navy proved that conclusively and beyond a doubt. Where then was the explanation to be found? Mr. Balfour thought the explanation was to be found in a circumstance on which, taken by itself, they had only to congratulate themselves - the want of the great improvement that had recently taken place in the material welfare of every class in the community, and above all, in the welfare of the wage-earning classes. While that improvement had taken place to some extent in the mercantile marine, he did not think it had been experienced to the same extent there as in other employments. On the other hand, it was certain that the conditions of employment in the merchant service were greatly superior to those which obtained in the mercantile marine of any other country. That superiority in the conditions of employment had the very natural effect of attracting the best sailors from the foreign merchant service. If he was right in thinking that that was the main cause of the evil which they all deplored, it was clear that the only complete and permanent remedy was an improvement in the conditions of the service such as would attract more men to the merchant service than it lost to other men into it; but to that end there was no royal road, either by way of legislation or in any other way that he was acquainted with.

THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL

This waterway of 200 miles in length can be completed for $3,500,000.

When complete it will give continuous large navigation of 600 tons burthen and will double the capacity of the Erie Canal from Montreal to Sault Ste. Marie.

It will shorten the distance between all the great western lake ports and Liverpool by 727 miles.

It is capable of being operated during a season of seven months in a year, and of transporting two hundred million bushels of grain per annum.

By means of the numerous locks and rivers which it utilizes and intersects, it will give a shore line of 1,000 and lay under tribute six million acres of agricultural forest an immense land capable of yielding from 50 to 100 tons of freight per acre.

It will utilize the finest continuous system of water powers on the globe.

It will build up cities along its route to manufacture the hardwood timber into furniture and the iron and steel of Midland, Deseronto and Sault Ste. Marie into conveying things of which these things are transferable, and also develop more lands for the manufacture of Portland cement, the lime quarries for lime and building stone, the mica mines, the lithographic stone quarries, the granite quarries, the peat fuel beds, etc., to say nothing of the agricultural products of the rich countries traversed by its southern ends, each bushel of which will have an added value owing to cheaper transportation of 50c per bushel.

It will act as a feeder to the railways which now very imperfectly serve the district, and render valuable an immense amount of material now only encumbering the ground, and valueless save to the pitance in labor which its uprooting possesses for it when cut into cordwood or burned for potash.

140 miles of this waterway is now completed, but bottled up at both ends, yet it is giving employment for internal commerce and tourist travel to 60 steamboats, besides numerous smaller craft.

If placed under one control the flow of the streams would be more than doubled, and the water kept at a constant height throughout the year.

Horse Sense.

"Any fool can take a horse to water, but it takes a wise man to make him drink," says the proverb. The horse eats when hungry and drinks when thirsty. A man eats and drinks by the clock, without regard to the needs of nature. Because of careless eating and drinking "stomach trouble" is one of the commonest of diseases. Sour and bitter risings, belchings, unnatural fullness after eating, dizziness, headache, and many other symptoms mark the beginning and progress of disease of the stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and assimilation. It cures through the stomach diseases of other organs which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach, and it strengthens the stomach, purifies the blood, cures obstinate cough and heals weak lungs.

"I was taken with Grippe, which resulted in heart and stomach trouble," writes Mr. T. R. Canfield, Montreal, Quebec, N. C. "I was unable to do anything a good part of the time. I wrote to Dr. Pierce about my condition, having full confidence in his medicine. He advised me to take his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which I did. Before I had finished the second bottle I began to feel better. I have used nearly six bottles. I feel thankful to God for the benefit I have received from Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I can highly recommend it to all persons as a good and safe remedy for all ailments of the stomach and bowels."

"FAINT HEART."

SHORT STORY FOR THE DAY.

She noticed that the Cuban sun and fever had taken it out of him a good bit. He walked as erect as ever, but his uniform that hung loose about him like a sack and his ship lashed the buoyant spring that used to distinguish his approach. He took her pink little hand in his tanned yellow hand with a great sigh of relief.

"It's good to get back to God's country again," he told her after the first greetings were past.

"I suppose you did miss a good many things down there. It must have been awful if the newspaper accounts are true."

He shrugged his thin shoulders. "It wasn't exactly a picnic, but then, men don't go to war for fun—at least they are not liable to find it if they do."

And what did you miss most?"

A flash of his old audacity leaped to his eye. "A little girl in New York. There were other things, too. Good drinks, something to eat that was given, a place to sleep in where the standing water wasn't more than six inches deep—but it was the girl I wanted to see most."

She gave him her most suave smile. "I didn't know you had any sisters."

"I haven't. This was another man's sister."

There did not seem to be anything further to say along that line so far as she was concerned. Presumably she asked:

"Has the regiment been ordered home?"

"Yes, we're all here—what's left of us." Then he added, "It came home to find this girl I loved her."

"You?" she asked with polite interest. "Did you have the regiment ordered home just for that? Don't fit taking a good deal of trouble?"

"Not too much trouble, that's what I'm here for—to take trouble, if I can only gain my end."

She murmured something about hoping she would be able to congratulate him soon.

His eyes covered her steadily. "Do you really hope so?"

"Of course, but do tell me about the war. I'm just dying to know all about how it feels to be in battle."

"There's nothing much to tell," he answered, somewhat feeling baffled with this outside knowledge. "It's awful hot and dusty, and once in a while some poor fellow gets killed over there. But anything much to see, one gets a thrill like a film thing. No trouble at all to raise a thrill. That's about all, but there's something else I'd rather talk about."

"Oh, yes! The charges against the government about the feeding and care of the soldiers," she exclaimed hastily. "Hanging the charges! I'm not worried about them at all. It's this girl I want to talk about."

"Oh, that girl again!"

"Yes, I'm interested in her."

"I like her."

"And good looking?"

"Well, her looks make a hit with me."

"Beautiful she would be gratified to know it."

"I'm not so sure about that," he answered, looking at her swiftly. "In points of fact she knows it already, only she pretends not to. I don't seem to find out where I stand with her. When I got ready to tell her she laughs at me with the gravest face imaginable. One can't get sentimental when a girl is making fun of one, you know."

"No! I suppose not," she assented demurely.

He took a grip on himself and decided that this time had come to storm this fortress, to which the run of Juan Hill seemed a mere bagatelle.

"There was once a young fellow at the front," he began nervously. "Naturally he thought himself in love, but the girl was just a girl. He was in love, but he didn't know any more about girls than you do about the native jargon of the Hindustani. He never had been with them much, and didn't know how to talk with them. But once—well, he was a classmate came visiting at the front, and after that she was the only woman in the world that counted."

She secured herself in more comfortably in the chair and smiled lazily at him. Never a maiden more unconscious of his ulterior meaning.

"How charmingly romantic! Do go on! I hope there will be no more difficulties in the way. Another lover-obsessed parent—heartrending separation—mutual vows of undying fealty!"

"No, there wasn't any elaborate parent. So far as I could find out her father hadn't any objections to my—this young fellow's marrying his daughter. They were separated enough. He had to play hide and seek with the Apache in Arizona for a year or two, but I never discovered that her heart was rent."

"Perhaps it was loosed—or even given away," she suggested.

He paid no attention to this ally, though he appreciated it.

"There was another lover," he continued, eyes full on hers. "He was a man of a good deal of force, but he was his own way in the world, and was on the road to wealth. He could give her all the things that this lieutenant couldn't give her. Luxuries she had been used to all her life."

"Oh, I see. He could feed her on bon-bons. This must innocently."

He could provide for her as she ought to be provided for."

"Well, it is just conceivable that even a girl might weary of eating sweets the live-long year in and year out, isn't it?" she asked, with a touch of asperity.

"I'm not talking about confections exactly, but there are delectables to be obtained. A fellow can't ask a young woman of a wealthy family to come and share nothing with him."

"Oh, no! Much better leave her to her digestion of the confections and other toys you mentioned."

"Arizona is not exactly a place where a society girl would care to live."

"Of course he asked her whether she would like to go there. He didn't go away without giving her a chance, I suppose."

"The lieutenant flushed. "He simply couldn't ask her. The thing was unthinkable. He would have deserved to be shot if he had taken her out there to die of loneliness away from home."

"So he left her to her bon-bons. He had thought much of her. She was probably only a fancy of the moment."

"But you are quite wrong. He did not see that he was because he could not much for her that he could not ask her to share a lot like that with him. He went away and bore his hurt silently."

"That was very generous of him," she admitted cordially. "But you must be wrong about the officer, Lieut. Weston. He couldn't have really believed in the girl if he thought these luxuries were more to her than the man she loved. It is hard to think of a true woman."

Kidneys and Bladder

Don't neglect these most important organs of the body, as you will regret it. Have you pain in the back, a dull ache in the region of the kidneys? At times your water comes freely, a large quantity, light in color, with no peculiar sensations, while at other times you do not make quite so freely. If it is dark in color, you make a small quantity, and a sort of burning sensation. Watch it! The eye gives you a condition immediately after, but it is not until you have a full examination that you can be sure of the condition of your kidneys. A positive cure for such conditions, and remember! The Laughlin Pen Holder is the best at any price. It is only when you try it that you can appreciate its value.

—"I am a little undecided about adding another story to my shanty," said the wealthy man. "You had better not," advised the contractor; "it might be like one of Bob Fair's or Harry Le Brun's yarns." "How is that?" asked the contractor. "How is that?" asked the contractor.

—There was an error in the figures published from Ottawa giving the census figures for Lindsay. Lindsay's population in the census of 1891 was 6,081 (not 6,801 and in 1901 19,044, showing an increase of 913, instead of 113. This gives Lindsay an increase of 15 per cent in the ten years, a very satisfactory showing.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

Assessment Taken Up at Yesterday Afternoon's Session.

The principal matter for consideration of the meeting of the County Council yesterday afternoon was the assessment valuation, which was ordered at the last session, to be taken up at this time.

Assessment, Messrs. Ed. Hawthorne, of Dumfries, and Robert Edmondson, of Smith, were appointed valuers at a salary of $1 per day. This remuneration is not considered sufficient, as it is supposed to cover the expenses of travelling, etc. It is understood that the Council will grant an increase.

There is a young man, Peterborough, who makes weather predictions intelligibly. He is ever so much more successful than "Old Prob." and yet the rules he has to go by are the same. He will say, for instance, "if it is clear on Friday, on Sunday it will be clear," and he will go on, "I got up at 3 o'clock every morning and watch the sun. If it goes behind a cloud before 7, then there will be rain that day, but if it does not go behind a cloud the weather is bound to be fair up to 7 o'clock that evening."

He also excludes abundant advice to farmers. He says, "the potatoes according to the signs of the moon, he will command, 'Plant them, I mean, when the signs are up, and they will shoot upwards, but they will shoot downwards and rot if you plant them when the signs are down. Once my father discarded this rule and set out a lot of potatoes in a downward moon. He got no crop. The gods shouted downward, of course. There are only four Sundays in the year when the sun does not go behind a cloud.'
